LONDON, Feb. 14.—Advices from Rome say that the Pope hopes he will obtain concessions from England on the Irish question, provided the Irish themselves adopt a legal and peaceful attitude.

The London Daily News says yesterday's proceedings in Parliament ought to give coercion the death-blow. The cause of Ireland will be won upon English platforms and in Irish jails.

The Dublin Freeman's Journal asserts that the Government is employing police agents to revive Fenianism in Londonderry.

The Mayor of Cork has been convicted and sentenced to jail for fourteen days on a charge of assaulting a police sergeant at a Plan of Campaign meeting.

At a council of the British Cabinet, held today, it was decided to instruct the Irish Executive to cease prosecuting newspapers for publishing reports of meetings of suppressed branches of the League.

W. J. Lane, M.P. for Cork, who was sentenced to a month's imprisonment at Tullamore for inciting tenants to resist bailiffs, was released from jail to-day.

Gov. Wilson of West Virginia issued a requisition on Saturday on Gov. Buckner of Kentucky for twenty-eight men charged with murder in connection with one of the Hatfield-McCoy feuds.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

ENGLAND NOT PLEDGED TO ANY CONTINENTAL POWER.

Heavy Snowstorms in the West of England, Scotland and Wales — The Crown Prince's Condition—War Equipments for Italy.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Sir James Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, explained in the House of Commons to-day that in stating recently that the British Government was not pledged to military action in behalf of any European power, he implied naval action also. Beyond the treaties known to the country none existed. He declined to produce the correspondence with European governments.

Mr. Labouchere asked if any engagement other than a treaty had been made.

Sir James Ferguson replied that he was not in a position to give a further answer.

Sir G. O. Trevelyan then resumed the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech. He contended that the Coercion Act had done little to suppress crime but a great deal to alienate and shock public opinion. The conviction of twelve members of the House of Commons would happily do more than anything else to bring about a settlement of the Irish question.

Major Saunderson taunted Sir George with shirking an explanation of his change of opinion.

Newspaper Prosecutions to Cease.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—At a Cabinet Council held to-day it was decided to instruct the Irish Executive to cease prosecuting newspapers for publishing reports of meetings of suppressed branches of the league.

Arrangements have been made for a division on the Parnell amendment on Thursday. The Conservative whips are confident that they will have a majority of 35 on the division.

Hon. Joseph Chamberlain says that he hopes to resume his place in the House of Commons by March 2. His friends state that the fisheries negotiations are certain of a successful result.

Mr. Labouchere said that Major Saunderson was the mouthpiece of a Conservative cave which had been formed to compel a reluctant Government to protect the interests of Irish landlords. His speech was evidence of the failure of coercion, because he demanded more coercion. [Cheers.] Naturally the Government, in order to retain the country's support, said that continued coercion would lead the Irish to abandon Home Rule and erect statues to an eminent uncle and his nephew. [Laughter.] The Government's platitudes were worthy of Caiaphas and Pontius Pilate. Indeed if there had been a press in Jerusalem the organs of the Pharisees and Sadducees would doubtless have said the best part of the people were on the side of Pilate and only the scum on the other side. He concluded with a severe attack upon the Government with reference to the Mitchelstown affair, which he said demanded a strict inquiry.

Thos. W. Russell (Liberal Unionist), member for Tyrone, said he was disappointed with the Parnellites. To be sure they remembered Mitchelstown, but they appeared to have forgotten Tullamore, about which they made such a fuss during the recess.

Mr. Clancy replied on behalf of the Parnellites.

NUMBERING THE HOUSES.

Mr. Langford has struck a good lead in securing a committee to consider the subject of numbering the houses and lots of the town. The town of Peterborough is growing apace; every year adds to its population, and before we hardly know it, we shall have reached the dignity of a city. When we become a city, with a fine new post office, we shall be moving for free letter delivery, but we can never get that (or it will be of no use if we should get it, unless we have our shops and houses numbered. In this respect we are behind even the farmers of the county. Their lots have numbers by which they can be found and it is a pity that Peterborough, with its other incidents of civilization, electric light, water works, fire system, etc., should be behind the age. It is to be hoped that Mr. Langford will persevere until he attains his object. There are no practical difficulties in the way, and the expenditure will be trifling compared to the gain which will result.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

As announced in our advertising columns the second meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held in the Court House on Wednesday, February 29th. We have heretofore frequently insisted on the very great importance of these gatherings to the practical farmer, and we are pleased to see so gratifying an interest in them being developed. At the first meeting the attendance was large for the occasion, and now that the farmers are learning more of the aims, objects and teaching of these meetings we may expect that the coming meeting will show a largely increased attendance of agriculturalists. The papers to be read at the meeting of the 29th are all by practical farmers or by gentlemen having a special and practical knowledge of the subjects of which they will treat. In their own interests all farmers are urged to be present at the Court House on Feb. 29th, when they will be heartily welcomed both to seats and to share in the discussion which will follow the reading of the several papers. Inquiries for information are specially invited, for the object of the meetings is to bring out practical ideas on practical subjects which will be of practical benefit to the practical farmer. There is nothing cut and dried; every topic treated of is subject to discussion, and the more severely a paper is criticised the better—so long as it is done in an open spirit and with a sincere desire of bringing out useful facts.

Bridge Building.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

SIR,—I noticed in the town papers a letter re Town Brigdes, signed Um Dakko (has been in Hindostan), which might have properly been signed I. D. F., wherein the writer expresses great surprise that wooden bridges can be built at one-third the cost of iron, in this iron age; but I am of the opinion that this is, perhaps, a "steel age."

Now as to the challenge—I will guarantee to build a wooden bridge, say on Charlotte street, for seven hundred dollars, "properly proportioned to sustain the traffic;" the traffic over which is at least one-third more than over Simcoe street bridge, which I will take as a standard cost of an iron bridge. The iron on said bridge cost the town twenty-six hundred and twenty-five dollars.

Challenge No. 2—I will "keep in repair suitable for traffic for twenty years" the said bridge on Charlotte street for one-half of what the iron bridge will cost the town in twenty years, viz., $4,000.00. That is to say, interest and sinking fund on iron bridge, $4,000.00; interest and sinking fund on wooden bridge, $1,050.00.

Yours,
QUID PRO QUO.

The Season of Lent.

The holy season of Lent commenced to-day (Wednesday) and the opening of the season was observed by all Roman Catholic churches. It has been named Ash Wednesday by the fathers of the church, caput jejunii "the beginning of the fast," or dies cinerum Ash day, in allusion to the custom of sprinkling the head with ashes. After mass in the Roman Catholic churches on Ash Wednesday the adherents of that faith kneel at the altar rails and the priests make the sign of the cross with ashes on their foreheads, repeating the words in Latin "Remember man, thou art ashes and shall return unto ashes." From Wednesday until Easter Sunday every day except the Sundays will be a fast day and Christians between 21 and 60 years are obliged to fast and abstain on the days commanded unless they get the consent of the church to do otherwise. Wednesdays and Fridays are days of abstinence and Holy Saturday. There will be services in St. Peter's Cathedral every morning except Saturday during Lent.

THE LAPOR COMMISSION.

EVIDENCE RELATING TO CHILDREN WORKING IN FACTORIES.

Fourteen Hours a Day Constitute a Day's Work in Certain Montreal Establishments—Fines Imposed—Salaries of Children Not Large Enough to Buy Shoes.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—Before the Labor Commission to-night Joseph Gelarneau, 12, Adolphe Dion, 13, and a boy of 14, apprentice cigarmakers, testified that they had worked at the trade 18 months, 25 months, and 18 months respectively.

The next witness, a Hochelaga factory operative, said a number of children worked there. There were some there now of 10, who had been in the factory two years. He had known the factory to work thirteen hours a day. There were children working there now barefoot. Children are sought for in the Saguenay district by agents of the factory. The promises made by these agents were not always fulfilled. The company guarantees bills for board and groceries in some cases. A girl taking a piece of toilet paper for curling her hair is fined 20 cents, and for a second offence discharged. Very few employes but are fined 75 cents to $1 each fortnight.

Witness submitted the pay envelopes of four females. The first had fortnightly pay $12.60, fine $1; the second pay $12.55, fine 75 cents; the third pay $10.55, fine 25 cents; the fourth pay $6.25, fine 40 cents. In one weave room find average $50 per month.

In the busy season work is carried on from 6.25 a.m. to 9 p.m. Children work the same hours as others. Occasionally half an hour is given for tea, but usually no time is allowed between 12.45 and 2.

Boys with bare feet have to pass through a passage containing snow. They earn so little money they cannot afford shoes and use them only to walk home and to the factory. Not one-quarter can read and write.

The employes, on engagement, have to sign a contract binding themselves to work on religious holidays. If they refuse to so work all moneys coming to them are forfeited to the company.

Gilbert Garand, a former employe of the Hochelaga factory, corroborated the previous witness. He has had children working under him 8 years old, and has seen these children working from 6.30 a.m. to 9 p.m. with only 45 minutes' intermission. Witness has seen the foreman kick a boy often. Witness got a stick and took the boys' part. His own child has been ill-treated there. Fines are imposed on children; to his knowledge a young girl was fined $1 one day, whose wages were but 40 cents.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

A Committee Appointed to Report on the Condition of the Dominion Defences.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—On the recommendation of the Minister of Militia Major-General Middleton, Adjutant-General Powell, Major-General Oliver of Kingston, and Lieut.-Col. Irwin have been appointed a committee to report on the condition of Canadian defence and suggest a means of improvement. A force of military graduates will be commissioned to make a survey of the Dominion for military purposes.

Messrs. Geddes and Trowell, who are interested in the California investigation now under the consideration of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, yesterday interviewed Hon. Mr. Foster. No decision has as yet been arrived at.

Mr. John Page, Chief Engineer of Canals, yesterday heard evidence on the claim of Mr. Geo. Goodwin for extras in connection with his Trent Valley contract.

Officer Walters of the customs service has seized a quantity of safety rein holders at the port of Windsor.

Hon. John Carling and Prof. Saunders will attend the farmers' meeting at Bell's Corners on Friday.

Collingwood Schreiber has left for Toronto.

Mr. N. F. Davin, M.P., Regina, is in the city.

J. J. Curran, M.P., was in the city to-day.

The appeal from the decision of Judge Osler in the Russell election case will be withdrawn by Mr. Edwards, the unseated member, and as soon as the judge's report is forwarded a writ for a new election will be issued.

A Cabinet Council meeting was held to-day, but nothing of importance transpired.

The fifth annual exhibition of the Eastern Ontario Poultry and Pet Stock Association opened here to-day. It promises to be a decided success.

T. G. Mankin, under arrest for forgery here, carried on a poultry and stock raising business. The forgeries so far being investigated are notes for $445, $300, $600 and $1200. His goods and chattels were sold to-day by Bailiff Whitten.

Mr. Burgess, Deputy Minister of Interior, who has been ill for some time past, is recovering.

Happy Homes

Much has been written and said about how to make home happy. The moralist and the preacher have hackneyed this theme until it would seem nothing more remained to be said. But the philosophers have gone far out of their way to account for their prevalence of ill-assorted couples and unhappy homes, and have over-looked the chief cause. Most of the unhappiness of married life can be traced directly to those functional derangements to which women are subject. In nine cases out of ten the irritable, dissatisfied and unhappy wife is a sufferer from some "female complaint." A trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will produce more domestic happiness than a million sermons or philosophical treatises. It cures all those peculiar weakness and ailments incident to women. It is the only medicine sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. See guarantee printed on wrapper enclosing bottle. a

CENTRAL BANK INQUIRY.

Another Uninteresting Day in the Chancery Court.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.

The proceedings in the Chancery Court yesterday re the Central Bank liquidation were for five hours even more uninteresting than on the previous day. At 11 o'clock Chancellor Boyd took his seat in the well nigh deserted court, the attendance being limited to the counsel engaged, the reporters and one or two stragglers.

Mr. Foster, Q.C., and Mr. Clarke appeared for the petitioning liquidators, and Mr. Campbell was again represented by Mr. Macdonnell, Q.C., and Mr. Bain, Q.C.

The order of the day was a continuance and repetition of that of Monday, consisting of the resumed reading of Mr. Campbell's examination before the Master-in-Ordinary. This wearisome duty was heroically performed by Mr. Clarke till the hour for adjournment.

Thereafter Mr. Foster produced an extract from the examination of A. A. Allen, the fugitive cashier.

The Chancellor ruled, however, that as the evidence had not been taken when Mr. Campbell was present, and as Allen was out of the reach of the court, the extract could not be admitted.

Mr. Macdonnell for nearly two hours read the cross-examination of Mr. Campbell, and a supplementary affidavit of Mr. Lees, manager of the American Express Company, in reference to the Barnett drafts.

Then, to the infinite relief of all concerned, the dreary proceedings were at an end.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.

Stocks to-day both at home and in New York were lower and dull, while the London market was firmer and fairly active. Grain and produce was generally firm and steady.

The local stock market to-day was weaker in the majority of stocks and very dull with the exception of Commerce, which showed considerable activity.

The transactions to-day were: Morsins—Commerce 50, 50, 25, 125 at 109; 60, 100, 15 at 109; 100, 19, 20, 20 at 109; Building and Loan 10 at 103. Afternoon—Canada Permanent 10, 20, 10 at 190.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

It was probably owing to the fact that York County roads were in a disagreeable state that more farmers did not visit the city to-day with their usual amount of produce. As it was, there were plenty of sellers, enough to keep the prices from rising or gaining strength. The meat market was dull and weak, but the retail prices did not alter. There was an over supply of beef. Eggs, butter and products of the dairy were offered in large quantities; there was a good demand but it was not equal to the supply. Wheat is growing easier; about 500 bushels were sold to-day at Saturday's prices—with exception of fall wheat which dropped 1c. Oats were steady, 300 bushels changed hands at 40c to 47c, and 1500 bushels of barley at 72c to 76½c. The following figures were quoted: Beef, hindquarters, per lb., 4c to 7c; beef, forequarters, per lb., 3c to 4½c; Mutton, per carcase, 6c to 7c; lamb, per carcase, 8c to 8½c; veal, 7c to 9c; pork, 7½c to 7½c; chickens, per pair, 45c to 60c; ducks, per pair, 60c to $1; geese, per lb., 10c to 12c; turkeys, per lb., 12c to 13c; wheat, fall, per bushel, 79c to 82c; wheat, spring, per bush., 76c to 80c; wheat, goose, per bush, 72c to 74c; barley, 72c to 73½c; oats, per bush, 46c to 47c; peas, 68c to 69½c; timothy, $14 to $16; clover, $11 to $13; straw, $9 to $10.50; butter, pound rolls, 23c to 25c; butter, tub, 19c to 22c; cheese, per lb., 12c to 13c.

The creditors of B. Spain, the Queen-street tailor, have failed so far to agree upon a basis of settlement. TAKE

NASAL BALM FOR

COLD IN HEAD

—AND—

CATARRH.

There is no disease which Canadians are more subject than Catarrh—all ages and sexes alike are numbered among the sufferers. It is impossible in the limit of a short newspaper article to describe the symptoms fully, but they may be briefly summarized: Cold in the head, difficulty in breathing, hawking and spitting, headache, pains in the region over the eye, stoppage of nasal passages, foul breath, dropping into the throat causing nausea and sometimes vomiting, poisonous secretions accumulating in the lungs leading to consumption. These are but a few of the many symptoms of Catarrh, a disease which affects 7-10 of our Canadian population. NASAL BALM is the only CERTAIN and POSITIVE CURE for this loathsome disease in all its forms and stages. NASAL BALM is the result of years of careful study, and is prepared with a view to radically cure these cases of catarrh, to which Canadians are most subject. It is not a liquid snuff or cauterizing powder, but a pleasant, never failing remedy, requiring no instrument or douche for its use. Easy to use, instantaneous in its effects, permanent in its cures. Ask for Nasal Balm and take no substitute of whatever name. For Cold in the Head there is no better remedy on earth to equal Nasal Balm. Do not neglect a cold in the head for in nine cases out of ten it will lead to Catarrh. Use Nasal Balm upon the first symptoms. This wonderful remedy affords instant relief and cures within a few hours. It can be used for the youngest child as well as for adults, and as a precautionary measure should be kept in every household. For sale by all druggists or sent on receipt of price (50c. and $1.00 per bottle) by addressing FULFORD & CO., Brockville.

PROOF OF ITS MARVELLOUS EFFICACY.

An Unequalled Remedy.

J. McKee, druggist, Peterborough, says:—Nasal Balm gives the most general satisfaction to consumers of any preparation I ever handled. My sales are large and the reports from those who use it, fully substantiate your claims for the medicine as an unequalled remedy for catarrh in the head.

Worth Ten Times its Cost.

T. W. Hunt, Fort Hope, says: I was a sufferer from a long-standing case of catarrh and being well up in years (73) hardly expected to ever obtain anything that would give me material or permanent relief. At the time of receiving Nasal Balm I was very bad with catarrh, but take great pleasure in stating that on the second application I obtained wonderful relief and its effect was pleasant, soothing and healing. It acted like magic and is worth ten times its cost for the immediate relief it gives. I feel confident the second bottle will effect a permanent cure. I have recommended Nasal Balm for cold in the head and in every case it acts like a charm.

Acts Like a Charm.

John Foster Raymond says:—Nasal Balm acts like a charm for my catarrh. I have only used it a short time and I now feel better than at any period during the last seven years. In fact I am sure of a cure and at a very small expense. wedw

Feels Like a New Man.

A. E. Fish, merchant, Belleville, states: I take great pleasure in recommending your Nasal Balm to any one troubled with that dreadful disease, catarrh. I have been troubled with it for the past fifteen years, and can say candidly that I never had anything that gave me half so much relief as your Nasal Balm. I have only used two bottles and I feel like a new man.

Beats the World.

D. Derbyshire, president Ontario Creamery Association, Brockville, says: Nasal Balm beats the world for catarrh and cold in the head. In my own case it effected relief from the first application.

$1.00 for 50 cents.

Capt. D. H. Lyon, manager and proprietor of the C. P. R. and R. W. & O. R. car ferry Prescott, and Ogdensburg N. Y. says: I used Nasal Balm for a prolonged case of cold in the head. Two applications effected a complete and thorough cure in less than 24 hours. I would not take $100 for my bottle of Nasal Balm if I could not replace it.

It Never Fails.

Ex-Mayor Bowie, Brockville, Ont., says: I used Nasal Balm for a bad case of catarrh, and it cured me after having ineffectually tried many other remedies. It never fails to give immediate relief for cold in the head.

ELY'S CREAM BALM.

The best remedy for its purpose I have sold.—John Hooker, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

An article of real merit.—C. P. Alden, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

Those who use it speak highly of it.—Geo. A. Hill, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

I believe Ely's Cream Balm is the best article for catarrh ever offered the public. It has given satisfaction in every case.—Bush & Co., Druggists, Worcester, Mass. eodw7.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula, and all humors of the blood. 2w7d

Part of the Household.

"I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil with much satisfaction, for Colds and Sore Throat. I would not be without it at any cost, as I look upon it as the best medicine sold for family use." Miss E. Bramhall, Sherbrooke, P. Q. 2w7d is one that is based on previous knowledge or experience therefore those who use B. B. B may reasonably hope for a cure because the previous experience of thousands who have used it, shows it to have succeeded even in the worst cases. 2w7d

A Reasonable Hope

Definite Warning.

Neglected coughs and colds so frequently produce serious results as to constitute a warning. There is no better, safer or more pleasant remedy for Coughs, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Colds and all throat and lung troubles than Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. 2w7d

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I am sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Doreenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This new famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Doreenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DOREENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists. dw

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten years five per cent. debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,222.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the agents.

About ten o'clock last night a small fire was discovered in Metcalfe's harness shop, Hunter street. The services of the brigade, though they were promptly on hand were not required, as the blaze was easily extinguished by a couple of Baboocks. The loss is trifling.

Married in Belleville.

At St. Michael's Cathedral, Belleville, Monday forenoon, the marriage of Mr. Thos. Johnston, an old Belleville boy, but now of St. Paul, Minn., to Miss Mary E. Russell, an estimable young lady of that city, was celebrated. The young couple have gone to their new home in St. Paul.

His Valentine.

A handsome, young town jeweller yesterday received as a valentine a leap-year proposal of marriage from a young lady of his acquaintance. The amorous communication fairly bristled with protestations of undying love on the part of the fair pleader, but the gallant's heart was adamantine and he steeled himself to an act of cruelty in deciding to forward her, instead of a gold ring, two-and-a-half yards of plain calico for a dress.

A Month of Colds.

A physician in the American Magazine describes February as the time of saturnalia of colds. He advises extra effort to guard the space between a man's coat collar and hat brim. Beneath this exposed skin lies the cerebro-spinal axle, whence proceed the nerves that govern both heart and lungs. The face is supplied with blood-vessels twice as plentiful as the neck, enabling it to resist external cold in that proportion. For diet in February he advises fatty food and fresh lettuce and spinach, anticorbutics, which should be eaten freely.

To Our Friends.

We would announce to our many friends that the "At Home" to be held on Thursday evening next, in the Lecture Room of George street Methodist Church, promises to be the most attractive one we have yet given. Don't wait till the moment you want to use them. All blank books last longer for not being used immediately after being finished.

Curlians.

The rink of Peterborough curlers who went to Toronto to play in the bonspiel came home last night disgusted with the soft weather, which had rendered the ice unfit for play. They didn't get a chance to play at all. They were :—Messrs. R. Fair, D. Belleghem, G. Brown and C. McGill.

New Law Office.

Mr. J. Williams Bennett, barriater, solicitor, etc., has opened out an office, for the practice of his profession, in the building on Hunter street, directly over Mason's flower store. Mr. Bennett for several years had charge of the legal department of the late firm of Messrs. Poussette & Roger, was subsequently on the agency staff in Moss & Co.'s office, Toronto, and latterly during the absence, last summer, of Mr. E. B. Edwards in England, had sole charge of his office. No doubt Mr. Bennett will receive his share of legal patronage, and in due time become one of the shining lights of the bar.

Hymeneal.

Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock the sacristy of St. Peter's Cathedral was crowded with young people who had assembled to witness the marriage of Mr. Thos. Dunn and Miss Agnes McDonald. Both parties were well known in Peterborough, and their approaching union had been one of the chief items of gossip among the ladies for weeks back. The ceremony was performed very quietly and in a few minutes by Rev. Father Rudkins. Mr. Alex. Elliott was groomsman and Miss Hurley bridesmaid. The bride was neatly attired in a brown travelling dress, with bonnet to match. After the nuptial knot had been tied the happy couple received the hearty congratulations of a number of their friends who were present. They left on the evening train for Toronto and a brief sojourn in the west. That Mr. and Mrs. Dunn may be favored with many years of connubial bliss and prosperity, is the wish of a host of friends.

What Monopoly Means.

In conversation with a local miller it is learned that the business of the local flouring mills, as well as of others, is sadly interfered with by the failure of the C. P. R. Company to supply cars to move the wheat crop of Manitoba. The gentleman closed a contract with a Manitoba grain dealer some time since for several cars of wheat; on the strength of it he made contracts for supplying flour to be ground from this wheat, but the grain did not arrive—no cars could be got for its shipment, and there is disappointment and derangement of business all round. His case is not an exception; other local millers suffer in the same way. This is due to the desire of the railway company to monopolize the carrying trade of the North west. What wheat they cannot carry may rot where it lies, no matter what loss or inconvenience is caused. The Dominion Government stopped the building of the Red River Valley Railway, which, if it had been opened, would have afforded an outlet for Manitoba wheat. There would have been enough traffic for both roads; both would have been benefitted, and incalculable loss and vexatious derangement of the country's business averted.

Breaches of Promise

Port Hope Times:—"Two breach of promise cases ruffles the gossip pool in town just now. One we foreshadowed some months ago, that in which a farmer from the north of Clarke is the defendant, the plaintiff being of Port Hope's fair ones. The game, it is told, is for $10,000 stakes. The defendant asserts, so the gossip goes, that there was no announced engagement. He frequented the house of the bride-expectant, and she visited his sisters in Clarke, but the terrible interview with the young lady's pater had not been undergone. The engagement according to rumor's report, seems to have been an easy-going take-it-for-granted affair. However, the case comes up within the next week or two at Cobourg, and then the thing will be settled by the nature of the correspondence. If the defendant committed himself on paper, of which his memory is hazy, some of the profits of his farm will change hands. At any rate the evidence will be watched for. The other case is one in which the parties concerned are of a humbler station, but the case promises to open the book of the lives of some of the young men about town and present some spicy chapters. This case is the product of town. To be sure the the defendant is not of long residence amongst us, but his occupation has familiarised him to a large number of our citizens and Saturday marketers from the country. The plaintiff in this case places a more modest value on her affections than $10,000. The hearts of the humbler people, presumedly, are not so badly shattered or are easier patched. Defendant in case number two, according to street talk, will attempt to prove that the affections with which he tampered had been by others tampered with. This case, too, unless settled out of court, will be aired shortly."

A GAY AND GIDDY THRONG.

The Second Ice Carnival of the Season.

Ahead of the Last Carnival.—A List of Maskers and Prize-Winners.—Another Brilliant Success Scored by the Canton.

Again the gay and gorgeous gliders of the kaleidoscopic carnival glade over the excellent ice prepared by the champion ice-maker, John Cousins, at the rink last night to quick-step music from the Fire Brigade Band, who were there, arrayed in all the glory of their resplendent uniforms, and evolved such sweet sounds from the inner depths of their crooked, distorted but handsome and polished instruments that the heart of the merry masker was filled with pleasantness and a determination to return the copy of the EXAMINER that he borrowed from his neighbor a few days ago to get all the news, as soon as he got home; and so deeply imbued were some with the spirit of lively hilariousness inspired by the band that in the exuberance of their feelings they tried to waltz around the rink on their ear, changing ears occasionally. This, they found, wasn't strictly according to Hoyle, and besides it hurt somewhat. The pastime, probably, would have been more in accord with the capabilities of a well-developed donkey in full bloom, who made everybody laugh by his comical appearance and antics.

The ice was crowded during the entire evening, and the costumes were far superior to those of the last carnival. The were three or four good representations of the Kings of England, and the judges found it difficult to decide in the matter. There were also a couple of brawny Highlanders and some good comic costumes, the Donkey being without doubt the best seen on the ice this year. The ladies' costumes were all good, yet none were of extraordinary merit. There were a number present from Lakefield and other places.

The attendance of spectators also showed an improvement over the last carnival, the galleries being fairly thronged with people craning their necks and viewing with apparent concentrated interest the gigantic and brilliant pastorama below.

The rink was beautifully decorated, and under the glittering effulgence of the electric light, the whole interior presented a marvellously splendid scene.

The Canton is to be congratulated on the gratifying success of their second effort in this line, and the announcement of their third carnival will be pleasant news. The members of the Canton were in attendance to fulfil the many onerous duties which always devolve upon those who undertake to manage a carnival, and they succeeded admirably. They also during the evening paraded on the ice in their neat and rich uniforms, and performed the Silent Manual and won the admiration of all the spectators therefor.

PRIZE LIST.

The judges were Hon. R. Hamilton, Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Sherwood. Their decisions were generally satisfactory. The prizes for best represented Queen of England and court lady were not awarded as there were no costumes of the kind on the ice. In addition to the prizes awarded below, the judges considered Googie Lundy, as "Fairy," and E. Bysh, "N. W. Indian," as worthy of extra prizes. Following is the prize list :—

Best Fancy Costume—Miss Beatrice Coe, "Prisms"; prize—toilet set in gold tricycle.

Best Dressed Girl (aged 14 and under) in fancy costume—Nellie Galley, "Crazy Patchwork"; special prize—oil painting of the winner in costume, by T. Workman.

Best Dressed Girl (aged 14 and under) in comic costume — Maud McFarlane, "Old Woman that Lived in a Shoe"; prize—perfume toilet set, on silver tray.

Best representation of any of the Kings of England—A. E. Thompson, Charles II; prize—pair of bronze statues of the fifteenth century, value $10.

Best Dressed Gentleman, in Highland costume—M. B. Fee; Prize—Handsome framed steel engraving, entitled "Betrothal of Robbie Burns and Highland Mary," size 30x40, value $15.

Best Dressed Gentleman in Comic Costume—W. Logan, "Donkey"; Prize—A volume of Humorous Essays.

Best Dressed Boy in Fancy Costume—Charlie McFarlane, "Cavalier"; Prize—The "Boys Own Annual."

Best Dressed Boy in Comic Costume—Percy Roper, "Butterfly"; Prize—Pair of live fowl, fancy breed.

Barrel Race, through three barrels and return—Milton Minore; Prize—Student's lamp.

Boys' Race, five times around the rink—Gus Sawers, jr.; Prize—A silk handkerchief.

Personal.

Mr. George Overton, late of Muncaster's jewelry store, has gone to New York.

Mr. Bert. Walton, Smith, left this morning for Chicago, where he will spend the spring and summer.

Rev. W. J. Ford, of Essex Centre, is renewing old associations in town for a few days, the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. Arthur Rutherford. Rev. Mr. Ford has been selected as the member of the London conference to deliver an address to the theological class of Victoria College, and he is in this vicinity for that purpose. Rev. Mr. Ford will be remembered by many as a former resident, he having been at one time a member, "at the case," of that honourable estate the printer's, and a reciprocal honour was conferred in his leaving it to enter the ministry. He has been twenty-one years absent from Peterborough, which has grown out of his knowledge, there being to him only a few recognizable spots. Essex Centre, the village in which Mr. Ford lives, enjoys the rather mouldy distinction of being the only place in Canada in which the somewhat effete and discredited Dunkin act is in operation, and he states that there are still attempts, meeting with occasional success to enforce it. Rev. Mr. Ford will probably divide the remainder of the week between town and Cobourg.

News Nuggets.

—Lent begins to-day.

—The voice of the wood saw is heard in town.

—The thermometer was somewhere about sweet sixteen last night.

—The weather recently is evidently of the feminine gender—changeable.

—To-day, figuratively speaking, the butcher bangs up his cleaver.

—The Canton carnival made close connections with complete success.

—Wilson Day and his company are on the road with "A Hoop of Gold."

—The bachelor editor of the Millbrook Reporter is longing for a leap year ball.

—There goes another headache from smoking bad cigars. Why don't you smoke the "Crow"?

—Port Hope society is hugging itself over the prospect of the developments of a breach of promise case.

—For the next forty days more or less scaly transactions will mark the business of our local grocers.

—Mr. Jas. Thorndyke is master of the East Durham County Lodge, and Geo. McCartney, secretary.

—If our population increased in proportion to the increase of our lawyers and doctors, we should double our census record.

—A load of wood is no sooner dumped in a resident's yard than three or four solicitors for sawing it appear.

—Millbrook is progressing. There is a demand for more houses for rental. There seems to be not a vacant house in the village.

—The Bowmanville Statesman publishes with pride a three-column list of paid up subscribers for 1888. The editor has concluded to buy one "square meal" on the head of it.

Lakefield.

MILLBROOK'S BIG BLAZE.

A Disastrous Fire in the Village Last Night.

Firemen to the Rescue—Record of the Losses and Insurances—How the Blaze Originated—A Severe Catastrophe for the Village.

(Special to the Examiner.)

MILLBROOK, Feb. 14.—A disastrous fire occurred here last evening about 8.25 o'clock, in the premises occupied by Arch'd Armstrong, in the Coombs block, occasioned by the bursting of a lamp. Mr. Armstrong is a very old man and was unable to extinguish the incipient blaze before it had gained considerable headway.

Both fire engines were promptly on the spot and soon had two streams playing on the flames.

Mr. Lang's store, in the same block, was the next to fall a prey to the devouring element. His stock, which had been lately increased, was only partly insured; so that his loss will be heavy.

Bateson's harness shop was the next to go. Mr. Bateson lost all his household furniture as his house was above the shop.

Mr. Coombs, tailor, in the second story, lost all his tailoring implements together with a number of suits made to order.

STILL IT SPREADS.

The next block owned by A. Fee, and occupied in the lower story by Moffatt, butcher; and Archer, shoemaker; and the second story by Miss Fee, and Messrs. David Fallis and McIntosh. Miss Fee and Mr. Fallis were from home, and, we understand, lost everything. Mr. McIntosh saved his room furniture in a more or less damaged condition.

The other block was in great danger, but owing to the almost super-human exertions of our gallant firemen the fiery element was held in check. Had it not been for them the whole of that portion of the town would be now a smouldering ruin.

The fire broke out afresh towards morning, but No. One Actives promptly returned and extinguished the flames.

LOSSES.

The following are the losses :—

Lang, $1,500, insured for $500; Armstrong, $1,500, insured for $1,000; L. Bateson, $1,000, insured for $700; Moffat, $200, no insurance; Coombs, $4,000, insured for $2,000; Mulligan block, $4,000, insured for $2,000; with other losses, which it is impossible at this juncture to obtain.

Last night about nine o'clock Mayor Stevenson received a telephone message from Millbrook, asking him to send down some hose by the 8.45 express, the message stating that the train would wait at the station here till the hose arrived. The request was promptly complied with and 500 feet of hose was placed on the sleigh in readiness to be taken to the station. As a precautionary measure the station was rung up to see if the train was waiting, but word came back that she had gone. So the hose could not be sent.

County and Other Bridges.

Mr. Charles Wynn, bridge contractor, has now three county bridges on his hands, one at Warsaw, one at Allandale and the Locks bridge. He has about twenty men at work getting out stone at the quarries near Warsaw. It is not yet decided whether Warsaw or Foxboro stone will be used for the piers and abutments of the new Locks bridge.

THEIR TASK COMPLETED.

A TREATY SIGNED BY THE FISHERY COMMISSIONERS.

The Document Said to Relate Exclusively to the North Atlantic Fisheries, and to Contain no Provisions for Commercial Reciprocity.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—After almost daily sessions for the past two weeks the Fisheries Commissioners at 7 o'clock to-night completed their labors and signed a treaty which, it is believed, will result in a satisfactory settlement of the disputes that have existed for almost a century between this Government and Great Britain over the North Atlantic fisheries. The treaty is signed by all six of the commissioners, and is said to have their full concurrence. It will be sent to the President to-morrow for transmittal to the Senate.

Before the treaty can take effect it must have the ratification of the Queen of Great Britain, the Dominion of Canada and the Province of Newfoundland as well as of the Senate of the United States.

Although the treaty will not at present be made public it can be stated that it relates exclusively to the disputes concerning the fisheries of the North Atlantic coast and does not include any provisions concerning the Behring Sea trouble or Commercial Reciprocity.

The treaty, it may also be added, does not contemplate the admission of fish into the United States free of duty.

Secretary Bayard said to-night that he could not, because of his official position, make known the contents of the treaty, but that it was his earnest wish that it should be given to the press by those having the right to make such disposition of it and that every line of it should be published.

The dispute, he said, was of long standing and had come to him by inheritance when he assumed the duties of Secretary of State. He had used his best endeavors to reach a satisfactory agreement with the Government of Great Britain, and believed that he had succeeded so far as it lay in his power to effect a settlement.

A London Journal's Comments.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The Standard, referring to the signing of the fisheries treaty at Washington, congratulates the commissioners and assumes that should the Senate refuse to ratify the treaty President Cleveland would use his constitutional prerogative to make a provisional arrangement with Canada on the basis of the treaty, which would serve the same purpose, in the hope that the next Senate elected would finally ratify the treaty.

Better Than Expected.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—It seems that more has been accomplished than was expected. The agreement is a treaty between the Governments of Great Britain and the United States and is not a simple administrative agreement between Canada and the United States. It is learned that the questions relating to jurisdiction over Behring Sea have not been touched, but that the whole subject matter is confined to the consideration of the North Atlantic fisheries. The American negotiators are said to have receded from their position in relation to the three-mile limit, and concede everything claimed by Canada in this respect. In return for this concession Canada has modified her position upon the question of "touch and trade," and under certain restrictions this privilege will be granted to American fishing vessels. At this writing nothing can be learned about the action of the commissioners on the subject of the dispute about the right to purchase bait, but it is hinted that this too has been conceded to Americans in a modified way. One thing is certain—there has been no discussion whatever upon the subject of Commercial Union. Sir Charles Tupper absolutely declined to make any steps in this direction, and if it is necessary to consult Great Britain, as claimed by Mr. Chamberlain, before any action in this respect is taken by the American Congress and the Canadian Parliament, further negotiations will be necessary. It is said that both the American and British members of the Commission are thoroughly satisfied with the outcome. Canada is yet to be heard from.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

CONTINUATION OF THE DEBATE ON THE ADDRESS.

The Administration of the Crimes Act Denounced—John Ellis Says the National League is Stronger Than Ever—First Appearance of O'Brien and Dillon.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—On resuming the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's Speech in the House of Commons to-day, John Ellis (Liberal) said he would support Parnell's amendment. The decrease of crime in Ireland, he said, was not due to the Crimes Act, and the returns submitted by the Government in support of that assertion were of no value, inasmuch as they did not give details which could lead to the identification of any of the cases cited. The conduct of the Irish magistrates, many of whom were not qualified for their positions, was to be condemned; others had been guilty of arbitrary conduct. Petty malignity and calculated tyranny were connected with the administration of the Crimes Act. [Cheers from the Irish members.] If a select committee were appointed by the Government, abundant evidence of maladministration would be forthcoming. The National League was stronger than ever, and the spirit of the Irish people remained unbroken, they being convinced that when the facts became known the present mockery called the Government of Ireland, would be swept away by the electors. [Irish cheers.]

Col. King-Harman (Conservative) declared that the events of the past few months showed that the league was losing power. No real attempts were now made to hold meetings in the proclaimed districts.

Herbert Gladstone taunted the Government with the utter failure of their attempt to prevent the progress of the Plan of Campaign or to suppress the National League.

On motion of Wm. O'Brien the debate was adjourned. Mr. O'Brien will resume the discussion to-morrow.

William O'Brien and John Dillon made their appearance in the House to-day for the first time this session. They were warmly greeted.

EUROPEAN NEWS.

The Crown Prince's Condition—Mr. Pyne Goes to Jail—The Political Situation in England.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Mr. Robert Gillespie presided at the half-yearly meeting of the Bank of British Columbia to-day, and congratulated the shareholders on the great success of the institution, which was more pronounced than any previously presented. The business of the Pacific coast, particularly of San Francisco, has shown much improvement, the various trades and industries being still in a prosperous condition. The board had reason to believe its position in British Columbia was sound and prosperous, and decided to call up the remaining unpaid capital of £10 per share. A dividend of 9½ per cent. for the year was approved of.

The political situation in London is somewhat uncertain. Rumors prevail that, after the admission of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach into the Cabinet, other changes must ensue. It is stated that a cabal was formed for the return of Lord Randolph Churchill, but I have authority for saying that it is most unlikely that he will accept a subordinate position. Rumors point to the retirement of Lord George Hamilton from the Admiralty. Baron De Worms is expected to be given the presidency of the Board of Trade, but it is stated his services will be rewarded by another Government office.

The general condition of the Crown Prince remains unchanged. A London despatch says the Queen feels very anxious about the Crown Princess. The severe mental strain to which she has been subjected during the last nine months has been too severe, and there are signs that her nervous system is getting seriously out of order. On Wednesday and Thursday of last week the Princess was in a perfect state of distraction, and after the operation was pronounced inevitable, she appeared almost bereft of reason, and had to be kept in her rooms until it was over, when she recovered her composure.

Mr. Pyne, M.P., was convicted in Dublin to-day on the charge of inciting resistance to bailiffs, and sentenced to three months' imprisonment without hard labor. Mr. Pyne was released on bail, and on leaving court was re-arrested on a similar charge.

The Canadian Gazette, commenting on the absorption of the Northern Railway by the Grand Trunk, believes it was wise for the Canadian Pacific to refuse to take the road and natural for the Grand Trunk to take it. The arrangement prevented a duplication of lines to the Sault, and was no doubt in the best interests of both companies.

THE TRANSFER OF REALTY.

The Heavy Burdens Which it Bears—The Torrens System.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.

The Board of Directors of the Canada Land Law Amendment Association met yesterday in the new board room of the Canada Permanent Loan and Savings Company, Mr. J. Herbert Mason, the President, in the chair. The petition to the Legislative Assembly was adopted urging upon the members the importance of the Torrens system of land transfer, and the desirability of its speedy adoption throughout the country, showing that the failure to take advantage of the system has been very largely caused by the great expense incident to its introduction, but notwithstanding such expense a large amount of property in Toronto, amounting to upwards of $2,000,000, had been brought under the act, and that when lands were brought under the act the system was found admirable.

The question of the application of the surplus moneys from the registry offices was also brought up. It appeared that the surplus fees from the Registry Office of Toronto for the past year amounted to something like $12,000, and the fees from the County of York to $6000, making in all $17,000. It is estimated that the whole charges for building and maintaining the registry offices are not more than $3000 a year, thus leaving a net sum which, as it comes out of the landowners of the country, should be devoted to relieving the burdens incident to the transfer of property.

A resolution was passed embodying these views and pledging the meeting to support any measure introduced for the purpose of improving the existing system of registry and forwarding the Torrens system. Mr. John Leys has now a measure before the House with that object in view, whereby part of the surplus funds will be devoted to increasing the efficiency of the registry offices, and the rest being applied to the gradual introduction of the Torrens system.

PAPERS BY DOCTORS.

A Lindsay Physician Elected President of the Health Officers' Association.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.

The Ontario Association of Executive Health Officers closed its second annual meeting yesterday, there being two sessions. In the morning Secretary-Treasurer Bryce reported a balance on hand. These officers were elected:

President—Dr. Barrett, Lindsay.
Vice-Presidents—Dr. Griffin, Brantford and Dr. McLellan, Trenton.
Secretary-Treasurer—Dr. P. H. Bryce, Toronto.
Executive Committee—Drs. Tracey, Belleville; Sweetland, Ottawa; Curdy, Preston; Cassidy, Toronto, and Deacon.

Dr. Griffin read a paper treating ably of the subject of "Water Supplies and their Pollution." He thought it was a matter which the Government should enable the Provincial Board of Health to deal with effectually.

Dr. Oldright exhibited a sample of sewer trap and thought that the only safe means was the laying of pipes with a ventilator for the escape of foul air. On motion of Dr. Griffin it was decided that the Government be notified of the danger of pollution of water for the City of Belleville because of refuse from the Deaf and Dumb Institute. Prof. Oldright read an interesting paper on "Cremation of Town Refuse."

The afternoon session was short. Dr. Coventry, chairman of committee, read a paper on "The Control and Prevention of Disease," but the members were disappointed in not hearing three other papers which were promised.

Drs. Sweetland, Ottawa; Coventry, Windsor; Prof. Vaughan, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Prof. Ramsay Wright and Prof. Wm. Oldright, Toronto University, were elected honorary members.

An invitation from the Mayor of Lindsay for the Association to hold its next meeting there was accepted. The Association will co-operate with the Association of Quebec in urging the Government to strengthen the quarantine station at Grosse Isle.

Votes of thanks were passed and the Association adjourned, most of the members proceeding to the Legislature to interview the Attorney-General regarding incorporation.

No Dealings With Barnett.

In a letter received yesterday from Mr. E. S. Cox by a personal friend, Mr. Cox says: "I see Barnett has been interviewed and mentions me. Now remember this, I never had any thing of any kind to do with Barnett, directly or indirectly, and he knows nothing about me or my transactions."

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.

Very private and very secret was the semi-annual meeting of the Ontario Bookseller's Association which was held yesterday in the gentlemen's parlor of the Queen's Hotel. The President, Mr. Fred Sharpe, of St. Marys, occupied the chair, and Secretary George Tait of St. Catharines was there to look after the records.

With regard to the postage on periodicals, etc., between Canada and the United States, it was decided that in view of present arrangements, the Association should not take action. Nothing was done regarding the copyright law. The Association will send a deputation eastward for the forming of minor organizations. The meeting wound up with an oyster supper.

The alleged Lancaster (Pa.) forger, Jacob B. Huber, was again before Judge McDougall yesterday. The private prosecutor said he couldn't go on, and in spite of Mr. Bigelow's protestations the Judge gave the prosecution 24 hours in which to get their evidence ready. If they cannot then go on the prisoner will be allowed to go.

The Board of Arbitration of the Board of Trade held its first 1888 meeting yesterday, when Mr. Wm. Galbraith was elected chairman. The secretary reported the bond of submission in the case of George A. Chapman v. ex-Ald. Hall, and this committee was appointed to arbitrate on the case: Messrs. Barlow Cumberland, J. H. G. Hagarty, Elias Rogers, R. S. Baird and Wm. Galbraith.

THE LATEST MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—There was very little trading in the local stock market to-day, and the prices remained practically the same as yesterday.

On St. Lawrence Market to-day business was at a standstill. The bitter cold weather in the country kept the farmers by their own ingleides and very little stuff of any kind reached the market. Pork sold at $7.25 to $7.30. On the grain market 200 bushels of barley were sold at 73c to 77c a bushel, and one load of spring wheat was sold at 74½c a bushel.

The following figures were quoted: Beef, hindquarters, per lb., 4c to 7c; beef, forequarters, per lb., 3c to 4½c; Mutton, per carcase, 6c to 7c; lamb, per carcase, 8c to 8½c; veal, 7c to 9c; pork, 7½c to 7½c; chickens, per pair, 45c to 60c; ducks, per pair, 60c to $1; geese, per lb., 12c to 13c; turkeys, per lb., 12c to 13c; wheat, fall, per bushel, 79c to 82c; wheat, spring, per bush., 74½c to 80c; wheat, goose, per bush, 72c to 74c; barley, 73c to 77c; oats, per bush, 46c to 47c; peas, 68c to 69½c; timothy, $14 to $16.50; clover, $11 to $13; straw, $10 to $12; butter, pound rolls, 23c to 26c; butter, tub, 19c to 23c; cheese, per lb., 12c to 15c.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET.

Liverpool—Spring wheat 6s 7d to 6s 9d, red winter 6s 7d to 6s 9d, No. 1 Cal. 6s 9d to 6s 10d, corn 4s 10d, peas 5s 5d, pork 60s 9d, lard 30s 6d, bacon 32s 6d, cheese 58s 6d.

OSWEGO BARLEY MARKET.

Oswego reports barley quiet to-day at the following prices: No. 2 ex-Can. 80c, No. 1 Can. 89c, No. 1 Bright 90c. Shipments 5000.

MR. CAMPBELL DETHRONED

CHANCELLOR BOYD'S JUDGMENT ON THE PETITION FOR REMOVAL.

Conclusion of the Argument—His Lordship's Exhaustive Review—The Creditors to Elect and Choose His Successor—The Deposed Liquidator Interviewed by The World.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.

At last the principal act in the Central Bank has been played. Mr. Archibald Campbell has been deposed and his office declared vacant. His colleagues, Messrs. Howland and Gooderham, the petitioning liquidators, are continued in their post and will together proceed with the business of the liquidation until the creditors give them a colleague.

This Chancellor Boyd decided yesterday, and in support of his judgment gave an exhaustive review of the functions of liquidators and the range and operations of the Winding-up Act. He impartially considered the charges and counter-charges of the divers affidavits, and whilst exonerating Mr. Campbell from several of the charges preferred against him, said the duty of the court was to remove him from his office, principally on the ground of want of harmony with his colleagues in the work of liquidation.

No order was made as to costs and the arrangements for the fresh election were left to Master Hodgins.

This stage of the prolonged proceedings was not reached until 6 o'clock last evening, the Chancellor's summing up occupying more than an hour.

The earlier proceedings lost their interest and importance by His Lordship's decision. They may be concisely summarized by stating that Mr. Maclennan, Q.C., took up the argument in reply to the petition against Mr. Campbell, and spoke effectively for 2½ hours.

Mr. Bain, Q.C., followed on the same side and occupied nearly as long. He was in good voice and form, and eloquently denounced the "conspiracy" against his client, the charges preferred having, he maintained, no tittle of evidence supporting them. Mr. Foster briefly replied to certain points and then came the climax, when at 5 o'clock Chancellor Boyd commenced his judgment.

"My judgment to this So far as I am concerned I do not take the responsibility of continuing Mr. Campbell in his position as liquidator. The proceedings tell against him, and I must have regard to the stand which the other two liquidators have taken against him. It is now for the creditors to say what they will do.

"Therefore I direct that the office of liquidator occupied by Mr. Campbell be vacated, and that a meeting of the creditors be called for the purpose of nominating a person to fill this third liquidatorship, without prejudice to Mr. Campbell being nominated for the office. The time and place of meeting will be settled by the Master.

"I do not dispose of the question of costs at present.

"There need be no suspension in dealing with the accounts by the other liquidators, Messrs. Howland and Gooderham. Their proceedings will go on as at present, in the meanwhile."

Counsel's Last Words.

Mr. Bain: "I ask your Lordship to direct that the liquidators shall not interfere with the meeting to be called in any way, or endeavor to procure proxies to represent creditors at the meeting. Messrs. Howland and Gooderham have the books in their possession and know who the creditors are. The meeting should be perfectly free, and there should be a clear understanding that the liquidators take no part in the meeting."

The Chancellor: "I think it is better to let all speak and deal with the matter as they choose."

Mr. Bain: "I do not object to the liquidators speaking at the meeting, but I do object to their making use of circulars and proxies."

The Chancellor: "The creditors have to send in their claims by Feb. 20, and the list will then be open at the bank. However, I will refer this matter to the master. He will settle the details—the advertisement, the time and place of meeting, etc. I will not fetter him in his discretion in any way."

Mr. Foster: "As to Messrs Howland and Gooderham?"

The Chancellor: "The work of liquidation must go on."

Mr. Foster: "There has been no suspension on their part yet."

The Chancellor: "No; there has not. They will continue their work."

A Dividend to be Declared.

It was reported to the Master-in-Ordinary yesterday, by Messrs. Howland and Gooderham, Central Bank liquidators, that the funds in their hands and the amounts which they expect to collect justified them in asking for power to declare a dividend to the Central Bank depositors as soon after March 1 as they can get the record of claims in shape. The Master granted the required permission.

The Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1888.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said in a recent speech at Quebec, that his government had called upon the "people to help themselves," and the Montreal Herald points out that the boodlers have nobly responded to the call.

AFTER all the burning stump eloquence the people of this country have heard on the subject of ruinous and reckless expenditure, they will no doubt be pleasantly surprised to learn that the expenditure on the Agricultural College was about ten thousand below the estimate, and that the creamery department had not only been self-sustaining but showed a surplus of over $400 the past year.

THERE are twenty-one "trusts" in the United States "protected" by duties averaging about 50 per cent. The sole object of these trusts is to control the products of the various industries and to keep up prices. These trusts cover almost, if not, every article or commodity entering into the daily life of the people, so that the public are bled at every pore for the benefit of the few. Millionaires thus grow richer while the people grow poorer by paying out money which does them no good, The following is a list of the "trusts" in the United States; the annexed figures show the duty per cent. by which they are assisted in robbing the public:—Plow steel patent, 45 per cent.; Bessemer steel, 84 per cent.; general steel, 45 per cent.; iron, 45 per cent.; nails, 45 per cent.; copper, 24 per cent.; zinc, 52 per cent.; tin plate, 32 per cent; glass, 55 per cent.; pottery, 56 per cent.; soap, 26 per cent.; salt, 83 per cent.; coal, 23 per cent.; lead, 74 per cent.; sugar, 70 per cent.; envelopes, 25 per cent.; school slate, 30 per cent.; paper bags, 35 per cent.; linseed oil, 54 per cent.; paving pitch, 20 per cent.; cordage, 21 to 32 per cent. The same system of commercial brigandage is being introduced into Canada. The Sugar Ring at Montreal is the most prominent member of the gang, but it will not be long allowed to enjoy its admitted supremacy. The cotton and oatmeal rings are no despicable competitors in the innocent work of robbing the public.

THE Dominion Government expects the local governments in the several provinces to enforce the Scott Act, yet it deprives the latter of the funds which should be available to meet the expenses incident to such enforcement. Hon. A. M. Ross, Provincial Treasurer, in his budget showed "how great are the sacrifices made by the Ontario Government on behalf of the Scott Act, and how much more heavily the burden falls upon the Government than upon the municipalities which have adopted the Act, and which would naturally be expected to make the sacrifices if such were required. For instance, last year the municipalities received for fines under the Scott Act $94,000. They contributed to the cost of enforcement of the Act but $44,000. They have thus a clear surplus from fines of $50,000. On the same account there was a clear loss to the Provincial Treasury of $25,000. Then the municipalities lost in license revenue $136,000, but against this they have the surplus from fines of $50,000. Their total loss is, therefore, $85,000. The Province, however, loses in license revenue $124,000 and about $25,000 on account of enforcement, or a loss to the Province of about $149,000, against a loss of $35,000 by the municipalities. In the face of these facts the Federal Government continue to force upon the Provincial authorities the burden of the enforcement of an imperfect Act, and to order the fines imposed under it to be paid over to the municipalities.

A Windfall for Bellevillians.

Mr. Jas. E. Walmsley, says the Intelligencer, left for Southern California Wednesday evening. Recently, Daniel Walters, one of the Argonauts who went to California in 1849, died at Los Angeles, leaving an estate valued between $30,000 or $50,000. There are only three heirs, one of whom is Mr. Walmsley's mother, who is a sister of deceased. Mr. Walmsley carried with him a power of attorney to act for the interested parties and will be absent about three months.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Yesterday was a busy one with the Legislature. For almost three hours the House devoted itself assiduously to the business which had accumulated on the order paper. The features of the sitting was the advancement of several important bills a stage. Although the House did not hold an evening session it may be fairly claimed that they did a good day's work. All the members except three or four were in their places. The adjournment was at 6.50.

Mr. Meredith asked whether any journal or other record of the proceedings of the conference of certain members of the executive councils of this and certain other of the provinces held in Quebec in October last was kept. If any such journal or other record was kept, if it is the intention to lay a copy of it before the House.

The Attorney-General said—I believe that a journal or other record of the proceedings of the conference was kept. A copy of it has been sent to every member of the House.

For the next two hours the House buckled on its harness and went through the list of public and private bills. Eight were taken up and discussed, and seven of these were given a second reading.

Mr. French's bill to amend the law respecting mortgages was the first on the list. It provided that it would not be lawful for a mortgagee to demand six months' notice from the borrower of the latter's intention to repay, or six months' interest in place of such notice, unless it was so expressly stated in the terms made by the contending parties. The Attorney-General, Mr. Gibson (Hamilton), Mr. Meredith and Mr. French discussed the merits of the measure. Mr. Gibson suggested that a three months' notice would be more just than none at all, in cases where the mortgage was overdue and the borrower had been permitted to pay his interest without being put to the expense of getting out a new instrument. It would not be fair to the lender to have the payment made without any notice. Mr. French proposed to refer it to the same members who composed the Legal Committee.

The bill was referred to a committee composed of Messrs. Meredith, Bishop, Fraser, Ross (Huron), Waters, Deary, Tooley, Wood (Hastings), Gibson (Hamilton), Clancey, Whitney, Guthrie, Hardcastle and French.

Mr. Lees' bill to amend the General Road Companies Act, was taken up. It gave power to county councils, upon the petition of one hundred ratepayers, to have arbitrators appointed to decide upon what benefit the abolition of tolls upon roads running through townships or to towns or villages, would be. It gave the arbitrators power to assess interested municipalities their fair share towards the purchase of such roads. On the completion of the purchase all tolls were to be abolished. The Attorney-General said this was an important matter. It was very desirable that all tolls on roads used by the public should be abolished. However it would be well to allow the road companies an opportunity to appear and give any suggestion they might have to offer. The bill was given a second reading, and referred to the Municipal Committee.

Dr. McKay's bill "for the prevention of accidents by fire in hotels and public buildings" provides that hotel proprietors shall build iron ladders or stairways on the outside of the building above the first story; that a rope fire escape shall be kept in each bedroom above the ground floor, and that any hotel man found not complying with the law shall be subject to a fine of not less than $20 or more than $200. The bill was read a second time and referred to a committee composed of Messrs. Hardy, Meredith, H. E. Clarke, Wood (Brant), Gibson (Hamilton), Guthrie, Craig, Ingram, Fraser and Metcalfe.

Mr. Waters' bill to amend the Assessment Act so as to have the "poll tax" paid to overseers of highways instead of the municipal councils received a second reading and was referred to the Municipal Committee.

Mr. Stewart's bill to amend the Municipal Act so as to regulate the distance from any public road that any portable steam engine may be used received a second reading without debate.

Mr. Wood's (Brant) proposed amendment to the municipal act met with the approbation of the Provincial Treasurer. It will compel every municipal council to have a complete statement of the assets and liabilities of such municipality published before nomination day of each year. The bill received its second reading.

Mr. Smith's bill introducing a kind of frontage tax, called by him an "acreage rate," into rural communities, for providing funds to defray the cost of local improvements, was opposed by Messrs. Wood and Phelps. The latter thought Mr. Smith should be compelled to withdraw it. The bill got its second reading and was referred to the Municipal Committee.

Mr. Clarke (Wellington) succeeded in getting his bill to make the heads of municipal councils, reeves and deputy-reeves, ex-officio justices of the peace, read a second time. This year no opposition was raised to it.

A private bill, introduced by Mr. Stratton, amending the act incorporating the William Hall Peterboro Protestant Poor Trust was read a second time.

These bills were introduced and read a first time:

Mr. Bronson—An act to amend the Railway Act of Ontario.

Mr. Leys—An act respecting the Town of Parkdale.

Hon. G. W. Ross—An act respecting the endowment of University College and Upper Canada College.

Mr. Monk—An act to amend the Assessment Act.

Mr. Conmee—An act respecting the Town of Port Arthur and townships adjacent to the town.

Around the Lobbies.

Dr. Coventry, Windsor: Dr. Sweetland, Ottawa; Dr. Burrows, Lindsay; Dr. Griffin Brantford; Dr. Rebillard, Ottawa; Dr. McClelland, Trenton, and Dr. Oldright, Toronto representing the Executive Health Officers' Association of Ontario, waited on the Attorney General and Hon. A. M. Ross yesterday, asking that Dr. Bryce, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, be made a health officer in connection with their association, and that proper instruments be supplied to him to enable him to carry on scientific investigation principally in the direction of analysing food and water. The deputation were assured that the matter would be considered.

The Royal Templars of Temperance object to the proposed Friendly Societies Act. After the doctors withdrew the Attorney-General and Mr. Ross were seen by a strong deputation from the order, now sitting in Toronto, who urged similar objections to those raised by the Independent Order of Foresters a few days ago.

A deputation composed of Mayor J. B. Thompson (Orillia), J. McCosh, Dr. Slaven, F. J. Delaney, W. J. Gilpin, James Quinn, J. J. Gallagher, Dr. Elliott, J. J. Hadley, Peter Thompson, Rev. Mr. Armstrong and William Teskey, waited on the Attorney-General to persuade the Government to take portions of territory of the counties of Ontario and Simcoe and the district of Muskoka for the purpose of forming a new county, with Orillia as the county town. They proposed to give the new county the the poetic name of "Mowat." If the new county be formed the Orillia men think their town has the strongest claims on being made the capital.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

A New Vessel for the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—Captain Irving of Victoria, B. C., is at the Russell. He is on his way to Glasgow, Scotland, to inspect a big steamer now building there for the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company. The vessel, which is to be a floating palace, will cost $250,000, and will be completed in July. The steamer goes to the Pacific via Cape Horn.

Mr. C. F. Bridges, vice-president, and Mr. Eden, land agent of the Manitoba and North-western Railway, Winnipeg, are in town. The object of their mission, it is understood, is to request the Government to accept the building of twenty miles of small line of railway this year instead of fifty miles which is called for by the charter. The matter is one the Railway Committee of the House of Commons will likely have to deal with. The construction of twenty miles, it is claimed, will be amply sufficient for the requirements of settlers along the projected route.

The Gilmour-Paradis case, or rather nine cases, will be argued before the Privy Council in May or June, when Mr. Rochon, M.P.P., attorney for plaintiff in the court below, will probably go to England for the final hearing and argument. He states that he feels confident of success in this final appeal, as the five judges of the Queen's Bench (appeal side) confirmed the judgment given in the first instance by Mr. Justice Wurtele in the Superior Court at Aylmer.

Hon. John Carling, Minister of Agriculture, visited the poultry show this afternoon and was accompanied by Prof. Saunders. They were shown through the place, and the minister examined the various cla-ses closely. He will recommend that a collection of the choice birds be purchased for the experimental farm. A collection of eggs will be purchased also. Mr. Carling will do all in his power to encourage the poultry raisers and expressed himself delighted with the exhibition and thought the collection of birds was very creditable to the association.

In view of the fact that His Excellency Lord Lansdowne's removal from Canada has been officially announced, Mayor Stewart wrote offering, on behalf of the citizens of the Capital, a farewell reception, to be given on the eve of His Excellency's departure, and also congratulating him on his appointment as Viceroy of India. The Mayor yesterday received a letter from Capt. Streatfield which states that the Mayor's communication had been laid before Lord Lansdowne, who desired to thank His Worship for his congratulation and to accept the reception tendered him in the name of the citizens.

The letter states that there is no truth in the rumor recently published that His Excellency's departure would take place in March, and that Lord Lansdowne did not anticipate that it would be necessary for him to leave until near the natural end of his term of office. For these reasons His Excellency did not think it would be wise to fix any date for the public reception at present.

The reception will take the form of either a dinner or a ball, probably the latter.

In consideration of the stormy weather which recently prevailed on the Atlantic coast the Minister of Fisheries has extended the close season for smelt fishing from Feb. 14 to Feb. 22.

The fishery bounty claims are being scheduled by the Fisheries Department with all possible despatch, with a view to their early payment.

A regulation has been adopted by which owners or masters of vessels intending to fish and claim bounty for the present season are required, before proceeding on their fishing voyage, to procure a license from the nearest collector of customs or fishery officer. The object of this license is to enable the department to keep trace of the vessels so engaged and is a declaration that the vessel is about to proceed to such a destination, which must be sent in with the claim at the end of the season.

Mayor Stewart and Ald. McVeitty, Gordon, Errat and Henderson left for Toronto this evening in connection with the Annexation Bill before the Ontario Legislature.

Mr. Cochrane, M.P., is in the city.

Rev. Mr. Herridge is ill.

J. S. Hall, M.P., had an interview with the Minister of Customs to-day regarding the duty to which dynamite should be subjected.

The Cabinet will meet in council to-morrow.

NEIL AND GAMBLE.

Messrs. Howland and Gooderham Have a Talk with the Former.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Governor Green had very little news to impart yesterday concerning Neil and Gamble, the two condemned murderers who have been sentenced to be hung on Feb. 29 and March 6 respectively. The jail is terribly overcrowded and it puts the Governor to his best wits to provide accommodation for all the unfortunates who are sent to him. At first Neil and Gamble were confined in the same cell, but for a few days past they have been separated. The Governor, considering Gamble's case not so serious, has placed him in the long corridor with the other male prisoners, while Neil is solitarily confined in a cell and watched by two guards.

The Governor said that Gamble, learning that great efforts were being made to procure for him a commutation, is not discouraged but has every hope. His counsel, Mr. Murdoch, leaves for Ottawa to-night with a big petition.

As for Neil, he remains silent and solitary. On Sunday Mr. W. H. Howland had a long talk with him regarding his spiritual welfare. Neil, who had heretofore been defiant, became somewhat softened. Last night Mr. Howland and Mr. Wm. Gooderham visited the jail and talked with Neil for an hour.

A Good Corn Shelter for 25 cents.

A marvel of cheapness, of efficacy, and of promptitude, is contained in a bottle of that famous remedy, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It goes right to the root of trouble, there acts quickly but so painlessly nothing is known of its operation until the corn is shelled. Beware of substitutes for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—safe, sure and painless. Sold at druggists. 6dw7

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Pain Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists. dw

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten years five per cent. debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the agents.

A Town Well.

Mr. Davidson's proposal to sink a bored well in some public place is one that will commend itself to many. It is a well known fact that in the central part of the town it is impossible to procure pure drinking-water, that great essential, especially during summer) at present, and a great many people cannot get the water supplied by the waterworks. It is proposed to sink the well on the market square, a good central location and one that would prevent any local jealousies such as would certainly spring up were one put down on any street. Mr. Davidson intends getting some information and estimates on the subject to present at the next council meeting.

Fearful accident to Express train on the Toronto branch, Grand Trunk, four miles from the city at 1.30 this afternoon. Three employees killed and several passengers injured. No further particulars yet.

Curliana.

Local Events of Interest to the Curling Fraternity.

In the competition for the Ontario Tankard at Toronto yesterday, the winning clubs were Toronto, Galt, Belleville and Thamesville. These play off the final to-day.

The Toronto papers state that Peterborough and Halifax are to play at Ottawa for the Governor-General's medal. The local club has received no official intimation of the change. It is probable, however, that Truro resigned, as she did last year, in favor of the third highest club, and it has been the fortune, good or bad, of Halifax to be pitted against Peterborough. The date of the game has not been arranged.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson has gone to Toronto to play in the Scotland Counties match, Stirlingshire vs. Lanarkshire, which takes place to-day. Mr. Ferguson plays with the Stirlingshire representatives.

The local club has received invitations to play Campbellford and Port Hope at an early date. It is probable also that a couple of rinks will go to Lindsay next week.

A prominent curler is responsible for the statement that the genial and capable secretary of the curling club became so disgusted with the game during the recent thaw that he has put his curling stones away for the season.

Answer to Correspondent.

Yes. Judging from what is said, the "Crow" cigar is becoming a favorite with smokers.

"California Fruits"

Oyster Rooms Open.

J.C.Craig has opened out his two comfortable oyster parlors on George street, where the delicious bivalves will be served up at all hours, in any style desired. Drop in and try Johnny's stews. Steaks, mutton chops and tea and coffee served until 12 o'clock at night. d

Masonic Hospitality.

Invitations have been issued to members of the craft, and through the latter to their friends, to a conversazione, to be held in the Masonic Lodge Rooms on Thursday night next, February 23rd. By the liberality of the brethren, refreshments will be provided, as well as an excellent programme of a specially interesting character, while at the same time the gathering will assume as much as possible the general features of a social re-union.

It Will be About $35.

An impression has got abroad that the door receipts at the Protestant Home concert amounted to $45. This is erroneous. Tickets to that amount were disposed of—only some eight dollars being taken at the door. From the tickets sold the expenses—the amount of which has not yet been ascertained—will have to be deducted. It is probable that $35 will be netted for the funds of the Home.

A Stupid and Heartless Hoax.

Considerable anxiety was caused by a paragraph purporting to be a telephone communication, which appeared in the Morning Times to the effect that the Rossin House, Toronto, had been destroyed by fire and that one or two of the employes had perished in the fire. The central telephone office was this morning deluged with inquiries from different parts of the town. The report was a stupid and silly hoax, perpetrated by a party who telephoned it to the Times from a local restaurant. Mr. Kent, manager of the telephone exchange, wishes it stated that the message did not come over his company's wires, and that the company had nothing, except the improper use of their town instruments, to do with the reporting of the rumor. Many persons in town have friends staying at the Rossin, and these would be subjected to great anxiety pending the supply of full particulars, if such a calamity as the burning of the hotel took place. There is certainly some punishment provided for the perpetrator of so heartless a hoax.

A. O. U. W. Grand Lodge.

The members of the Order in town as well as others interested in a sound and progressive beneficiary society, will read with interest the following facts condensed from the report of the Grand Recorder for the year 1887 :—The total cash receipts during the year were $193,955.74, showing an increase of $20,545.09 over the receipts last year. The total amount received in connection with the beneficiary fund was $177,252.12, which, with the balance of $903.87 on hand, makes a total of $178,155.99. Out of this 79 death losses were paid, amounting to $176,000, leaving a balance on hand of $155.99. The general fund amounts to $27,385.06 having been augmented during the year by $16,440.17. Out of this has been expended $17,523.03, leaving a balance on hand of $9,862,03. During the past year 17 new lodges have been instituted. The number of beneficiary certificates issued to date is 17,217, an increase of 2,316 for the year ; 94 members died and 217 were suspended.

A Joke on the Professionals.

The gay rush of festivities just precedent to Lent, made such a severe demand on the music resources of the town, that musicians had to be imported from outside places. Among these were two leaders of bands, and it came by chance that a night or two ago three band leaders were playing in the same orchestra. It struck them that their playing together could produce something worth hearing. Accordingly they made a try at some simple slow air like "Afton Water" o "Old Hundredth," and they got along so well that they resolved to "tackle" "The Lancers," the next number on the list. They struck up, and no doubt turned out some "high toned" music, but they got in so many accidentals—both in tone and time—portioned so many adagios trills, contentos, anacondas, etc., that the "set" was reduced to smithereens. The "head gent" eloped with the "side" lady, while the others went "visiting," the "chasser" got knocked "right and left." Everybody got twisted up in the "grand chain" and knocked off the "balance," while the whole affair ended in a "break-down." The professional leaders have led a sad life since that; the common musicians have fed them chiefly on "chaff" and the jokes are not always dry ones either.

"Father" Phillips de Sellier.

A "Converted" Roman Catholic Priest Gives His Experience.—A Big Night for the Salvation Army.

Wednesday night the Salvationists had an attraction at the Opera House that filled the building. "Father" Phillips de Sellier, a Roman Catholic priest who had been "converted" to the Salvation Army faith, was announced to state his experience while in the church and his reasons for leaving it. The parade before the service was, despite the intense cold, a large and brilliant one.

In the hall the soldiers, officers and band occupied the stage. After singing and prayer and a few brief "experiences" from the soldiers, Commissioner Coombs addressed the meeting. He spoke of the rapid advances of the Army. In India, after about five years' operations, they had 210 officers at work—almost as many as a missionary society that had been established there since the year 1814. China and Japan have lately been invaded with great success. Norway had just been attacked, and after only three days fighting in the city of Christiana 140 souls had been saved. Coming back to Canada, he said the progress of the Army had been just as wonderful. In the city of Toronto they had 120 officers in the work—120 ministers working for God. In Quebec, "where the devil was entrenched," he said, they were doing great things. But every victory won in Quebec had been won by the spilling of human blood. Still they were not going to give in ; they would continue in the good work in spite of all.

"FATHER" PHILLIP next came forward. He spoke in French and was interpreted to the audience by Capt. Ryan. He described how he had been first attracted by the Salvation Army services, and finally "converted" by them. Then he described his daily life in the monastery. He was, he said, what was called a Trappist priest, and had been in the church 30 years. Then he dealt with several doctrines of the Roman Catholic church, which he criticised severely and denounced. He asked his brethren of the Roman Catholic church to read their Bibles carefully if they wanted light and they would not remain in the church to which they were born for six months. "Father" Phillip announced his determination to return to Quebec and labor for the Salvation of his Roman Catholic brethren, and if he was killed, it would be all the more glory for him. He concluded by an appeal for financial help to aid in the work of evangelization of the two million souls in lower Canada.

A collection was taken up among the audience for the purposes of French Canadian work, after which the services were concluded in the usual manner.

Personal

Mayor Stevenson is in Toronto.

Mr. John A. Barron, M.P., Lindsay, is in town to-day, the guest of Mr. A.P. Poussette.

Dr. Barrows, of Lindsay, has been elected President of the Ontario Association of Executive Health Officers.

Mr. J. O. Donnell, general traveling agent of the Ætna Life Insurance Co., is in town and will remain for a few days, in the interest of the Company.

The Campbellford Herald speaks in high terms of the singing of Miss Begley and Mr. M. Dunn, at the St. Mary's Church concert in Campbellford on Friday night.

Mr. W. A. Kelsey, of the Burk's Falls Arrow, and formerly of Peterborough, was a member of the deputation to the Ontario government to ask the division of the county of Parry Sound for judicial purposes.

Rev. E. P. Crawford, rector of St. Peter's church, Brockville, who conducted the twelve-days' mission in St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, last fall, has been elected Grand Overseer of the Grand Lodge of the United Order of Workmen.

Miss M. A. Sanderson, the Peterborough delegate to the Grand Council of the Royal Templers of Temperance, which closed at Toronto yesterday, was the only lady delegate in attendance. Miss Sanderson was elected to the office of Grand Deputy Herald.

The numerous friends of Mr. A. Macdonald the coming tenor of this continent, will learn with pleasure that he is rapidly regaining his health and that he will soon return to Boston to resume the musical studies interrupted by his illness. He will reside permanently in Boston but will keep a warm corner of his heart for Peterborough where he has hosts of friends who will watch his future, which promises so brightly, with great interest.

A cablegram from Monte Carlo to Brockville has brought tidings of the death of Mrs. Rosamond, wife of Mr. W. Rosamond, president of the Cobourg Woolen Manufacturing Company. The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Rosamond was solemnized in St. Peter's church, Cobourg, last October, and they immediately set out on a wedding tour through England, France and Italy, intending to be absent about six months. Mrs. Rosamond was the eldest daughter of Col. Skill, a retired officer in Her Majesty's army. She was 20 years of age and was held in high esteem in Cobourg society. The cause of her death is unknown.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Council met, pursuant to adjournment, on February 13th, 1888. All the members present. Minutes of the previous meeting read and confirmed.

The auditors' report was received and adopted, and the clerk instructed to have the "Abstract" published as required by law, and have 100 copies of "Detailed statement" printed for distribution.

A by-law appointing a clerk, treasurer, assessor, collector and caretaker of town hall received its second and third readings and was signed and sealed; all the old officers were re-appointed except the collector, who declined to accept office, and Robert Goodfellow was appointed in his place—same salaries as last year.

On motion of Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. McIntosh, the following accounts were ordered to be paid :—

Review Printing Co.	$25 26
Thomas Bowles, for gravel	1 60
Robert Howden, for gravel	2 52
Wm. Whitfield, Collector, salary, postage and allowance for taxes remitted	53 00

Moved by Mr. Dunlop, seconded by Mr. Brownscombe, that Councillor Johnston be authorised to procure 2 cords of stone for McDonald's crib work, 2 cords for the bridge at Crawford's grove and 1 cord for Cameron's road.

The council then adjourned to meet on the 12th of March to appoint pathmasters, fence viewers and poundkeepers.

is to be learnt from the sight of a bald head. Falling out in premature grayness of the hair can be stopped if taken in time. Do not let it run on without making an effort to save it. To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realize how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $5.00. Think of that Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00 a good, serviceable Suit ; while for $7.00, $8.00 or $12.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

DISCUSSING THE TREATY.

THE UNITED STATES SAID TO HAVE RECEIVED ALL THEY ASKED.

A Long-Standing Bone of Contention Among the International Fishermen Settled—The Commissioners Packing Up to Go Home—Views of the English Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The fisheries treaty was the subject of much speculation and discussion at the Capital to-day.

While declining to give any specific information as to its provisions, Secretary Bayard to-night said to an Associated Press reporter that for many years the great contentions among American fishermen had been for a fair and just construction of the treaty of 1818, and that the present treaty had been framed by the American negotiators with a view to meet the needs and necessities of our fishermen, and he believed that if the treaty is ratified that end will have been accomplished.

From a trustworthy source it is learned that to our fishermen are secured all the commercial privileges for which they have been contending, with the exception of the right to purchase bait in Canadian waters, which is expressly withheld. Their right to enter Canadian ports for fuel, water and repairs is conceded. Certain bays which are specified are to remain under the exclusive jurisdiction of Canada. There is nothing in the provisions of the treaty, it is said, which necessitates the removal of the duty on Canadian fish or in any way changes our tariff system.

In its important features the treaty, it is stated, is favorable to the United States, and while new and valuable privileges have been acquired, this has been done without any costly sacrifice on our part.

Secretary Bayard said to-night that published reports purporting to give the essential features of the treaty were unauthorized and wholly wrong.

The American negotiators left for their homes to-day.

Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Chamberlain will remain in Washington a few days longer. The latter expects to sail for England in about a week.

Opinions of the London Press.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The Times says: "It is a triumph for Mr. Chamberlain's diplomatic skill that he has been able to reconcile conflicting interests so far in the teeth of rancorous and unscrupulous opposition and anti-English fanaticism."

The Daily News, commenting on the fisheries treaty, says that it is rather a one-sided compact. "Canada has made concessions, and therefore the treaty hardly contains the promise of a durable settlement. But perhaps it is the best possible agreement, and if it commends itself to Canada it will win general approval here."

The Post contents itself with congratulating the commissioners, especially Mr. Chamberlain, upon the conclusion of their difficult task.

A despatch from London says that the news of the agreement of the Fisheries Congress is not much discussed by the press. Some Unionist and Tory organs, however, congratulate Mr. Chamberlain on the success of his mission, and express a strong hope that the treaty will be ratified in the Senate. In circles where American politics are at all understood, the ratification is regarded as very doubtful. It is necessary to bear in mind that the English press, generally speaking, knows little or nothing of the rights or wrongs of the dispute, but simply expresses the desire of the ordinary Englishman to see the vexed question finally settled.

GUELPH, Feb. 16.—The ninth annual meeting of the Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union began at the Ontario Agricultural College this morning. President R. F. Holterman of Brantford occupied the chair. After routine business the new constitution and bylaws were adopted and the President's address read. A number of interesting papers were read this afternoon.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.

The proceedings in the Legislature yesterday afternoon were made lively for a couple of hours by an across-the-floor set-to between the two parties as to their respective political purity. Nearly all the known debaters in the chamber took part in the parley, which was provoked by Mr. Meredith while the House was in supply. The half-filled galleries took a great deal of satisfaction out of the brush, which came on rather expected while the committee was gently sauntering along over the estimates. All of the modern tricks known to politicians as election times were dished up by the speakers, each side claiming for itself an inborn purity, while "the hon. gentlemen opposite" were dished up in a pie of corruption with bribery sauce.

There was an evening session lasting till 9 o'clock and when the House adjourned it had, notwithstanding the little affair of the afternoon, performed an honest day's work. Thirty-two items out of a total of 93 in supply were passed. This is said to be the best day's work in supply on record. The amounts passed were:

Civil Government	$195,195
Legislation	123,050
Administration of Justice	364,346
Education	580,962

The Attorney-General moved that the House ratify an order-in-council approved by the Lieutenant-Governor on Jan. 26, 1886, waiving the claim of the Province to a certain annuity of the sum of $75, devised and bequeathed to the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institution of Upper Canada, by James Evenden, deceased, formerly of Barrie, who died on Nov. 5, 1867. The Premier explained that other annuities had been left to the relatives of the deceased, who were at present in need of such annuities, and it having been found that the estate would not support all these, and that if the Government pressed its right for the mentioned annuity the others would suffer, he thought it would be but right to forego its claim.

Mr Meredith: Has the Attorney-General made a direct enquiry into the circumstances of the case?

The Premier replied that from correspondence and from personal interviews he was satisfied as to the correctness of what he had stated.

The motion passed.

The Attorney-General moved that the House ratify an order-in-council, approved by the Lieutenant-Governor on Jan. 25, 1886, with reference to the application of the Prison Gate Mission for the discharge of a certain mortgage, dated Jan. 24, 1863, made by Samuel G. Ridout, and Rebecca, his wife, to the late Andrew Mercer, to secure the repayment of £401, with interest at 6 per cent., such mortgage being part of the escheated estate of the said Mercer, and directing that the lands covered by said mortgage be released and discharged therefrom.

The motion passed.

Three Government Bills.

The Attorney-General's bill entitled an act respecting ancillary probates and letters of administration was given a second reading. It provided that where any probate or letters of administration were granted by United Kingdom or colonial courts, the copies deposited and the fees paid, they should be sealed with the seal of the Surrogate Court, and be of like force in Ontario, in the case of personal estates only, as if they had been granted originally by the Surrogate Court of Ontario.

The Attorney-General's bill providing that any married woman deserted by her husband might summon him before a magistrate or two justices of the peace, and if the desertion or non-support be proved have him assessed a weekly sum not exceeding $10, such sum to go to the wife and family, came up for a second time.

He said that as the law stood now the only resource a deserted wife had was the bringing of her husband before a magistrate and having him sent to jail. This was very unsatisfactory. What he proposed was to introduce a measure giving a simple means to distressed married women to obtain support from their husbands. The bill would not interfere with the existing law by which an alimony case might be tried by the High Court.

Mr. Meredith suggested that such cases be tried by the County Judge instead of by justices of the peace.

Mr. French said he would protest against giving a justice of the peace power to try cases where the virtue of a woman was called in question. Such cases should go to the High Court.

Mr. Fraser said such power was already vested in justices of the peace.

The Attorney-General pointed out that a woman was not obliged to bring her case before the courts.

The bill was given its second reading.

The Attorney-General's measure in reference to the dispute between Ontario and Quebec as to claims, on behalf of municipalities, to the Upper Canada Improvement Fund and proceeds of sale of school lands, was up for a second reading. For the final settlement of the dispute the bill proposed to refer the matter to three arbitrators.

Mr. Creighton congratulated the Attorney-General upon the prospects of a settlement. He hoped that the proposed arbitration would not grow into another arbitration as the last arbitration seemed to be doing. He hoped they would get this matter settled some time, and not keep on deciding by arbitrations and settling nothing.

Mr. Ross blamed the Dominion Government for this, as they refused to give effect to the last arbitration.

The bill was read a second time.

The Attorney-General presented a petition for a bill to erect Woodstock to the status of a city.

Mr. Fell, in behalf of a large number of his constituents, presented a petition for an act to amend the game law so as to prevent the hunting of deer with dogs.

The Private Bills Committee passed three bills yesterday forenoon, respecting Trinity Church, Toronto; respecting the Orphans' Home, Ottawa; respecting certain Almonte debentures.

The Railway Committee reported favorably on Mr. Leys' bill relating to an agreement between the Grand Trunk and Midland railways and the town of Lindsay, Mr. Leys' bill relating to the legalising of some Sault Ste. Marie bylaws, and Mr. Fell's bill relating to the debt of the township of Bexley.

There was a dearth of deputations yesterday. This lull strikes a balance with the heavy interviewing done on Wednesday.

THE NEWS FROM EUROPE.

The Crown Prince's Condition—Mr. Pyne's Tribulations—A Princely Gift.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—A despatch from San Remo says Dr. Mackenzie has protested against the course of treatment pursued by the German doctors in the case of the Crown Prince.

The Lancet says: "Dr. Mackenzie's report will not be much to allay the anxiety concerning the Crown Prince. The diagnosis has been uncertain since May and continues to be uncertain."

The Prince of Wales receives regular bulletins regarding the Crown Prince's condition. It is rumored that the operation of laryngotomy is about to be performed.

The reports published by Prof. Virchow and Dr. Mackenzie concerning the Crown Prince's condition, say that the disease is not of a cancerous nature.

The Crown Prince was much disturbed in his sleep last night. In other respects his condition is unchanged.

The incision in the Crown Prince's throat is almost healed. The doctors now fear that laryngotomy will be unavoidable, and they are discussing whether partial or complete removal of the larynx will be advisable. The present treatment will be continued three months and the question of an operation decided afterward.

There is much excitement in the lobby of the Reichstag owing to the rumor that a bill is to be submitted for the purpose of transferring the regency to Prince William in case of the relinquishment of the throne by the Emperor.

An avalanche blocked one end of the St. Gotsard tunnel and seven persons were buried under the snow.

The French African explorer, De Brazza, returned to Paris yesterday. It is highly improbable that he will return to the Congo again in an official capacity. The Colonial Department is very bitter against him. Complaints have been received from members of his suite charging him with working for himself, and accusing him of having recklessly squandered funds.

The United States Minister to Austria, Mr. Lawton, has accepted from Harry Farler, a wealthy American relative of the President, at present studying law at Vienna University, the offer of $1,000,000 made to the American Government with which to endow a university in Chicago on the Vienna plan.

While Mr. Pyne, who was re-arrested yesterday after being admitted to bail pending the decision of an appeal from his sentence for violating the Crimes Act, was being taken to the depot on his way to Clonmel, the police were stoned by a large mob. Mr. Pyne was struck on the head by one of the missiles and severely injured. When he arrived at Clonmel the M.P. was taken before a magistrate and remanded for a week without bail to answer the second charge.

The Court of Queen's Bench has liberated Mr. Gilhooly, M.P., on bail.

The Riforma of Rome says the intentions of Italy are peaceable. She will not engage in war unless she is attacked.

TRADE REVIEW.

Business Generally Dull—Peace Prospects in Europe Involve Disaster to Many.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Dun, Wiman & Co.'s weekly report of trade will say:

In the general course of business there has been no perceptible change. The volume of payments, including paper maturing Feb. 1, was over 13 per cent. larger than last year outside of New York; evidently the gain in volume of new transactions is much smaller. Railroad tonnage is enlarged by wars of rates and the ratio of expenses to earnings grows less satisfactory. At nearly all interior points reporting trade is dull or inactive, though a perceptible improvement within the past ten days is noted at St. Paul and Omaha. But collections are slow at St. Paul, Milwaukee, Detroit and Cleveland, and the number of failures in the northwest and beyond the Mississippi seems larger than usual.

A vast amount of capital has been locked up and a vast body of indebtedness created in connection with the real estate, grain and other speculations of the past year. Indebtedness based on fictitious valuation of property or commodities in not a few cases will have to be liquidated at a loss. On the chance of war in Europe wheat was suddenly advanced so far that peace prospects involve disaster to many.

The effects of the strike in the coal regions increase from day to day, but are not as great as the depression due to shrinkage in demand. Of the latter, part is attributable to tariff uncertainties and part to the excess of railway building in the west and the consequent wars of rates. Including 50,000 tons deferred from last year contracts for steel rails so far reach about 500,000 tons without any lifting of the price—$31.50 at the mill.

The wars of rates have now gone so far that the rates charged are said to be, on the whole, not more than half those charged when the trouble began, but no indication of settlement is seen anywhere. Those who have put money into many new lines where new lines were not needed have no reason to expect returns until the business of the country has largely increased. Meanwhile the Interstate law makes any settlement more difficult and places United States roads at a disadvantage

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT BELIEVE IT IS SATISFACTORY.

Mr. Wm. O'Brien on the Operation of the Crimes Act—He Says that His Appearance in Exeter Hall Mr. Balfour's—New Rules of Procedure.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Labouchere asked if any despatch from the British Ambassador at Berlin suggested that England gave assurances to Italy which would induce her to enter the Austro-German alliance.

Sir James Fergusson, Under Foreign Secretary, replied that he must again decline to produce correspondence between the British Government and foreign powers regarding affairs in Europe. "The House," he said, "would recognize that at the present time it would be unwise to produce such correspondence."

Mr. Labouchere thereupon gave notice that he would offer an amendment to the address, "That the House be informed definitely that no correspondence exchanged with Italy had resulted in binding action on the British Government in the event of war between Italy and France, or, if any assurances had been given, that they be communicated to the House." [Cheers.]

In reply to a question by Mr. Gourley Sir James Fergusson said he was happy to inform the House that a telegram from Mr. Chamberlain reported that a fisheries treaty had been signed at Washington. This treaty the Government believed to be satisfactory, although they were as yet unaware of the precise terms. He could not admit that the difference regarding the American fisheries amounted to serious dispute. He said that questions relative to Alaska had been discussed by the plenipotentiaries at Washington but he was not yet aware of the result.

Hon. W. H. Smith intimated that the Government did not think it advisable at present to appoint a committee on grants to the Royal Family, as suggested by Mr. Gladstone.

Mr. Wm. O'Brien resumed the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech. He said that Mr. Balfour had failed to smash the Irish organization, or to weaken the spirit of the Irish people, or to degrade them in the eyes of the world. "Abject discomfiture and disgrace had attended the Crimes Act, the operation of which proved it to be one of the most horrible measures ever directed against human liberties."

Regarding his own imprisonment, he did not feel wounded nor in the least degraded. With all his jaunty bravery Balfour's conscience was not as easy as his own. When he was in prison he resented and felt keenly the letter which Mr. Balfour wrote conveying the stealthy, loathsome insinuation that he sheltered himself whilst in prison under the plea of illness. Now they were face to face, and he challenged the Government to produce the prison doctors to prove the truth of the insinuation. [Parnellite cheers.]

It had been asserted that imprisoned leaguers had tried to secure a distinction between the treatment given to imprisoned members of Parliament and that given to imprisoned peasants. But there was not a tittle of foundation for the assertion. What the imprisoned members complained of was the moral torture inflicted upon them from which ordinary criminals were exempt. When the Government asked them to voluntarily acknowledge their kindship with criminals they answered, "We will die first. You will have to learn the difference between representatives of the criminal classes and Irish political prisoners, even if it takes coroners' juries to announce the distinction."

Reverting to the failure of coercion, he declared that the Crimes Act had not stamped out a single village club. The Plan of Campaign was uncrippled, every evicted tenant had been restored and every shilling of law costs incurred had been repaid as indemnity by the landlords. [Cheers.]

The Government's new rules of procedure provide that the House of Commons shall sit from 3 p.m. until 1 a.m., with a dinner hour; that the closure rule may be applied if there is a majority of 100, instead of 200 as at present, in favor of such action, and that the Speaker may suspend for the sitting grossly disorderly members. Other rules greatly increase the Speaker's powers. Committees to deal with bills relating to law, trade, shipping and manufactures are revived.

A Gladstonian Elected in Dundee.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The election in Dundee to-day resulted in the election of the Gladstonian candidate, Mr. Firth, by a vote of 7856 to 4317 for Gen. Sir H. D. Daly, the Unionist nominee. At the last election Mr. Lacita (Liberal) polled 8216 votes and Gen. Daly 3346.

THE SOUND OF THE OLD COW BELL.

SERMON BY LAYMAN.

(Written for the Examiner.)

In the early days of this country the cow-bell had a familiar sound. The land was then a wilderness, inhabited by but a comparatively few people, living long distances apart, with dense woods intervening. The clearings were small and the cattle ran at large in the wilderness, and the only means of finding them was by the sound of the bells fastened round their necks. And when the shades of night were settling down upon the land some member of the family went forth into the woods and by the familiar sound of these bells faintly heard and sometimes afar off, was able to bring them back to the house, when the cows were milked and all were enclosed for the night. Sometimes the stillness would be broken in upon by the sound of the bark of the wolf or the angry growls of the bear, when the men of the household would rise and take their guns and go forth to protect their cattle. And in the morning the bars were let down and they were driven out again into the woods, where they remained feeding until the approach of night brought them back again. And thus the days and months and years passed on until the incoming settlers had filled the vacant spaces and cleared fields took the place of the once dark woods. How little the people of the present time know of the hard and lonely life of those early pioneers. I have heard old people now tell how, when they were little children, they had to endure hardships and want, how their parents had to rise early and work hard all day, and sometimes far into the night, in order to clear up the land and provide homes for themselves and their families. And I have heard them talk of the small clearings around the house where, for the first few years, they raised food for their support. And how they had to go, young as they were, to drive the cattle into the woods and at night to bring them home again, and how frightened they sometimes were lest some wild animal should overtake and kill them. And how pleased they were when they heard the sound of the old cow bells near the scanty clearing. And how, when the dark night came on, they laid awake and listened to the loud roar of the winds and occasionally to the hoarse sounds of the wild animals in the woods near by. And then the whole surrounding country was overrun with wild Indians, who often came to the houses and asked for food, which the inmates dared not refuse them. It was a wild time, but it had its pleasures, and the people lived peacefully and happily. And many of those early settlers, now living, would like to go back to the old times and be boys and girls again, and wander over the fields picking flowers, and along the edges of the woods gathering berries. They could then see the great big eagles and hawks high over their heads, and they could sit down in the grass and hear the songs of the birds as they sat upon the branches near by. And they could hear the sound of the cow bells away off in the woods, and they would mark the spot so that when night came they might know where to find them. And when the darkness fell upon the land, rendered doubly dark by the surrounding trees, they would all gather round the blazing fire and listen to the stories told them of the savage Indians and the little children they carried off to their distant wigwams, and of the wild animals ever ready to seize their prey. So that, when they went to bed, they were often so frightened that they could not sleep, and every noise they heard made them start up in terror. People now-a-days think they are happier and better off than they were in those old times. But they must remember that everything is judged by comparison and that these things appear different to them now to what they would have appeared sixty or eighty years ago. The people of those days were robust, and sturdy, and independent. And they had enough to supply their simple wants. Those of the present day can have no more. There is one thing they have not got, which these old settlers possessed, and that is a good, strong, healthy constitution, and it looks very much as if the further we advance in what we call civilization and refinement the less strong and healthy we become. In the olden time people were ready and willing to face the wind and the storm and to bear privations and hardships and to perform hard outdoor work and they were content to live plain and to dress plain, and the result was hardy men and women, with good health and strong constitutions as compared to the weakness and delicacy of those of the present generation who avoid manual labor as far as they can and seek easier employment in other vocations. And who would be simply shocked if you mention the word cow bell to them now. Piano, and harp, and guitar are the familiar sounds in their ears, and delicate, jewelled hands are the great aims of their ambition. And they cannot even raise their voices in song to the Most High unless it is done by the aid of a fashionable minister and a fashionable, well paid choir, aided by a grand organ. In the times of the old cow bell people met together in humble places and sang their simple heart-felt hymns and all joined in the singing the good old tunes which warmed their hearts and made them look heavenward to glory and happiness. And in those good old days children did not become men and women before they were twelve years old, and they remained obedient to their parents until the time came for their bidding adieu to the old home and going out into the world to earn their own living. The old home then simply overflowed, like the hive of bees, and its inmates went to other places and constructed new homes, where they in turn became the heads of new families, who in their turn went out also. Such was the natural system pursued by our forefathers sixty and eighty years ago. And as a result we have a country well settled and well cleared and cultivated. Each one of these early settlers began life for himself and carved out his own home. But how different is all this to-day. The young people of the family begin life where their parents left off. And they are impatient that their parents should give up all their hard earnings, all the provision which they had made for comfort in their old age, give all up to them to enjoy and waste, leaving the old people out upon the road to subsist as best they may. All the family government and family order, all the home comforts which were once known and practiced are known and practiced no more. The words industry or economy are seldom heard. Gaiety and pleasure monopolize everyone, and pride and extravagance and fast living are the order of the day. Verily, the times and the people are changed, and the sound of the old cow bell is heard no more. Some of those early settlers who are still living often look back upon their early lives and often think of those good old times when, young and in vigorous health, they went into the wilderness and commenced business for themselves. They often left far distant homes, and all they had to bring with them was their age and their mother's blessing and the Bible done up carefully and put away in their pockets. And oftentimes in their new homes and when at night they were sitting by the warm fire, their thoughts would wander back to the scenes of their boyhood and they would wonder how everything looked there and whether father and mother were still living, and the children were still at home. And they did not forget the old school house, where they passed so many happy hours, and the play grounds near the old house, and their mother's voice calling them to dinner. But they are far away from these once happy scenes now. They are working to make homes for themselves and they are beginning to have families of their own. And at night when the wind blew cold and the snow lay thick upon the ground they used all to gather round the fire place and talk of the work before them, and sometimes the children would come closer as they listened to the screams of some wild animal in the distance. And if they had hardships to encounter they had strong healthy bodies to overcome them, and their days and nights were passed in peace. And when death came they carried the body to its resting place in some lonely spot, with trees all round, and the birds singing their lullaby to the spirit now at rest. The recollection of these good old times often makes the old settler wish that he was a boy again with everything as it used to be then. They can, in their mind's eye, see everything as they once saw it. They almost fancy they can hear the once familiar voices and hear the sound of the old cow bell as night advanced and they went out into the dark woods guided solely by its distant voice, but which is now heard no more.

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.

Mr. W. G. Murdoch, counsel for Gamble, who is sentenced to die on March 6 for the murder of Lizzie Bray, intended to leave for Ottawa last night in the interest of the condemned man. Yesterday he received a communication from the Deputy Minister of Justice asking him to defer his visit till Saturday or Monday, as the Minister of Justice, Hon. Mr. Thompson, will not have returned to Ottawa to-day. Mr. Murdoch will leave for the capital to-night and will take with him a petition for commutation of Gamble's sentence which already contains 2500 names, among which are some of Toronto's most prominent citizens.

When Joseph B. Huber, the alleged forger from Lancaster, Pa., was brought before Judge Macdougall yesterday the private prosecution had no evidence to offer. Huber was discharged.

In the Maritime Court, before Judge Macdougall, yesterday an order was made for security for costs against the steamer Victor in favor of the Royal Canadian Insurance Company. The Detroit Wrecking Company got a like order against the Victor. Clement & McCraney's claim against the schooner Hope was settled in court.

J. H. Samo was in the Police Court yesterday charged with six different acts of forgery, to all of which he pleaded not guilty. No evidence was taken and the accused was remanded till to-day without bail.

Yesterday's meeting of weekly payment man VanWormer's creditors was not nearly as stormy as its predecessor. Mr. VanWormer told the meeting that he had figured up his assets and would be able to pay them twenty-five cents on the dollar. He would give them notes at four, six, nine and twelve months for the amount due them. The creditors decided to accept the offer.

At the next meeting of the City Council the Aldermen will have placed before them statistics and estimates regarding the proposed new Western Collegiate Institute. The cost of establishing the institute will be probably $50,000.

The Perrin Inquest at Ayr.

AYR, Feb. 16.—The inquiry into the death of Wm. Perrin opened here to-day before Coroner Brown of Galt. After hearing all the evidence obtainable the jury brought in the following verdict:

"We are of the opinion that said Wm. Perrin came to his death at the house of Alex. McPhee, 7th concession North Dumfries, by poison administered by some person or persons unknown to the jury, on Feb. 14, and hereby recommend that a post mortem and chemical analysis of the stomach and intestines of deceased be made, symptoms on the day of his death pointing to the probability of strychnine having been administered."

Man wants but little here below,
But wants that little strong.

This is especially true of a purge. The average man or woman does not precisely hanker for it, as a rule, but when taken, wishes it to be prompt, sure and effective. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets leave nothing to be desired in point of efficacy, and yet their action is totally free from any unpleasant symptoms, or disagreeable after effects. Purely vegetable, perfectly harmless.c

A GRAND VICTORY.

Mr. Martin Elected by a Large Majority Over His Tory Opponent.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—The election contest to-day in Portage la Prairie between Joseph Martin, Attorney-General in the Greenway Cabinet, and W. P. Smith, the Tory, was one of the hottest ever fought in the Province. It has been looked forward to with great interest, as being the first test vote on the Greenway Government in the country. Both parties admitted that the majority on either side would be small, and the return of Mr. Martin by the overwhelming majority given him is evidence of the state of feeling throughout the Province against the late Norquay administration. Ex-Premier Norquay has been stumping the constituency for the last few days, also doing missionary work among the Halfbreeds with well-filled flasks, marked "vinegar." In Portage la Prairie town the battle was warmest. A. H. Rennie, Norquay's private secretary, who is now notorious for dirty tricks in election campaigns, was on hand with plenty of boodle, and at the polls to-day assaulted an old man, a supporter of Martin's. Dr. Haggarty, hearing of this, took Rennie in hand and administered a severe hosing to the private secretary, who was shortly after arrested and now languishes in the lockup. The event caused great excitement. Mr. Martin's determined stand on the Red River Valley Railway question has worked wonders for him, and gives proof of his earnestness of Manitoba to do away with monopoly. His majority at the last election, when Smith was also his opponent, was 15. To-day his majority was 114. The returns from La Verandrye indicate the election of Mr. Prendergast, the new Provincial Secretary, over Nolin (Tory) by a large majority, as he is at present ahead, with three places to hear from.

The Question of "Set-Off"—The Liquidation Goes On.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.

Before the Master-in-Ordinary yesterday an application was made re Central Bank in relation to a claim for a "set-off," under the 57th section of the Winding-up Act. An affidavit was ordered to be put in as to the facts, on which the Master will consider how far it will be proper for other claims of set-off, the case to be argued before deciding on this case. There are claims of set-off in the case of depositors who are also makers of promissory notes payable by the bank, by endorsers of promissory notes who are also depositors, by assignees of depositors who are indebted to the bank, and by shareholders who are liable for double the amount of their shares, and by depositors.

Mr. Coyne appeared for the liquidators and Mr. Mortimer Clark for the claimant.

The Liquidation Goes On.

Messrs. Howland and Gooderham were at their places yesterday, and a large amount of business in relation to the winding-up of the bank was transacted. The claims of creditors are fast coming in, the accounts are gradually being straightened, and it is expected that a first dividend of 35 cents on the dollar to the depositors will be declared next month.

The Vacant Liquidatorship.

Nothing is definitely known yet as to whether Mr. Campbell will offer himself for re-election as liquidator, or who the candidates will be. A lively scene is expected at the meeting of creditors and shareholders. The calling of the meeting and the appointment of its chairman and other details are in the hands of Master Hodgins. Ample notice will be given. It is an open secret that if Mr. Campbell be re-elected Messrs. Howland and Gooderham will retire.

THE LATEST MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.

Stocks on the local board to-day were firmer and also in Montreal, while both markets were very dull. In New York stocks showed little change from last night, while the London market was somewhat weaker.

The local stock market this morning showed a slight advance, the majority of stocks being higher, though the market was very dull.

In the afternoon stocks further improved and closed strong.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The cold weather did not prevent a good representation of farmers and hucksters assembling on the St. Lawrence Market. The purchasers were not numerous. The man who got to market early had opportunity to purchase a fine pair of chickens for 55 cents from a huge load offered by a farmer who reached market shortly after 7 o'clock. They were speedily sold and the man who came late had to pay a bigger price for poorer looking chickens. Heads of families and boarding house keepers severely grumble to their butchers about the retail prices of meat, especially beef, of which good hindquarters can be purchased for 5½c to 6c a pound, but the retail price remains the same as when the price was 8c by the quarter. It is not consistent to charge 15c a pound for a "cut" when a hindquarter costs only 6c a pound. Good roll butter was sold at 22c to 26c, and eggs at 20c to 24c. The grain market showed a tendency to firmness, and barley advanced 2c, about 1200 bushels being sold at 72c to 79c. Three hundred bushels of wheat sold at 73c to 80c for fall, 75c to 80c for spring and 72c to 74c for goose. Oats were steady; 300 bushels were sold at 46c to 47c.

A Good Corn Speller for 25 cents.

A marvel of cheapness, of efficacy, and of promptitude, is contained in a bottle of that famous remedy, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It goes right to the root of trouble, there acts quickly but so painlessly nothing is known of its operation until the corn is shelled. Beware of substitutes for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—safe, sure and painless. Sold at druggists. 6dw7

Definite Warning.

Neglected coughs and colds so frequently produce severe results as to constitute a warning. There is no better, safer or more pleasant remedy for Coughs, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Colds and all throat and lung troubles than Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. 2w7d

Will be Fully Met.

Indications of Dyspepsia, such as Sour Stomach, Heartburn Sick Headache, Rising and Souring of Food, Wind on the Stomach, or a Choking or Gnawing sensation at the pit of the stomach are fully met by Burdock Blood Bitters which has cured the worst cases on record. 2w7d

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood. 2w7d

Part of the Household.

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists. dw

The Bold, Busy Burglar.

Three Burglaries During the Night.—Mr. Minore Again a Victim.

This morning when Mr. W. J. Minore, of the biscuit works, came down to open up he found a pane of glass in the front door smashed to atoms. On passing inside it was at once apparent that burglars (evidently the same ones that went through the building before) had been at work, and the broken door had been their means of access and egress. Some $100 worth of Creme de la Creme and La Captiva (ten cent) cigars were missed. A couple of flour bags had also been taken from the bake-room and the cigars dumped in them for transportation. Nothing else has so far been missed. Mr. Minore is at a loss to know what enemy he has to contend with. Some one evidently is wreaking his spite in this contemptible way.

CLEANED OUT.

Acting-Chief Adams was notified this morning that the hall of the new True Blue Lodge on Simcoe street had been "cleaned out" during the night. About everything portable had been carried off, including the banner, pictures, etc. The True Blues of Peterborough have been subjected to similar treatment once or twice before.

Death of a Former Resident.

The Scranton, Pa., Times records the death (giving portrait and biographical sketch) of Mr. M. D. Roche, Esq., of the Luckawanna Bar, who died last month. The deceased gentleman was born in Peterborough on January 25th, 1857, and removed from here to Scranton in 1864, with his parents (his father was at one time teacher in the Separate School here.) He worked as a "breaker" boy in the coal mines for three years when a lad, but a change in the fortunes of his family permitted his attendance at school and college and he continued his studies till he was admitted to the bar in 1883. Deceased was a prominent member of several Irish organizations, and as State Secretary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was selected to convey to Rome the Jubilee offering to the Pope, but his last illness supervened and prevented his journey. We don't find Canadian boys who go abroad very often occupying the back benches.

"Law sakes! I couldn't begin to do it. Why, it would take a Philadelphy editor to do that. But one thing I kin say, I jist enjoyed a real nice time. And everybody else seemed to be a doin' of the same thing. When me and Josier got there (you know it took place in the school room) Mr. Bradley took our money at the door and in we went. My, what a roomful of people there was to be sure. I felt kinder timid like at first, but Josier got behind me so I had to go ahead. We had the awfullest time hunting for a seat too. To be sure there were lots and lots of sofas and chairs and sich things about to set on, but for every settin' space there was two people. Bimeby Josier spied two empty chairs in the middle of the room, and we went and set down. Then I begun to look around. My goodness, you'd scarcely a' knowed the place. The hall room was decorated fit to kill. There was lace curtains, and pictors, and panels, and flowers, and tables and sofas and chairs and carpets and rugs and "all the appintments of a well-regulated house," as the newspapers say. We sot right behind a row of people, and my gracious, didn't that Mrs. Swan have the parttest little bunnit I ever see. Speakin' of that reminds me that I mustn't forgit to ask Josier for a new bunnit just like it. I begun to feel right "at hum" when I seen so many people enj'ying themselves. Josier felt more at ease, too, I guess, because he didn't fidget half so much on his chair nor blush like a little schoolgirl when any of the womenfolks looked at him.

After we had sot a few minnits "and contemplated the beauties around us," as one of them post fellers would say, they began the program. Young Mr. Scobb, that used to be school teacher, teachin' the young idee how to shoot (most of the boys shoot with catapults and break their neighbors' windies), he got up and jingled a bell for order. That made everybody straighten up, I tell yes. Everyone looked straight ahead, and I had a chance to see Mrs. Nartee's new dress that she's been a blowin' about so much. My! it was the most outlandish lookin' thing I ever did see. And her hair was put up in a new style that made it look to be straggling' all over and stickin' out as if it was just achin' all over for a few hairpins, and her bonnit didn't at all become her—Josier leaned over and whispered crosely, "Mandy, what are you lookin' at? Turn around and look." So I turned around and looked, but not before I giv Josier a savage squint outen my right eye. To think of him darin' to speak to me—me—that way. But he wouldn't have done it at home, I can tell you. Just then the orchester struck up, and I looked herd. There they wuz, a round dozen as handsome fellers as you would meet on a day's journey. And some had fiddles and some had horns and some had flutes and there wuz a clarionet that was played just lovely, and a little thing they called an occarena, I think it is. Well, them fellers played, and I tell you what, I never heard sich music in all my life. No sir, not in all my life, and I'm no spring chicken, either. Josier sot with his mouth open and staring like mad, until I nudged him, when his jaws come together like a steel trap and he looked cross. I guess I woke him out of a trance, or somethin' else. Then Mr. Davis sung—you know he always sings well. Mr. Dingle, the new organist of the church, came next. He played the pi-anny, and I tell you what he just made 'er talk. I caught Josier lookin' behind him at an awful rate, and when I looked too I saw he was starin' out at the refreshment room. He turned around when I spoke to him, but I noticed his eye kinder wandered in that direction every little while. Then Mrs. Daly sang a nice little ditty about a milk maid, with a tra-la-la chorus, that made me think of the days when Josier and me wuz courtin' out on the old farm. The people clapped their hands and made her sing again, and this time she gave a sweet, plaintive air about "Edinboro' toon," that did my old heart good. Then came the impromtu (I guess that's the word) speeches. A lot of little envelups wuz shook up in a hat, and as each speechifier came up he drew one. He had to speak about what wuz written on the paper inside his envelup. Rev. Mr. Thompson (the new young minister that they all like, partikarly the girls) and Rev. Mr. Ford were called up first, and then Mr. Dobbin and Mr. Armstrong, of the Review, and Mr. Schofield, the young druggist, and Mr. Will Dixon and Mr. Stevens, the Y.M.C.A. secretary. I don't know what they said or what they did'at say. They put together some jokes that made the people laff until their time was up. Then the chairman announced that people could go into the eating room and have some refreshments. Josier fairly jumped to his feet and stamped on my corns, too. If he aint the worst man I ever did see! He almost dragged me down to the room, but, law sakes, before we got within ten yards of the door it was chucked full. My goodness, gracious sakes alive, I never did see so many hungry people. So we had to set down again, and after waitin' a while, Josier said he wuz goin' to faint. I own up I felt kinder queer myself, but then I knew it couldn't be long till we could get somethin' to eat. Then the orchester struck up again, and in a moment I forgot all about eatin'. The way they played jist sent the blood thrue my old heart at an awful rate. Oh, I forgot to tell how nice little Miss Smallbody looked. I don't see how it is the boys don't marry her, some o' them. Then Mr. Mulligan sang. He sings real nice, and everybody appeared to like it for they made him sing again right after he got through the first time. But you shud a' seen Miss Fiancee's new gold necklace and looket that her husband that is to be gave her. It's a beauty I tell you. Just then the dining room was cleared out and Josier and me wedged ourselves in among the orchester boys and got in among the first. We didn't lose any time I tell you. Them orchester boys are funny fellers and no mistake. Me and Josier got at a table with some of them and I laffed and coffed till I thought my back hair would tumble down. Josier, besides, grinned too, but he's too fond of eatin' to 'preshiate any fun at meal time. We had sandwiches and coffee, and all kinds o' cake. I tell you I felt a lot better when I got through, an' I could see Josier was gettin' satisfied, too, for he began strokin' his beard once in a while and lookin' around as he always does when the pangs of hunger are extinguished. I caught him eyin one of the pretty girls that waited on the tables, too, but I just giv him one look that settled him. We all went out again and my neighbor Mrs. Scroggins told me we had missed a fine reading by Mr. Dobbin. I was sorry, but then it couldn't be helped. We got out just in time to hear a quartette by four young men, Bob Henderson, Will Stevens, Charlie Baguley and Charlie Jones. They sang beautifully, somethin' about goin' where the lillies bloom. I suppose that means about the same as you see in the papers about bank managers goin' where the woodbine twineth. It was nice any way, and they were encored. Then a vote of thanks was passed to them that had lent furniture and other things for decoratin', the people all sang God Save the Queen, and then went home. My, it was nearly eleven o'clock when we got home. I was surprised the time did go so fast. We found both of the children squallin' to beat the cars when we got home, and the neighbor's girl we had got to stay with them said she'd never have anything' to do with the little horrors again. I tell you what, though, those George street people know how to do things up brown. I never had a better time, and I know Josier wants be done talkin' about it for week yet."

A COLLISION ON THE RAIL.

TWO TRAINS DASH INTO EACH OTHER NEAR HAMILTON.

Fireman Robert Archibald and Baggageman Thomas Peden of Hamilton the Victims—The Grand Trunk's Pacific Express and a Freight Train do the Colliding.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.

A lamentable and serious collision occurred on the Toronto branch of the Grand Trunk Railway, about 1¼ miles west of the Hamilton station just before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, resulting in the death of two men and probably fatal injuries of two others. The trains, a freight which left Point Edward early in the morning, and the Pacific express from Toronto, due at Hamilton at 1.45, came together under a small bridge and just past a fifty-foot embankment in what is locally known as the "Junction Cut."

The express was made up of a parlor car, two passenger coaches, smoker, express and baggage cars, and was manned by Thomas Hutchinson, driver; Robert Archibald, fireman; John Edmonson, conductor, and Thomas Peden, baggageman, all of Hamilton. The freight was composed of twenty cars, and was officered as follows: J. C. Robinson, engineer, Stratford; Thomas Howe, fireman, Stratford; David Vince, conductor, Point Edward, and Robert Peacock, brakeman, Point Edward.

Both trains were going at a good rate of speed, and came together with terrific force. The engines left the track, digging their way together into the soft clay embankment. When the locomotives met the long baggage car attached to the express took a flying leap completely over both engines and scooted down the drain toward the adjoining gully fifty feet away. The express car made a desperate effort to follow.

The front of the freight train was rammed under the express car, and when the latter descended two wheat cars were smashed and their contents strewn about. The smoker rolled off the trucks and fell against the supports of the overhead bridge. The last of the passenger coaches kept the track, and strange to say none of the freight cars left it.

Engineer Robinson, Fireman Howe and Brakeman Peacock were in the cab of the freight when the engine of the express, rounding the sharp curve, warned them that a collision was inevitable. They immediately jumped and rolled down the deep embankment, which they had almost passed. The driver and fireman escaped with slight injuries.

It was the baggage car, in its terrible leap, that did the murderous work. Fireman Archibald, of the Toronto train, in attempting to jump off his engine, was caught by the flying car, and carried down the embankment, and horribly mangled. Peacock, the brakeman of the freight, fell when half way down the slope, but as he regained his feet the car came rushing down upon him, and knocked him senseless. His injuries consist of a scalp wound, which laid bare nearly half the skull. Driver Hutchinson, of the Toronto train, was in the act of jumping when the shock occurred, and his escape was most miraculous. Just how it happened he or no one else can tell, but when the passengers came upon the scene he was lying insensible on top of one of the freight cars. Baggageman Peden was crushed to death when the car collapsed at the foot of the hill.

The wreck, a couple of hours afterward, was an appalling spectacle. The express car, after the two wheat-laden cars were drawn from under it, took fire and was entirely consumed.

The disaster is attributed to the negligence of the conductor of the freight, who ordered his engineer to proceed before the expected express had passed them at the junction of the main line and the Toronto branch, or, as it is called, the "Y."

Warrants were issued for the arrest of the officers of the freight train, but it is reported that the conductor has fled. The engineer considers that officer responsible. An inquest will be held, probably to-morrow night.

Both of the men who were killed live at Hamilton. Archibald is a son of Robert Archibald, mechanical superintendent of the locomotive department at Hamilton. He leaves a wife and two children. Peden is also married. Their remains were sent to Hamilton.

Superintendent Stiff and a staff of physicians arrived as speedily as possible from Hamilton and were prepared to give every assistance necessary. Driver Hutchinson is very badly injured about the head and was taken to a house near by. His recovery is very doubtful. Brakeman Peacock was sent to the Hamilton Hospital where he was reported to be doing well at a late hour last night.

The loss to the company will be very heavy. A gang of men were at work all last night clearing away the wreck.

The trains from Hamilton for Toronto and vice versa were all sent around by Burlington Beach over the Hamilton and Northwestern. It is expected the track will be clear this morning.

The Pacific Express, which leaves Toronto for Hamilton at 12.20, is one of the heaviest trains that goes out of this city. It is generally crowded, and was well filled yesterday. The only passenger who received injuries worth mentioning was Peter Clarke of Buffalo, one of his hands being badly cut by broken glass.

Thrown From the Track.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Feb. 16.—A freight train collided with the north-bound express train on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railway this noon at Canton. The express car was thrown from the track and one passenger coach badly damaged. One man was killed. Papers on his person indicate that he is D. S. Hiffer of Syracuse. One man was hurt.

A Brakeman Killed.

GALENA, Ill., Feb. 16.—A freight train on the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Road broke through a bridge near here yesterday. Six loaded cars plunged into the creek and were smashed to pieces. Brakeman Barney Donnelly was killed. The bridge was completed four weeks ago.

Sallie Holman Dangerously Ill at Glencoe.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Mrs. J. T. Dalton, (Sallie Holman), the well known opera singer, is lying at the point of death at Glencoe, where the company were to have played last night. She was seized yesterday afternoon with hemorrhage of the lungs and the physician gives very little hope of her recovery.

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realize how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $6.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $8.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good suit for $5.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00—a good, serviceable Suit; while for $7.00, $8.00 or $12.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1888.

The petition for the opening has been filed in Winnipeg. T. T. Fell, Conservative, majority of over 700.

The Grand Trunk railway pay 1,022 miles in length in 1887, and earned $2,815 miles. It employs 14,429 hands, and since 1882 has added 400 locomotives and 15,000 cars to its rolling stock.

As was to be anticipated [illegible] in every direction to procure, by indirect pressure, the adhesion of the electors to the defence of the alleged rights, and duration [illegible] of the Canadian Legislature. [illegible] of signing away those rights, and [illegible] have immediately organized across the length and breadth of the land [illegible] which came and went for [illegible] years.

As was to be anticipated [illegible] in every direction to procure, by indirect pressure, the adhesion of the electors to the defence of the alleged rights, and duration [illegible] of the Canadian Legislature. [illegible] of signing away those rights, and [illegible] have immediately organized across the length and breadth of the land [illegible] which came and went for [illegible] years.

The total length of railways constructed and opened for traffic in the Dominion during 1887 is about [illegible] miles, which is by miles of capital [illegible] Ontario, Quebec and [illegible] Nova Scotia. The above return does not include the Lake Leep Line recently opened to Peterborough, which [illegible] the total length of railway completed in Ontario during the year to [illegible] miles.

The Mail says that the population of the Maritime Provinces increased largely during the past decade. Dividing up [illegible] years, the returns [illegible] Monthly Sentry, and in operation [illegible] the decade ending 1881 the increase was [illegible] while the natural rate [illegible] the Provinces, [illegible], the population increased by less than [illegible] between 1874 and 1881. The Mail adds: "It seems that the British arrangement under which a measure of [illegible] between Canada and the United States [illegible] keep for our own people in our own country, within the loyal policy of confederation the [illegible] them abroad."

The elections in Manitoba on Thursday resulted in a strong [illegible] of Mr. [illegible] and a practical approval of [illegible] Government. "We can't thank Manitoba," Manitoba refuses to be [illegible] interest by Tory schemes, dictated from Ottawa and the head-office clique. Mr. Martin, the Attorney-General of the Martin Ministry, was elected by a majority nearly ten times as great as that by which he was returned at the last election, and Mr. Pendergast, the Premier [illegible], was also elected by a good majority. The enemy can now go on with their work, and it will [illegible] assistance. Hon. Mr. Greenway, Premier, says he has a bona fide offer to build the Red River Valley Railway under conditions that solved the financial problem, and nothing would prevent the building of the road. Manitoba won't be checked.

A correspondent of the Empire had a letter forwarding the usual number of commercial forgeries that have taken place within the past few months. The facts show a deplorable condition of [illegible] and it does not [illegible] that the [illegible] blindness delight to honour and place in the highest position in their gift, a man [illegible] whose [illegible] that the politicians [illegible] means, and that men are valued [illegible] public support of [illegible] support of iniquitous acts, one cannot wonder that the public principle is debauched and that men carry into [illegible] and financial transactions the laxness principle that the end justifies the means. Official [illegible] in high places is responsible for a great deal of other [illegible].

Merchants and business men, now is the time to call at the Examiner bindery and leave your orders for journals, day books, ledgers, invoice books, cheque books, and all blank books used in business. GOSSIP OF THE DEFUNCT BANK.

The Cash Will Be Counted - Mr. Campbell and the Yonge Street Manager.

Toronto, Feb. 18.

Before the Master-in-Ordinary yesterday, Mr. Campbell, [illegible] Mr. Bain, Q.C., and Mr. [illegible], Mr. Osler, Mr. [illegible], Mr. Cox, Mr. [illegible] and Mr. [illegible] Mr. Osler moved for an order that the [illegible] now in the treasury of the bank, amounting to a very considerable sum, should be counted with the view of its being divided. This had been agreed upon by Mr. A. Campbell and Mr. A. B. Orde, the bank's accountant. They attended in person, and, together with the counsel for Mr. Campbell, consented to an order as prayed being made. This was granted. The order provides for the counting of the aforesaid circulation by the accountants named by Mr. Campbell and Mr. Osler or persons nominated by them. The amount will be duly certified, after which the redeemed circulation and all other property in the treasury is to be handed over on oath by Mr. Campbell to the [illegible] Mr. Osler and Mr. Orde are also to hand over the keys of the treasury and [illegible] to the liquidators giving [illegible] acknowledgment in writing of the amount taken over by them. After the [illegible] Mr. Osler will come in subsequent to the expenditure or destruction of the circulation. The counting of the funds in the treasury will begin to-day at the bank. The Master gave his consent to this arrangement.

Yesterday, shortly after an application was made by Messrs. Kerr, Macdonald, Davidson and Paterson for an order [illegible] the winding-up proceedings issued by the judge of the district court of Algoma against certain debtors in that district. Mr. Coyne appeared for the liquidators. The decision of the application was reserved.

Mr. Archibald Campbell was [illegible] reporter last night. [illegible] he [illegible] reasons in Toronto and had nothing to say against the Chancellor's judgment, which had, [illegible] him from [illegible] the petitioning liquidators had made against him. He said he was still considering whether he should again be a candidate for the vice-presidency, but would for the present reserve his decision. He is satisfied with the Chancellor's decision that the chief point in want of agreement as to [illegible] was cleared up. From what he said [illegible] about to-day since the judgment was delivered, we will have a large [illegible] election. Messrs. Howland and Gooderham have not budged an inch and, whilst leaving the choice of their colleague to the creditory [illegible] will probably be elected. [illegible] election is expected to be given this week, and the election will probably take place the week after next. In the meantime it may be gratifying to the creditors to know that [illegible] that the bank are being paid in in a highly satisfactory manner. The [illegible] to dispose of [illegible] to others in the older [illegible] is already assured.

The latest development in Central Bank affairs is the discovery of a "shortage" to the extent of nearly $4000 in the books of Acquith, late Warder of the Guelph Branch. Of this amount $2000 was appropriated in one evening. The entries in the books [illegible] Acquith [illegible] cover or [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Water Rates, &c.

Says the Lindsay Post:—"Peterborough is getting to be quite enterprising. It has resolved to dig a town well on the market square. The [illegible] water supply a town pump, as in the [illegible], but this is probably [illegible] Having a well right in a stop in the right direction. The next move will be to get the Peterboroughers to drink more water." Does the Post recommend the style of water that is so largely drank in Lindsay—fire-water?

The Children's Day

It is proposed to have the next carnival, on March 9th, a double affair—a children's carnival in the afternoon and the main event in the evening. In the afternoon no children over 14 years of age will be allowed on the ice, and in the evening none under can skate. This double-barrelled carnival will be the chef d'œuvre of the winter's festivities, and a fitting climax to the Centen's efforts in the carnival line during the season.

Provincial Notes.

—Chairmanships and Mayors. O'Meara, Burnham, Hughes, English, Weir, Wrighton, Stenston, Cleaver, [illegible] Dumble [illegible] Trustees [illegible] the School Board Friday evening. As the meeting had been called specially to consider the county pupils' fee question, referred at the last meeting of the Board, and Mayor Lewis, the School [illegible] Dumble in the chair.

After discussing [illegible] it was decided to charge a fee of $2.50 per month for each county pupil in attendance at the Collegiate Institute, to be charged after the first of March, and until further consideration.

The report was adopted.

SALARY INCREASED.

On motion of Mr. STRATTON, seconded by Mr. Weir, the salary of Janitor Tighe was increased to $260 per annum, $5 [illegible] from the first of January.

AMALGAMATION.

Mr. Dumble presented the following motion, the result of discussions on the matter in committee of the whole:—

Moved by Mr. (Dr.) Sullivan, seconded by Dr. Berkham, that the chairman of this Board and the chairman of the several committees [illegible] with [illegible] to Avon High school Alliston in connection with the supply of gas to the Institute [illegible] terms as may be equitable.—Carried.

INCREASED ACCOMMODATION.

The question of increasing the school accommodation [illegible] Mr. Dumble believed the time had come to build a large new Collegiate Institute, as the present one was condemned as unfit for the purpose. Mr. Deane wanted a public school for the north ward, but Mr. Wrighton thought it better to retain the present Institute as a common school and erect a fine new building for a Collegiate Institute away from the present [illegible] nothing, and the [illegible]

An Explanation Wanted.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—Will you be kind enough to give me space in your valuable paper to ask the civil engineer of Peterborough how it is that under the new position of rashing flour they can only give me 32 lbs of flour and 12 lbs of bran to the bushel of wheat, and not good weight at that? Now, sir, I took the same kind and amount of wheat the next day and got it ground under the old system and got 36 lbs of flour and 15 lbs of bran, and good weight at that. Farmers, what do you think of that?

North Shore Lumbering.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Michigan and North Shore Lumber Company was held [illegible] Cox's office, George street, Friday afternoon. There were present: Messrs. Geo. A. Cox, W. Ulputt, J. W. Fitzgerald and John Bertram. After [illegible] of a satisfactory nature were read and approved, the following officers were elected:—President, Mr. Ulputt; Vice-President, Mr. Bertram; Sec.-Treas., Mr. Cox. The Company's mills are situated at Party Harbor, and do one of the largest lumbering business in Ontario. It is expected a line of the C. P. R. will [illegible] to the mills from Chatsworth this summer, when the shipping facilities will be greatly increased.

"The Hoop of Gold."

The Kingston daily News has the following in reference to Wilson Day's "Hoop of Gold," which will be presented in Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday and Thursday evening, Feb. 22nd and 23rd:—"The largest audience which has been in the opera house for some time was present last evening to witness the performance of the "Hoop of Gold" by Wilson Day's company. The play was well put on and reflected great credit on Mr. Day and the company, and those who witnessed it were very much pleased indeed. The scenery was new and attractive. The Weather Mends.

The fine weather brought out a large market this morning, but the mild weather has not yet had the effect of reducing prices. Butter sold at 24c. and eggs at 22c. Turkeys ranged from $1.00 to $1.50, with chickens at 40 and 50c. a pair. Beef is the highest it has been for a long time, as high as 7c. being paid, with 5c. as the minimum price. Other meats are the same as last quoted. Very few apples and potatoes were on the market.

Trade at Madoc.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson returned from Toronto last night with the Scotland Counties' medal, won in the match yesterday between the "outlands" of Lanarkshire and Stirlingshire. The former have held the medal for the past four years, but this time the Stirlingshire men defeated them. The medal is a very handsome one.

Town Council.

Minutes, Feb. 13.

The council met [illegible] at the police [illegible] Reeve Hall presiding. A very amusing in the continuation of the assault case adjourned from yesterday. Mr. Edwards, counsel for the defendants, in [illegible] the [illegible] Morgan, had carried him until he grew exceedingly wroth and exclaimed:—"Oh, you can't get me to tell a lie. I'm going to tell the truth and you can't force me to lie." The case was one to puzzle a magistrate, not an attorney at law. Mr. Edwards, a legal technicalities, [illegible] Ernst, the latter [illegible] of swearing on the part of the witnesses. Truth [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] together a [illegible] Miller's [illegible] the [illegible] of their wicked and perjured testimony to blush and white scratches on the [illegible] heart, the more to disconcert him in rendering a fair judgment. The principals were examined and my two of their [illegible] [illegible] The row occurred at the [illegible] one night last week. A young lad named Miller was, it would appear from the evidence, playfully scuffling with another young [illegible] when Morgan interfered in some way, having a most opprobrious epithet hurled at his head in consequence. He undertook to chastise young Miller for the insult, when Simons and Robertson set upon him. Here is where the trouble arose. Morgan swore both Simons and Robertson struck him and denied having returned the blows, or even clinched. Simons denies having hit Morgan at all, but swears the latter tried to fight. Robertson admitted striking Morgan, and [illegible] Simons [illegible] all blame in the matter. [illegible] the [illegible] came along a while [illegible] also struck Morgan, not very severely, [illegible] Witnesses in the case was very contradictory. Some said Morgan was choking young Miller and some said he was not; some stated it was Simons that struck Morgan, and some asserted it was Robertson, and thus it ran. Mr. Edwards, the [illegible] counsel, [illegible] objection [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] brought up with this case. His objection was allowed and the case vested between the other two, Robertson being fined $2 and costs and Simons being dismissed. Upon this decision of the Magistrate, the case against Miller [illegible] was not pressed, and a counter charge by him against Morgan for assaulting the boy, [illegible] dropped. The case excited a great deal of interest among the boys who frequent the skating rink.

Public Works at Young's Point.

The following details from the lately issued report of the Ontario Minister of Public Works gives details of the work done to the Locks at Young's Point last year:

Five guide piers at the head of the canal above the [illegible] have been rebuilt, the stern pier [illegible], and the remaining five have been [illegible] up, the average [illegible] being about 6 feet.

The shore piers [illegible] feet in length, 16 feet in width, and [illegible] feet in height, two of the others are 14 feet in width and 17 feet in height, and the remaining two are 12 feet square.

The platform at the [illegible] and at the end near the [illegible] [illegible] the length being [illegible] feet, with 6 feet.

A pair of new [illegible] at the end of the lock have been contracted, and will be put up when [illegible] before the opening of navigation next year, and some slight repairs have been made to the swing-bridge, but the latter will require to be extensively repaired, and the masonry of the lock repointed with cement in the early part of the coming year.

Fourth Line Smith.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Jno. Doube is rapidly recovering from the effects of an unusually large corner that grew in his foot. Mr. Doube had this corner cut out but it started to grow again rapidly, and, in consequence, he went to Markham and was under the treatment of Mr. Byers who succeeded in drawing out the obnoxious gut, root and branch.

The L.O.L. in this line is in a splendid condition at present, and is rapidly coming to the front in the point of membership. The roll call now shows something over 30 members in good standing.

Most of the farmers in this vicinity are busy getting out wood, but your humble scribe can hear no loud talk about chopping, and we may infer from this that most of the boys have seen great conceit in themselves at this season.

Mr. Samuel Dowell has rented the farm belonging to Mr. Simon McEwen, who is bound for the Northwest.

Chemong.

A grand tea-meeting and concert will be held at Chemong, under the auspices of the band, on Friday evening, March 2nd. Tea will be served in the school house from 4 to 7 o'clock. Music will be furnished by the band and the Rice Lake choir. The proceeds from the sale of tickets (which are 35 cents for tea and concert) are to procure instruments for the band.

Bridgenorth.

A tea and concert was held at Bridgenorth Friday night, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to the work of building a sidewalk through the village. There was a large attendance, including a number from Peterborough, and the affair was highly successful. Mr. M. Sharp [illegible] the chair. THE DESIRES OF RUSSIA.

THE CZAR WANTS TO CONTROL BULGARIA AND ROUMELIA.

His Demands with Reference to Those Countries—Activity in the Italian Navy—The Proposal of Russia Likely to be Summarily Rejected.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Prince Bismarck has obtained from Count Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador, a definite declaration of the Czar's demands with reference to Bulgaria. No secret is made of the exact character of the proposals nor of the official opinion that they will be summarily rejected. The Czar asks a substantial recognition of the right of Russia to control Bulgaria and Roumelia. Prince Ferdinand and the Sobranje are to be wiped out and a Russian commissioner with a Turkish colleague is to re-organize the Government and the army and to control the elections for a new Sobranje. Russia further claims the right to occupy the principality until the Czar deems it proper to withdraw his troops. The nature of these demands aggravates the situation. It is reported that Prince Bismarck has advised Count Schouvaloff to urge the Russian Government to refrain from officially presenting them to Austria, on the ground that they would certainly meet with peremptory rejection without discussion.

The military preparations of Austria are approaching a condition of readiness. Austria and Germany can abide by events, accepting Russia's signal for war or waiting for an opportune moment for attack.

As an adjunct to the treaty of alliance, a plan has been agreed upon for co-operation of the allied forces. When the campaign opens there will be three armies in the field. One, consisting of the first or East Prussian corps, the fourth or West Prussian corps, the fifth or Posen corps, and the sixth or Silesian corps, will be under command of Prince William. The second army, led by the King of Saxony, will consist of the Saxon contingent and the Austrian troops stationed in Galicia and Bohemia. The third army, under the Archduke Albrecht of Austria, will be composed of the bulk of the Hungarian and Austrian troops, and will form the southern corps.

If France enters the field this plan will be modified, but the German and Italian armies mobilized are relied upon to dispose of the French. The acceleration of the Italian naval preparations is due to urgent representations from Berlin.

The splendid health of the Emperor shelves the question of the regency for the time being. The Emperor devotes fourteen hours daily to his duties, beginning at 9 o'clock a. m. and ending at 11 p. m. If the Crown Prince gets worse the Emperor will go to San Remo.

The Russian Press Optimistic.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—The Russian press is becoming more optimistic in its view of the situation in Europe, owing to what it considers to be proofs of Prince Bismarck's intention to expedite the settlement of the Bulgarian question.

Russia's Pastor.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—It is semi-officially announced that Russia will shortly request the signers of the Berlin treaty to notify the Porte that the election of Prince Ferdinand as Prince of Bulgaria was illegal.

Hopeful of Peace.

BUCHAREST, Feb. 19.—The King in his speech on the opening of Parliament said that although there is reason to believe that peace will be maintained, it is the duty of the Government to increase the country's strength at home in order to enable it to face the future with confidence.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

The Alaska Boundary—A Survey to be Made—Progress With the Estimates.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—Dr. Dawson, assistant director of the geological survey, will remain in Washington for some days, comparing notes with Prof. Dall with respect to the boundary between British Columbia and Alaska. It is understood, however, that before any definite boundary shall be agreed upon the Governments of both countries will have a thorough survey made.

There was a meeting of Council yesterday, at which it is understood considerable progress was made with the estimates. Daily sittings will commence to-morrow, and continue until the end of the session.

THE NEWS FROM TORONTO.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF CAMPBELL'S SUCCESSOR.

The Gamble Case to be Considered at Ottawa—A Pastoral Letter From His Grace—Sitting of the Board of Arbitration of the Board of Trade—An Interview With Mr. Wiman.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—The meeting for the appointment of a liquidator to fill Mr. Campbell's place in the winding up of the Central Bank affairs will be held either on Feb. 28 or 29 in the Board of Trade rooms, if they can be secured. The commission will be by ticket. Tickets will be issued at the office of the bank to all who have filed bona fide claims with the liquidators. Proxies will be allowed, but no one will be allowed to hold a proxy unless himself a bona fide creditor and entitled to vote by virtue of having filed his claim.

Mr. W. G. Murdock, counsel for Gamble, the condemned murderer, returned yesterday morning from Ottawa whither he went on Friday night to make an effort to save the unfortunate man's life. On Saturday he had a long and exhaustive interview with Mr. A. Power, Q.C., the acting Deputy Minister of Justice, Hon. Mr. Thompson, the Minister, had not returned from Washington, but was expected that night.

Mr. Power had already given the evidence at the trial a careful perusal, and thus was able to speak intelligently of it at once. He annotated the points which Mr. Murdoch raised in the whole case. Mr. Murdoch left with him his notes of the evidence, the big petition with 3000 names and two affidavits. One of the affidavits was by Gamble and the other by a person whose name Mr. Murdoch was not at liberty to disclose to the public. Neither could he say anything about the substance of the affidavits, except to say that they related to the criminality of a second person. The evidence and documents will be submitted to the Minister, then the case goes to the Council and then to the Governor-General. Mr. Murdoch feels confident that the sentence of death will be commuted. He cannot speak too highly, he says, of the careful attention and knowledge of the case's salient points exhibited by Mr. Power.

At the request of Mr. N. G. Bigelow, counsel for Robert Neil, condemned to die a week from to-morrow, Mr. Murdoch spoke of that doomed man's case. Mr. Bigelow had received a cablegram from a priest in Ireland, asking that Neil be granted a respite till evidence of insanity could be produced, and it seems that the Governor-General had received one to the same effect. The case is now being considered. It is understood that the Executive had decided that the law should take its course, but of this no official announcement has been made.

A circular from His Grace Archbishop Lynch was read in the Catholic churches of the city yesterday, referring to the agitation of certain members of the Separate School Board for the election of members by ballot, and denouncing this mode of voting.

The Board of Arbitration of the Board of Trade met this morning at 11 o'clock to reconsider the case of Hall v. Chapman. The two arbitrators appointed at the last meeting of the Board to deal with this suit could not agree and referred it back to the Board. This morning Messrs. Galbraith, Haggarty and Spink were appointed to adjudicate on the suit.

Mr. T. C. Robinette, the well-known Young Liberal, has been asked to allow his name to be submitted to the Reform convention which is to meet this week to select a candidate to contest West Middlesex for the Commons, the late member, Dr. Rooms, having been unseated by the courts. Mr. Robinette gave a conditional acceptance. He is an old Middlesex boy and has lots of snap and ambition, and if selected to carry the banner will make a big run.

An old friend who visited Mr. David Blain at Avon Springs, N.Y., the other day found him in the poorest of health, suffering both from nervous prostration and severe kidney affection. He sleeps but little and seldom goes out. His visitor induced him to take a drive that tossed him up for the time; but Mr. Blain is a very sick man. Whatever may have been his misjudgments in regard to the unfortunate Central Bank no one has ever hinted that Mr. Blain was other than the most upright of men. Few have more good acts to their credit and less bad ones. He has still any number of friends in Toronto and Canada who desire to see him restored in health.

THE JUNCTION CUT ACCIDENT.

Conductor Vance Still Missing—The Wounded Being Well—The Inquest.

HAMILTON, Feb. 19.—Conductor Vance, who was in charge of the freight train which caused the collision on the Grand Trunk Railway by which Robert Archibald and Thomas Peden were killed on Thursday, has not yet been found. Orders have been issued for his arrest on a charge of manslaughter.

The wounded trainmen, Hutchison and Peacock, are doing well.

The coroner's inquest opened at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. After hearing the evidence of Despatcher Blair, Operator Waterman, Engine Driver Robinson and his fireman of the freight train and a couple of railway officials, the inquest was adjourned.

AFFAIRS IN MANITOBA.

A Lively Conservative Meeting—Mr. Smith Will be Asked to Resign.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 18.—The meeting of the City Conservative Association on Friday night for the election of officers was a regular picnic, and almost ended in a free fight. It was generally understood that the independents, who are opposed to the Canadian Pacific monopoly, would not support Mr. Smith, M.P., for the presidency, and on this account it was thought Mr. Smith would not offer for re-election. He did offer, however, and in consequence was unmercifully roasted for his conduct in the House last session. All the bum elements of the party were on hand to vote for Mr. Smith, while the business men were solid against him. The fun began with the voting for the presidency, Mr. Smith being nominated by the monopolists and Mr. Hespeler by the independents. The vote resulted in the defeat of Smith by five, standing—Smith, 124; Hespeler, 139. The news was received with loud cheering and groans for Smith and cries of "Down with monopoly," "No surrender," etc. Mr. Smith, boiling with rage, made a speech thanking his friends for their support and referred to the independent Tories as "Grits and Annexationists," at which he was loudly hissed. The voting for a number of minor officers was then held, resulting in the election of the independent ticket. This so enraged the Smithites that they made a charge of ballot-stuffing against the independents in the election for the presidency. This was denied, and after wrangling followed a scene of the wildest disorder, men accusing each other of dishonest transactions and old-time friends expressing loss of confidence in each other. Then came a supreme struggle for possession of the chair. The anti-disallowance portion of the gathering succeeded in sustaining their man on the platform, and about midnight the monopolists gave up the fight and left the hall, feeling keenly their defeat. Mr. Smith roundly abused many of his old supporters. The independents propose to call a meeting and ask the resignation of Mr. Smith as M.P. for Winnipeg.

THE IMPERIAL CABINET.

Uneasiness Prevailing in British Political Circles—The West Edinburgh Election.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Much uneasiness prevails in political circles. Col. Peacocky, the Queen's Private Secretary, has recently paid several visits to Lord Salisbury and Mr. W. H. Smith, the Government leader in the House of Commons. Such visits are unusual except when a crisis is imminent.

After the Cabinet Council yesterday Mr. Balfour, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, walked to the Irish office. He was evidently greatly excited. Although the weather was bitterly cold he was hatless and walked with his hands clasped to his head. He was followed by two detectives.

A Home Rule Convert Re-elected.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Thomas Ryburn Buchanan, (Gladstonian), was re-elected yesterday to the House of Commons for the west division of Edinburgh, receiving 3304 votes against 2345 for his opponent. Mr. Buchanan was formerly opposed to Irish Home Rule, and was elected to Parliament by the Unionists. Some months ago he announced his conversion and gave notice that on the re-assembling of Parliament he would resign and seek re-election as a Gladstonian and Home Ruler. At the previous election the vote was: Buchanan (Liberal-Unionist), 3023; Wallace (Home Ruler), 2260.

The Winter Wheat Crop.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The Farmers' Review says: "Outside of Wisconsin and Michigan the winter wheat fields are now partly bare of snow, and it will soon be possible to ascertain the exact condition in which the crop has emerged from its winter's covering. Thus far reports do not furnish us any facts that go to show that any appreciable change in the condition of the crop has been noticed."

A Beaver Defaulter's Suicide.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 19.—D. T. Lindsay, a clerk in the United States Land Office here, committed suicide last night. To-day it was discovered that his accounts were $2000 short.

Fatal Accident at Utica.

UTICA, N.Y., Feb. 19.—Yesterday afternoon the cylinder head of a boiler in the Mohawk Valley Cotton Mills blew out, killing Assistant Engineer John Walker.

Death of an Aged Londoner.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Mr. Richard J. Evans of H.M. Customs died last night at his residence here, aged 70 years. Deceased was a native of Nenagh, Ireland. He came to Canada in 1851 and settled in London. He was one of the oldest Masons in the city. A widow and grown-up family of four survive him. He bore an unblemished reputation.

Ottawa Delegates to the P. F. I.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—At a meeting of the Farmer's Institute, held in the Town Hall yesterday afternoon, G. E. Mowbray, President of the association, and Andrew Annes were elected delegates to attend the Provincial Institute at Toronto on Feb. 21 and 22.

Death of a Valuable Sire.

AYR, Ont., Feb. 19.—The stallion Marquis of Lorne, bought by Neil McLennan of South Dumfries recently for $600, died the other day of congestion of the lungs. The horse originally cost Graham Bros. $2000.

THE TEXT OF THE TREATY.

THE POSITION OF THE DOMINION IN THE NEW ARRANGEMENT.

The Three Points of Joint Agreement—Exclusive Jurisdiction Given to Canada Within Three Miles from the Shore—A Reciprocal Clause in the Treaty.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—A Washington special says the following is from the text of the Fishery Treaty: Within a marine league from the shore—three miles—Canada is to have exclusive jurisdiction. This comprises the so-called in-shore fisheries. The headland question is finally disposed of. It is not true, as stated in some papers, that when a bay is more than six miles in the line of demarcation to take it around the headland to headland. The bay must be at least ten miles across. Within that point American fishermen may go, but they cannot fish. In all other cases the three-mile limit is to follow the contour of the shore line. In case of storm or weather American vessels may go anywhere they see fit and take shelter in the nearest Canadian harbor. By the terms of the treaty the United States specifically concede to Canada the right to exclude American vessels from buying bait in any of her ports. There is no penalty attached if any Canadian should sell our fishermen bait. But under the treaty stipulations American fishermen will not be supposed to buy any Canadian bait. Under the terms of the treaty our fishermen may go into any and all Canadian ports for all other supplies except bait and to ship and tranship the catch to American markets in bond; of course the customary tonnage tax will have to be paid. To establish the fact that Canada has a right to determine what vessels, and under what regulations they shall enter ports, the Canadian Commissioner contended that these vessels should first obtain a license, but this is simply an "O. K." license. It is provided that no charge or fee shall be exacted for these licenses. They will merely be in the form of the Canadian authorities approving or writing "O.K." on the American customs officers' permits to touch and trade in Canada. There is a reciprocal or retaliatory clause in the treaty. It provides that Canadian fishermen shall have every privilege in American ports that Americans have in them, and no others. It is also provided as a concession to Canada that the administration at Washington will strive to secure Congressional action for the free entry or full interchange of salt, coal or lumber from the Dominion, but this is not a requisite to the perfection of the treaty.

The Minister of Justice Interviewed.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, returned from Washington last night. In conversation with your correspondent to-day he said that he had had a pleasant trip and that he considered the result of the Fisheries Commission satisfactory.

He declined to enter into any discussion of the terms of the treaty, as he did not feel at liberty to say anything about them until the matter had been discussed at a full meeting of Council, which would probably be to-morrow after the return of Sir Charles Tupper. He would say this much, however:

"The reports published in some American and Canadian papers of the terms of the treaty, in which it was represented that the arrangement made was entirely in favor of the Americans, were inaccurate. When the terms of the proposed treaty were made public it would be found that concessions had been made on both sides."

Expected by the U. S. Senate To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—It is expected that the fisheries treaty will be laid before the Senate to-morrow. It is the intention of some Senators to ask that the treaty be made public at once, and a majority is doubtless in favor of such a course, but on the "precedents and traditions" of the Senate are against it the result is doubtful. It has happened before that when both the Senate and the State Department are willing or desirous to have a matter of this kind made public, neither felt at liberty to take the initiative, and no way of accomplishing the publication was offered, except to have the matter cabled from some country whose precedents were less embarrassing.

The Fishery Commissioners to be Banqueted.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The date for the Canadian Club banquet to the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Sir Charles Tupper and the other Fishery Commissioners and their associates has been fixed for Friday, March 2, at the Hotel Brunswick, New York City. Arrangements are being inaugurated of a very complete character for the banquet and it will at least be an elegant affair. A large number of prominent Americans are anxious to participate and representative Canadians are expected from the various provinces. Applications for tickets should be forwarded at once to Ernstus Wiman, President of the Canadian Club, New York City.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 220 and for Canada 37, a total of 273, as compared with a total of 260 last week and 279 the week previous to the last. The figures for the corresponding week last year were 207 failures—184 in the United States and 23 in Canada. The failures in Canada still seem to be unusually numerous.

The Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1888.

THE Tories of Ottawa have commissioned Mr. Percy Wood to execute a memorial, to be erected in Ottawa, to commemorate the suppression of the Northwest rebellion. This is a delicate compliment to the Dominion Government which caused the rebellion, by its misgovernment, and in the light of recent events it is not surprising that the Government should glory in its shame. Nor would it be surprising if some of the Government admirers should erect a monument to celebrate the Pacific scandal. Sir John at the Caron banquet, in effect, boasted that he had bribed the people with their own money, that he had encouraged the beaders "to help themselves," and that he would squander the public revenues so that no Grit successor should find any surplus to administer. And why should we not find Sir John glorying in the Pacific scandal after these candid admissions of these, as he and his admirers would call them, peccadilloes.

AN Ottawa despatch states that there was paid last year to outside parties for printing and lithographing $235,075, and for advertising, $66,114, in addition to payments to the regular contractors for parliamentary and departmental printing, $15,498, and for advertising, $526. The Moncton Times received for printing, $7,067, and advertising, $903. The Toronto Mail job office got $10,726 for printing, and the paper was paid $3,623 on advertising account. The Ottawa Journal got $60 for printing and $751 for advertising. The Militia Gazette got $718; The Mining Review, $380; The Citizen, $1,221 for printing and $391 for advertising; The Hull Despatch, $650; Le Canada, $646; Every Saturday, $440; The Halifax Herald, $5,162 for printing and $1,412 for advertising; The Halifax Mail, $883; The St. John Sun, $2,239 and $2,091; The Toronto World, $1,336; The Yarmouth Times, $1,149 and $48; The Montreal Gazette, $5,452 and $1,106; La Minerve, $3,749 and $897; Le Monde, $1,279 and $328; The Montreal Star, $568; The Shareholder, $880; The Hamilton Spectator, $3,256; The Brockville Times, $914; The Morrisburg Courier, $717; The Regina Leader, $4,767 and $506; The Irish Canadian, $1,044; The Guelph Herald, $360; The Kingston News, $464; The Monetary Times, $483; The Toronto Standard, $417; The Toronto Telegram, $376.

THE Empire, as we have before suggested, is the official organ, apologist and advocate of monopolies. It has a bad cause to defend and, of course, has to resort to bad means to sustain its defence. It is a particularly heated defender of the sugar brigands, and to make good their cause does not hesitate to indulge in what, according to strict moral standard, is lying. Lying is telling something with intent to deceive, and the most successful deceit is practised by including an element of truth. A day or two ago the journalistic counsel for the cormorants said what was intended to be a crusher for the champions of cheap sugar:—"When they say that refined sugar is taxed, they are not telling a half truth, but a sheer falsehood. Canadian refined sugar does not pay a duty, so it is not taxed." This is "the equivocation of the fiend that lies like truth." It is true that there is no duty placed upon Canadian refined sugar, but there is an enormous, a prohibitory, placed on foreign refined sugar so that it cannot be imported, though British sugar in the British market is about one half the price we have to pay for it Canada. The prohibitory duties keep out foreign cheap sugar and permit the Canadian sugar refiners to fix their own prices and they don't forget to make them high enough. For instance a Nova Scotia sugar refinery resumed business, paid off $100,000 of indebtedness and declared a dividend of 13 per cent on the year's operations. To give another idea of profits a Halifax sugar refinery paid out $100,000 in wages and "scooped" in $500,000 in profits. They were enabled to do this by dipping their hands into the pockets of the people and making them pay double the price they would have had to pay if there were no duty on refined sugars.

NOTIFIED TO RESUME WORK.

The Philadelphia and Reading Strike Collapses—Stipulation to Work With the Orders.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 18.—The following order has been given to the employes of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company: "You are hereby notified to resume work on Monday morning, Feb. 20. The order does not include any company but the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, as they are the only ones to agree to the terms of settlement. Hence we would urge upon the miners of the Lehigh region, including the Panther Creek valley, the necessity of maintaining a firm stand until those companies are willing to submit the questions involved to a conference, with the assurance that no victimizing will take place after starting the mines. W. T. LEWIS, M. W. National District Assembly 135."

Coal Will Take a Tumble.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—The adjustment of the Reading mining troubles removes the possibility of a continuance of the present high prices of coal. It is likely the rates will fall considerably.

Master Workman Lewis' Action Repudiated

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Feb. 18.—The Reading Coal and Iron Company's miners in this district, in mass meeting yesterday, repudiated the action of Master Workman Lewis, and resolved not to return to work until notified to do so by the Joint Demand Committee.

Denounced for Their Treachery.

ELIZABETHPORT, N.J., Feb. 18.—The Reading strikers here are much depressed over the news that the miners have been ordered back to work. The coal handlers realize that they are left out in the cold and none of them expect to regain their old jobs. They number 120 and the families of many are suffering for want of the necessaries of life. The Philadelphia leaders are bitterly denounced for their treachery.

LITTLE RHODE'S BIG FIRES.

$200,000 Goes Up in Smoke at Providence on Sunday—Other Losses.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 19.—The third large fire within the past five days occurred this afternoon on the scene of the disastrous conflagration of September, 1877. At 4.10 o'clock a man in a broker's office in the second floor of the Daniels building in Custom House-street, a structure which rose on the ashes of the iron front building which melted in the fierce heat of eleven years ago, smelled smoke, and looking about the landing found a water closet on that floor all ablaze. Just under the ceiling was a battery of gas meters for the supply of all the tenants on that floor. The connections on these were melted by the fire and there was a great outrush of gas which, bursting into flames, set fire to the floors and the adjoining rooms.

The protective department had time to spread their covers in the first and second stories, but very little was taken out of the building by any person who was not in when the fire was discovered. A dense smoke poured from every opening in the structure. The interior of the building was filled with a pungent smoke, and the heat was so intense that the firemen could not well work inside, and the fire had to be fought from the front where it could not be seen. One fireman was suffocated on the third story and taken home and another man had a serious fall on attempting to shut off gas connection.

The total estimated loss of the Daniels building and its occupants is $263,000, and insurance $205,000.

The Lebanon mills, about three miles out of Pawtucket, were also burned to-night, and the old mill and waterhouse were totally destroyed and the new building badly damaged; loss $150,000 and insurance $80,000.

A fire at the Riverside mills at Olneyville destroyed the wool room; loss $5000.

Several Blazes at Jersey City.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Feb. 19.—A series of fires occurred in different parts of the city to-day, but all were extinguished before great damage was done; total loss about $40,000.

CURRENT FOREIGN TOPICS.

The office of Minister of Finance in Baden has been offered to Banker Eistaxeter of Karlsruhe, who has accepted it, being the first Jew to obtain a ministerial position in Germany.

Pastor Hancock of Hamburg, the manager of a refuge for fallen women in that city, has been placed under arrest for turning the haven into a harem, and allowing secret debauches to be indulged in by the inmates. Other directors of the refuge are said to be implicated.

General Willoughby, Minister of War in Madagascar, has been released from imprisonment.

King John is disquieted owing to the news that his troops suffered a severe defeat at the hands of the dervishes.

Sir Henry Holland has been raised to the peerage. He will retain the office of Colonia Secretary.

The official bulletin from San Remo regarding the condition of the Crown Prince to-day says: "The wound in the throat presents a more favorable appearance and is gradually closing. The cough is the same as yesterday. There is a little more expectoration. The patient's appetite is excellent." Other reports say that the cough is troublesome and that the expectoration is tinged with blood.

MIDNIGHT.—The Crown Prince is somewhat better. It is denied that the doctors in attendance upon him are at variance regarding the nature of his malady. This question is not touched at the consultations. Dr. Mackensie's daughter has arrived. Her coming is held to indicate that the doctor will make a prolonged stay. The Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden have departed.

The five men accused of conspiring to utter forged Hamilton and Northwestern bonds were again brought up in the Marylebone Police Court yesterday. Nothing of interest was elicited and the case was again adjourned.

The Bank of British North America will pay a dividend of forty shillings per share, making 7½ per cent. for the year.

Bailliieboro,

On Tuesday, February 14th, the community suffered a great loss in the death of Mrs. Perrin, wife of Mr. Henry Perrin, of South Monaghan. The deceased lady was 67 years of age and has been a highly respected resident of this township for half a century. She leaves behind a husband and family—consisting of four daughters and three sons, all married and settled in life. The funeral which took place on Thursday was largely attended. The remains were laid in the Baptist burying ground.

Projected Air Ships.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 19.—Dr. Arthur De Bausset of Chicago, President of the Transcontinental Aerial Navigation Company, is in the city, placing a contract for steel to be used in the mammoth air ships which he proposes to build. Each of these ships will be 554 feet long and 144 feet in diameter. They will be cone-shaped, and made of steel. The vessels will cost $150,000 each, and it is the intention of the inventor to build several of them. De Bausset says aerial navigation is no longer an experiment, but a fact, and that during the present year he will start on a voyage to the North Pole. He can develop a speed of 120 miles per hour.

Local Assembly 3235 Indignant.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—Local Assembly 3235, the largest in the city, and composed entirely of coal handlers formerly employed at the Port Richmond coal wharves, met yesterday afternoon. The principal topic of discussion was the agreement entered into between Wm. T. Lewis and President Corbin, by which the men are to return to work on Monday. Those present were of opinion that Lewis had broken his agreement with the railroad, and his action was condemned in severe terms. The men said that under no consideration would they return to work until Mr. Corbin consented to arbitrate the existing differences.

Perils of the Rail in Texas.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 19.—A special despatch says: A mob attacked the Galveston and Kansas City north bound passenger train soon after it left Fort Worth Friday night, throwing stones through the windows and injuring several passengers. D. A. Baker of New York was seriously hurt. It is believed the intention was to induce the guard to come out of the car, kill him and then rob the train.

Millionaire Snell's Murderer.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The man who assisted the murderer of Millionaire Snell by standing watch outside while the residence was being robbed is behind prison bars. The arrest was made yesterday and the police have already secured a full confession from the prisoner. It confirms beyond doubt the statement that the murderer is young William B. Tascott, the son of Col. J. B. Tascott, the wealthy manufacturer. The police refuse to reveal the name of the prisoner.

The Quebec Homicide.

QUEBEC, Feb. 19.—The coroner's jury in the murder case of Pascant gave a verdict of "involuntary homicide" against Leger Leclerc, the husband of the woman who was the cause of the fracas. This verdict clears the young man Napoleon Leclerc, who was formerly suspected. In all the evidence adduced none could say who it was that struck the fatal blow, and it was only on the admission of Leger Leclerk himself that the verdict was rendered.

The Weather in the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 19.—Despatches from Calgary, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and Fort McLeod report the weather warm and the snow all disappeared. There have been chinook winds for the last three days, which have carried off all the snow. Cattle are thriving splendidly on the ranch. The thermometer ranges from 55° to 70°. A genuine thaw has set in in Manitoba, and it appears as if the back of the winter was broken.

They Didn't Elope.

HAMILTON, Feb. 19.—A young man employed by the electric light company tried to elope last night with a colored woman who lives on Park-street. They were met at the station by Sergt. Pinch and Constable Watson, who offered such good advice to them that they wavered in their rash purpose and returned. The color-blind young man had bought two tickets for Buffalo.

Wentworth Farmers' Institute.

HAMILTON, Feb. 19.—The annual meeting of the Wentworth Farmers' Institute was held here yesterday morning. Chairman Fuller stated that the Executive Committee had decided that it was not desirable that Commercial Union should be discussed at future meetings of the institute. Mr. Henderson of Beverley read an interesting paper on the breeding of heavy draught horses.

The London, Ont., Baby Farm.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Two infants having died under suspicious circumstances at Mrs. Short's baby farm on York-street, the County Crown Attorney ordered an inquest to be held. The coroner empanelled a jury yesterday which viewed the bodies and adjourned until Tuesday. The children of Mrs. Short, keeper of the concern, are down with diphtheria.

Accident in a Theatre.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 19.—The railing supporting the gallery in the People's Theatre gave way last night, throwing the occupants to the floor below. The people underneath heard the cracking in time for nearly all to escape, but Mrs. Jas. Turley was caught by the debris and fatally hurt. Two boys had their arms broken and many persons received painful injuries.

Pensions for Disabled C. S. A. Veterans.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 19.—The State Senate yesterday adopted the House Bill to pay $20 yearly pension to officers, soldiers, sailors and their servants, who served in the Confederate army from Mississippi and who are unable to labor now because of injuries received in the service.

A Toronto Deputation at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—The Toronto deputation, headed by Mayor Clarke, interviewed Jas. Hickson, General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, to-day, with reference to amalgamation of the Grand Trunk and Northern and Northwestern lines, and the way in which Toronto would be affected thereby. Mayor Clarke stated that the interview was of a very satisfactory nature, and the deputation feel quite satisfied with Mr. Hickson's answer.

For the Babies

It is not necessary to buy corn cures. Men and women should remember that Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is the only safe, sure, and painless corn remover extant. It does its work quickly and with certainty. See that the signature N. C. Polson & Co. appears on each bottle. Beware of poisonous imitations. 6dw8

DESTROY THE WORMS or they may destroy the children. Use Freeman's Worm Powders, they expel all kinds of worms. dw

COUGHS AND COLDS.—If everything has failed, try Allen's Lung Balsam and be cured.

Facts Worth Knowing.

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powders, syringes, astringents, or any similar application, because they are all irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who have for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict, testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm. cowd6

Dedicate Warning.

Neglected coughs and colds so frequently produce serious results as to constitute a warning. There is no better, safer or more pleasant remedy for Coughs, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Colds and all throat and lung troubles than Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. 2w7d

Will be Fully Met.

Indications of Dyspepsia, such as Sour Stomach, Heartburn Sick Headache, Rising and Souring of Food, Wind on the Stomach, or a Choking or Gnawing sensation at the pit of the stomach are fully met by Burdock Blood Bitters which has cured the worst cases on record. 2wd7

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood. 2w7d

Part of the Household.

"I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil with much satisfaction, for Colds and Sore Throat. I would not be without it at any cost, as I look upon it as the best medicine sold for family use." Miss E. Bramhall, Sherbrooke, P. Q. 2w7d

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists. dw

Victoria v. Peterborough.

The following reference to this case is found in the report of Saturday's proceedings in the High Court of Justice, Osgoode Hall: "Victoria v. Peterborough.—J. M. Clarke, for the defendants, obtained an order for exhibits for use in printing appeal books."

A Petty Larceny.

A young woman who boards on Hunter street complained at the police station this morning that on Friday morning $12 had been stolen from her room. She supposed the thief had entered in her absence and extracted the money from her purse, which was inside her muff.

Superb Prizes.

Though the prizes offered for competition at the last carnival were acknowledged to be the finest ever given in Peterborough, the canton instead arranging a prize list for their next carnival on March 9th that will "beat them all hollow." Look out for the announcements, and keep the date in mind, March 9th.

Curlinns.

The teams to represent Peterborough in the contest with Truro at Ottawa next Friday for the Governor-General's medal were chosen at the rink Saturday night. Some of the players have yet to be seen to learn if they are willing to go. Should these decline others will have to be appointed. The names of the selected ones will be published when the rinks are complete.

Leap Year No Fiction.

The manner in which the ladies take advantage of the Leap Year privilege in initiating nuptial negotiations, threatens to ruin a Toronto editor. Last year the editor of the Dominion Oddfellow offered a copy of his paper free, for a year, to the bride of Oddfellows, and a good many got the benefit of it in Peterborough. But Leap Year came on; the brides boomed the business so briskly that to keep faith threatened ruin to the proprietor of the Oddfellow. Consequently the last number contains this notice:—"We have decided to withdraw the offer of a free copy of the Dominion Oddfellow to brides of Oddfellows." The goose that laid the golden eggs is a dead duck.

Interesting to Farmers.

Mr. Dryden, of South Ontario, has received a letter from Mr. Alfred Mansell, of Lythall, Mansell & Walters, of Shrewsbury, England, Secretaries of the Shropshire Sheepbreeders' Association and Stock-book Society, in which he says he is instructed by the Stock Association to offer through Mr. Dryden for competition at the Toronto Industrial Fair a £10 cup for a pure bred Shropshire ram and seven of his offspring, viz., two ram lambs and five ewe lambs, also pure bred. The offer is the outcome of a timely suggestion by Mr. Dryden when he was in the Old Country a few months ago.

Police Court.

MONDAY, Feb. 20.

This was True Blues' day in court, but the result was not as brilliantly successful as their Twelfth of July celebrations usually are. To-day's police court episode was another phase of the trouble the local lodge of True Blues have just got into. As the public are aware, on Friday morning it was discovered that their hall on Simcoe street had been broken into and among other things stolen was the charter warrant. At the instance of Ernest Stevenson a search warrant was sworn out against Mr. R. Wainwright, butcher, whose shop was searched Saturday afternoon and the missing warrant found. The case was calendared for the police court this morning, but the complainant was not. Three times was his name called, and three times did a dead silence pervade the room, which was well filled with spectators. "Is there anyone here prepared to take the responsibility of this case?" Still silence. "Anyone here to give evidence in the matter." No response. "Well," said the magistrate, "I'll have to dismiss the case." Mr. O'Meara, who appeared for Mr. Wainwright, stepped forward and asked for a full investigation of the matter. A stigma had been cast upon the character of his client, one of the best known and most respectable men in Peterborough, and he wanted his good name vindicated before the public. It was a shame, he said, that the law allowed him no redress. Any scamp could swear to a direct falsehood, as in this case, and do inestimable injury to a respectable man merely to gratify personal spite. He courted the fullest investigation on behalf of his client, and stated he only wanted the opportunity to prove that this warrant found in Mr. Wainwright's shop had been left there last July by this self-same Stevenson while drunk, and it had been there ever since. Mr. Dumble said that in dismissing the case Mr. Wainwright's character was left spotless. The law held every man innocent until proven guilty. Mr. Wainwright was at liberty, he said, to enter a suit for criminal libel if he chose to seek redress. As there was no evidence for the prosecution in this case, he dismissed it with costs to the complainant. Mr. Wainwright, who had sat quietly listening all the time, then left the court, and as he passed through the door he jammed his cap down on his head in an emphatic manner that clearly expressed the state of his feelings.

Numbering the Houses.

Councillor Langford is working away at his scheme for the numbering of houses in Peterborough, and will present full details at the next council meeting. The thing will cost the town very little—the price of plans for a basis of numbering, and probably a few minor expenses. The intention is to have each householder or landlord purchase his own numbers, which can be had at the most favorable rates obtainable from a company with whom the town will contract. Should any prefer to have the numbers painted on their doors they are at perfect liberty to do so. The whole thing will be entirely optional on the part of citizens; it is hoped, however, all will see their way clear to joining in this movement, which, to be effective should be unanimous. Streets running north and south are to be numbered from Hunter street; those east and west, from the river. Mr. Langford will bring a long desired boon to the citizens of Peterborough if he succeeds in his plans, as it is pretty certain he will do.

Japanese Missionaries.

Next Monday the pulpits of the two Methodist churches will be occupied by Dr. Macdonald, missionary to Japan, and Rev. Mr. Heraiwa, one of the first natives to be converted to Christianity. Mr. Heraiwa is said to be highly intelligent and well educated, speaking the English language with a fair degree of fluency. He is a regularly ordained minister of the gospel. On the following Monday evening missionary services will be held in the Charlotte street church, at which Dr. Macdonald and his foreign protege will deliver addresses.

Their own Fault.

In Belleville when the management of any public entertainment overlook the press by neglecting to forward passes, as in the case of a complimentary entertainment the other evening, the newspapers scarcely notice the events. If the same plan were followed in Peterborough, one half the public gatherings would be left to their fate, to pass into oblivion without any record of their fulfilment. Too many people overlook the importance of the press. If concerts, suppers, etc., are overlooked, or if one report is more complete than another, they fail to understand that it is due to their own neglect in not remembering "the gentlemen of the press."

His Fees.

Mr. J. O'Meara, counsel, in dilating upon the unsatisfactory termination (to Mr. Wainwright, at least) of the case in the police court this morning, remarked that he himself was the only one to derive any benefit from it, in the shape of fees. "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," quoth Mr. Dumble, whereat they all smiled.

An Apt Illustration.

Rev. Mr. Tovell, in the course of his sermon Sunday evening, remarked that the souls of some men were so small that they could be blown through the little end of the quill of a humming bird's feather into a mosquito's eye without danger of blinding it.

The Life Story of Joseph.

Rev. Mr. Tovell Preaches in the Charlotte Street Church Sunday Evening.

Rev. Mr. Tovell, before beginning his sermon in the Charlotte street church Sunday evening, announced that he had decided to divide his subject into two separate discourses, and would, therefore, only lay before his congregation one of the characters of the two young men he had at first proposed to deal with on this occasion, reserving the other till two weeks hence. The young man he intended to hold up before them on this occasion, he said, was Joseph. In beginning he referred to the interest that was most properly being taken in young men to-day, and commended the Y.M.C.A. as an institution that was doing much for the young men. Too much interest, he said, could not be taken in the young men. They were the bone and sinew of the nation, the hope of the country. The great principle he wished to impress by the lesson of Joseph's life, said the reverend speaker, was, that if we honour God, God will honour us. Going back to Joseph's birth and youthful days, the preacher pointed out how the character of Jacob, Joseph's father, was changed from one of cunning to one of a thoroughly Christian tone by the power of God. Joseph's mother, too, possessed beautiful spirits and character, so that Joseph's teaching and training were such as would tend to make him

A NOBLE YOUNG MAN.

All boys brought up in such good homes do not, unfortunately, he said, turn out as well as Joseph; for instance, his own brothers did not all share in his noble nature. For this very reason Joseph was his father's favorite, who as a token of this special liking had made for his beloved son a beautiful coat of many colors. Rev. Mr. Tovell condemned this principle of favoritism in families, and said it very frequently led to trouble and hatred among the children. Joseph was hated by his less favored brethren, but his generous and pure nature was not affected by their dislike. Joseph's two dreams, in one of which he saw his sheaf of grain standing erect and those of his brothers bowing down to it, and the one in which even Jacob himself was made of secondary importance to Joseph, aroused the envy of his brothers to a furious degree. Then the preacher related the story of the treachery of Joseph's brothers. Hitherto his life had been calm and peaceful; now the storms were coming that were going to test his strength. Joseph followed his father's bidding and went to see his brothers tending the flocks. As soon as he appeared they said to themselves,

HERE COMES THE DREAMER.

Murder instantly sprang into their thoughts, but no, even their intense hatred would not allow them to do that. What were they to do with him? Reuben, who had always been kindly disposed towards poor Joseph, proposed putting him into the deep pit, intending afterwards to slip around and let him out. But Judah's proposal to sell him to the Midianites carried the day, and he was cruelly torn from his parents and taken into far-off Egypt. Following him down to the strange land, through the trials of his life in Potiphar's house and the prison, the reverend gentleman dwelt upon his triumphs over temptation and sin. Then his deliverance from prison through his interpretation of the dreams of Potiphar and Pharaoh, and his subsequent exaltation to the position of second man in the kingdom at only thirty years of age, were next touched upon. Eighty long years of wise administration was the final record of Joseph's eventful life. Going back in review over Joseph's life, the preacher pointed out two or three of his guiding principles. In the first place he always did that which was right. He was just as faithful as a servant in Potiphar's house as he was as ruler over the kingdom. This principle was applicable to life to-day. No matter how low and humble the position, do what was right and that would lead to honorable positions in the future. Joseph, though a slave in Potiphar's house, did not consider it his duty to escape; for though his freedom had been exchanged for thirty pieces of silver, he in the position in which he was placed. He had strength to resist the blandishments of Potiphar's wife, and he went to prison a pure and innocent spirit, the Lord with him. And all his after successes were attributed to God. When his brothers stood trembling before him, he bore no feelings of revenge, but said to them: "Fear not, God did it." And he said to his aged father, "God has been with me." The lesson to be drawn from this story of Joseph was, let God come into our lives. The reverend speaker next dwelt briefly upon Joseph's character. Some considered that position was everything; but there was something grander than position—character. The preacher expressed his admiration of Joseph's love and reverence for his aged father, which led him a long journey from his throne of power to get the old man's dying benediction, considering it of more value than aught else in the world.

Coldsprings, Otonabee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The boys of our neighborhood are ardent devotees of the skatorial art, yet when it comes to cleaning off a space on the river as a rink, they all remember with one accord of a pressing engagement they have up town. Early in the winter they managed to clear the snow off a pretty good-sized piece of ice, and for quite a while enjoyed skating; but a storm came along and covered up their work again. Then they resolved to clean it off again and appointed a night for the purpose, but, alas for man's fickleness, only two of them turned up. The others were all in Peterborough. These two, however, went bravely to work and managed to clean off half of the old rink. Then they rested from their labours. The next afternoon a couple of the girls, probably in the hope of shaming the boys into completing the work, turned out and cleared half of the remaining space; and that's the way it stands now. I hope the boys won't go back on their work next time. They can make their "preening" engagement with the girls of our neighborhood after the work is over, instead of going to town early in the evening. It is to be hoped they will turn out and clean up the remainder of the rink at an early date.

Lines By Request.

UPON THE EARLY DEATH OF MARY A. MOLONEY,

Wife of Eugene James Maloney, and only Daughter of William Crough, Reeve of Ennismore, who died February 2nd, 1888, aged 19 years and 8 months:—

O what is beauty, what is youth, mere shadows of a day,
One touch of death's cold, icy hand transfigures them to clay.
The dearest form that ever bound husband's or friend's love,
One chare blast of death's chill breath that loved one will remove.
Grief stricken friends, I know my lines no soothing balm imparts
To heal the wounds which cruel death inflicted on your hearts;
Your only daughter was by you loved, idolized, I know—
Alas! Death came so premature, and laid your Mary low.

True centre of your family joys, kind-hearted, cheerful, bright,
Her pleasing smiles, her winning ways, her brothers' chief delight;
Likewise her father's truest joy, from youth to womanhood years,
Well might her death unlock and burst the flood gates of his tears.
One more end sered by tenderer ties, more keenly feels the mark;
The blow has filled her cup of grief and crushed a mother's heart.
The babe she nursed, the girl she loved, still haunts her night and day.
It is but fancy, caused by grief, for her Mary has passed away.

And still another drops his head and strives to hide the tear,
Free pa sting from his manly eyes—he was her husband dear.
How transitory was their bliss, how short their married life!
But two short years was Mary spared to be his loving wife.
A young wife's love, a young wife's cares, were soon brought to an end.
Too soon affliction laid on her its heavy, fatal hand.
Scarce two weeks old, a babe beside its dying mother lay,
Unconscious of its loss, it smiled as its ma passed away.

She felt her life's blood ebbing fast, she knew her end was nigh,
She kissed her mother, saying, "That is the last before I die.
"I leave my impress on your lips, for father and brothers three.
"My husband and my tender babe—kiss them, likewise, for me.
"And tell them not to mourn too much for me; although I die.
"This life I calmly do resign for a better life on high.
"My last request, dear mother, is, show kindness every day
"Unto my husband, and my babe, when I have passed away."

How short her pilgrimage on earth! How brief her sojourn here!
Few years allowed her to prepare for a far brighter sphere.
Well she improved each passing hour, on heavenward paths she trod,
Her chiefest aim, her soul's delight—Religion, Church and God.
Her earthly life was but a glimpse, with friends how short she stayed,
The flush of youth had scarcely time from her young cheeks to fade.
When youth, health, joy and hope held forth their sweetest, brightest ray,
Before her twentieth year had closed, young Mary passed away.

Yes, she has gone, her presence, here seemed but a passing wave,
Like yesterday in cradle smiled, to-day she fills a grave.
Not Mary, only Mary's dust, in death's cold chamber lies;
We hope her youthful soul emseaks in bliss beyond the skies.
Grieved, weeping friends, dry up your tears, your burden cast on God,
He but afflicts you for your good, now kiss his chastening rod.
His greatest trials are sent through love, with mock submission say:
Not ours, O Lord, thy will be done—our Mary take away.

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realize how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $5.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00—a good, serviceable Suit; while for $7.00, $8.00 or $10.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

THE DOCUMENT SUBMITTED TO THE UNITED STATES SENATE.

An Attempt to Have it Made Public Unsuccessful—The Report Published by the Press Believed to be Generally Correct.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The Senate to-day, in secret session, listened to the reading of the Fishery Treaty, and then for an hour there ensued an earnest but unsuccessful struggle to make it public. The lead in this matter was taken by Senator Frye, who is anxious that his constituents shall be informed authoritatively as to what they have to hope for or fear from the matter. The struggle was gallantly supported and would have been successful but for the discovery that the Senate is powerless in the face of its own rules, to do what it desires. To publish the document now would require a change of rules, and to make a change, or even to discuss a proposal to make a change, require a day's notice. Hence, as the matter is expected to come from Ottawa within a day or two, the Senate contents itself with sending the treaty to the public printer "to be printed in confidence." The provisions of the document are said to be very much as the papers have already stated them. That which seems to have fastened itself most firmly upon the Senatorial memory, as the hasty reading was progressing, is the provision that the privilege of going into Canadian ports to buy bait shall be withheld by Canada unless the United States Congress passes laws for the free admission of fish and oil. The document is commented upon by one side as practically conceding that the Canadian contention has been correct as to the interpretation of the treaty of 1818. Upon the other hand, senators friendly to the administration express the opinion that all has been accomplished by the department that could be expected, and that a quarrel which has lasted over half a century has thus been brought to a close.

TORONTO TOPICS.

To-morrow the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders' Association will open its second annual meeting in St. Lawrence Hall. President John Dryden, M.P.P., will preside. Secretary Wade expects about 100 members to be in attendance.

Hagarty & Co., owners of the propeller Cuba, sold her on Saturday to Mr. D. Graham for $18,000 cash. Mr. Graham represents a syndicate formed with a view to starting a new freight line between Montreal and Chicago.

The Young Liberals met in the Yonge-street Arcade last night with President H. H. Dewart in the chair. Mr. Jas. H. Falconer introduced this motion:

That in the opinion of this club the time has arrived that the national business of Scotland, distinct from the Imperial, should be managed by a popularly elected legislature for Scotland, such legislature to have full control of all measures dealing with the land laws, education and legal and church matters as well as bills of purely local and private interest, that such legislature shall have the right to appoint a Scottish executive, including all the law officers, and that this executive should be directly responsible to the Scottish legislature and the Crown.

A discussion followed in which the mover, Messrs. Dymond, Dunn, Chamberlain, Lynch, Cowan, Clark, Smith and others took part. The motion was carried unanimously.

THE ILLINOIS CYCLONE.

The Killed Number 35 and the Homeless 1500—Appeals for Aid.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Feb. 20.—The cyclone that visited this city yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock destroyed nearly 300 residences and places of business, and unhoused from 1200 to 1500 people. In the fall of the walls many persons were buried under the debris and thirty-five were killed, while twice as many more were injured, eight or ten so seriously that their recovery is doubtful.

Committees were appointed to-day to look after the wants of those in need. N. H. Moss, Secretary of the Finance Committee, has been in communication all day with the large cities of the country. A formal and systematic appeal will be made to all persons to assist the unfortunate sufferers in this affliction.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Russia's Threats—A Grave Rebuff—Returned Without Opposition—Bismarck's Memorial—The Crown Prince—A Reporting Committee to Prince William of Germany.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—In the House of Commons this evening Sir James Ferguson, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, declared that there was no truth whatever in the report that any military or naval action was being taken or contemplated against Venezuela. Referring to the New Hebrides, he stated that the French Consul-general overtook the islands within four months from Nov. 19 last, the date the agreement was signed.

Mr. Gladstone continued the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech. He commented on the prolonged depression in agriculture and said that the subject was of greater importance than the Irish question, forming perhaps the greatest problem of the age. The loss by deficient agricultural values was estimated for the year 1885 at £42,000,000, and it could not now be less than £30,000,000.

Lord John Manners, Vice-President of the Committee of Council on Agriculture, admitted the terrible condition of agriculture, but said the Government had no specific against the depression. He hoped the improvement of general trade, symptoms of which were now apparent, would lead to an improvement in the condition of the farming interests. Too little attention has been hitherto given officially to agriculture. The Government, therefore, had decided to ask the House to give its assent to a bill creating a Department of Agriculture.

The Porte has been notified by Roumania that Austria has assured her that a violation of Roumelian territory by Russia would be considered a movement against Austria, and would form a casus belli.

A memorandum of England's views on the Eastern question has been sent to Austria and Italy, and have been found to be identical with those of both countries.

Troops filling thirty-six trains have left Odessa, in the direction of Kischeneff.

Dr. Meisner, Vienna correspondent of The Cologne Gazette, fought a duel near Pressburg with Herr Frischauer of The Vienna Tag blatt. Meisner was slightly wounded.

The Budget, and a vote of confidence in the Government, have been adopted by a great majority in the Lower House of the Hungarian Diet.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach has been returned without opposition for the west division of Bristol. He sought re-election to Parliament on accepting the office of President of the Board of Trade.

A special sermon, in connection with the unveiling of the Milton memorial window, in London, yesterday, was preached by Archdeacon Farrar. There was present a large congregation, including the American Minister, many judges and barristers, members of Parliament and peers.

Dr. Mackenzie is dissatisfied with the canula inserted in the Crown Prince's throat by Dr. Bramann, on account of the irritation it causes.

The correspondent of The London Standard at San Remo says the blood-tinged expectoration is due to tubes scratching the back of the trachea, and causing inflammation, which should be avoided. The several laryngoscopical examinations made since Friday show a notable improvement.

Several cablegrams announcing that there is no hope for the recovery of the Crown Prince have depressed the New York German bankers.

Herr Von Zastrow, the head of one of the departments of the Home Ministry, will be appointed reporting councillor to Prince William. No such councillor has ever been allowed to any prince, except the heir to the throne.

The report that Mr. Chamberlain will be offered the Grand Cross of the Bath, which involves knighthood, occasions no surprise, as this is in accordance with the usual custom after special diplomatic services. Opinion is much divided, however, as to whether the offer will be accepted. It is needless to say that acceptance will provoke much criticism and ridicule among Mr. Chamberlain's former Radical followers.

Mr. Lynch, of Danville, Que., has promised an address on buttermaking at the conference at Ipswich in May next under the auspices of the British Dairy Farmers' Association.

The London Standard commenting upon the position in Europe, says: "With so many friends as she now has, why should Austria yield to Russia's menace? We imagine that the unofficial negotiations now in progress will make it quite sure that if Russia formally reopens the Bulgarian question the result will be either a fresh rebuff or war."

INCENDIARY FIRES.

Two Conflagrations at Cobourg—Four Valuable Horses Burnt.

COBOURG, Feb. 20.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning fires broke out simultaneously in a house owned and occupied by W. Carswell, boot maker, and a stable owned by D. Rooney and occupied by M. Fox, feed merchant. The barn and contents, including four valuable horses, were entirely destroyed. The fire in Carswell's house was extinguished after a hard fight; loss $300; insured for $200. Rooney's loss is $1600, insured for $900. Fox's loss is $600, no insurance. Both fires were the work of incendiaries.

Fire at Lindsay.

LINDSAY, Feb. 20.—The frame residence owned and occupied by Stephen Oliver was totally destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock this morning. Cause of fire unknown. Insured in the Ætna of Connecticut for $300.

Sandridge's Sunday Blaze.

SUNDRIDGE, Feb. 20.—The dwelling-house of George Seidewand, shoemaker, was completely consumed by fire yesterday morning, along with part of the contents; loss $600 to $1000, no insurance.

Killed by a Horse Thief.

GRANADA, Cal., Feb. 17.—Deputy Sheriff Bill Thompson, of Los Animas County, was shot in the neck and killed yesterday by Jack White, a horse thief, whom he was trying to arrest.

An International Greeting.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—At the twenty-second annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. of the State of New York to-day a telegram of greeting was read from the Canada Y.M.C.A. College Association of Toronto.

Happy Sir Hector.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—It is rumored here that Sir Hector Langevin will shortly lead to the hymeneal altar the widow of an ex-government employe.

THE CITY'S MIND CHANGED.

Toronto Will Not Oppose the Lease of the Grand Trunk and Northern Railways.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.

Hon. John Beverley Robinson, Toronto's ambassador and minister plenipotentiary to England, to oppose, on behalf of the city, the amalgamation of the Northern and Northwestern Railways with the Grand Trunk Railway, will be cabled by the Mayor not to carry out the instructions which he had when he left here a week ago last Thursday.

This is the outcome of a special meeting of the Council called last night to consider the report of the special committee appointed to interview General Manager Hickson, in relation to the amalgamation. The Mayor was in the chair, and all the members were present with the exception of Ald. Galbraith and Ald. Pells. The report as presented was:

Mr. Hickson, while he could give no definite promise as to the workshops being permanently located in Toronto, as they now exist, said there would be no desire to remove them, but the Grand Trunk would not construct new engines or cars or do any heavy repairs here, as it was a rule of the company to have all new engines constructed and all heavy repairs made at the workshops in Montreal or Stratford, but at the present time there would not be any change, and he thought that with the extension of the contemplated new lines to Jaques' Bay and to the Bank that the extra work required in the way of light repairs, etc., would in a large measure make up for the loss of new work in the way of building engines, etc. He further said that the Northern and Northwestern Railways are under no obligation to the city to keep their workshops in Toronto.

Mr. Hickson desired to give every possible accommodation to the passenger traffic, especially as they wanted it, and if the City Hall Station could be altered or so changed as to afford proper accommodation for trains from the east and west, that these trains would be stopped at this station. Various plans were suggested. Of these the most feasible was to divert Esplanade-street between East and West Market streets to the south of the present station, and remove the station building south, which if done would give all the accommodation needed.

Mr. Hickson stated it was of the utmost importance for the prosperity of Toronto and the Grand Trunk Railway that the line running from North Bay to James' Bay be built as speedily as possible, and he would further say that it was in the interests of the city to use every legitimate influence to accomplish this much desired work. He thought the Ontario Government should assist in its construction by granting substantial bonuses.

The city is also vitally interested in the extension of the Northern Railway system to Sault Ste. Marie, which will soon be an accomplished fact.

Mr. Hickson was under the impression there was some misapprehension as to the position of the Northern Railway stock held by the city and the ratification of the bargain between the Northern and the Grand Trunk Railways. The fact of the matter was that the Grand Trunk had not to go to the Dominion Parliament for the ratification of the agreement but only in reference to the stock. Hon. J. B. Robinson could not in any way block the agreement.

The question of discrimination of rates came up, but he showed no disposition to discuss it. He had told a deputation from Hamilton in relation to the same matter that instead of paying less they should pay more, and that after the amalgamation he would be willing to discuss the matter.

With reference to the settlement of the dispute as to ownership of certain property now occupied by the Northern and Northwestern Railway on the Esplanade, the rights of the city were amply provided for in the agreement, and after the amalgamation was accomplished Mr. Hickson would invite discussion with a view to arrive at an agreement satisfactory to all concerned.

In view of the facts as above stated, your committee would recommend that Hon. J. B. Robinson be informed by cable that no action is to be taken by him on behalf of the city to oppose the amalgamation between the Northern and Grand Trunk Railways.

The Council went into committee of the whole to discuss the report, Ald. Gillespie in the chair.

Ald. Dodds, as one of the committee, regretted that Chairman Hallam had presented a report which hardly did justice to what took place. He further regretted that any member of the committee should have inspired an article in The Globe before reporting to the Council. The report should have stated that the loss by the doing of heavy work and the building of cars and engines in Stratford and Montreal in future would in part be supplanted by the making here of all light repairs from the east and west. Mr. Hickson also promised that Grand Trunk trains going east and west would be stopped at the City Hall Station, and that suburban trains would not only start from the City Hall Station but perhaps from the Don. Ald. Dodds thought that the chairman should have consulted some of his colleagues before presenting the report.

In reply to queries from several members it was stated that nothing had been done to which Mr. Hickson had offered his signature.

Ald. Frankland agreed that nothing had been done. The Grand Trunk Railway would do nothing that was not in its own interests.

Ald. Baxter moved the adoption of the report, which was unanimously carried without amendment. In Council the report passed unanimously and Mayor Clarke was instructed to cable to Mr. Robinson, requesting him to take no action on behalf of the city. Ald. Baxter wanted the chairman of the joint committee in London also notified of the Council's action, but this, it was generally felt, would be an insult to Mr. Robinson.

WINDING-UP THE CENTRAL

THE NEW LIQUIDATOR TO BE APPOINTED ON MARCH 1.

The Counting of the Notes Goes On Systematically—Mr. Campbell Will Not be a Candidate for Re-election—All the Claims Against the Bank Sent in.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.

Yesterday afternoon the Master-in-Ordinary fixed the date for the election by the creditors of the Central Bank of a successor to Mr. Archibald Campbell, the assumed liquidator. The dates the Master had previously intimated were not available at the Board of Trade rooms, and Mr. Hodgins consequently decided that the election be held on Thursday, March 1, in Temperance Hall, Temperance-street, at 2 p.m. Only creditors and shareholders will be admitted, tickets to whom will be duly forwarded. The meeting, which is expected to be a lively one, will be open to the press. The Master has not yet decided as to the chairmanship, but this will be duly announced in the course of a few days. It is on many hands expected that the onerous post of chairman of the meeting will be taken by Hon. S. H. Blake.

The World yesterday afternoon saw Mr. Campbell, who stated that he had not yet made up his mind whether he would be a candidate for the vacant post or not. He is busily occupied in assisting in the counting of the notes in the treasury of the Central Bank, and when this duty is ended, probably to-morrow, he will decide upon his course of action. His friends, in view of the Chancellor's judgment, urge him to become a candidate, but the pronounced decision of Mr. Howland and Mr. Gooderham, to decline to work with him in the liquidatorship if he should be re-elected, occasions him considerable thought. For himself he has nothing to say against Chancellor Boyd's decision, but he is considering the interests of the bank and the facility of the winding-up.

Another day has been spent by the liquidators, assisted by Mr. Campbell, Mr. J. P. Hodgins of the Federal Bank and the chief clerks, in counting the notes in the treasury of the Central Bank. This is a tedious process, the counting being checked and counter checked, and each note recorded and manifested to prevent the possibility of its again passing into circulation. It is expected that to-day, or at latest to-morrow, the wearisome task will be accomplished. The total notes are expected to amount to nearly half a million dollars.

All the claims against the Central Bank were handed in yesterday. They number nearly 2000 and will be examined as soon as possible. A statement has to be given to the Master-in-Ordinary by Thursday next, following which it is expected a dividend of 25 per cent. to the depositors will be declared. The large amount of money being daily received encourages the hope of a further dividend in April.

Mr. Frank Turner, C.E., has issued the following circular:

CENTRAL BANK—NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.

Those shareholders who are at favor of forming a combination to protect their interests in the liquidation of the above institution will please communicate with the undersigned, who will call a meeting in Toronto of those interested, as soon as a sufficient number of gentlemen inform me of their willingness to co-operate in the expense of employing counsel to watch the proceedings in the courts and take action on their behalf if necessary.

FRANK TURNER, C.E., Secretary pro tem, Brockdale P.O., North Toronto.

Accompanying the circular is the following form:

I ——— of ———, in the County of ———, do hereby agree to and will contribute, pro rata for the number of shares held by me in the Central Bank of Canada, to the total sum of the cost in establishing a combination and paying the expenses of counsel and solicitors to protect my interest before the courts in any action in the matter of the said Central Bank in our behalf.

INSOLVENCY AND ABSCONDERS.

What the Board of Trade's Dry Goods Section Has to Say.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.

The wholesale dry goods section of the Board of Trade met yesterday afternoon, Mr. Stapleton Caldecott presiding. This resolution was adopted regarding an insolvency law:

In harmony with the uniform deliverance of the Board of Trade for the past five years or more on the subject of insolvency legislation, the dry goods section would urge upon the council the importance of memorializing the Dominion Government to facilitate the passing at the approaching session of Parliament of such a measure as that embodied in the bill reported by the Committee of the House, presided over by the Hon. J. C. Abbott, governing the equitable distribution of insolvent debtors' estates and applicable to all the provinces of the Dominion.

And this regarding absconding debtors:

In the opinion of this section it is desirable in the interests of trade and commerce the provisions of the Extradition Treaty between the United States and Canada should be extended so as to include the cases of absconding fraudulent debtors. It is further the opinion of this section that the law of Canada should be so amended as to prevent this country becoming a refuge for the absconding fraudulent debtors of other countries, and the council of the board is therefore requested to make such representations in the proper quarter as will secure these ends.

Both resolutions will be submitted to the board's council which meets this afternoon.

The Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1888.

SIR JOHN LUBBOCK, at a meeting to establish a free library in an English town, adduced some figures to show the beneficial effect of the spread of intelligence among the people. He said that in 1856 the number of young persons committed in Great Britain for what are called indictable offences, was 14,000; in 1866, 10,600; in 1876, 7,000; in 1881, 6,600, and in 1886, 5,160. The population had increased in that period from 19,000,000 to 27,000,000, so that juvenile crime is less than what it was thirty years ago, although the number of children is one-third greater. These striking statistics must be disappointing to that class of people who are perpetually finding fault with the children of the present generation, and confidently asserting that they are a great deal worse than the youngsters of half a century or so ago. The contrary we see is the case, and so wise and learned a man as Sir John Lubbock attributes the change to the diffusion of intelligence among the masses. The conclusion that he comes to is that it is much more satisfactory to spend money upon schools and books that upon prisons and poor-houses.

THE following in respect to Government monopoly in the United States is from a high commercial authority:—"These short-sighted individuals, who advocate the absorption of railroads and telegraphs by the Government of the United States, would do well to study the effects of Government business monopolies by the light afforded by the Canadian situation. In the Dominion one railway monopoly is supposed to be owned by the Government, but in reality the Government is owned and controlled by the monopoly. This great practical railroad is so manipulated by the Government authorities that, while it imposes heavy, direct taxes upon the public, it forbids the public to build competing lines, and it also stops in and forbids Canadian wheat-growers to use American railway facilities by refusing to bond Canadian grain shipped over American lines for re-entrance duty free into Canada. It does this infamous thing even while it confesses in its own liability to carry Manitoba grain as fast as it is offered. The result to Manitoba wheat-growers is a loss of at least ten cents a bushel, besides forcing the poor farmers to carry over their wheat till spring. American private railroads can not practice such iniquities upon the American public.'

Their Great Mistake.

Says the Trenton Courier:—"The township council has refused to give any money towards procuring information to be laid before the commissioners on the merits of the Trent Valley canal. The township of Sidney has refused to make a grant till they have consulted their constituents, which means an indefinite postponement. The townships had a good example set them by the town of Trenton and could well afford $100 each towards the project. There are no sections along the line that will be more benefitted. Their action may prejudice the action of the Dominion Government against the canal, a matter that will be a source of regret to these townships for years to come and may require many times the amount to agitate up to the same vantage ground, if once the project is even temporarily abandoned." At the last meeting of the committee here Mr. Murphy, the Trenton delegate, was very positive in his assurances that the townships mentioned would each make substantial grants, and for that reason he would have liked to have had a representative from the eastern section placed on the sub-committee to control the work of preparing the evidence to lay before the commissioners. The Courier might have gone further and said that not only might the action of the Dominion government be prejudiced by their impolitic action, but the grants made by other municipalities, on the condition that all the other municipalities along the route responded to the appeal for funds, cannot be collected, and the future efforts of the Executive Committee may thereby be thwarted because of the refusal of a couple of perfect capable townships to grant two or three hundred dollars.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.

The proceedings at the Legislature yesterday were quiet and the [illegible] of the Speakership did not improve the situation. Once only was there a murmur of applause. That was when Mr. Waters read a petition of "Whereas it has pleased this honorable body heretofore to confer the right of the franchise in respect to municipal matters upon widows and unmarried women possessing the necessary qualifications, and whereas [illegible] that right has been offended by a legislature with the assembly called Confed., in the opinion of this Assembly the same privileges should be conferred in respect to electing members of this Assembly." The dryness from this time forward was conspicuous, particularly when bush fires and short forms of mortgages were the subject of discussion. The session came to an end at 5.15.

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. Ingram asked permission to deny his paternity of Bill No. 21 respecting the incorporation of the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Railway. The official report of the proceedings set him down as the father of the bill.

Mr. French asked whether it was the intention of the Government to furnish to each magistrate, free of charge, the two volumes of new revised statutes, or merely a separate volume containing the municipal law and the laws relating to the duties of justices of the peace?

The Attorney-General: It is not the intention of the Government to furnish magistrates with separate volumes of the municipal law and laws relating to the duties of justices of the peace. It is the intention of the Government to furnish acting magistrates, free of charge, with two volumes of the new revised statutes. We are now considering to whom the revised statutes should be sent, but have not yet completed the list.

Mr. French's bill to authorize the appointment of "fire guardians" was read a second time and referred to the Municipal Committee. It provided for the appointment by municipal councils of a sufficient number of residents in the municipality to prevent bush fires. No person would be allowed to set fire to any brush heap or fallow from June 1 to Oct. 1 without first getting the permission in writing of the "fire guardian" resident nearest to him. This permission would not be used in cases where a man was summoned before the court to answer for negligence in setting out fires, but not getting it would be prima facie evidence of negligence. The matter was debated by several members on both sides.

Mr. Gibson, Hamilton, brought up his bill relating to "Short forms of mortgages," notwithstanding what the Attorney-General said in reply to the member for Carleton a day or two ago. "It was rather bold," he explained, "to bring it up in the teeth of the Government, "but he would like to have the matter ventilated a little. Mr. Gibson led off in the ventilation and ventilated away for about ½ of an hour.

The way his ventilation mystified everybody (except, perhaps, the Attorney General), was something marvelous. Even the Minister of Education quietly acknowledged to The World after the House adjourned, that he did not know what the hon. member for Hamilton was talking about, further than it had something to do with mortgages. The bill provides for the confirmation of titles given under assignees' sales of land at foreclosure of mortgages. The law gives power to mortgagees to sell without notice when that agreement is made between the parties, but it does not give that power to assignees. Some time ago lands were sold under these conditions by assignees and the Chancery Court held the title bad. Hence the present bill. The bill also provided for future titles of this kind being valid.

Mr. Gibson contended that at present the assignees in the case he cited were in a box. They could not give notice in the ordinary way as this only provided for cases where notice was necessary. In these cases the express stipulation between the parties was that notice was not necessary. The Attorney-General declined to give retrospective legislation validating titles that the courts had decided to be bad. He also declined to give assignees power to summarily dispose of mortgaged lands. He favored the reference of the bill to committee, which was done after the measure received its second reading.

Mr. Dack's bill amending the Municipal Act was read a second time and referred to the Municipal Committee.

The House went into committee of the whole on Bill No. 12, respecting the debt of the town of Brussels. It, together with Bill No. 1, respecting certain Trinity Church (Toronto) lands, passed through the hands of the committee without amendment.

Dr. Daniel Wilson, president of University College, Mr. Wm. Mulock, M.P., Mr. John Hoskin, Q.C., and Dr. Larratt Smith, trustees of the college, waited on the Attorney-General and the Minister of Education requesting payment of certain interest due them. The Government purchased a piece of ground from the trustees 18 years ago and the purchase money was paid only recently. They desired to have the 18 years' interest, which amounts to about $10,000, to enable them to extend the Science Department and enlarge Moss Hall. Mr. Mowat requested them to put in a statement of their claim in writing and promised their contentions would be considered.

Mr. H. A. Mayhee and Mr. B. Kilmaster of Port Rowan were introduced to the Attorney-General by Mr. Freeman. They came to urge the necessity of a division of the township of Walsingham, county of Norfolk. Mr. Mowat requested them to appear before the Private Bills Committee and said their reasons why such a decision should be made would be considered in connection with the bill now before the committee in reference to this matter.

Hon. G. W. Ross introduced a bill enabling trustees of high schools and collegiate institutes to expropriate lands for high school purposes. Mr. Lyon introduced a bill to incorporate the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway Company. Both were read a first time.

The Railway Committee will meet in the Library at 10 o'clock this forenoon; the Public Accounts Committee in the Treasurer's office at 11; the Private Bills Committee in room 16 at 10.30; and the Printing Committee in the Accountant's office at 2 p.m.

The Attorney-General has presented a notice of motion placing the Quebec resolution debate as the first order of business on Thursday, and giving it precedence over other business till the debate is finished.

It was stated by a lobbyist that the Government have considered the question of ascertaining the extent of the mineral wealth of Ontario, and that nothing will be done to this end for some months, at least till Hon. Mr. Pardee's return.

A POSTAL ARRANGEMENT

Between the British and Canadian Authorities Respecting Money Orders.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—An arrangement has been effected between the postal authorities of the United Kingdom and Canada for an extension of the weight of parcels to be carried by mail to the former. The maximum heretofore has been fixed at 3 lbs. by the new arrangement this limit is raised to 7 lbs. At present the postage is fixed at 24 cents per pound, no change in the tariff will be necessary which will be as follows: From Ontario 20 cents per pound. Quebec and Maritime Provinces 20 cents, Manitoba 30 cents, British Columbia 40 cents.

At 4 o'clock to-day Mayor Stewart was served with a protest against his return as Mayor of Ottawa. The protest is entered by Mr. Brown's committee, which charges personal bribery as well as bribery by agents.

Customs Officers at Ottawa are protesting at the plan of sending goods in bonded warehouse which were to be examined at the port of entry (say Cape) from the United States. Customs Collector Orkard has also effected a seizure at the same port of a Winchester rifle and a box of cartridges, both of which have been reported to the department here.

The dispute between the St. Regis Indians and the white settlers of Dundee has been settled by the Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs on the recommendation of the commission. The Indians accept $30,000 from the settlers, to be distributed by the Government for their benefit, in consideration of which they surrender their titles.

It is understood that His Lordship the Bishop of Himmouki, has been created a Count of the Holy Roman Empire by His Holiness Pope Leo. The distinguished prelate is a brother of Sir Hector Langevin, Minister of Public Works.

Hon. J. C. Aikins, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, arrived to-night.

Sir Charles Tupper arrived by the Canada Atlantic this evening.

Hon. Frank Smith, who is to resume his duties at the council board, arrived here to-day from Toronto. He interviewed a number of Cabinet Ministers.

A Would-be Montreal Bigamist.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—The bartender of a saloon on St. Lawrence Main street got into trouble yesterday. It seems that he is living apart from his wife, and for some time has been boarding with a family in the family. He won the affections of the daughter, a handsome girl, and, became engaged to her. The ring was bought, and everything as ready been married as soon as the man started in business for himself with $2000, which he said he had in the bank. The girl's father learned yesterday that the man's wife was still alive, and only separated from her recently. She has also learned the fact, whereupon the irate father gave him a sound thrashing and wound up by kicking him out of the house.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.—During the past week irregularity and dulness have prevailed on the stock market. The tradings on the local board were confined chiefly to Commerce. Dominion, Standard and Hamilton continue to be wanted at quotations of last week, but very little stock offers. Assurance stocks are lower owing to the unsatisfactory business of last year. The Federal stock still running enquested.

St. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Nothing was plentiful about St. Lawrence Market this morning except slush. General stagnation prevailed everywhere; even the "trot ture" man failed to put in an appearance. One load of barley was sold at 75 cents a bushel and one load of hay was sold for $13. Retail prices remained unchanged. At present any amount of tub butter can be purchased, but good rolls are scarce. The poultry market is dull. Vegetables are not nearly so plentiful as they were this time last year. The few farmers who came to town to-day say that the roads outside of Toronto are almost impassable, and a number of their neighbors who started out turned back.

The following are the figures quoted: Beef, hindquarters, per lb., 5c to 8c; beef, forequarters, per lb., 3c to 4½c; mutton, per carcase, 7c to 8c; lamb, per carcase, 8c to 9c; veal, 7c to 8c; pork, $7.00 to $7.25; chickens, per pair, 35c to 65c; ducks, per pair, 60c to $1; geese, per lb., 8c to 10c; turkeys, per lb., 15c to 18c; wheat, fall, per bushel, 78c to 80c; wheat, spring, per bush., 74½c to 80c; wheat, goose, per bush., 72c to 74c; barley, 60c to 75c; oats, per bush, 45c to 47c; timothy, $14 to $16.50; clover, $13 to $15.50; straw, $8 to $11; butter, pound rolls, 22c to 26c; butter, tub, 19c to 22c; cheese, per lb., 12c to 14c.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool reports to-day: Wheat steady; poor demand, holders offer moderately; corn firm, fair demand. Prices: Spring wheat 6s 7d to 6s 8d; red winter 6s 7d to 6s 8d.

A Domestic Tragedy.

GUTHRIE, Ky., Feb. 17.—James Taylor, aged 13, has been jailed with his mother on a charge of murdering his father at Independence on Monday last. Lansing Taylor, the dead man, and his wife were engaged in a fight, and upon the mother asking her son to assist her he stood a gun and struck his father with it. The gun was discharged and Lansing Taylor was killed.

Customs Seizure at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—Officer Stephens of the customs at this port has made a seizure of dry goods on the ground of undervaluation. Among the reasons reported for such action is that other importers of similar goods, paying duty on the proper values, could not sell them in competition without a loss.

A Pear of Promise.

The Idaho pear, which takes its name from the state where it originated, attracted much last season, considerable comment from prominent pomologists. The shape of this pear, which is well shown by cut, is of large size, the specimen here given having been perfected one-third from natural size. It varies in color from a greenish yellow to a bright yellow, according to its ripeness. The flesh, which is firm and juicy, is devoid of any gritty texture, and is characterized by a very pleasing flavor and distinct aroma. Its season is later than that of the Bartlett, and is given promise of being a good keeper.

IDAHO PEAR—TWO-THIRDS NATURAL SIZE.

It is claimed that the trees are vigorous in habit, having much foliage, with the fruit quite evenly distributed over the tree, sometimes in clusters. The Idaho pear is a seedling, grown from the seed of a large red cheeked pear (name unknown) planted by a lady at Lewiston, Idaho, some twenty years ago. The tree fruited the fourth year from seed, it is claimed, and has borne annually ever since. As the latitude of its origin is 46 degs. 15 mins. north, and it has survived winters when the thermometer ranged from 15 to 20 degs. below zero, there is good reason for believing it hardy and adapted to a wide range of country.

A Rare Combination.

There is no other remedy or combination of medicines that meets so many requirements as does Burdock Blood Bitters in its wide range of power over such chronic diseases as Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney Complaint, Scrofula and all humors of the blood. 2w7d

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn. That either man or woman were intended to be bald.

I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,

If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—

She takes constant trouble with our hair;

She leaves a vanity growth of hair, for view and whitening locks,

Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never,

For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,

Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,

Doctor Dancewend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,

The Magic was never yet known to fail

And the speed that it will do you will make you soon forget

The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This new famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dancewend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturers, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J.D.Tully, and all druggists. dw

A Reminder.

The Battalion boys rehearsed last night for the concert in the Opera House this evening. Everything went off swimmingly, and to-night's entertainment is bound to eclipse all other concerts of the season. Doors open at 7 p.m., concert begins at 8.

Important Purchase.

Mr. R. H. Nesbitt, Baillieboro', has purchased from Messrs. Weir & Sartell, the celebrated imported horse, "Jehnsie Cloper." He will travel on his old route next season, through South Monaghan and East Peterborough.

Lakefield Items.

The Foresters' Band held a concert last night which was a great success. The attendance was about 500.

Mrs. McEwan, wife of Rev. W. McEwan, Presbyterian minister, is lying dangerously ill.

The Boom at the "Soo."

Seven railway lines now centre at the "Soo," with others projected. All is consequence the "boom" is assured. According to present indications Peterborough will find a considerable population next spring for the benefit of the "Soo," particularly mechanics stonemasons, carpenters, contractors, etc.

Her Share.

The Ottawa Citizen says:—"Mrs. Nicholls of Peterborough has forwarded her subscription of $1,500 to the treasurer of Queen's College Endowment Fund, Kingston." The total amount of this fund, $250,000, has been just raised through the indefatigable efforts of Principal Grant.

Off to the Races.

The Omemee winter races are being held to-day and to-morrow. A number of Peterborough horses and horsemen are attending. The horses entered from town are:—J. Newhall's "Gladstone," W. Clancy's "Royal Jim," E. Brown's "Lady B.," G. Lipsett's (Ashburnham) mare and Lawson's (Brighton) "F.O.P." Mr. F. J. Daly's pacer, "Willie W.," has a sore foot and cannot take part in races.

Grand Trunk's Dividends.

A London correspondent, cabling last night says:—I am officially informed to-day that the Grand Trunk accounts for the past half year show a balance available for dividends of $240,000, permitting the payment of the full dividend of 4 per cent. on the guaranteed stock, 4 per cent. for the half year on the first preference, making 5 per cent. for the whole year, also about one-third per cent. for the half year on the second preference.

Scored a Hit.

The Orillia News Letter thus refers to one of Peterborough's promising young singers, who took part in a C.M.B.A. concert in that town last week:—"Miss Begley, of Peterborough, delighted the audience with "The Blind Girl to her Harp" and, as an encore, sang "Believe me of all those Endearing Young Charms." Miss Begley's fine voice was heard to advantage in these songs and she scored decided hits."

Bismarck's Omission.

The Iron Chancellor during his late famous speech drank eighteen glasses of native brandy. Some unfavorable comment has been indulged in since, not because he drank brandy, but because he did not refer in glowing terms to the grand carnival to be held at the skating rink here on Friday evening, March 9th. However, the people of Peterborough have due notice of it through the newspapers, so that Bismarck's omission need not affect them. It will, without doubt, be the biggest thing on ice ever held in Peterborough.

Police Court.

Tuesday, Feb. 21.

A drunk case was disposed of, the defendant, George Penny, being fined $5 and costs or 15 days in gaol. He elected to inhabit Gilchrist for a half-moon in lieu of paying the fine. From the evidence it would seem that Mrs. Penny has the prisoner's drunken habits. He has been working for a month or so for Mr. David Deig, North Monaghan. Last Saturday became to town, got drunk, and didn't turn up again (like the bad Penny he was) till Monday. His employer reprimanded him for his neglect of duty, and angry words followed. These led to blows, the two combatants resorting to a [illegible] combat, one wielding a neck-yoke and the other a pitch-fork. There were no seconds on the ground, so that just who came out victorious is not officially stated. Evidently, though, Penny was in the majority, for the same evening his quondam master swore out a warrant against him, alleging assault, and exhibiting an eye in deep mourning as a memento of the encounter. Mr. Penny's remembrance of the affair comes to him in the shape of a 15-day skilly service.

Millbrook Fire Losses.

Following is the full list of the losses by the fire in Millbrook last week and the insurance:—

Coombe's two-story brick block, valued at $3,500, insured for $2,000 in the Royal.

Arch. [illegible], dry goods, insured for $1,000 in the Liverpool & London & Globe.

Wm. Lang, dry goods and groceries, insured for $1,000 in the Citizens'. Mr. Lang will be a heavy loser as he had that day put in a large addition of spring goods.

S. Bateson, harness, insured for $300. Mr. Bateson lived in the upper part of the building, and lost all his household furniture, on which he had an insurance of $400 in the City of London.

Mr. Coombe's tailor shop, in the upper part, was totally destroyed. No insurance. Loss [illegible], besides all his books.

Wm. Archer, boots and shoes, loss covered by $600 insurance in London and Lancashire.

F. W. Turner, drugs and stationery, loss covered by insurance.

Mr. McIntosh, of the firm of Armstrong & McIntosh, occupied part of a flat, and lost most of his furniture. No insurance.

Mr. David Fallis, who lived in the second flat, lost all his furniture. The family were away from home at the time. No insurance. Loss $400.

Mr. Saul Witober had his furniture stored in part of a flat. Loss $400, insured for $200.

The Dawson block, adjoining the Fee block, was damaged to the extent of $300. Covered by insurance.

Mr. R. Devell, who lived in the upper part had his household effects damaged by water and smoke about $100.

R. Howell, in the block west of Coombe's block, had his stock damaged to the extent of about $100. Insured.

Around the Fire Hall.

The hose and hook-and-ladder trucks were placed on wheels again this morning and their running qualities tested on the roads. The roads are hard and smooth, and wheels make much easier running than sleighs.

The new set of double harness for the hose wagon will be done in about two weeks. In the meantime Terry Smith is looking around for a suitable team of coach horses to replace the single one that at present hauls the wagon, and when these are got there will be no more slow travelling to fires.

Devotional Entertainment.

The Devotional Committee of the Young People's Association of the George street Methodist church held a meeting Monday evening. The first part was devoted to business. Reports of the Visiting, Outlook and Devotional Committees were read and gave every satisfaction. All were doing a good work in the way of cottage prayer meetings and looking after strangers. Then followed an able address by Mr. Harrison on "Personal Responsibility," referring particularly to the duties of man towards his fellowmen. After a solo, "The Ninety and Nine," by Mr. Mulligan, devotional exercises were held. Mr. H. S. Griffin occupied the chair.

The Coming Convocations.

From a member of the fraternity it is learned that at a full meeting of the Joint Masonic Committee, held last night, the finishing touches were put upon the programme and preparations for the Conversazione to be held in the Masonic Hall, on Thursday evening, 23rd inst. The interior decoration of the hall, furnishing of the rooms, preparations for refreshments, the [illegible], literary, and other pleasures of the evening, all received minute and careful consideration. Guests who are on the qui vive may look forward to spending an enjoyable evening with the Masons. All day Thursday the hall will be open for the purpose of receiving pictures, wall decorations, flowers etc., from brethren who feel disposed to loan the committee the use of them for the evening.

Kate on a Drunk.

Yesterday afternoon two nicely dressed young women were seen on lower George street, one of them, a pretty buxom lass, decidedly the worse of liquor. In going over a crossing the intoxicated girl dropped a bill, and her companion, who had been supporting her all along, had to leave her charge and go back for it. The latter managed to stand quite erect until just as the other returned, she gave a heavy lurch and nearly went to the ground. The sober girl managed to hold her up and exclaimed angrily, "Kate, if you don't behave yourself I'll leave you." Then Kate braced up and the two went slowly down George street, closely watched by several who had been witnesses of the crossing episode. Who "Kate" was and where she was going has not yet been learned. Both girls were evidently strangers in town, and had taken advantage of their leap year privileges in this most shameful fashion. Men can no longer claim a monopoly of the glorious privilege of getting drunk.

Meeting of the P.A.A.A. [illegible] Club—Arrangements for the Winter Sport.

A meeting of the officials of the club in connection with the P.A.A.A. was held in the post office block last night, for the purpose of arranging for the forthcoming season's sport. There were only seven or eight members present.

One of the items of business on the calendar was with reference to the engagement of a professional coach; but the matter was left in abeyance till the next meeting. There will needs be a deal of correspondence over the affair, and by the next meeting, on March 19th, it is hoped to have everything settled.

The Buffer and Duffer element is to be infused into the club's operations this year, though on a larger and slightly different scale. Two captains are to be appointed each month, these to choose sides from the club membership, and arrange a series of "scratch" matches, each captain to be responsible for his team. This system, it is expected, will keep up interest in the sport among those members who are not qualified to play in outside matches, but who will find a ready incentive to play in the rivalry that will exist between the two. It will be a sort of "civil war" among the members that will not, however, it is hoped, end as disastrously to the club as such internal strifes usually do. All will be conducted in a friendly way —a [illegible]-natured strife for predominance that will interest every member of the club.

The foreign matches are also being looked after by the capable secretary, Mr. John Stirling, and already a number of dates have been fixed with outside clubs. It is confidently expected that the Australian team, which will make a tour of Great Britain and the United States this summer, will be brought to Peterborough, besides a [illegible] of Americans and English, teams will [illegible] make tours through the continent. In addition there will be matches with all the district clubs as usual. The coming season's sport promises to be the most lively in the line of cricket that Peterborough has ever seen.

Not to be behind other public and popular organizations, the cricket club has decided to hold a supper some time during March, before the annual meeting of the Association. A committee was appointed at Monday night's meeting for the purpose of arranging, as quite it, if possible, an Association dinner. The officers of the other clubs connected with the Association will be interviewed, and if they are all favorable the supper will be held under the auspices of the Association. In any case, however, the supper will be held, as the committee have instructions to make arrangements for it, should the other clubs not see their way clear to co-operate. It is almost a certainty though, that all the clubs will give their hearty approval to the scheme, and unite to make it one of the most brilliant suppers ever held in Peterborough.

The annual general meeting of the Association will be held on Tuesday, March 27th. Previous to this all the different clubs composing the Association must hold their annual meetings. The annual meeting of the cricket club will be held on March 19th.

Stane an' Besom.

Local Curling News.—The Thirteen Point Draws.—A Fleur-ishing Game.

A number of the matches the local club were arranging for, have been indefinitely postponed on account of the soft spell. They will not be played this week.

THE DRAW GAMES.

Yesterday afternoon the final draw in the 13-point game for the Juniors' medal was played off, "Rollie" Hartley defeating George Boucher. The medal is a handsome one, representing a half section of a curling stone in silver, encircled by a wreath of laurels in colored gold. It was purchased at McClelland's jewellery store.

The senior draw is also narrowing down and will soon be completed.

AFTER BE-LUD.

A rink of Lakefield curlers, skipped by Mr. R. C. Strickland, is down this afternoon to play Mr. Hall's rink for a sack of flour for the Protestant Home, and in the evening to try conclusions with Mr. Rathbone's rink. Mr. Strickland says he is bound to keep plugging away until he beats Mr. Hall's rink, the so-called invincibles. There will be a lively time at the rink to-day.

THE RUBBER.

For some time past there has been a deadly feud between Mr. W. G. Ferguson and Mr. Adam Hall, only to be wiped out by—flour, not personally but as curlers. Some time since Mr. Ferguson's rink defeated Mr. Hall's rink, involving a penalty of 6 sack of flour for the Protestant Home. Burning for revenge another challenge was issued and accepted and for the sake of dietary variety the stake was made oysters. This resulted in the defeat of Mr. Hall and made the vendetta "game and." Last night the rubber was played and the consequence was Mr. Ferguson was "floured." The following are the rinks and scores:

R Hall	D Bellegham
A McNeil	J D Smythe
G Walker	C McGill
W G Ferguson, skip . 9	A Hall, skip 18

Personal.

Alex. Robertson, M.P., Belleville, is dangerously ill.

Dr. Stewart one of the oldest residents and professional men of Belleville died on Saturday at the age of 83 years.

Mrs. John Bertram did not as was erroneously stated, return to Toronto yesterday. She will remain in town for some days.

Mrs. (Dr.) Goldsmith, of Campbellford, and Mrs. Gorman, of Belleville, sister-in-law of Mr. E. B. Stone, have engaged with Mr. T. Menzies cabin passages on the steamer "City of Richmond," Inman Line, and will sail from New York for England on March 2nd.

Mr. N. Shaw, Charlotte street, was attacked on Sunday night with severe bleeding at the nose. The hemorrhage was profuse for a time, but by the application of proper remedies it was stopped. There was a slight recurrence of the bleeding this morning, but though weak is much better, and with quiet and care will probably soon be himself again.

Oyster Rooms Open.

J. C. Craig has opened out his two comfortable oyster parlors on George street, where the delicious bivalves will be served up at all hours, in any style desired. Drop in and try Johnny's stews. Steaks, mutton chops and tea and coffee served until 12 o'clock at night. d

Coal Oil.

—Mr. Cahill's water lot on Charlotte street is made and [illegible] snow removed from back yards. Alderman Cahill will have icebergs on his grounds when other people are planting onions.

—The Protestant Home, through curling contests, have got the benefit of four or five barrels of flour—and there is no knowing where it will end if Mr. R. C. Strickland, of Lakefield, persists in his determination of playing for flour till he defeats Alderman Hall's rink.

A PLEA FOR NEIL'S LIFE.

Mr. W. H. Howland's Open Letter to the Minister of Justice.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.

Sheriff Mowat has been officially informed by the Department of Justice at Ottawa of its decision not to interfere with the sentence of death passed upon Robert Neil, who will therefore be hanged on Tuesday next, Feb. 28. The decision of the Department was communicated by Mr. Power, Acting Deputy of Minister Thompson. The decision was sent to Governor Green and made known to Neil. Lawyer Bigelow said yesterday there was nothing new in the case, but awaits an answer from the Department of Justice to the appeal that came from Ireland for a reprieve of the sentence until documents on the way from the Green Isle arrive.

Mr. W. H. Howland, who is looking after the condemned man's spiritual welfare, has addressed an open letter to the Minister of Justice in his behalf. The letter is dated Feb. 20 and reads:

SIR: I have been visiting the convict Neil for some time past and have given time and consideration to his case which has resulted in my forming certain conclusions, and I now submit them respectfully for your examination:

The convict is only a boy of 18. He tells me, and I think truthfully, that since he was 10 years of age he has been a waif, associating with vagabonds and criminals. In all that time he says he does not remember a solitary instance (except while in the Central Prison here) in which a kind word has been spoken to him or a helping hand extended from those in a position to benefit or screen him in his criminal courses. He has not in all that time had the influence of a respectable woman.

It seems to me that the question arises as to who is really responsible for this boy becoming at 18 a desperate criminal and under sentence of death for murder. It has always been my view that a boy under age becoming a waif and consorting with criminals for food and shelter should be cared for by the state; that he has not arrived at an age of moral responsibility and should not justly be held accountable for his actions to the same extent that others of fuller age or more suitable surroundings are held, and should be taken out from these associations and be placed with environments which would give him a chance to become a law-abiding and self-sustaining citizen of the state.

This view has been adopted by the State of Massachusetts, and I believe other American States, and by Great Britain to the extent in her case of an appropriature of £20,000 sterling per annum on industrial schools through which the presentation of boys as criminals before the courts has been reduced, according to Sir Thomas Chambers, Recorder of London, fully 75 per cent. in the last fifteen years.

In the Dominion of Canada at present, with the exception of the small institution in Halifax, and the one recently opened in Toronto, whose present capacity is only fifty-six, the governments of this country, local and general, have made no provision for the redemption of any boy waifs from criminal influences and surroundings. There are now in Toronto hundreds of incipient criminals under the same influences as Neil, undoubtedly training for a criminal life.

Now, sir, I claim that the responsibility for this state of things lies with the state, and that until the state recognizes and acts on its true duty in this matter the Executive clemency might be exercised in the case of boys who may incur the death penalty when the surrounding circumstances, after careful inquiry, show that the boy has been left under criminal influences certain to produce the character afterward developed, and that his helplessness under the circumstances offers good ground for not visiting him with the fullest responsibility of the act committed while yet physically and mentally immature.

In Neil's case I can state with assurance that while he makes no profession of having been as yet changed by the influence of religion, he has awakened from the reckless, death-like state which his moral nature was in, and that he also realizes the wickedness of the act which places him in his present dreadful condition. From being a restless, violent prisoner he has become patient, amenable and kindly, and in fact, I believe, of calm[illegible] and concern for his not considering consequences to the widow and the children of his victim. He says that his intention was not to kill, but to wound. I would submit, sir, that under these circumstances the law will gain nothing in force or effect from hanging this hitherto irresponsible and criminally trained boy of 18, and that in his changed condition of mind, now penitent, regretful and resigned—Justice might as well slaughter a sheep. May I ask you to consider these circumstances and submit to His Excellency this case again for his earnest consideration?

The undersigned offers for sale or to rents brick house two stories high, 50x22; hard and soft water, stable, half acre of land, with orchard if required. Apply to V. BEST, Brock street, or P.O. box 382. dw

The Saved Army Succumbs.

The Last Remnant of a Once Powerful Religious Organization Disbands.

Four or five years ago the Saved Army was originated at the village of Portsmouth, near Kingston, by Capt. Richard Atkins. The new organization worked a great deal on the same principle as the Salvation Army, though avoiding the use of drums and instruments, showy jackets, etc. For a couple of years their success was marvellous. In a short time the whole Midland district was well covered with Saved Army corps, whose officers located wherever the Salvation Army had not yet entered. Then an amalgamation was formed with the Gospel Army, a western organization, the whole bearing the name of the Saved Army. The union did not, however, appear to be favorable, as from that time the internal strife began which ended in the complete annihilation of the Saved Army. Capt. Atkins, the founder, left the Army; sections here and there seceded and began operations independently under various names, such as the Lord's Army, Salvation Band, Gospel Army, etc. A final split occurred not long ago, whereby the Peterborough branch was left alone to paddle its own canoe. General Lindsay also retired and entered into the insurance business. The Peterborough branch was conducted by Captain Yates, and services were held nightly in the old music hall. Things continued to go backward, however, and last night this last remnant of the Saved Army succumbed to circumstances and resolved to be no more. The Saved Army is now a thing of the past. The Peterborough members will, however, continue their services under the name of "Salvation Meetings and Jerusalem Prayer Meetings." A committee of five has been appointed to assume the management of these services, which will be continued in the old music hall every Tuesday and Friday evenings and Sunday afternoons and evenings, the funds to be supplied by collections.

Missionary Services.

Next Sunday the Methodist churches of Peterborough will hold their annual missionary meetings. The sermons will be preached at 11 a.m. Dr. McDonald, of Japan, will preach in George street church and Rev. Y. Hairaiwa (a native Japanese) will preach in Charlotte street church. In the evening platform meetings will be held in both churches, to be addressed by both these gentlemen. Collections and subscriptions in aid of the missionary fund.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

THE U. S. SENATE AUTHORIZES ITS PUBLICATION.

Full Text of the Document—Port Privileges—The Three-Mile Limit—A Delimitating Commission to be Appointed—Conditional Concessions.

At last the terms of the new treaty between Great Britain and the United States re Canadian fisheries are made public, the document being telegraphed from Washington last night. The following is a full text of the treaty:

WHEREAS, Differences have arisen concerning the interpretation of Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, the United States of America and Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, being mutually desirous of removing all causes of misunderstanding in relation thereto, and of promoting friendly intercourse and good neighborhood between the United States and the possessions of Her Majesty in North America, have resolved to conclude a treaty to that end and have named as their plenipotentiaries, that is to say:

The President of the United States, Thomas F. Bayard, Secretary of State, William L. Putnam of Maine and James B. Angell of Michigan, and Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, the Right Honorable Joseph Chamberlain, M.P., the Honorable Sir Lionel Sackville West, K.C.M.G., Her Britannic Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States of America, and Charles Tupper, G.C.M.G., C.B., Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada, who, having communicated to each other their respective full powers found in good and due form, have agreed upon the following articles:

ARTICLE I—The high contracting parties agree to appoint a mixed commission to delimit, in the manner provided in this treaty, the British waters, bays, creeks and harbors of the coasts of Canada and of Newfoundland, as to which the United States by Article I. of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, between the United States and Great Britain, renounced for ever any liberty to take, dry or cure fish.

ARTICLE II—The commission shall consist of two commissioners to be named by Her Britannic Majesty, and of two commissioners to be named by the President of the United States, without delay after the exchange of ratifications of this treaty. The commission shall meet and complete the delimitation as soon as possible thereafter. In case of the death, absence or incapacity of any commissioner, or in the event of any commissioner omitting or ceasing to act as such, the President of the United States or Her Britannic Majesty, respectively, shall forthwith name another person to act as commissioner instead of the commissioner originally named.

ARTICLE III—The delimitation referred to in Article I of this treaty shall be marked upon British Admiralty charts by a series of lines regularly numbered and duly described. The charts so marked shall, on the termination of the work of the commission, be signed by the commissioners in quadruplicate, one copy whereof shall be delivered to the Secretary of State of the United States, and three copies to Her Majesty's Government.

The delimitation shall be made in the following manner, and shall be accepted by both the high contracting parties as applicable for all purposes under Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, between the United States and Great Britain. The three marine miles mentioned in Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, shall be measured seaward from low water mark, but at every bay, creek or harbor, not otherwise specially provided for in this treaty, such three marine miles shall be measured seaward from a straight line drawn across the bay, creek or harbor in the part nearest the entrance at the first point where the width does not exceed ten marine miles.

ARTICLE IV—At or near the following bays the limits and exclusion under Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, at points more than three marine miles from low water mark shall be established by the following lines, namely: At the Baie des Chaleurs, the line from the light at Birch Point, on Miscou Island, to Miscou Point line light; at the Bay of Miramichi, the line from the light at Point Escuminac to the light on the eastern point of Tabisintac Gully; at Egmont Bay, in Prince Edward Island, the line from the light at Cape Egmont to the light at West Point, and off Stann's Bay, in the Province of Nova Scotia, the line from Cape Tormentine to the light at Point Amal; at Fortune Bay, in Newfoundland, the line from Connaigre Head to the light on the southeasterly end of Burnet Island, thence to Fortune Head; at Sir Charles Hamilton Sound the line from the southeastern point of Cape Fage to White Island, thence to the north end of Pocklord Island and from the south end of Pocklord Island to the east headland of Hagard Harbor.

At or near the following bays the limits of exclusion shall be three marine miles seaward from the following lines, namely: At or near Shediac Bay, in Nova Scotia, the line from the light on Shediard Island to the light on the south point of Cape Tormentine, thence to the light at Baccaro Point; at Chedabucto and St. Peter's Bay the line from Chapelaine Island light to Green Island light, thence to Point Rouge; at Miramichi the line from the light on the east point of Pierre Island to the southeasterly point of Escuminac, and at Pleasantie Bay in Newfoundland the line from Latine Point on the eastern mainland shore to the most southerly point of Red Island, thence by the most southerly point of Magnatoon Island to the mainland.

Long Island and Bryer Island at St. Mary's Bay in Nova Scotia shall for the purpose of delimitation be taken as the coasts of such bay.

ARTICLE V—Nothing in this treaty shall be construed to include within the common waters any such interior portions of any bays, creeks or harbors as cannot be reached from the sea without passing within the three marine miles mentioned in Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818.

ARTICLE VI—The commissioners shall from time to time report to each of the high contracting parties such lines as they may have agreed upon, numbered, described and marked as herein provided, with quadruplicate charts thereof, which lines so reported shall forthwith from time to time be simultaneously proclaimed by the high contracting parties and be binding after two months from such publication.

ARTICLE VII—Any disagreement of the commissioners shall forthwith be referred to an umpire, selected by the Secretary of State of the United States and Her Britannic Majesty's Minister at Washington, and his decision shall be final.

ARTICLE VIII—Each of the high contracting parties shall pay its own commissioners and agents. All other expenses jointly incurred in connection with the performance of the work, including compensation to the umpire, shall be paid by the high contracting parties in equal moieties.

ARTICLE IX—Nothing in this treaty shall interrupt or affect the free navigation of the Strait of Canso by fishing vessels of the United States.

ARTICLE X—United States fishing vessels entering the bays or harbors referred to in Article I of the treaty shall conform to harbor regulations common to them and to fishing vessels of Canada or of Newfoundland. They need not report, enter or clear when putting into such bays or harbors for shelter or repairing damages, nor when putting into the same outside the limits of established ports of entry for the purpose of purchasing wood or of obtaining water, except that any such vessel remaining more than twenty-four hours, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, within any such port or communicating with the shore therein, may be required to report, enter or clear, and no vessel shall be excused thereby from giving due information to boarding officers.

They shall not be liable in any such bays or harbors for compulsory pilotage; nor when there for the purpose of shelter, of repairing damages, of purchasing wood or of obtaining water shall they be liable for harbor dues, tonnage dues, buoy dues, light dues or other similar dues, but this enumeration shall not permit other charges inconsistent with the employment of the liberties reserved or secured by the convention of Oct. 20, 1818.

ARTICLE XI—United States fishing vessels entering the ports, bays or harbors of the eastern and northeastern coasts of Canada, or of the coasts of Newfoundland, under stress of weather or other casualty, may unload, reload, tranship or sell, subject to customs laws and regulations, all fish on board when such unloading, transhipment or sale is made necessary as incidental to the repairs, and may replenish outfits, provisions and supplies damaged or lost by disaster, and in case of death or sickness shall be allowed all needful facilities, including the shipping of crews.

Licenses to purchase, in established ports of Canada or of Newfoundland, for the homeward voyage such provisions and supplies as are ordinarily sold to trading vessels shall be granted to United States fishing vessels in such ports promptly upon application and without charge, and such vessels having obtained licenses in the manner aforesaid shall also be accorded upon all occasions such facilities for the purchase of casual or needful provisions or supplies as are ordinarily granted to trading vessels, but such provisions or supplies shall not be obtained by barter nor purchased for re-sale or traffic.

ARTICLE XII—Fishing vessels of Canada and Newfoundland shall have on the Atlantic coast of the United States all the privileges reserved and secured by this treaty to United States fishing vessels in the aforesaid waters of Canada and Newfoundland.

ARTICLE XIII—The Secretary of the Treasury of the United States shall make regulations providing for the conspicuous exhibition by every United States fishing vessel of the official number of each boat, and any such vessel required by law to have the official number and failing to comply with such regulations shall not be entitled to the licenses provided for in this treaty. Such regulations shall be communicated to Her Majesty's Government previously to their taking effect.

ARTICLE XIV—The penalties for unlawfully fishing in the waters, bays, creeks and harbors referred to in Article I of this treaty may extend to forfeiture of the boat or vessel and appurtenances, and also of the supplies and cargo aboard when the offence was committed, and for preparing in such waters to unlawfully fish therein, penalties shall be fixed by the court, not to exceed those for unlawfully fishing; and for any other violation of the laws of Great Britain, Canada or Newfoundland relating to the right of fishery in such waters, bays, creeks or harbors, penalties shall be fixed by the court, not exceeding in all $3 for every ton of the boat or vessel concerned. The boat or vessel may be holden for such penalties and forfeitures. The proceedings shall be summary and as inexpensive as practicable. The trial, except on appeal, shall be at the place of detention, unless the judge shall, on request of the defense, order it to be held at some other place befudged by him more convenient. Security for costs shall not be required of the defence except when bail is offered. Reasonable bail shall be accepted. There shall be proper appeals, available to the defence only, and the evidence at the trial may be used on appeal. Judgments of forfeiture shall be reviewed by the Governor-General of Canada-in-Council or the Governor-in-Council of Newfoundland before the same are executed.

ARTICLE XV—Whenever the United States shall remove the duty from fish oil, whale oil, seal oil and fish of all kinds (except fish preserved in oil), being the produce of fisheries carried on by the fishermen of Canada and Newfoundland including Labrador, as well as from the usual and necessary casks, barrels, bags, cans and other usual and necessary coverings containing the products above mentioned, the like products being the produce of fisheries carried on by the fishermen of the United States, as well as the usual and necessary coverings of the same as above described, shall be admitted free of duty into the Dominion of Canada and Newfoundland; and when fish of

1. The purchase of provisions, bait, ice, seines, lines and all other supplies and outfits.

2. Transhipment of catch for transport by any means of conveyance.

3. Shipping of crews.

Supplies shall not be obtained by barter, but bait may be so obtained. The like privileges shall be continued or given to fishing vessels of Canada and of Newfoundland on the Atlantic coasts of the United States.

ARTICLE XVI—This treaty shall be ratified by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and by Her Britannic Majesty, having received the assent of the Parliament of Canada and of the Legislature of Newfoundland, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Washington as soon as possible.

In faith whereof we, the respective plenipotentiaries, have signed this treaty and have hereunto affixed our seals. Done in duplicate at Washington this fifteenth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight.

A MODUS VIVENDI.

Arrangement Proposed by the British Plenipotentiaries Pending Ratification.

The following is the modus vivendi referred to in the President's message:

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—PROTOCOL.—The treaty having been signed, the British plenipotentiaries desire to state that they have been considering the position which will be created by the immediate commencement of the fishing season before the treaty can possibly be ratified by the Senate of the United States, by the Parliament of Canada and the Legislature of Newfoundland. In the absence of such ratification the old conditions which have given rise to so much friction and irritation might be revived and might interfere with the unprejudiced consideration of the treaty by the legislative bodies concerned. Under these circumstances and with the further object of affording evidence of their anxious desire to promote good feeling and to remove all possible subjects of controversy the British plenipotentiaries are ready to make the following temporary arrangement for a period not exceeding two years in order to afford a modus vivendi pending the ratification of the treaty:

1. For a period not exceeding two years from the present date the privilege of entering the bays and harbors of the Atlantic coasts of Canada and Newfoundland shall be granted to United States fishing vessels by annual licenses at a fee of $1.50 per ton for the following purposes: The purchase of bait, ice, seines, lines and all other supplies and outfits, transhipment of catch and shipping of crews.

2. If, during the continuance of this arrangement, the United States should remove the duties on fish, fish oil, whale and seal oil (and their coverings, packages, etc.,) the said licenses shall be issued free of charge.

3. United States fishing vessels entering the bays and harbors of the Atlantic coasts of Canada and of Newfoundland for any of the four purposes mentioned in Article I of the convention of Oct. 20, 1818, and not remaining therein more than twenty-four hours, shall not be required to enter or clear at the custom house, providing they do not communicate with the shore.

4. Forfeiture to be exacted only for the offences of fishing or preparing to fish in territorial waters.

5. This arrangement is to take effect as soon as the necessary measures can be completed by the colonial authorities.

The American Commissioners' Action.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15, 1888.—The American plenipotentiaries having received the communication of the British plenipotentiaries of this date, conveying their plan for the administration to be observed by the Governments of Canada and Newfoundland in respect of the fisheries during the period which may be requisite for the consideration by the Senate of the treaty this day signed and the enactment of legislation by the respective Governments herein proposed, desire to express their satisfaction with this manifestation of an intention on the part of the British plenipotentiaries by the means referred to, to maintain the relations of good neighborhood between the British possessions in North America and the United States, and they will convey the communication of the British plenipotentiaries to the President of the United States with a recommendation that the same may be by him made known to the Senate, for use and information together with the treaty, when the latter is submitted to that body for ratification.

An Open Session Proposed in the U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—After removing the injunction of secrecy from the Fisheries Treaty to-day the Senate debated for more than an hour the policy of having the treaty considered with open doors. So radical a departure from the time-honored precedents awakes bitter opposition, but there have been a number of influential converts to the open session movement since the late action on the British extradition treaty. The Senate adjourned without action to-day, but enough was said to show that a majority of Senators are in favor

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.—Another meeting of Council was held this afternoon at which, it is understood, there was some further consideration of the treaty and considerable progress was made with the estimates.

Sir Charles Tupper is still indisposed and was unable to attend, but it is expected he will be well enough to be present at the opening of the House.

It is understood that the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne will be moved in the Commons by Dr. Montague of Maidstone and seconded by Mr. L. E. Jones of Gaspe. In the Senate it will be moved by Hon. J. B. Rolland, the newly-appointed Senator for Mille Isles, and seconded by Hon. Mr. Stanford of Hamilton.

Mr. Vankoughnet, Deputy Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs, entirely discredits the stories of destitution and consumption amongst the Indians at Lac La Biche. The Department of Indian Affairs has heard nothing about any suffering amongst the Indians. Mr. Vankoughnet points out that the Government has really little or nothing to do with the Indians at Lac La Biche, as nearly all of them have "left treaty," that is, they have taken scrip as halfbreeds and have, therefore, ceased to be treaty Indians.

The Governor-General will hold a drawing-room in the Senate Chamber on the evening of Feb. 28.

The Supreme Court opened this morning when the eight election appeals were proceeded with, the first case called being Russell, the appeal in which was withdrawn by counsel. The Quebec County and Montmagny cases were argued and taken en delibere and the Glengarry case was being proceeded with when the court rose. In all these cases the question of the six months' limit forms part of the appeal.

The number of private bills, of which notice of application to Parliament has been given, is eighty-five. Twenty-three are by railway companies for acts of incorporation, twenty-eight by railway companies for amendments to charter, thirteen miscellaneous for acts of incorporation, thirteen miscellaneous applications for amendments to charter, one for naturalisation and seven for divorce. The latter list is as follows:

Andrew Maxwell Irving from his wife M. L. Irving, adultery; Catharine Merrison from her husband John F. Merrison, adultery, bigamy and desertion; Wm. Henry Middleton from his wife, Mary Froude, adultery and desertion; Mary Froude Middleton, a counter petition, cruelty, adultery and desertion; Bennett Rosamond from his wife, Adair Rosamond, adultery and desertion; Eleanora C. Tudor from her husband, F. L. Hart, cruelty and adultery; Mary M. White from her husband, David C. White, incapability of the consummation of the marital relations.

ALL THE BILLS COUNTED.

Over Half a Million of Central Bank Notes Mutilated—Threatened With Arrest.

TORONTO, Feb. 22.

After three days' hard work the liquidators and accountants at the Central Bank yesterday concluded counting the bank's bills. Some idea of the extent of the work may be imagined when it is stated that in three days no less than $600,000 was counted. All the $80 notes were accounted for with the exception of two. The treasury now is in the hands of Mr. Howland and Mr. Geoderham. They are sanguine that they will pay the first dividend to depositors of 20 cents on the dollar and another subsequently.

Mr. Campbell was seen by a reporter yesterday afternoon, when he stated, with reference to the vacant liquidatorship, that he still had an "open mind." He might or might not be a candidate, but was in no hurry to determine this point. He had many friends, but would for a while reserve his decision. Ample notice, he said, would be given to all concerned. And so the matter stands at present.

A reporter yesterday interviewed Mr. Howland anent the reported threatened arrest of the ex-Mayor in connection with an alleged libel in the Central Bank case, the aggrieved party being Mr. "Jim" Baxter of Montreal. He said he had no knowledge of the facts further than what he had read in the press; but this did not in the least disconcert him; in fact he would be happy to be a martyr in the cause of financial reform.

All the claims have already been received. They are from depositors, claims for interest, etc., and will be duly adjudicated upon by the Master-in-Ordinary to-morrow.

Summonses For 22 St. Thomas Hotelkeepers—Municipalities and Licenses.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 21.—This morning Police Magistrate White issued twenty-two summonses against hotelkeepers of this city for infraction of the Scott Act, all but one of the charges being for second offence. The hearing is fixed for Monday.

A special meeting of the City Council was held to consider a communication from a special committee of the Brantford City Council, asking that St. Thomas Council join with them in petitioning the Ontario Legislature to take away from municipalities the power of granting licenses. It was decided to join in the petition

The Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1888.

MR. HARDY, Provincial Secretary, on Monday brought down a return showing the number of insane persons confined in the gaols of the Province. The number so confined in February, 1887, the latest period mentioned in the return, was 143. A note accompanying the return says that many of these persons—presumably the harmless and hopeless ones—are not subjects for an asylum, but for a home.

The Empire "acknowledges the corn." The party of which it is the organ has strenuously contended that there has been no exodus of Canadians to the United States, under the beneficent rule of Toryism. Yet in the issue of Monday the Empire triumphantly asks, "Where is that exodus now?" and adds "During the last year a large number of foreign exodists returned to this province. It is understood that the official return will indicate the arrival of about eight hundred settlers from the United States."

MR. ALLEN PRINGLE, of Selby, Lennox county, concludes a letter to a Toronto paper as follows:—"We farmers voted for Sir John, when he told us that if we could not get reciprocity of trade with the States we had better have reciprocity of tariffs, and that the best way to get the former was to come down on them with the latter. We did come down on them with the latter, and came down on ourselves at the same time. But now when Brother Jonathan is about to relent and relax his tariff bonds Sir John is stiffening his upper lip against the very thing he professed to be anxious to bring about. He need not, therefore, be surprised at the next election to find thousands amongst the farmers voting against him who supported him and his National Policy in good faith. And if it be true that his Government has joined England in sacrificing Canada again in the fishery business, thousands more will rise up against them at the polls—their doom is sealed."

AN election in Prince Edward County is not yet on, still the government, through their local organ, is beginning to bribe the electors. The organ puts its bribe in this shape: "The electors are tired of sending a man to Ottawa who can assert no influence in behalf of his county, or have weight enough to secure much needed improvements here," which is as much as to say: "Vote for the Conservative candidate and you shall have a new post office building, harbour improvements or something of that sort." In what, except in form, does this differ from the vulgar bribery of paying John Blank $2,00 for his vote? It implies that the admitted policy of the government is not to spend the public money, contributed by both parties alike, on necessary improvements but in such a manner as to bribe a constituency. A bid such as the Gazette throws out, if proven in an election court, should have as great an effect in voiding an election as proof of the corrupt and direct payment of money.

CANADA is a country of unrivalled material resources, and has great capabilities as a manufacturing country, but she has not made the progress in that direction, which might have been expected, from the existence of the National Policy for ten years. In 1878 the total of our exports of natural products was $61,496,000; in 1887 this total had grown to $74,236,000. This shows a considerable increase in the development of our natural resources. In 1878 our total export of manufactures was represented by the sum of $4,105,000; in 1887 these figures had fallen off to $3,679,000. It might be thought that the exports of manufactures had decreased because a protective policy had created a home market. But this explanation is not satisfactory. Canada imported in 1878 dutiable goods to the value of $30,916,000, and in 1887, the imports of dutiable goods amounted to $17,204,000 more, or $78,120,000, showing that high taxation has not only failed to develop our manufacturing industries to the extent of increasing our export capacity but has even failed to supply the home market.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.

The "Nairn Bill," as it is now known, has provoked a chorus of Manufacturers' voices that sounds very inharmonious in the ears of its author, the member for East Elgin. Yesterday brought a large number of stalwart manufacturers from the SUNSHINE TOWNS of the province to protest against the passage of the measure, and a good deal of time was taken up, both when the House was in session and before it met, in the expressions of how harsh the provisions of the proposed measure were.

In the forenoon the deputation appeared before a largely attended meeting of the Legislative Farmers' Club. Mr. J. J. Maclaren, Q.C., solicitor for the deputation; A. R. Williams, James Nexon, T. G. Mason and others spoke. It was explained that the proposed bill would end a custom for a long time in vogue and which had been found to work very satisfactorily. At present manufacturers of agricultural implements, piano and organ manufacturers, sewing machine men and makers of other kinds of machinery, dispose of their goods largely on this plan: The purchaser takes the article and simply gives his note and a lien on the goods until such goods are paid for, and in some instances the lien only is taken. It has happened that after some of these goods have been bought and paid for at sales by other parties the manufacturer has recovered the goods. These, the spokesmen of the deputation said, were but rare occurrences, and if that evil were redressed in the way the bill provided, it would most seriously affect the industrial interests of the Province. The bill would compel manufacturers to make out an agreement in every case and have it registered within five days from its execution at the County Clerk's office. It would also compel the inscription of a notice on all goods sold on the instalment payment system, showing on what terms they were bought and how much was paid on them; or in place of this a record of the transactions which anyone can examine, must be kept.

It was argued that such a system would be both costly and cumbersome, and that as it would entail considerable expense, there was only one thing to do and that was to charge the additional outlay to the cost of production. Several members of the Club spoke to the effect that the farmers had not asked for such a measure and that they saw no great need for it.

Before the House sat the Attorney-General, Hon. Mr. Hardy, Hon. Mr. Fraser, Hon. A. M. Ross and Hon. G. W. Ross gave audience to the manufacturers. It was pointed out that the system in use was of great benefit to the farmer, especially. Many a young farmer had been placed on the way to prosperity by being carried to a certain extent by implement manufacturers. The notes were guaranteed by the industry of the farmer and a lien on the goods. Under these conditions between $14,000,000 and $20,000,000 had been advanced by the banks to manufacturers. It was not fair to the banking men to change the law without, at least, due notice. If such a change were made as set forth in the bill it would make a disastrous disturbance in financial and industrial circles.

The Attorney-General said the deputation had presented their case with much force, and, indeed, he could not reply to their arguments. The matter deserved the close attention of the Government and would receive it.

When the House went into session at 2.15 the first business done was the presentation of a whole cargo of protests against the "Nairn Bill." Seventeen members on both sides of the House, and every member of the Government presented a petition from their constituents against the measure. Mr. Nairn looked very uncomfortable, and nobody enjoyed his discomfiture more than Toronto Farmer Love.

The Government measure providing for the appointment of arbitrators to settle the difference between Ontario and Quebec regarding the sale of crown lands from the Confederation, was read a second time.

Another Government measure provided that municipal councils might by bylaw, on being petitioned by three-fourths of the merchants in any particular line of trade in towns, cities or villages, close their stores during the hours petitioned for. The bylaw could be repealed only on the petition of more than one-fourth of the merchants in such line of trade. The bill also provided that no young person should be employed in a store more than 74 hours per week, including meal hours. It passed its second reading.

A third Government measure, respecting the Revised Statutes, was read a second time.

The immigration estimates were unquestioned. The sum set apart this year is $7,100, against $62,800 of last year. No objection of importance was taken to the amounts set apart for public buildings. The total amount set apart is $351,412, of which $69,169 is a re-vote of unexpended balance. The public works estimates were also passed without objection. The amount voted is $50,496, of which $11,531 is a re-vote.

The Railway Committee met yesterday, but on account of the inability of G. T. R. Solicitor Bell to be present, nothing was done. Three bills, in which the Grand Trunk are interested, were to have been considered.

Mayor TEAL, Reeve Robertson, W. A. McLean, James Stevens and John Bruce, of Walkerton, were a deputation to ask the Government to permit counties to assume control over bridges crossing streams 100 feet and over in width.

The Public Accounts Committee met in the treasurer's office yesterday forenoon. Only routine business was done.

The Private Bills Committee considered the Toronto Hospital Bill and the bill to amend the Methodist Church Act of 1884 yesterday forenoon and reported favorably on them. The bill to incorporate the Town of Stayner was amended so as to curtail the territory it was proposed to take in. The bill to incorporate the Village of East Toronto received similar treatment, and the bill to extend the limits of London West and consolidate its debt was amended by striking out the extension of limit clause. The bill to permit the Methodist Church of Aurora to convert a cemetery now out of use into a lawn was amended so as to make it obligatory on the trustees of the church to notify those whose relatives have been buried there, or to have the remains removed and re-interred.

Mr. John McLay, late registrar of Bruce, in appealing to the members of the House to allow him to appear before a committee to exonerate himself from the finding by the commissioner appointed to examine into his conduct while registrar. He claims that his removal was based on the finding of the commissioner, and that such finding was unwarranted. His petition is being circulated among the members.

TAKE

NASAL BALM FOR

COLD IN HEAD

—AND—

CATARRH.

There is no disease to which Canadians are more subject than Catarrh—all ages and sex alike are numbered among the sufferers. It is impossible in the limit of a short newspaper article to describe the symptoms fully, but they may be briefly summarized: Cold in the head, difficulty in breathing, hawking and spitting, headache, pains in the region over the eye, stoppage of nasal passages, foul breath, droppings into the throat causing nausea and sometimes vomiting, poisonous secretions accumulating in the lungs leading to consumption. These are but a few of the many symptoms of Catarrh, a disease which affects 7-10 of our Canadian population. NASAL BALM is the only CERTAIN and POSITIVE CURE for this loathsome disease in all its forms and stages. NASAL BALM is the result of years of careful study, and is prepared with a view to radically cure these cases of catarrh, to which Canadians are most subject. It is not a liquid snuff or cauterizing powder, but a pleasant, never failing remedy, requiring no instrument or douche for its use. Easy to use, instantaneous in its effects, permanent in its cures. Ask for Nasal Balm and take no substitute of whatever name. For Cold in the Head there is no better remedy on earth to equal Nasal Balm. Do not neglect a cold in the head for in nine cases out of ten it will lead to Catarrh. Use Nasal Balm upon the first symptoms. This wonderful remedy affords instant relief and cures within a few hours. It can be used for the youngest child as well as for adults, and as a precautionary measure should be kept in every household. For sale by all druggists or sent in receipt of price (50c. and $1.00 per bottle) by addressing FULFORD & CO., Brockville.

PROOF OF ITS MARVELLOUS EFFICACY.

An Unequalled Remedy.

J. McKee, druggist, Peterborough, says:—Nasal Balm gives the most general satisfaction to consumers of any proprietaries I ever handled. My sales are large and the reports from those who use it, fully substantiate your claims for the medicine as an unequalled remedy for catarrh in the head.

Worth Ten Times its Cost.

T. W. Hunt Port Hope says: I was a sufferer from a long-standing case of catarrh and being well up in years (72) hardly expected to ever obtain anything that would give me material or permanent relief. At the time of ordering Nasal Balm I was very bad with catarrh, but take great pleasure in stating that on the second application I obtained wonderful relief and its effect was pleasant, soothing and healing. It acted like magic and is worth ten times its cost for the immediate relief it gives. I feel confident the second bottle will effect a permanent cure. I have recommended Nasal Balm for cold in the head and in every case it acts like a charm.

Acts Like a Charm.

John Foster Raymond says:—Nasal Balm acts like a charm for any catarrh. I have only used it a short time, but feel better than at any time for years. In fact I am a well man and can say Nasal Balm has done me more good than all the medicine I have ever taken.

Feels Like a New Man.

A. E. Fish, merchant, Belleville, states: I take great pleasure in recommending your Nasal Balm to any one troubled with that dreadful disease, catarrh. I have been troubled with it for the past fifteen years, and can say candidly that I never had anything that gave me half so much relief as your Nasal Balm. I have only used two bottles and I feel like a new man.

Beats the World.

D. Derbyshire, president Ontario Creamery Association, Brockville, says: Nasal Balm beats the world for catarrh and cold in the head. In my own case it effected relief from the first application.

$1.00 for 50 cents.

Capt. D. H. Lyon, manager and proprietor of the C. P. R. and R. W. & O. R. car ferry Prescott, and Ogdensburg N. Y. says: I used Nasal Balm for a prolonged case of cold in the head. Two applications effected a complete and thorough cure in less than 24 hours. I would not take $100 for my bottle of Nasal Balm if I could not replace it.

It Never Fails.

Ex-Mayor Bowie, Brockville, Ont., says: I used Nasal Balm for a bad case of catarrh, and it cured me after having unsuccessfully tried many other remedies. It fails to give immediate relief for cold in the head.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—No material change took place on the local stock market. The firmness that has for some days characterized the market left and an easier feeling was the result. Montreal dropped one point. Ontario was steady. Toronto went from 197 to 198, to 196 and 198. Commerce was steady with 40 transactions at 116. Northwest Land dropped from 56 and 54 to 57 and 53½, with 60 transactions at 53½. London and Canadian L. and A. was steady with 70 transactions at 147.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Prices at St. Lawrence market to-day showed no noticeable variation from those of yesterday. There was little doing this morning on the grain market, owing to the fact that the farmers cannot get their wagons out on the country roads, and that there is no sleighing in the city and its vicinity. 150 bushels of barley went at 75c and 76c, and one load of wheat at 86c. There was no No. 1 barley offered, the lots sold being merely light loads. Peas to-day are worth 67c to 70c, and oats go up from 46c to 49c. On the hay market about 20 loads of hay were sold at $15 to $17. Clover went for $11 to $13, and straw $11 to $12. Hops brought from 7c to 7½d.

The following figures were quoted: Beef, hindquarters, per lb., 5c to 8c; beef, forequarters, per lb., 3c to 4½c; mutton, per carcass, 5c to 8c; lamb, per carcass, 5c to 8c; veal, 5c to 8c; pork, $7.00 to $7.25; chickens, per pair, 45c to 65c; ducks, per pair, 60c to $1; geese, per lb., 8c to 10c; turkeys, per lb., 12c to 13c; wheat, fall, per bushel, 73c to 80c; wheat, spring, per bush., 74c to 80c; wheat, goose, per bush, 72c to 74c; barley, 75c to 76c; oats, per bush, 46c to 48c; peas, 67c to 70c; timothy, $14 to $17; clover, $11 to $13; straw, $6; butter, pound rolls, 23c to 26c; butter, tub, 19c to 20c; cheese, per lb., 12c to 14c.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool.—Spring wheat 6s 7d to 6s 8d, and winter 6s 7d to 6s 8d, No. 1 Cal. 6s 9d to 6s 9d, corn 4s 9½d. peas 5s 5d, pork 60s 0d, lard 39s 6d, bacon 38s 6d, cheese 58s 6d.

$500 Reward

If you suffer from dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; if the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; and there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hawking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice being changed and having a nasal twang; the breath offensive; smell and taste impaired; expectation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough, and general debility, then you are suffering from chronic nasal catarrh. Only a few of the above named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case at one time, or in one stage of the disease. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, less understood or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians. The manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer, in good faith, $500 reward for a case of catarrh which they cannot cure. The Remedy is sold by druggists at only 50 cents.

Delicate Warning.

Neglected coughs and colds so frequently produce serious results as to constitute a warning. There is no better, safer or more pleasant remedy for Coughs, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Colds and all throat and lung troubles than Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. 2w7d

Cheap Device for Winding Wire.

The device shown in the cut for taking wire from hop yards or fences appeared originally in Rural New Yorker, where it was described as follows: Take an old washtub and a board five or six inches wide; nail the board across the tub, letting it project three or four inches at each end. Bore through the center of the bottom of the tub and of the board on top bore a one and a half inch hole. Put a pole through the hole for a shaft. Also bore a hole about a foot from the center and drive in a peg for a crank handle, as shown. The one seen in the cut is an old well crank

WINDING WIRE.

If it is worked in a hop yard, fasten the shaft to the poles, letting it project at the end where the wire is to be taken off enough to slip the tub on. If it is to be used in taking wire off a fence or where there is nothing to which it can be fastened, drive two posts in the ground six or seven feet apart. Then tie the wire to the end of the board and turn the crank, and you will see how nicely the wire will coil around the tub. The tub must be tapering, of course.

A Rare Combination.

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us think of it too—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Unless it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Deroenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the head that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich soft stapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Deroenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DERONWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten years five per cent. debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.60, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the agents.

Wedding Bells.

The Nuptials of Mr. George Stevenson and Miss Hughson.

Happy is the bride the sun shines on, 'tis said old and trite saying that augurs well for the future of Mr. and Mrs. George Stevenson, whose nuptials were celebrated this forenoon. At ten o'clock a few of the most intimate friends of the bride and groom gathered at the residence of Dr. Hughson, Hunter street, to witness the marriage of his daughter, Cotti E., to Mr. George Stevenson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. H. Rock. Mr. F. G. Cox, of Toronto, assisted the groom, while Miss Mary Stevenson acted as bridesmaid. A slight breakfast was partaken of before the happy young people left on the 11.30 train for Ottawa, where they will spend a week or so. The gifts to the bride constituted a profuse array of beautiful and costly articles, useful and ornamental, an enumeration of which would create a heavy demand upon our columns. They were simply "too numerous to mention." It might not be amiss to mention, however, that among them were a handsome gold watch and chain from the groom, and a check for $1,000 from the bride's father. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson have entered upon the sea of matrimony with every prospect of a prosperous voyage through life, and that these expectations may be realized in the fondest wish of a host of friends. The EXAMINER begs to add its quota to the congratulations they received.

The Lakefielders' Luck Again—Junior Games—The Team to Play at Ottawa.

A rink of junior curlers go to Lindsay Thursday morning to play a couple of matches with the juniors of that town. Another rink plays at Keene on Saturday.

THE FLOUR GAMES.

The "Strickland rink" came down from Lakefield yesterday and played afternoon and evening, being elected to both games to furnish a sack of flour to the Protestant Home. The matches caused much good-humored interest among the local curlers. Following is the result of the afternoon game:—

Lakefield.	Peterborough.
J. P. Strickland	D. Bellegham
W. D. E. Strickland	J. D. Baptie
H. T. Strickland	T. P. Astrill
R.C.Strickland, skip—11	A. Hall, skip—22

In the evening they tackled Mr. Rutherford's rink with the following result:—

Lakefield.	Peterborough.
	S. Clegg
	J. Stanger
	C. McGill
R.C.Strickland, skip—	T.Rutherford, skip—

FOR OTTAWA.

The rinks to represent Peterborough at Ottawa on Friday in the contest with Trans for the Governor-General's medal have been completed. They were practicing last night and will take advantage of every available moment between this and the time for leaving. The rinks are:—

D. Bellegham,	A. Hall,
G. Walker,	C. McGill,
T. E. Bradburn,	E. S. Davidson,
S. Ray, skip.	W. G. Ferguson, skip.

There is a somewhat remarkable co-incidence in the success of Mr. A. Hall's curling rink in the now celebrated series of charity "flour" contests. The success seems to be a double victory; in the last match with Mr. Ferguson's rink, the figures were double—16 to 8; in the Strickland stern-chase contest Tuesday afternoon they were double again—22 to 11; and by another co-incidence Mr. Rutherford's rink defeated Mr. Strickland's rink by double figures—24 to 12.

It is reported that the managers of the Protestant Home contemplate building a store-house for the flour that is accumulating from the curling contests. The Lakefield curlers will have to charter a mill if they keep up the supply on the scale they have furnished it the past few days.

Henry Lynch was also "run in," and this morning, on a complaint of assault lodged by Wm. Robinson, was fined $2 and costs—paid.

Necessity, the Mother of Invention.

Several young men walked to Bridgenorth on Sunday, and on their return trip arrived at the top of a high hill with sides covered by a sheeting of hard crusted snow. Here was a beautiful natural toboggan slide, but the old saying, "what good shots you see when you have no gun," applied in this case—they had no toboggans wherewith to shoot down the slippery incline. A happy thought popped into their minds that at once overcame the difficulty. They took off all the extra clothing they could conveniently spare and with it carefully cushioned the sedentary area of the habilimentary encasement of the inferior moiety of their anatomy, the name of which is unmentionable. Then, with wild recklessness they shot down the hill in a sitting posture and arrived at the bottom all right, and "none the worse for wear." It is said they intend to patent their newly-discovered tobogganing appliance.

The Shilling Concert.

How the Opinion and Aims of the 57th Battalion Rehearsed the Public.

The Opera House was pretty well filled last night, though it was expected the audience would be larger. The military concert under the patronage of Col. J. Z. Rogers and officers of the 57th Batt., Peterborough Rangers, went off with a bang that will sing praises at the entertainment for many a day. For weeks "the boys" have been practising industriously in bringing the arrangements to perfection, and they succeeded admirably. Each number on the programme, particularly the military exercises, showed careful and persistent training. They brought the steadily improving powers of Bellamy to bear upon the entertainment, hence its success, much of which is due to the indefatigable efforts of Sergt.-Major Randell, who had the training in hand. The hall was prettily decorated with bunting, Union Jacks, etc. Over the stage depended a trophy formed of bayonets, the bright blades of which shimmered in the electric light and caused a pretty effect.

Major Bell, before the programme was opened, came out upon the stage and announced that the concert was to aid in the equipment of the Battalion, which was not just what it should be. They hoped to make the concert an annual affair, and that this their first attempt would so please the people that next year they would have a crowded house.

PART FIRST.

The first number on the programme was a tableau, showing a square of infantry presented to receive a charge. As the red light flared in the side wings it showed a compact square of men, the front ranks kneeling, all bayonets fixed, a grim determined look on every face, and to old soldiers present it brought reminiscences of days gone by, when they had seen similar realities on the bloody field of battle, where, instead of the soft glare of side lights, the deadly flame that belched from the mouths of cannon cast their lurid glow over the brave fellows, of many of whom it was their last glimpse alive. The applause that followed the tableau was deafening. The curtain rolled up again, the Battalion band, 24 strong, marched upon the stage, and then began a descriptive Fantasia, "The Relief of Ekowe," introducing a number of military airs. The band's music is always appreciated, and on this occasion the audience thundered its approval. Ten recruits, members of the Battalion, then sang a glee, "Red Cross Knight," which also received its share of applause. The manual and firing, by a dozen of the infantry, was performed with a precision that did credit to them as volunteers. A solo by Sergt.-Major Rundell, "Hearts of Oak," was well rendered, and preluded one of the most interesting features of the entertainment, a fencing bout between Capt. Brennan and Lieut. Mason. The blades flashed and clicked for about five minutes, at the end of which Capt. Brennan had won by 5 points to 4. Mr. George Hamilton favored the audience with a solo, "Thy Sentinel am I," which was roundly applauded. The cavalry sword exercise by half a dozen members of C troop, 3rd cavalry, concluded the first part of the entertainment.

PART SECOND.

Another interesting tableau, "Camp Scene," was given, illustrating scenes to be witnessed almost any day in a military camp. Then followed another band selection, Fantasia, "Red, White and Blue." The audience clamored for an encore, but repetitions were not the order of the evening, so their wishes were not gratified. Everybody was anxious to know who Clough and Crowe were. Their names appeared opposite a glee, the third number on the programme. Curiosity was satisfied when the glee club who had appeared in the first part filed out and rendered "Clough and Crowe," a spirited selection, in fine style. A bayonet exercise by a dozen volunteers was, perhaps, the best performed military practice of the evening. Every motion was gone through with an accuracy and unanimity of action that could scarcely be improved upon. Mr. F. W. Millar's solo, "Let me Like a Soldier Fall," was evidently appreciated, judging by the applause. Next came a sword exercise by half a dozen redcoats. Though difficult, the exercise was well carried out, indeed. A solo by Mr. Mulligan, "The Death of Nelson," caused an uproar of applause and calls for an encore, but as the hour was late it was not given. Another glee, "Hail, Smiling Morn," followed. A sword vs. bayonet contest was down on the programme but had to be withdrawn, its place being ably taken by a selection from the band, after which the National Anthem brought the entertainment to a close. Credit must be given to Mr. J. E. Jaques for the intelligent manner in which he played the accompaniments.

This concert was the first one of the kind ever held in Peterborough, and was a pleasing contrast to the conventional style generally followed out in such entertainments. It is safe to presume that next year the Battalion concert will have a bumper house.

Remembered on His Wedding Day.

Mr. George Stevenson Presented with a Wedding Gift by the Lock Works Employes.

This morning Mr. George Stevenson was presented by the employes of the Lock Works with a handsome drawing room table, of antique style with mahogany finish, highly polished, and a combination rattan and bent-wood chair, very artistic and highly finished, purchased from Mr. A. Clegg. Mrs. Brooks, wife of the manager of the Lock Works Company, added a rich embroidered scarf in olive and gold, completing the equipment of the gift. The present was accompanied by the following address: Geo. Stevenson, Esq., Sec.-Treas. Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co.

DEAR SIR,—The employees of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co., seize the opportunity of your approaching nuptials to congratulate you on the happiest event of your life, and desire to show at this eventful moment the high esteem you are held in by your fellow employees and to ask your acceptance of this chair and table to mark our cordial relations.

Signed on behalf of the employees,

THOS. BROOKS,
M. RIELLY,
E. WARD.

BAND CONCERT.

The second annual concert of the Foresters' Band was held in the P.C.A. Hall on Monday evening, 13th inst., and the appreciation in which the band is held in their native town was shown by the large audience which had gathered in the hall for several hours, it being crowded to the doors. From the frequent applause, they manifested their approval of the "full of fare" provided, and the manner in which it was rendered. The following is the programme of the different parts of the concert, interspersing the audience with selections:—

PART I.

Overture ..... "Little Duke" ..... Atkinson
Song ..... [illegible]
Recitation ..... [illegible]

After the farce was over the drawing for the prizes presented by the band took place, and was the occasion of much speculation and amusement, on the part of the young people especially. The following are the lucky ones:—David Arnott, 100 lbs. flour; Edward McKee, 4 lbs. tea; Jay Chapin, tea set; Wm. Moary, glass set. "God Save the Queen," by the band, brought a pleasant evening's entertainment to a close.

FORESTERS.

A special meeting of Court Lakefield No. 43, C.O.F., will be held in the court room on Wednesday evening, the 22nd, to receive the High Chief Ranger, Bro. R. Elliott, of Listowel, Ont., who will honor the court with a visit, and who will no doubt be gratified to find that the Order has such a strong hold in our backwoods village. Court Lakefield now numbers over 80 members, and they have a court room furnished second to none outside the larger towns or cities, and have several hundred dollars in the bank, ready to be called out to afford relief to sick or distressed members as circumstances may require.

The regular meeting will be held the following Thursday evening, and on Sunday morning the members of the Court will assemble in the court room and proceed in a body to the Presbyterian church, where the Rev. Mr. McEwan will preach a sermon especially for their benefit.

LUMBERING.

This winter has been especially favorable for lumbering operations, and the men in the shanties north of us are well advanced with their work. Messrs. R. & G. Strickland have had some 250 men in the woods this winter, and they have now out on the ice over 100,000 logs or sufficient to make some 10,000,000 feet of sawed lumber, and the choppers are still at work. They are overhauling the mill in this place and making several improvements which will give an increased output, and, we understand, it is their intention to run the mill night and day during the coming season, which will give employment to a larger number of hands, and add still more to the prosperity of our already thriving village.

FISHING.

A number of our village sports, who are not by any means "feather bed" hunters or fishermen, are making preparations for their annual trip back to Gull, Eagle or Cox's Lakes for ten days salmon or mountain trout fishing through the ice. It may seem rather cold comfort camping out or standing on the ice all day to some of your readers, but a week up the lakes properly equipped will be as productive of as much pleasure and health as at any time during the summer, and in many cases more so.

A HINT TO THE COUNCIL.

Work on the new railway piers and wharf has been stopped, owing, we understand, to a dispute between the Grand Trunk and the agent of Rees & Co., of Quebec, who claimed that the Railway Company were trespassing on private property. Is it not about time, in the interests of the village, that the dispute in regard to the ownership of Water street north of the concession line was settled? Some $80 was spent by the council two years ago in having the street surveyed, &c., and the matter has remained in abeyance ever since, the plans of the survey not even being furnished. The council should look into the matter and have it settled once and for all. As now that the Trent canal works are finished at Burleigh and the water front will be used by steamers to a larger extent, constant trouble will occur until the street is opened and its boundaries defined in a proper manner satisfactory to the public.

CHANGE IN BUSINESS.

Mr. T. Waldon has sold out his butchering business to Messrs. Jas. Smith and Wm. Trude who will take possession on the 1st March, and who will no doubt command the large trade which Mr. Waldon has established. It is also whispered that the junior partner of the new firm intends entering into partnership of another kind as soon as he can obtain suitable quarters to install his future partner. It is a life affair.

RUNAWAY.

On Sunday evening a horse belonging to Mr. Headren's livery took fright on Queen street, and getting beyond the control of the driver, a boy called Morin, ran for his quarters. As it turned into the yard the cutter struck a post, landing the driver on the fence, who escaped with a few bruises, while the cutter was little or none damaged.

News Nuggets.

—Mr. Wilson Day and his "Hoop of Gold" company are at the Grand Central Hotel.

—M. J. Marvin, butcher, is having his shop on Hunter street repaired and improved.

—Dr. Bingham has established an office on George street, over Foot & McWhinnie's in the same flat as Mr. Nimmo's dental rooms.

—The bayonet exercise, as done by the boys at the battalion concert last night, was worthy of regulars, and it would take mighty good regulars to beat it.

—A Rubinstein couldn't play a decent accompaniment on a piano out of tune, neither could a Sims Reeve or a Brignoli sing to it.

—The authorities should see to it. It is announced that the seven months old baby of Wilson Day will be thrown from London bridge—at the Opera House to-night.

—The horse that draws the delivery sleigh for China Hall slipped and fell on the ice in rear of the store this morning. Part of the harness had to be cut before it could be got up again.

—Mr. W. B. Kelly, of Bridgenorth, has the contract of furnishing the lumber for the new Salvation Army barracks, Peterborough.

—Mr. E. D. Gough, the great Peterborough clothier, has purchased the bankrupt stock of Petley & Petley, Toronto, and is making trade hum in the Queen City.

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realise how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $12.00 and $13.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $4.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $4.00—a good, serviceable Suit: while for $7.00, $9.00 or $12.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

THE CANCELLED NOTES PUT AWAY.

Central Bank Applications Before the Master-in-Ordinary—The Keys Surrendered.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.

Yesterday forenoon the finishing stroke was given to the counting of Central Bank notes by the liquidators and accountants, $97,760, which had been redeemed by the Bank of Commerce, being duly counted, certified and destroyed.

On the conclusion of this work, the gentleman concerned, attended by ex-Liquidator Campbell, Mr. Bain, Q.C., and Mr. J. H. Coyne, appeared before the Master-in-ordinary to report proceedings. A certificate was filed showing that the redeemed circulation had been counted and cancelled. The amount of currency destroyed was $368,675, including the $70,000 of over-issue. Accountant Orde and Mr. Campbell each filed an affidavit as to the contents of the treasury. The keys of the safe drawers and the combination of the vault were then formally handed over by Mr. Campbell to this Master.

Mr. Bain moved that the liquidators and Master give Mr. Campbell a full discharge and certify to his accounts. The Master said this could not be granted at present. Messrs. Howland and Goodeham had not yet certified to the accuracy of the accounts.

Mr. Coyne then applied for a direction in regard to the general estate of the bank, under Section 8 of the Winding-up Act, to prevent repeated applications to the Master. The latter directed that an advertisement be issued apprising the creditors of the application.

Late in the afternoon the notes that had been counted and defaced were placed in a vault of the Toronto General Trusts Company, where they will be held as vouchers, and destroyed after the business is wound up.

There is now $450,000 ready to pay the 25 per cent. dividend. All notes excepting $80,000 have been redeemed.

In the case of William Clark, for stealing whiffletrees from Isaac Cowling of Weston, the Crown secured a remand until Wednesday next. William Granger was tried for stealing 200 cords of wood from Isaac H. Hilliard, King Township. The evidence [illegible] and Granger was given three months in the Central Prison. George F. James, a lunatic, was committed to the Asylum.

Mary Ellis Robinson, a 10-year-old girl residing on Taylor-street, was savagely attacked by a mastiff on Sunday-street yesterday. The animal bit the girl in the cheek, tearing it badly. The dog was killed, and the parents took the child to the General Hospital, where the wound was sewn up.

Old "Doc" Ashford, the convicted abortionist, has gone crazy and is now confined in the asylum at Kingston. He began to show signs of mental aberration several months ago, and latterly became so completely idiotic that it was necessary to restrain him.

There was a full attendance of members at the weekly meeting of the Young Men's Conservative Association last night. A motion was passed calling on the committee appointed to arrange for the proposed debate with the Young Liberals to report on next Tuesday night on the [illegible] debate coming off or not. Dr. Sawers spoke at length in favour of Free Trade, and a lively discussion took place on the question whether the Dominion Government should possess the right to veto the enactments of the local Legislature.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

CANADIAN AND AMERICAN EDITORS' VIEWS OF THE TREATY.

Americans Have Won Their Case—The Rights, Privileges and Interests of Slight Abandoned to the United States—A Feeble and Remunerated Compromise.

Following are the comments of some Canadian and American newspapers regarding the Fisheries Treaty:

From The Mail.

Substantially, the Americans have won their case. Canadian fishermen receive no sort of equivalent for the concessions made to the Americans, except the barren privilege of fishing in American bays.

From The Montreal Gazette.

The whole treaty, we think, can be regarded with satisfaction, both as a definition of Canada's rights, a provision for reciprocity in an important industrial product, and chiefly as removing a cause of dissatisfaction with our nearest neighbor.

From The Globe.

The sooner it is out this morning, The Fisheries Treaty may be fairly described as one for enabling American fishermen to do what they please in Canadian waters. Every Canadian concession has been surrendered.

From The New York Herald.

The Herald, commenting on the Fishery Treaty, says: The treaty seems to us to remedy all the just grievances of the American fishermen, and we advise them not to dissent from the country at large has never become very deeply excited over their complaints, and that if they should ever show [illegible] they will lose even the moderate public sympathy which was with them.

From The American Times.

They haven't settled the fishery question. It never will be settled until the Yankees get liberty to fish near the shore. What they should pay for that liberty is the question. As it stands under the new treaty, they will be dodging cruisers just as they did [illegible] and schooners will brand threats of retaliation. The fleet of trespass across an invisible water line is difficult to establish. If the Yankees are tickled over the treaty they are thankful for small favors, and if the Canadians are angry at it they are mad at a trifle.

From The Montreal Herald.

No one questions the United States' motives, and those of Lord Salisbury and Mr. Chamberlain are intensely plain. But what the Queen's motives may have been in graciously [illegible] Charles in surrender, time only will show. Whatever it may be, the fact remains that piecemeal the rights, possessions and interests of Canada are abandoned to the United States and go, we presume, if will continue as long as Sir John remains in power.

From The New York Tribune.

The Senate Republicans' diplomatic triumph is a feeble and incoherent compromise. The full force of the fisheries treaty cashiers us to understand what Secretary Bayard considers the hollow truce arranged by him a decisive triumph. He has never approached this subject from the American point of view. He has dealt with it as an international quarrel, caused by ambiguous expressions of an antiquated treaty, and by complicated and ill-defined fishery rights. He has regarded it solely as a technical controversy which could be settled by new and more explicit definitions of treaty rights, and by means similar to settlements of the disputed claims of the treaty of 1818. He has negotiated a convention on this basis, defining the six-mile limit, compromising the headlands question and destroying certain commercial privileges in addition to the right conferred upon American fishermen exempt years ago to obtain "shelter, repairs, wood, and water" in Canadian harbors. From his own point of view he has succeeded. Lately small infractions there [illegible] have been, but never if he has done this he has failed to vindicate the honor of the nation by defending the rights of citizens engaged in a lawful calling. He has failed to do this because [illegible] never perceived that the honor of the nation has been compromised by the outrages on the Canadian seaboard. There is nothing in this treaty to prevent the recurrence of outrages on the Dominion seaboard. It is a convention that will be as unpopular in Canada as in New England. It does not offer a basis for the permanent settlement of the fisheries question. It should be rejected by a patriotic and self-respecting Senate which proposes a far more adequate method of protecting American rights.

From The Ottawa Journal.

It will be with feelings of entire satisfaction that Canadians will read the text of the fishery treaty. It is not going too far to say that the treaty is a signal triumph for the Dominion. Every important contention made by her in the dispute has been admitted while nothing seems to have been sacrificed. The new treaty will be an eye-opener to the New England fish pirates and it is ten to one there will be a howl from Gloucester and Kindred places against its ratification.

Senator Frye's Opinion.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Senator Frye was interviewed this evening, when that distinguished American statesman talked with perfect freedom, expressing frankly and without reserve his opinions in relation to the Fisheries Treaty. As to the delimitation feature, he said he was not prepared to speak intelligently, because he had not yet consulted maps, etc. In general, however, he deems the treaty of no benefit to the United States. It affords no improvement upon the existing state of affairs. American fishermen would be no better off—would have no more rights or facilities than now. Comparing the treaty with the presentation of the claims of the United States as made by Minister Phelps, while Senator Frye regards it the very best possible [illegible] he could be quite glad that [illegible] would abandon or give away every essential point insisted upon by Minister Phelps relative to the treaty to be pursued by the Canadian authorities regarding American vessels, and by which the United States contends. Under Frye says that under the proposed treaty American vessels would still be subjected to the regular system of procedure and pettiness of over-zealous Colonial officers, against which the United States protested. The provisions of the Customs House Acts and regulations would still be systematically enforced against American ships for alleged petty and technical violations of legal requirements in a manner so unsympathetic, unfriendly and unjust as to render the privileges accorded by the treaty practically nugatory. The license to fish is a delusion and a snare. [illegible] that [illegible] Canadian [illegible] Frye says [illegible] privilege [illegible] Canadian [illegible] of all these French controversies who had had dealings with Lord Salisbury during his conduct of the foreign affairs of England. [Cheers.] The Government would not lay confidential correspondence before the House but Sir James could reassure the House that no engagement had been entered into with Italy or any other power that was not known to Parliament. He hoped the answer to the peace at Rome was satisfactory—perhaps it was [illegible] than a year ago. He rolled upon the House to meet the motion with a single negative.

Mr. Gladstone said he had heard with extreme satisfaction Sir James Fergusson's assurances that the Government had conducted a policy of harmony with France. He was content with the declaration just obtained of the Government's policy. He was confident that no disposition existed on the Liberal side to press for undue disclosures. [Cheers.] He believed that the course taken by Lord Salisbury had been sometimes entirely in accordance with sound principles for regulating the foreign policy of England. He earnestly hoped that whatever happened in Europe a unity of sentiment in all parties on the foreign policy would be obtained, thus doubling the moral force of England and immensely increasing her power when constrained to interfere. [Cheers.]

Mr. W. H. Smith congratulated the House on the tone of Mr. Gladstone's remarks. It was worthy of the ancient reputation of the House, and the responsibilities attending to a statesman who had occupied a high position in the Government. There had always been cordial relations with France, and there was not the slightest ground for the suspicion that anything had been done to trench upon the existing harmony. [Cheers.]

A LIVELY DISCUSSION IN THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

Sir James Fergusson Answers the Imperial Commons That England Has Entered Into no Engagements with Italy Which Is not Known to Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The House of Commons to-day committed an amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech proposing the creation of a tribunal on judicial rents in England.

A motion to vote the address was then approved, after which, on a motion that the report on the address be adopted, Mr. Labouchere moved to insert in the [illegible] request that the House be informed what the correspondence with the Italian Government bound the Government to intervene in the event of war between France and Italy. He advised Lord Salisbury to take the country into his confidence, as Bismarck had done. England had every reason to distrust Lord Salisbury, who was willing to drag the country into a war in order to save his policy towards Ireland from criticism. The foreign policy of Lord Salisbury was hated toward France—[cries of "No!"]—and jealousy toward Russia. The means he hated France was obvious. It was a republic, progressing and prosperous, without aristocracy, without royalists and without hereditary rulers [illegible] directing the affairs of state. Parliament trusts watch's ministry of blood, and refuse to assent to his mingling in continental matters relating either to territorial or dynastic settlements, even if made in concert with Europe.

Sir James Fergusson, Under Foreign Secretary, said he could not understand Mr. Labouchere's purpose in making these statements which were most mischievous in their tendency and most reckless in their particulars. [Cheers.] No responsible statesman of France would entertain such a policy to Lord Salisbury. [illegible, hear,"]—least of all those French statesmen who had had dealings with Lord Salisbury during his conduct of the foreign affairs of England. [Cheers.] The Government would not lay confidential correspondence before the House but Sir James could reassure the House that no engagement had been entered into with Italy or any other power that was not known to Parliament. He hoped the answer to the peace at Rome was satisfactory—perhaps it was [illegible] than a year ago. He rolled upon the House to meet the motion with a single negative.

Mr. Gladstone said he had heard with extreme satisfaction Sir James Fergusson's assurances that the Government had conducted a policy of harmony with France. He was content with the declaration just obtained of the Government's policy. He was confident that no disposition existed on the Liberal side to press for undue disclosures. [Cheers.] He believed that the course taken by Lord Salisbury had been sometimes entirely in accordance with sound principles for regulating the foreign policy of England. He earnestly hoped that whatever happened in Europe a unity of sentiment in all parties on the foreign policy would be obtained, thus doubling the moral force of England and immensely increasing her power when constrained to interfere. [Cheers.]

Mr. W. H. Smith congratulated the House on the tone of Mr. Gladstone's remarks. It was worthy of the ancient reputation of the House, and the responsibilities attending to a statesman who had occupied a high position in the Government. There had always been cordial relations with France, and there was not the slightest ground for the suspicion that anything had been done to trench upon the existing harmony. [Cheers.]

Centreville.

(Special to the Examiner.)

The usual fortnightly meeting of the Centreville Debating Society was held in that place on Tuesday, February 14th, and was a good meeting. The subject for debate was "Resolved: that marine service is more beneficial to the country than railway service." The chief evening's work fell to Mr. J. Fleming for the affirmative and Mr. Wm. Kerle for the negative. Mr. Keene of Baillieboro, contributed the usual talent displayed in favor of the negative by one point. An excellent programme in addition to the debate was rendered, consisting of instrumental and vocal music, readings, recitations and dialogues. Messrs. Kerr and Huggins and Miss McDowell gave three selections on violins with organ accompaniment, and responded each time with an encore. Mr. Saulteau and Mr. Bell gave very amusing readings; Mr. Grey rendered Scotch songs in good style; Miss Keene of Baillieboro, a recitation, in her usual fine style; Mr. Fleming, a song; and a dialogue, consisting of several persons, admirably acted. The proceedings were brought to a close by singing the National Anthem, all the audience dispersed well satisfied with the evening's entertainment. These meetings are becoming quite popular and draw crowded houses each night. The next will be held on Tuesday evening, February 28th, when the committee will there as plans to have an A1 programme. The subject for debate will be "Resolved, that tobacco is more injurious than wood."

A party of young people surprised Mr. T. Donaldson on Friday night last, and spent a most enjoyable evening. Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson accepted themselves to the manner in entertaining their guests, and judging by the hour at which they dispersed (5 a.m.) their efforts were crowned with success.

A worthy pedagogue not far from here has determined to improve his musical knowledge by a practical as well as theoretical experience. We wish him success in his new and very novel undertaking, and trust that his fair teacher may find an apt pupil.

We are glad to learn that the Scott Act is being strictly enforced in this community. A party of gentlemen driving from Peterborough south about 17 miles were obliged to build a fire in the heat of the night, there being no accommodation along the way. Probably there will be no necessity for "their calling" anywhere in their inner guts may have been provided for before leaving Peterborough. So that is to say, however, the facts are there.

The entertainment held on Tuesday evening for the benefit of the funds of the Agricultural society was a fair success financially, though some disappointment was felt at the absence of some parties from a distance, but the talent present showed that they could present a good programme without foreign help. In vocal and instrumental music, Miss McDowell, Miss Sowden, Miss Hoggins, Miss Galloway, Mr. Burton and Mr. Stevens contributed numbers. Dialogues were given by "No. 3" and the Centreville Literary Society. Mr. Wm. Rutherford occupied the chair. Everybody was delighted with the pleasant evening's enjoyment provided, and much praise is due the committee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Friday evening, the 17th inst., a social and entertainment was given by the Methodist element of this place. Tea was served by the ladies from 4 to 7 p.m., and the tea was such as could be prepared only by the Harvey ladies. The tables were set in the Town Hall and covered with various kinds of cakes, highly flavored, pies as tempting as the freshest lemon, and sandwiches fit to tempt and beat the severest criticism of the most astute follower of Epicurus. After the greater part of the viands had disappeared in the inner recesses, the hungry-appeased audience assembled in the [illegible] by singing and prayer, Mr. R. Shaw was elected to preside over the meeting. Mr. Bonnett, of Peterborough, was then called for, and ordered encore played. [illegible] encored solo. Messrs. Henderson and Graham, of Lakefield, [illegible] with their usual [illegible], rendered some choice selections, which drew from the audience hearty applause and a general encore. Rev. A. Williams of Bobcaygeon addressed the audience on the necessity of acquiring knowledge to secure a proper understanding of Christian? This [illegible] man, by his true remarks, showed the entire company present [illegible] and Mr. W. J. Stone gave suitable remarks for the occasion. The choir, organized for the occasion, rendered valuable service, due to the pains-taking efforts of Miss M. Bond, of Port Perry. Towards the close the pastor, Rev. A. L. Asked and presented with a purse of $40, accompanied by an address, which will be published next week.

SHORTHORN BREEDERS.

Annual Meeting of the Association—Review of the Year's Work.

Toronto, Feb. 22.

The second annual meeting of the Dominion Short Horn Breeders' Association was held yesterday in St. Lawrence Hall, under the presidency of Mr. [illegible]. Secretary Wade was on deck as busy as ever. Amongst others present were [illegible]; Thomas Shaw, Hamilton; James Cranston, Shakespeare; Jesse Tolhaw, Guelph; David [illegible], Deer Park; Francis Shore, Galt; J. J. Cowan, Galt; James Tolton, Walkerton; [illegible] Whitelaw; James Leask, Taunton; A. H. Gordon, Coatsville; Richard Gibson, Delaware; D. Dyer, Darlington; [illegible]; Wm. Dawson, Wiltpria; [illegible]; Thos. Russell, Exeter; J. Miller, Brougham; J. G. Wood, Greenlaw; John Aplegy, Owen Sound; [illegible], Brantford.

At the morning meeting a communication from Leggat, Queen & Main, Hamilton, in reference to the refusal of the committee to admit to registry in the herd book the bull "Duke of Hamilton 2nd," by Mr. G. Pettit of Waterdown, and "Duke of Hamilton," by Mr. [illegible] of Hamilton. The matter was [illegible] by the Secretary, who read the letter from the Toronto Committee, stating that the [illegible] the Toronto Committee to accept [illegible] which [illegible] Committee [illegible] in the Hamilton Committee [illegible] in their action with other similar [illegible].

The question of an Agricultural Hall was next discussed, [illegible] offices of the Provincial Exhibition, and the Central Committee. The [illegible] was approved, and a committee appointed to confer with other committees [illegible].

The annual report stated among other things: No new herds of [illegible] Herd Book were found in any of the cattle presented for registration. In the month of June last we [illegible] the pleasure of sending to the printers the first volume of the Dominion Short Herd Herd Book, containing the pedigrees of [illegible] all comparatively [illegible] the imported ones. We expect [illegible] volumes more printed by the next annual meeting, which will bring us to the fifth or [illegible] volume. We will then be recording the pedigrees of the second crop on the heels of the first foundation that has been laid. Several hundreds of cows, now numbered in [illegible] herd books, could in any case [illegible] they appeared in the body of the [illegible] Nearly all of these have been traced out and recorded. Through the valuable assistance given by Mr. W. [illegible] and [illegible] pedigrees. Pedigrees on record to Feb. 1st: [illegible] volume 1 [illegible] 2,000; volume 2, [illegible] 1,000; volume 3, [illegible] 1,000; volume 4, [illegible] 1,000; volume 5, [illegible] 1,000; total, 25,000. We are now collecting in the fifth volume, and are distributing [illegible] the young animals as they come in; there are [illegible] in it already, and it is the intention to print the [illegible] shortly, [illegible] the benefit of the breeder and owner in the meantime. We have received fees for 30 registrations, 30 certificates, and 45 changes of ownership. The greatest number of yearly registrations to date. At the last executive meeting, the President, Mr. J. I. Davidson, and your Secretary were appointed as a deputation to wait upon the Executive Committee of the Short Horn Breeders' Association at their meeting in Chicago, on Nov. 9th, 1887, to request them to rescind their ruling under which Canadian cattle were [illegible] charging $5 per registration for cattle over six months of age. Your President and Secretary waited upon the Directors and were pleased to inform you that the result was very gratifying, as it was the means of getting the following rule adopted in their Association: "In the case of animals recorded in the Dominion Herd Book, all the [illegible] back to the imported animal (which must be on record in the English Herd Book), shall be accepted in the American Herd Book, for which the usual fees shall be charged." The result will make a great difference in the sale of Canadian cattle to Americans as the former high prices for registration practically debarred their entry in the American book. Another feature of this concession is that our certificates in all cases of registration are received.

The financial statement showed that the year opened with cash in hand [illegible], 387 subscribers had paid [illegible], 30 new members $60, registration fees [illegible], the total receipts amounting to $764. There remained at the end of the year [illegible].

The following resolutions were passed:

"That the thanks of this association be given to the American Short Horn Breeders' Association for granting a change in their rule of entry, which permits animals registered in the Dominion Herd Book to be transferred to the American Herd Book for the usual fee of $1."

"That the members of this association are much disappointed that the usual grant of [illegible] towards sustaining the Provincial Exhibition has not been placed in the estimates for this year, inasmuch as the omission will virtually render the Agricultural and Arts Association unable to carry out the agreement already entered into with the city of Kingston to hold an exhibition there next autumn, and for which grants have already been received from other associations. These arrangements were made in the usual regular way and with the reasonable expectation, in the absence of any intimation to the contrary, that the Government would sustain the action of this association, in carrying out its usual work in the customary way. For these reasons and because of the encouragement which the Provincial Exhibition has always afforded to the trustees of superior stock of all kinds, and that further time may [illegible] farmers to give expression to their views, this association would most respectfully ask of the Government of this province to make this year similar to the usual grant to the Agricultural and Arts Association."

"That the annual meeting of this association to be held in 1889 continue its sittings for two days, and that the Secretary be requested to appoint a committee of three to arrange for the [illegible] papers [illegible] the [illegible] hope that these papers and the discussions following may create a still deeper interest in this useful [illegible] of cattle."

Mr. Jos. Dryden, M.P.P., was re-elected president, and the vice-presidents for each province were re-elected. The following were also re-elected the balance of the Executive Committee: R. Reid, Brantford; A. R. Skelton, Centreville; J. I. Cowan, Galt; J. D. Pettit, Paris; W. Linton, Aurora.

[illegible] was thanked and the meeting terminated.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

To-Day's Speech from the Throne—The Ratification of the Treaty to be Asked.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—It is understood that His Excellency in the Speech from the Throne to-morrow will express satisfaction with the result of the Fisheries Commission, and invite the ratification of the treaty by Parliament, as a satisfactory settlement and satisfactory to both Canada and the United States.

It is but reasonable to suppose that the many favourable features of the treaty, which [illegible] a partial failure, which [illegible] the crops in other sections of the Dominion.

The results of the election trials has shown that there is considerable room for improvement in the Election Act, and the conflicting decisions of the judges with respect to improper interpretation of certain clauses in the Controverted Election Act—popularly though known as the six months' clause—has sufficiently demonstrated the need that the doubts about the proper interpretation of the act should be removed. It is therefore safe to assume that the speech will contain [illegible] and that [illegible] will be given on the [illegible]

All [illegible] controverted elections is under consideration. It is but reasonable to expect that the franchise will not be forgotten and that Ministers will be [illegible] by improving the details of the act, simplifying the law and materially reducing the cost of the operation.

The report of the Railway Commission which was appointed during the recess will undoubtedly be laid before the House at an early date, and it may therefore be anticipated that the speech will contain an allusion to the extension and development of the railway system having rendered necessary additional safeguards for the public prosperity, as well as provisions for the settlement of questions arising between rival companies, and [illegible] the enforcement of the Railway Acts.

The question of the government of the North-west Territories occupied the attention of the House last session, and it may therefore be expected that the speech will contain a reference of a measure for the improvement of the government of the vast and rapidly developing region, and probably for enlarging the present franchise.

The acts relating to the judiciary and the civil service will probably receive attention, and some improvements may be found necessary in THE RAILWAY ACT, which is considered cumbersome in its operation.

Beyond these, however, it is not very likely that any great amount of legislation will be promised in the speech, but that the Government will [illegible] in removing [illegible] and mentioning in the speech a few of the prominent measures to be introduced and allowing the balance of the legislation to come up in the course of the session.

MANITOBA POLITICS.

Mr. Greenway's Program—Mr. Wilson Resigns—Mr. Le Riviere's Denial.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 22.—Mr. Greenway announced at a banquet at Cartwright just night, that he would complete the Red River Road by Dec. 1. He pledged himself to civil service reform, and would dispense with a depute ministry. He said there [illegible] distribution bill would be immediately introduced, and a franchise bill equivalent to manhood suffrage, and after other necessary legislation an appeal would be made to the country.

Mr. Wilson resigned his seat in the Legislature to-day.

Mr. Le Riviere positively denies the rumor about his resignation, although it is generally believed to be a matter of a few days only.

A Solid Wedge.

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—The engine hanging in the express from Toronto this morning met with an accident after leaving St. Anne, which happily resulted in nothing worse than a delay of some hours. Shortly after leaving the station the [illegible] on the right side of the [illegible] broke and [illegible] the wheels left the rails. The train was [illegible] stopped. The [illegible] had a very narrow escape, as the broken rod came crashing through the side of the cab. The driver had just crossed to the other side of the cab and so escaped unhurt.

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.
SOLICITORS—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current accounts and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten years five per cent. debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,210,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the agents.

An Error Rectified.

Through an error of information it was stated in yesterday's issue that Mrs. Brooks, wife of the manager of the Lock Works, had added a handsome table scarf to the table and chair presented by the employés of the works to Mr. Geo. Stevenson on his wedding day. The scarf was a gift from the men. Mrs. Brooks' gift was a large pastel picture, "The Ruins of Carthage," painted by herself.

Otonabee Canoe Club.

A meeting of the Otonabee Canoe Club was held last night, at which there was a good attendance of members, but the Secretary and his books being conspicuous for their absence, no business could be done. However, another meeting is to be held a week from next Tuesday, and a debate was arranged for that evening on the subject of the relative pleasures of professional and agricultural life. The chief wranglers are Messrs. W. H. Hill and G. J. Smith for the affirmative; A. R. Scott and W. H. Deyman will shoulder the negative.

The Conversazione To-Night.

To-night the Masonic fraternity entertain their guests in their spacious new hall on Water street. Judging from what has been going on for the past week, these invited will not serve to make the evening's enjoyment, and the Masons will be in their most hospitable mood. The brethren of the square and compass are proud of their comfortable premises, and their aim is to strengthen the social relations between themselves and their friends. There are no tickets nor programmes, the invited guests having been previously advised of the number of [illegible] who, through their friends in the Order.

A Baby Performer.

A five baby less than a year old is a novel feature of a stage performance, and those who attended the "Heap of Gold" at the opera house last night found it to be "a source of innocent merriment" throughout the entertainment. The "children" was supposed to be on the verge of death, suffering from want of proper care, but the way it twisted and turned, and nearly upset the cradle in its efforts to see everything, knocked the doctor's absolement that it "was dangerously dying" into kingdom come. While its father and mother were lamenting over its [illegible] condition, it would [illegible] stamp their feet in its glee, but picked up its bottle and enjoyed itself [illegible] that made the audience laugh were they should have been shedding tears of sympathy with the unfortunate parents. It was an accommodating baby without a doubt, and never whimpered. It belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Day, and if, in after years, it can continue to attract public attention as on this occasion, its success on the stage will be assured.

[illegible] Assessment.

A paragraph is published to the effect that it will cost the Province of Ontario about $25,000 per year to enforce the Scott Act. This will not [illegible] At the present sitting of [illegible] bill, which will [illegible] introduced by Mr. Hardy, proposing to throw the cost of enforcing the Scott Act upon the municipalities, to the extent of the fines, so that the Government will not be called upon to contribute one third of the expense unless the fines [illegible] pay them. The arrangement will, it must be admitted, be a fair one. The ratepayers of the municipalities adopted the Scott Act and they should be willing to allow the fines collected to be applied for its enforcement, instead of the funds coming from the Provincial Treasury; the municipalities get whatever local benefit comes from the enforcement of the Act; it comes in consideration [illegible] to ask other municipalities, which have not adopted the Act, to contribute the funds for its enforcement. The Dominion Government passed the Act and looks to the Ontario Government to enforce it, yet, while it causes a large loss of revenue to the Provincial Government, it has refused to [illegible] any of the [illegible] Act.

Marriage.

This afternoon at three o'clock the marriage of Mr. Harry Cross, of Toronto, and Miss Mary E. Webber, [illegible], was solemnized at the residence of the father of the bride, Mr. John H. Webber, Water street north, by Rev. I. Tovell. The bride was [illegible] by Miss M. McCaw, of Toronto, while Mr. W. Adamson acted as "best man." There were only a few of the most intimate friends and relatives present at the ceremony. An unusually large and beautiful list of presents to the bride attested the esteem and love of her many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Cross leave on this evening 5:30 train for Toronto, their new home, and that they may enjoy many years of unalloyed connubial bliss is the earnest desire of all who know them. Both young people are well known in town, having been for years connected with the Charlotte street church and Sunday school. Mr. Cross has for a few months back resided in Toronto, where he has prepared a home for his young wife, who is entirely worthy of the high estimation in which she is held in Peterborough. In her church and Sunday school relations she has been unfeignedly faithful, and in her home relations she has filled the position of daughter and sister in a manner worthy of the warmest praise. So good a daughter must make a good wife. Among the bridal presents was a beautiful silver spoon-holder (with spoons) from the Sunday school teachers of the Charlotte street church; a group photograph (framed) of her own Sunday school class; and another large group picture of the Friday night class, of which she was a constant member.

The Heap of Gold.

A fair audience greeted Wilson Day and his dramatic company at the Opera House last night, when "A Heap of Gold" was presented. The play is a new one to Peterborough theatre-goers. It is the old story of the estrangement of husband and wife through the machinations of a villain, who [illegible] former suitor for her hand, but afterwards became her enemy. There are plenty of thrilling situations—the father's expulsion of a disobedient daughter, the accusation of theft against her husband, the discovery of a letter that implicates the young wife, then the quarrel and separation; the flinging of their little baby off London Bridge by the infuriated husband, and the rescue; the young wife's return to [illegible], his final refusal to receive her but [illegible]; the aggrieved husband's interception of this happy ending and his espousal of his wife's perfidy; again cast out from home; the discovery of the plot which destroyed the happiness of all; arrest of the villain; final restitution and explanation, and the curtain rolls down on a scene of domestic [illegible] happiness. The audience [illegible] the whole affair was excellent. The play was well cast and carried out. The [illegible] was vividly portrayed, the scenery being [illegible] good. The company is a good [illegible] one; in fact, the best that Wilson Day ever brought to Peterborough. All the roles were well taken, those not being a [illegible] character in the play. Frank Jones made a great hit as the shady detective. Mr. Wilson Day was, of course, in the leading role, ably supported by Miss Josie Robinson. To-night "Monte Cristo," a play that has had a great run on the American stage, will be produced.

[illegible]

[illegible] quickly and without accident or disturbance of any kind. The "kite" track was in good order and excellent time was made. The [illegible] Peterboro. W. Cluff, Peterborough; [illegible] Toronto. It is said the track was not quite the full mile, being about 140 feet short. The first event was the named race, Pettit's pacer winning first money, $25; "Little Willie," 2nd, $15; "Lady B.," 3rd, $5. Following is a record of the heats:—

"Little Mac," McArthur, Fenelon Falls

Best time, 2.38.

The open trot brought out only three horse-pointers. "Sleepy Dan" won easily, with "Mayflower" second and "F.O.P." third. "Sleepy Dan," as usual, trotted a magnificent race while "F.O.P." notwithstanding all he is possible for a horse to do, "Mayflower" had a big knee, and, though not lame, could scarcely be said to be in good form. The purse was $60—1st, $30; 2nd, $20; 3rd, $10. Score:—

Brick and Building.

There is [illegible] considerable building the coming season, and there need be no [illegible] for lack of first-class bricks. Messrs. Curtis & Son are doing a leading business in bricks, and the excellent quality of their [illegible] justifies the public patronage they [illegible] Last season the firm turned [illegible],000 bricks and found a place for them all. It is still supplying prospective builders, and has received orders from the following persons: Mr. Brown and Mr. Carter, Otonabee; Mr. Brown, Smith; Mr. T. Mann and brother, Smith; Mrs. Stubbs, Mr. J. Sharin and Mr. Ingram, Lakefield; the trustees of Young's Point School; Mr. John Christie, Asphodel; A. Rose and other parties, Havelock. Curtis & Son's bricks are gaining a provincial reputation. They shipped [illegible] bricks to Orillia on [illegible] beginning of a large trade with the Capital) upon the [illegible] completion of Mr. Ashworth's [illegible] contract. The firm's [illegible] are superior in the country. The firm is also opening a large trade in drain tile. The [illegible] member of the firm went to Belleville on Wednesday to close a bargain for the delivery of three carloads. There are two chief reasons of the firm's success. One is a thorough knowledge of the business. Counting the years [illegible] has been the continuous business of the Curtis family for [illegible] direct generations. The second is that the supply of clay of first class quality is of unlimited quantity.

Inter-Collegiate Wanted.

Mr. Carnegie, secretary of the Trent Navigation Association, has issued a circular letter: "All persons having either within their own knowledge or [illegible] of persons possessing knowledge of these circumstances in any way bearing upon the feasibility, the cost of construction, or the advantages likely to accrue from the completion of a continuous line of navigation between the waters of the Georgian Bay and the Bay of Quinte, or any portion thereof, are earnestly requested to communicate the nature of their information to the undersigned at once, so that timely steps may be taken to have the same laid before the Commission recently appointed by the Dominion Government to enquire into this important matter, at some one of the several meetings which it is expected the Commission will hold at various points along the route of this water way. It is to be hoped that such a response will not be made in vain. After having, by solemn official assurance, pledged itself to the construction of the canal, the Dominion Government has practically abandoned it. The ground that was gained by years of agitation has to be regained, and it will need the general co-operation of the public with the Association to re-instate the project in the good graces of the Government.

[illegible]

A concert in the [illegible] was held last night and arrangements for the [illegible] carnival on March 9th furthered. The children's carnival in the afternoon will be a unique feature. The windows of the rink will be darkened and all daylight excluded, instead of which a number of extra electric lights, with the [illegible] already in, will brilliantly illuminate the place. The school board is to be asked to appoint the afternoon of Friday, March 9th, a half-holiday in the [illegible], to enable all the children to attend. The band will be present, afternoon and evening. Another superb prize list will also be prepared, among the prizes being a large life-size photograph of the winner by Mr. F. H. Green. Mementoes and others are also [illegible] elegant and costly articles that will make up the finest prize list ever offered for competition in Peterborough. It will, doubtless, draw out an unusually large attendance of contestants. Keep your weather eye open and watch for the "fall" of [illegible], which will soon be cast.

Offshore.

[illegible] chosen to [illegible] Peterborough's claim on the Governor-General's medal leave for Ottawa to-night. The struggle with Truro takes place to-morrow. May victory perch upon their banners with a screech.

A rink of junior curlers went to Lindsay this morning. They are:—T. Cassal, E. Kingan, D. Davidson and E. Hartley. They will try conclusions with the Lindsay juniors to-day.

Acknowledgements.

The lady managers of the Peterborough Protestant Home desire to record their deep gratitude to Mesdames Lewis, Dunsford and Smith, and all others who so generously assisted at the concert given for the benefit of the Home; also to Mrs. Beck for the gratuitous use of her piano, and to the [illegible] for their [illegible] in the charge of a reduction of their accounts. The total receipts amounted to $46.75; after deducting expenses a cheque for $39.85 was given for the benefit of the Home.

Broke Her Leg.

This morning at Mrs. Byrne was returning to her home on McDonel street, after mass in St. Peter's Cathedral, she slipped on the icy walk and fell, breaking her right leg below the knee. Dr. Ferguson set the fractured limb.

Beautiful women, from whence came thy bloom,
Thy [illegible] eye, thy features fair?
What kindly hand on them was laid—
Endowing them with beauty rare?
"Down age upon them," they [illegible] replied,
"Open pale their faces, their features hide,
The [illegible] evaporation of Dr. Morse
Wrought the wonderous change which you [illegible]

SHOWY AND GLITTERING.

OPENING OF THE SECOND SESSION OF THE NINTH PARLIAMENT.

A Week Speech From the Throne—The New Members Introduced—Familiar Figures in Their Familiar Places—A Sentimental Speech After the Usual Kind.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—At least for one day of the year the Senate counts. That, however, is not because of any virtue or interest inherent in the Senate. So far as that chamber is concerned it occupies at the opening [illegible] the position [illegible] Dogberry. Parliament has rarely known a more brilliant opening than that of to-day. There were all the usual outreachings after magnificence. The Governor-General's Body Guard and the Foot Guards protected His Excellency on his way to the Chamber, and the [illegible] from Nepean Point in a style that would have made the Yankee fish grabbers hunt the open water if they had heard it. How absurd it all is. We boast that we are a democratic people, while we cannot allow a Governor, whom we don't allow to do any more than he is told, to go out to read a speech, which he is not allowed to build, without punctuating his progress with cannon. But the public like it, and why should the public not have it? There were nearly all the familiar figures in the familiar places in the Commons. Mr. Laurier sat in his old seat, and Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Mills, Mr. Paterson, Mr. Weldon, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Edgar, Mr. Trow, Mr. Ellis and Mr. Langelier looked from their accustomed places toward the enemy that yet show no signs of weakening. Sir John Macdonald, the veteran leader of the House, was in his Windsor uniform, the very ideal of the Old-To-morrow of the popular heart, and chief of the Federal wigwam. Around him and about him were his Ministers and trusted supporters, with the exception of Sir Charles Tupper, who is yet confined to his room, and Mr. McLelan, whose arrival was temporarily delayed on account of some little irregularities which occurred down in Colchester just about a year ago. He was, however, officially reinstated before the proceedings were far advanced. The Minister of Finance, by the way, will also require a new introduction to the Speaker on account of certain transactions down in Cumberland at the same time that Mr. McLelan contracted his trouble. Mr. Blake's seat was also vacant, and there were many affectionate inquiries from political friends and from political foes for the latest reports from the former Liberal leader, and many sincere prayers for his early return to the field of his hundred triumphs of oratory and strategy. Nor was Mr. Mackenzie's seat occupied. The veteran member for East York has just arrived, and on that account was not able to be in his place at the opening. The only striking feature of the Commons' brief proceedings was the introduction of new members, and in that competition the Opposition did not show to their usual advantage. Ten to three leaves too big a majority in favor of the Government. The heaviest cheering was over Dr. Montague of Haldimand. He is a politician peculiarly dear to the Tory heart, and, it will be admitted, is a plucky fighter, while his political morals cannot be said to be worse than those of the Government which claims his allegiance.

The Speech From the Throne.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

It affords me much gratification to meet you once more at the commencement of the Parliamentary [illegible], and to congratulate you upon the general prosperity of the country. Although the labors of the husbandman have not been rewarded in some portions of the Dominion by an adequate return, the harvest of last year has, on the whole, been plentiful, while in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories it was one of remarkable abundance.

The negociations between Her Majesty's Government and that of the United States for the adjustment of what is known as "The Fishery Question" have, I am pleased to inform you, resulted in a treaty which will, I venture to hope, be considered by you as honorable and satisfactory to both nations. The treaty, with the papers and correspondence relating thereto, will be laid before you, and you will be invited to adopt such measures as may give effect to its provisions.

The extension and development of our system of railways have not only rendered necessary additional safeguards for life and property, but have given greater frequency to questions in which the interests of rival companies are found to be in conflict, and to require authoritative adjustment. As further legislation appears to be needed for these purposes, a measure will be submitted to you for the consolidation and improvement of "The Railway Act."

Experience having shown that amendments are required to render the provisions of the act respecting elections of members of the House of Commons more effective and more convenient in operation, you will be asked to consider a measure for the amendment of that statute.

The act respecting controverted elections may likewise require attention with a view to the removal of certain questions of interpretation which have arisen and which should be set at rest.

My Government has availed itself of the opportunity afforded by the recess to consider the numerous suggestions which have been made for improving the details of the act respecting the election franchise, and a measure will be submitted to you for the purpose of simplifying the law and greatly lessening the cost of its operation.

The growth of the Northwest Territories renders expedient an improvement in the system of government and legislation affecting those portions of the Dominion, and a bill for that purpose will be laid before you.

A bill will be submitted to you to make a larger portion of the modern laws of England applicable to the Province of Manitoba and to the Northwest Territories in regard to matters which are within the control of the Parliament of Canada, but which have not as yet been made the subject of Canadian legislation.

Among other measures bills will be presented to you relating to the judiciary, to the Civil Service Act and to the audit of the Public Accounts.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The accounts for the past year will be laid before you, as well as the estimates for the coming year. They have been prepared with a due regard to economy and the requirements of the public service.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I commend these important subjects and all matters affecting the public interests which may be brought before you to your best consideration, and I feel assured that you will address yourselves to them with earnestness and assiduity.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 24.

The appearance of the members as they took their seats in the Legislature yesterday denoted readiness to wade into the business of the day with heartiness. Premier Mowat was as ready as any of them. As soon as he spied Mr. Meredith across the floor, when the preliminary business was over, he ran his finger down the Orders till he came to No. 2, which said:

No. 2.—Second Reading Bill, No. 77, respecting the Department of Agriculture and other Industries.—The Attorney-General.

Mr. Mowat felt that this would raise a wind, but he was ready for it. The dispute lasted about an hour and a quarter, the Attorney-General laying down his reasons, Mr. Meredith replying, and Mr. Fraser winding up.

The Attorney-General, in moving the second reading of the bill, dilated on the importance of the agricultural interest, and threw forward several arguments why more encouragement should be given in order to further that interest. He sketched the history of the Agricultural College at Guelph, showing how it had grown in usefulness since its establishment by Sandfield Macdonald. He spoke of the built of the population being farmers, and the product of their industry forming the best part of the exports of Canada. The great change in the mode of successful farming made it a matter of necessity that a head for the Department of Agriculture should be appointed, so that the undivided attention of a competent man might be given to collecting and disseminating information for the farming community. Reference was made to the inauguration of the farmers' institute system, and to the good that was being done. Up to the present they had, in fact, the same number of Ministers to [illegible] the [illegible] Government since Confederation, for though a Minister of Education had been created the duties performed by him were performed by a general superintendent receiving the same salary as the Minister received.

In some measure of the importance of the interest over which the new Minister would preside, and in consequence of the immense augmentation of the public business since Confederation, that the new portfolio was to be created. It might be argued that, by readjustment of the duties devolving upon the members of the Government, the new portfolio could be created and still not increase the number of the Ministers, but that, he said, was a sheer impossibility.

The number of letters written in the Attorney-General's office during 1887 was nearly 7000, while during the first four years after Confederation their number was only a few hundred. As to the Commissioner of Crown Lands it was not possible for him to undertake new duties, as he had to look after the settlement of 100,000 acres of land in what was known as the disputed territory.

"The Commissioner," said the Premier, "will also have to devote attention to the mining interests. The mining interests are very important and demand close attention—[hear, hear]—and, while the Government has never lost sight of the importance of developing the mines, yet as time goes on they will receive larger attention."

The duties of the Provincial Secretary were gone into. They were enormous. "If any hon. friend had not been a man of exceptional ability and great power of organization—[Mr. Hardy smiled]—the duties assigned to him could not have been done. [Hear, hear.] Mr. Hardy looked after the work of the Provincial Secretary proper. The letters despatched by the Department were over 10,000, as against 1764 in 1872. Besides this he was Registrar-General, had charge of prisons and charities, and did all the business connected with Manners."

The duties of the Commissioner of Public Works were also described, as well as those of the Minister of Education, after which the Attorney-General came to the conclusion that no new duties could be placed upon his colleagues. In establishing the new portfolio he did so confident that it was a measure of true economy. With these observations he would move the second reading. [Applause from the Government benches.]

Mr. Meredith replied. He did not know, he said, whether the Attorney-General was preaching a valedictory or preaching a trial sermon. But certainly the hon. gentleman's remarks were the clumsiest and with much modesty. While the hon. gentleman was giving his lurid description of the work done by the members of the Cabinet the speaker saw modest Cabinet members blush, and even now he thought he saw the worst flow on the handsome face of the Provincial Secretary. [Mr. Hardy laughs.] The Attorney-General had proved [illegible] the subscription in the departments [illegible] for their subscription pittance. It was a wonder that good men could be got to do the work they did for the salaries they received. The comparisons made were altogether unfair.

Hon. Mr. Fraser said the hon. gentleman's reference to over-government was unwarranted. If he was in Nova Scotia, Quebec, Prince Edward Island, or New Brunswick, where a distinct branch of legislature was still maintained, the criticism would be in order. But here in Ontario, where there was no such branch, it was not in order. After the hum was caused out of the hon. gentleman's arguments there was nothing left. He wanted to know what pressure the Government had taken from the people. He had asked the question repeatedly, but had never got a satisfactory reply. The hon. gentleman's objection to the appointment of the new Minister were rank nonsense. It could not be supposed that the greatly increased work could be done by the same number, and he would say that the time might come for the appointment of another Minister to look to the special interests of the industrial classes. It was pitiable to see the hon. gentleman, who claimed to represent almost half the political opinion of the province, object to the small increase of $2000 a year to the cost of government when such grand interests were at stake. [Ministerial applause.]

The motion was put and the bill was read a second time.

Hon. Mr. Hardy's bill giving power to convey casuals to take charge of the material fronts and wharves or cemetery, was read a second time.

The House went into committee of supply and passed the estimates for consolidation roads. The total amount voted is $200,000. A long debate took place on the Government's policy in preserving new townships.

Three bills were read a third time: Mr. Legs' bill respecting Trinity Church; Mr. Legs' bill to legalize a Sarnia By-law, Manic by-law, and the Attorney-General's bill respecting the arbitration with the Province of Quebec in regard to the sale of crown lands before Confederation.

The Attorney-General, in reply to Mr. Meredith, stated that only financial matters would be considered.

The Attorney-General moved that the Quebec resolutions be taken up on Tuesday next. It was intended that these resolutions should be debated to-day, but in consequence of other business coming on they had thought it best to postpone the debate. Mr. Meredith asked that Tuesday be made a day for public business and that the resolutions be taken up on Wednesday. The Attorney-General had no objection.

Among the bills introduced and read a first time were these:

By Mr. Armstrong—An act to amend the act respecting the Parry Sound Colonization Railway Company.

By Mr. Freeman—An act to incorporate the City of Woodstock.

By Mr. Conmee—An act to incorporate the Port Arthur Water and Light Company.

By Mr. Fell—An act to incorporate the Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway.

By Mr. Balfour—An act to define the boundaries of the Town of Sandwich and the Township of Sandwich West.

By Mr. Hardy—An act relating to the enforcement of the Canada Temperance Act.

COMMENTS ON THE TREATY

CONFLICTING OPINIONS REGARDING THE NEW ARRANGEMENT.

Will the Senate Accede to the Terms of the Convention?—The United States and British Press on the Subject—Difference Delimited in Article IV. Supplied.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The Tribune's Washington despatch says: The Fishery Treaty will be rejected by an overwhelming vote. The only question is by how large a majority it will be beaten.

The Herald has the following from Washington: Luther Maddocks, Secretary of the National Fishery Association, said last evening: The treaty is a great disappointment to me. The headland question has been completed and not improved. There have not been any commercial privileges granted to us. The last section is a bid for our free markets, which means the utter destruction of the American fisheries. As to the protocol, it seems unreasonable to demand of our fishermen $1.50 per ton for trade which is of more value to the Canadians than ourselves, and in view of this fact it seems one-sided to require us to pay for privileges in Canadian ports which Canadians have in our ports without charge. Many telegrams received from different parts of the country to-day show me that there is but one opinion in this regard, and that is that it makes a bad matter worse. The promises of the Canadian press that the Canadians have been worsted in the matter is too ridiculous to be commented upon. I don't believe the Senate will for a moment entertain any ratification of this treaty, and I believe also that the only medicine that can help our case lies in the authority given the Executive under the Retaliation Act.

The Times Washington despatch says: Democrats and Republicans here differ in their opinion of the merits of the fisheries treaty, but they are generally agreed that the Senate is likely to reject it by a party vote. Particular indignation is levelled at the protocol providing a modus vivendi which goes into operation at once without the approval of the Senate.

The World says it is [illegible] with the Republican politicians should [illegible] in the Fisheries treaty, they are no more sincere that a Democratic Administration should acceptably settle a dispute which Republican Administrations have so long wrestled with in vain than they are for the success of the Democratic policy of tax reduction and revenue reform. It is also natural that Democratic partisans should be disposed to claim for the treaty more than it really accomplishes. If a compromise [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

VISITING MOTHER'S AND BABY'S GRAVE

SERMON BY LAYMAN.

(Written for the Examiner.)

In a wild and unsettled part of the country, in the far west, lived a religious and happy family, consisting of father, mother, and four small children. They had recently removed them from one of the older states, to make a new and a better home for themselves. They had, like many others, left behind relatives and early friends, and they went with light hearts to the place of their new home. By means of industry and hard work they soon hewed out a home for themselves, and they continued to work on feeling assured that within a few years they would be prosperous and happy. A few other settlers came in about the same time, and, as a result, a small community was formed, which afforded the means of good neighbourhood and assistance to each other in times of need. As years passed on other settlers also came in, and it is needless to say that a happy social intercourse sprung up and continued, and afforded opportunities for a peaceful and happy society throughout the new settlement. Ministers they had none. Doctors they had not. Schools they had none. And many other advantages and comforts of civilized life they had none. In sickness they had to depend upon the most experienced of their neighbours for help, and their medicines were composed of the wild roots and herbs of the woods. For religious consolation they meet together alternately in each other's houses and each in turn led in thanksgiving and prayer. And the instruction imparted to the children was the result of domestic activity and energy. They cheerfully endured their scanty comforts and when night came, after a hard day's work, they partook of their humble meal and then read their Bible and such other good books as their scanty library possessed, and then went to bed with grateful hearts, thinking of the days long since passed in this early home, but looking forward with faith and hope to the future and to the time when the country would be filled with people and schools and churches, and when plenty would fill the land. But the day was near when sorrow and loss were to enter this hitherto happy household. When the devoted husband was to be left alone. When one of the little seats was to be left vacant. When darkness was to overshadow the lives of this happy family. The loving and devoted wife and mother sickened and died, followed almost immediately after by her little baby, and they were buried together in one grave in the lonely graveyard near by. Then the house was left desolate. The father was bowed down with grief and the remaining children would get together and talk of mother and baby, wandering about during the day in sorrow and at night they would cry themselves to sleep. They laid their little plans how they would work and help father in his sore distress. And on Sundays, when work ceased and stillness reigned over the land, they would all visit mother's grave and keep it green and beautiful, and they would listen to the soft breeze as it mourned through the branches and the little birds singing their songs, as if in sorrow for the dead. Sometimes the children would call mother and baby, but they called in vain. They were now in their better home. It is a terrible thing, at any time, for children to lose their mother. The mother who nursed and cared for them, and who, in their infancy, so often sang them to sleep, and who wiped away their tears when trouble came upon them. Who put them to bed and carefully covered them and left them with kind words and wishes. Children, in their after lives, never forget these things, and in after years, when mingling with the busy world, they often love to think of their early days and call to mind the care and kindness of their good mother. But if the death of the mother is such a loss to the children, what must it be to the husband and father, especially in a new country far away from old friends and all alone in the wilderness. He has enough to do, with the encouragement and assistance of his wife, to keep up his spirits and work out a home for himself and his young family. And when the wife lives they can confer together as to the plans for the future, and when dark hours come they can cheer and help one another in their trouble. And, more than all else, they are company for each other in their lonely state, and the long evenings are passed in happy converse, in talking of old times, of friends left behind. And it is a pleasure to them to bear each others burdens. They sit together at night in their far away home listening to the cries of the wild animals in the forest around, and when the storm comes and the wind blow fierce and cold, they get nearer the warm fire and look around their small log cabin to see if the children are asleep and warm. But now the patient wife and comforter is gone. And she and her baby lie together in their lonely grave. The children left behind are full of sorrow and have no longer their mother's care and no one to guide them. The father is necessarily busy in the woods clearing up the land for future use, and the children have the care of the house during his absence, and are busy in their household duties and try in provide the father's meals when he returns from his work. And then, when the labors of the day are over the father and and children draw close together around the fire and they spend the long winter evenings in study and in reading such few books as they possess, and in talking about mother and baby, now far away. And thus they talk and cry until it is time to go to bed, when they all, father and children, pray for God's protection care over them, and that, in His own good time, make father, mother and children together again in His heavenly home, where there will be no more parting for evermore. Oftentimes, during the cold winter night, do the children listen to the fierce wind as it passes by their dwelling, and hear its cries and shrieks as it rages through the forest, and they say that poor mother will hear it no more. Her body is in the cold ground but her spirit and the spirit of baby are with the Lord. And so the long winter passes by. And then comes the spring with its returning verdure and with its innumerable birds singing their praises and their thanks for the goodness of a kind Creator. Then it is, when the grass is once more green and the flowers are beginning to bloom, that the children once more visit their mother's grave. And they stand around it in reverence and silence, and they call the name of dear mother and baby, and they listen and listen but there is no answer. They tell mother that they have been good children, that they always think of her and pray for her and baby, and they tell her how they work to keep the house tidy and to provide father's meals. And they make the grave nice and clean and plant flowers all around. And they sit down and speak in whispers and listen to the song of the birds in the branches above and go home again as night approaches, hearing afar off in the woods the mournful song of the whippoorwill, a sound so sad as to make them cry. For this bird is an image of loneliness and sorrow, and it reminds them of their own loneliness now. And as often as they can they repeat their visits, sometimes all together and sometimes alone, passing hours and hours there and never leaving until required to do so by some pressing duty. And often, after the hard day's work, and when the children are in bed and asleep, the lonesome and sorrowful father passes out of the house and goes to the one place where all his thoughts and feelings are now centred, and there, in the stillness of the midnight hour, and when no sound is heard and all is still, he sits himself down by the side of the grave and there he pours forth his soul in prayer and sorrow for the loss of his partner and helper, who was so great a comfort to him in his new home. And he continues to sit and think until the night is nearly spent and then returns to his lonely home. The children don't know of their father's great grief, nor do they know of his many midnight visits to their mother's grave. They rise early and go about their household duties as well as they are able, and they often wonder how poor mother would have done this or that particular thing, and as they think she would have done it so do they do it, and their father praises them for their industry and goodness. And when the anniversary of mother's death comes round father and children make a holy day of it and pass the time at the grave of her whom they will see no more in this world, and they talk over the past and they cry and talk by turns until night comes and they return home to talk and cry again until they go asleep. And the kind and sorrowing father puts them in bed and carefully covers them up and bids them good-night. And now they know that they are all alone in a far distant part of the country with few friends and neighbors to bear them company. And thus the seasons come and go and the years pass by and the land around is becoming more and more settled and cleared, and friendly neighbors are near and the children are fast growing to be men and women, and father's hair is growing white and his once strong frame is becoming bent with the effect of age and labor, but never do they forget their dead mother, nor do they cease their visits, nor at every coming year to pass that memorable day in solemn thought and communion together by mother's grave.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Mr. W. A. Foster, Q.C., appeared before the Master yesterday morning and explained that, owing to the large number of claims filed, 5000 in all, the liquidators were unable to lay before him a complete list of creditors of the Central Bank and the amounts due them. He accordingly asked for an extension of the time fixed by the advertisement, and the Master named Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, for the handing over by the liquidators of the completed list. Messrs. Howland and Gooderham have now full charge, Mr. Campbell having handed over the keys of the treasury, and they say a dividend of 25 per cent. next month may be considered assured, with a probable further dividend of the same amount in the near future.

Coroner Johnson held an inquest yesterday afternoon on the body of the female infant child found in a valise in the Grand Trunk waiting-room at Union Station on Wednesday. The evidence went to show that death had resulted from suffocation, and the jury accordingly returned a verdict of wilful murder against a person or persons unknown.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Feb. 23.—An improved tone was noticeable in the local stock market today. The number of transactions was small, but prices were higher. Montreal went up 1¼, Toronto 2¼, Dominion ½, and British American 1½. There was a rise in miscellaneous stocks.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

At the St. Lawrence market business continued fair. The supply of grain was even less than that of yesterday. Two loads of barley sold at 74c. and 77c respectively, and two loads of wheat at 78½c and 79c respectively. Oats were inquired for but none came in. There was a large supply of hay, and prices accordingly dropped. Hogs were easier and cheaper.

The following figures were quoted: Beef, hindquarters, per lb., 4c to 7c; beef, forequarters, per lb., 3c to 4½c; mutton, per carcass, 7c to 8c; lamb, per carcass, 8c to 9c; veal, 7c to 9c; pork, $7.60 to $7.25; chickens, per pair, 45c to 65c; ducks, per pair, 60c to $1; geese, per lb., 8c to 10c; turkeys, per lb., 12c to 13c; wheat, fall, per bushel, 80c to 81c; wheat, spring, per bush., 79½c to 80c; wheat, goose, per bush, 73c to 74c; barley, 75c to 76c; oats, per bush, 46c to 48c; timothy, $14 to $17; clover, $11 to $13; straw, $9; butter, pound rolls, 22c to 26c; butter, tub, 19c to 22c; cheese, per lb., 12c to 14c.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool reports to-day: Wheat dull, poor demand, holders offer freely; corn dull, poor demand. Prices: Spring wheat 6s 7d to 6s 8d; red winter 6s 7d to 6s 8d; No. 1 Cal. 6s 9d; club 6s 10d; white 6s 6d; club 6s 8d; lard 49s 6d; bacon 43s 6d; cheese 46s 6d.

OSWEGO BARLEY MARKET.

Oswego reports barley quiet to-day at the following prices: No. 2 c.i.f. Can. 68c, No. 1 Can. 69c, No. 1 bright 80c. Shipments 4100.

The Oil Market.

In New York to-day oil was fairly active, opening at 88, touching 89½ and 87½, and closing at 88½.

Oil City quotations to-day were: Opening 88½, highest 89½, lowest 87½, closing 89 offered.

BRIDGE QUESTION.—A public meeting was held in the Hall at Bensfort on Wednesday evening last, having been called by the Reeve for discussing the bridge question, he being desirous to know what inducement he could give the County Council at the next meeting to assist in the construction of the bridge. In spite of the extreme coldness of the weather there was a fair attendance The Reeve presented a scheme to the meeting, which caused a lively discussion but which was finally rejected. Our new councillor, Mr. Robert Fisher, at last made a proposition which was carried, to the effect that our own township and the town of Peterborough should be canvassed for the object of procuring subscriptions, which, together with a grant which might be obtained from the township council, would furnish a basis on which they might ask assistance from the county council.

LITERARY SOCIETY.—Our Literary Society is rapidly becoming an established factor in the social routine of this section, and its popularity is attested by the large numbers of both sex who attend its meetings. The regular meeting was held last Thursday in the hall, and the house was filled to the doors. A good programme was rendered by Miss McLellan, Messrs. J. Kerr, Huggins, G. Nurse, I. Kerr and Geo. Smithson. The subject for debate was:—Resolved, that wood is more beneficial to mankind than iron. The speakers on the affirmative were J. Stephens, Ed. Stirton and R. Fee, and on the negative, Ed. Truscott, S. Smithson and J. Fletcher. After a keen and exciting debate the Chairman decided in favor of the affirmative.

"There's many a slip betwixt the cup and lip," as a South Monaghan young lady and a Gore's Landing young man found when, having decided on matrimony, and making sure of everything but the minister, they drove to Indian River to find the wedlocker away from home, they had to return unspliced. But the attack being a bad one a minister was found and the happy pair are now babbling over with honeymoon happiness.

[NOTE.—A correspondent came covering the same ground as the above, but from another writer, was received after this was in type.

NOVA SCOTIA'S PARLIAMENT.

The Opening Yesterday—No Important Legislation Foreshadowed in the Speech.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 23.—The Provincial Parliament was opened at 3 o'clock this afternoon by Lieut.-Governor Richey. The Speech from the Throne alluded to the activity in mining and general improvement in business, and foreshadowed measures for the amendment and consolidation of the municipal assessment law, for providing a tribunal of arbitration in certain cases, and for the improvement of the administration of justice.

D. C. Fraser of New Glasgow has been appointed to the Legislative Council and will be leader of the Government in that body.

Mysterious Tragedy at Camden, N.J.

CAMDEN, N.J., Feb. 23.—At 3.30 last night a man of about 28, and a lady a few years younger, crossed the Delaware River from Philadelphia in a carriage on one of the regular ferry boats. When the boat reached the Jersey shore the pair alighted from the carriage and proceeded towards the City Hall. They had nearly reached that building, when two pistol shots were heard, and these who rushed to the spot found the two weltering in their own blood, the man a corpse and the woman injured beyond hope of recovery. An examination of the effects of both was made by the authorities, but nothing was found which would throw the faintest ray of light on the affair.

Death of Judge Mackay at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 23.—Judge Mackay died today at the age of 72 years. He was a son of the late Col. Mackay, who commanded the North-west Company during the Indian war of 1812, and was born in Montreal in 1816. Called to the bar in 1837 he steadily rose in the profession. In 1856 he was appointed a commissioner for revising the statutes, and was made a Judge of the Superior Court of this province in 1868. In 1883 Judge Mackay retired from the bench on account of ill-health.

THE NEWS FROM EUROPE.

PRINCE FERDINAND CALLED A "ROBBER OF POWER."

France and Russia-Bulgaria's Welfare—Dr. Mackenzie Honored—Legacies for Parnellites—The Queen at London—No Transportation—North Borneo—The Crown Prince.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Dr. Mackenzie has been appointed successor to the late Sir George MacFarren, in the Royal Academy.

The London British Medical Journal states that the Crown Prince begins to progress satisfactorily. The cause of the recent unfavorable symptoms was chiefly mechanical. The tube used after the operation of tracheotomy did not fit, and there was some delay in obtaining a second one.

A bulletin issued this morning says the Crown Prince did not have quite so good a night last night because of a slight increase of irritation in the trachea.

The Crown Prince appeared on the balcony of his villa this afternoon, for the first time since the operation was performed.

MIDNIGHT.—The Crown Prince has passed a satisfactory day in all respects and is considerably better. Dr. Mackenzie expresses himself as being exceedingly hopeful about his patient.

A New York Herald's special from Berlin says Russian stocks fell from one to two points yesterday. The weakness is explained in some quarters by a feeling that Russia's negotiations with Lord R. Churchill to give England special trade facilities in return for English neutrality has failed, but more generally it is thought to be due to the increased conviction that Prince William will be the next Emperor, and that he is indisposed to permit further massing of Russian troops in Poland.

The Revue des Deux Mondes publishes an article attributed to the Duc de Broglie, which excites much attention in France and Germany. It is argued that the political status of France is not likely to tempt foreign powers to court an alliance with her, and that there is an insuperable obstacle to a Franco-Russian alliance in the absence of any community of interests.

La Justice endorses these views, and pronounces strongly against an alliance with Russia.

The St. Petersburg Official Messenger says that several recent foreign private telegrams have asserted that Count von Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador at Berlin, has submitted proposals to Germany regarding Bulgaria. The Berlin treaty forms the basis of the order of things established in the Balkans in pursuance of the powers' understanding and constitutes the only international guarantee against convulsions dangerous to the future of the young Balkans. From this point of view Russia regarded the events that have occurred in Bulgaria since Prince Alexander abdicated the throne. Prince Ferdinand's arrival and his forcible assumption of princely power infringed upon the Berlin treaty. In accordance with a unanimous desire to terminate the existing alarming condition of affairs, whose root is more especially traceable to the ambiguous situation in Bulgaria, Russia considered it her duty to again try to obtain from the powers an affirmation of the inviolability of the treaty and the necessity of restoring the legal status in Bulgaria. The natural consequences of such a declaration by the powers must be the making of representations at Constantinople to induce the Sultan to convince the Bulgarian people that the person now bearing the title of Prince is not their legal ruler, but merely a robber of power.

Quinine for Horse Distemper.

Quinine is said to be the favorite remedy at Woodburn farm, Kentucky. Mr. L. Breckland, the superintendent of that breeding establishment, is credited with having given his method of treatment for distemper as follows:

"Give for weanlings from fifteen to twenty grains a day. We generally give this quantity once a day, but when first taken and the fever is high, give about fifteen grains twice a day, morning and evening. If the attack is mild we give only one dose a day, and continue till the distemper has left the system. The quinine allays the fever and is good for the inflamed throat. It is an excellent tonic, and so far has cured every case we have had, about 150 in number. In the early spring we had several very severe cases that I am sure we should have lost but for the quinine. These were yearlings, and we gave about twenty grains at a dose twice a day. Older horses can be given sixty grains a day, in two doses. Whenever you have fever use quinine freely, no matter what the disease. It is almost a specific for lung fever and pneumonia. I have cured two cases of lockjaw in sucklings this summer with quinine and altrophia, twenty drops of the latter to a dose. We are not particular to weigh the quinine, but guess at a dose. Put it in a spoon and place it on the tongue without elevating the head, or exciting the animal. We pull the tongue to one side, insert the spoon, turn it over and wipe on the tongue. It is easy to administer, and the animal gets it all. It is perfectly safe, and there is little, if any, danger in giving too much. As the weanlings in the south average considerably larger than our northern ones, a smaller dose would probably answer the purpose in this section. It might be better, on the whole, to get it put up in ten grain powders. Then the quantity can be regulated very easily, for if fifteen grains is required divide one of the powders in two, and add one half to one of the ten grain powders. As distemper is very prevalent in all sections of the country, the above directions should be remembered by those who have the care of horses."

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called
There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race:
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.
But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.
Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. Annual Meeting.

[illegible] meeting of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society is announced to be held in Music Hall to-morrow afternoon.

[illegible] Mr. Peter Hamilton, of the Agricultural Works, is a shrewd, active manufacturer, but during the past two or three seasons he has been caught napping. The demand for his machines, etc., was so great that before the season was over the supply was exhausted, and many farmers were disappointed. But he is now preparing against the possibility of disappointment. Last fall he enlarged his buildings and fitted them up with new machinery. He has a full staff of hands employed and every department is humming. They are working on large lines of seeders, mowers, binders, and Hamilton Sulky ploughs. In the latter the supply fell far short of the demand, but this will not be allowed to occur again. Of the Hamilton Light Steel Binder, which created so much admiration at the fairs last fall, an unusually large stock is in course of manufacture. Mr. Peter Hamilton is preparing to meet with a full stock the big trade he will doubtless do next season.

Monthly Meeting.

A monthly members' meeting was held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms last night, at which refreshments were served and a short musical and literary programme rendered. There were about 75 young men present, who, between the dining, game and concert rooms, spent a pleasant and profitable evening. A light refreshment was served by a number of the Charlotte street church ladies, who won the esteem and gratitude of all by the excellent "spread" they prepared. The programme was carried out in the audience hall. Mr. O. C. Rowse occupied the chair. After opening devotional exercises and the election of new members, verbal reports of the convention in Toronto were given by Messrs. Geo. M. Roger, E. B. Henderson, C. W. Beal and W. H. Stevens. They followed a desc[illegible] "Lady of the Lake" by Messrs. Henderson and Stevens. An impromptu debate upon the question "Is a married life preferable to single?" was conducted on behalf of the affirmative by Messrs. Arthur Tobb, W. Dee and George Schofield; the negative by Messrs. E. Henderson, F. Brownscombe and G. M. Roger. The affirmative was declared victorious.

Big Shipment of Horses.

On Thursday morning last W. H. Greer, of Brandon, Manitoba, [illegible] this vicinity for the purpose of purchasing horses, started for the North-west with two carloads (33) of horses. The horses were all of the better class, the mares especially. These latter, which are to be used for breeding purposes, are heavy Clydesdales, closebred—some of them thoroughbred. Amongst the lot purchased is a fine black stallion colt, sired by imported "Black Knight" (Clydesdale). He was purchased from Mr. Campbell, of Alnwick, for $500. He is a valuable horse, and will have an important effect in improving the breed of heavy horses in Manitoba. The horses were principally bought in East [illegible]rough and Northumberland. Good [illegible] paid for the good breeding mares. Mr. Greer intends to return in about a month to secure some more heavy breeding mares and a few general purpose mares.

The Band.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I have heard a very favorable enquiry, that those who attended the band at the Exhibition concert on Tuesday evening last, were more pleased and delighted than ever before with the performance and execution of the [illegible] pieces presented by their [illegible] on that occasion. I think every citizen should be proud of, as I have no doubt they are. Such a fine band would be a credit to any city in Canada, it is undoubtedly so to Peterborough, and I submit such a respectable and orderly body of men, gifted with such capabilities, should receive every assistance as well as encouragement. It is true they do receive many favors from the public, which I have no doubt they [illegible] very much, but could not a little further effort be put forth by an energetic committee of townspeople to secure for this able musical organization what they need very much, viz.:—four additional reed instruments at least. This fact must have been apparent to all lovers of good music. With this addition I feel convinced our band will take first place on all occasions. Let a committee of three be selected to take this up and push it through, say, get up a special subscription list payable in [illegible] to raise the amount required, which would not be large, and then complete the other details by consultation with the management. I am not a member of the band—never was—nor a member of the battalion, but if there is [illegible] organization more than another in Peterborough, which I, as humble citizen, feel proud of, it is the band of the 57th Battalion and Fire Brigade, and I am prepared to do my share by [illegible] five dollars towards the above object. Will any one take this matter up? I have [illegible] spoken to the leader, or any member of the band on this subject, but write simply as a warm friend of the band.

TAMESIS.

The Mission Band.

Entertainment in the Baptist Church—Officers and Programme.

The entertainment by the Mission Band of the Baptist church last night was a gratifying success from every point of view. The attendance numbered nearly 250, and the lengthy programme gave every satisfaction. The officers of the Mission Band are:—

PRESIDENT—Miss Nicholls.
VICE-PRESIDENT—Miss Gilmour.
SECRETARY—Miss A. Aldridge.
TREASURER—Stanley Matthews.

This was the children's annual entertainment, and the different pieces were rendered in a manner which reflects credit not only on the performers but also on the officers, especially Misses Nicholls, Gilmour and Ella Stratton. "Young Solicitors" (three of them), "America and her Neighbors" and "A Plea for all Nations," were especially well rendered. In the last, seven young ladies, dressed in the native costumes of China, Burmah, Siam, India, Africa, South America and the North-west Indians, made a special plea each for their nations; and last of all came a little Peterborough girl, dressed in rags, who said, "Whilst listening to the plea of those abroad, please do not neglect us little waifs at home." The audience were extremely gratified, and showed their interest by hearty applause. Rev. P. Clifton Parker occupied the chair. Following is the programme:—

PART I.

1. Opening Hymn.
2. [illegible] ..... Chandos
3. Chorus ..... "If We Try"
4. "What Can We Do?"
5. Recitation ..... Jos. McLeod
6. "What Shall We Give for Missions?"
7. Song by the little ones..."Something for Children to Do."
8. Dialogue ..... "Young Solicitors"
9. Recitation ..... "Was it a Little?"

Intermission of ten minutes.

PART 2.

1. "To Teach all Nations."
2. Recitation ..... Maudie Wallace
3. Song ..... Miss Hutchinson
4. "The Way Eight Little Girls Help."
5. Dialogue ..... "America and Her Neighbors."
6. Chorus ..... "What Can Little Hands Do?"
7. [illegible] ..... [illegible]
8. Recitation ..... "The Missionary Ship."
9. "Come Over and Help Us."
10. "Little Gleaners."
11. "The Plea of the Nations."

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A CHANGE.

On account of the death of Mrs. McEwen, the anniversary sermon to the members of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F., will be preached by Rev. James McFarlane, in the Methodist church next Sunday morning. The members of the Court will assemble in the Court room at 10 a.m. and proceed in a body to the church.

PRESENTATION.

Your correspondent happened into the band room on Wednesday evening just in time for an item, as at the conclusion of the practice Mr. H. Kempt stepped forward and requested the attention of Mr. Geo. Scrimger, the popular leader of the band, and in the name of the members, read the following address, which speaks for itself:—

Mr. Geo. Scrimger,

DEAR SIR,—We, the members of the Forester band, Lakefield, desire to return thanks to you for your efforts to advance us in the art of music, and for the kindness you have shown to us as members of the band. We all realise that you sacrifice a great deal of your time to advance us in our music, and it is the wish of all the members of the band that you accept this purse ($50), not as pay for your services, but as a recognition of your kindness to us, and as a token of the esteem in which you are held by us as leader of the band.

Lakefield, Feb. 22nd, 1888.

Mr. Scrimger made a brief reply, [illegible] the members for their [illegible] and [illegible] in the [illegible] work [illegible] and [illegible] efficiency of the [illegible] in the [illegible] same as in the past.

THE [illegible] VALLEY WORKS.

THE RULES OF PROCEDURE IN THE BRITISH COMMONS.

The Times' View of the Fisheries Treaty—The Russian Loan—The Crown Prince—The Queen's Drawing-room—The Doncaster Election.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—In the House of Commons to-night Mr. Wm. H. Smith, the Government leader, moved that the consideration of rules of procedure have precedence over other business.

Mr. Gladstone said he regretted the proposal for urgency, but would give the Government assistance in expediting the discussion.

Mr. Bradlaugh moved an amendment excluding Wednesday from the operation of the rules.

The amendment was defeated, 247 to 150.

A telegram from Gen. Boulanger to the War Office denies that he is connected with any electoral candidacy.

W. H. Fitzwilliam (Liberal-Unionist) has been elected in the Doncaster division of the west riding of Yorkshire, against Spencer Balfour (Gladstonian) by 5634 votes to 5429.

There was a small attendance at the first drawing-room of the Queen to-day. The Princess of Wales and her daughters, Princesses Louise Victoria and Maud, Princess Beatrice, the Duke of Cambridge and Prince and Princess Christian, accompanied the Queen. Her Majesty had a long conversation with Count Von Hatzfeldt, the German Ambassador, regarding Crown Prince Frederick William.

The London Times of to-day says: "There is nothing in the new treaty inconsistent with the principles of the convention of 1818. Canada makes certain concessions of no substantial importance to herself, and obtains in return a clear recognition of her rights under that convention. American opinions of the treaty are of course influenced by party lines; in British eyes, however, the success of the treaty depends upon the reception it may meet in Canada. Care must be taken not to judge Canadian opinion from the adverse comments of one or two prominent Toronto journals which may not have yet mastered the treaty, and were certainly not predisposed to regard it with favor. We shall be surprised if the majority of Canadians do not highly appreciate the settlement."

A syndicate of French, Belgian and Dutch bankers has loaned 90,000 roubles to Russia, but refused to advance a larger loan unless the Bulgarian question is settled peaceably.

Early last night the Crown Prince's rest was disturbed by coughing, but he slept well afterwards. The death of his nephew, Prince Louis of Baden, had a depressing effect upon him. He appeared twice on the balcony of his residence to-day and was greeted with enthusiastic cheers by the crowd outside, including many Germans.

The Prince of Wales has gone to Cannes.

Scouts have found Ailet evacuated by the Abyssinians. The Italians will occupy the place.

A critical operation is to be performed upon the German Crown Prince to-morrow.

The envoy of the Sultan of Morocco has asked for the Pope's mediation in the question of the protection of foreigners in Morocco.

Mr. Lloyd, the English Home Rule delegate, was sentenced at Kanis to-day to six weeks' imprisonment under the Crimes Act, for inciting tenants to refuse to pay rent.

The Bulgarian Government has firmly resolved to reject any proposal to dethrone Prince Ferdinand, even if such proposal be supported by the Powers.

Train Robbery in the Southwest.

TUCSON, A.T., Feb. 23.—The west-bound train on the Southern Pacific Railway was boarded by two masked men at Stein's Pass station about 2.30 last evening. The robbers forced the Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express messengers to open the express car, which they rifled of valuables but without disturbing the mails. The loss is said to be heavy.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

A SHORT DEBATE ON THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

Outlines of Dr. Montague's Speech in Moving the Address—Mr. Lawrier's Reply—Mr. Blake's Health Greatly Improved—Notes.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—The consideration of the Speech from the Throne was begun at 3.15. Dr. Montague, who moved the Address, was heartily applauded. For the first ten minutes or so he stuck closely to his notes, and every syllable was in its place, but as he grew more confident he trusted more to the inspiration of the moment, gaining in general effectiveness of speech more than he lost in precision. He spoke briefly of the coming departure of the Governor-General, but gave scant attention to the minor subjects dealt with in the Speech. The railway legislation he mentioned in a hundred words or so, while the crops of Manitoba were the subject of five minutes jubilation. He dealt with the fisheries on the lines of the Conservative press in a spirit which might be called apologetically boastful. It was when he came to dilate upon the prosperity of Canada that he spread himself, as his friends would say. He spoke freely and readily, his tone and utterances at times suggesting the campaign speeches of which he had been making so many lately. He spoke with particular unction of the prosperity of the farmers of Ontario, and compared it boastfully with the state of agriculturists in other lands. He closed with a glowing appeal for patriotism and union among Canadians.

Mr. Jones seconded the resolution. He has cultivated the style of an orator and speaks effectively. The seconding of the Address is a thankless business, for only certain things are to be said and then the mover always tries to say the best of them. Notwithstanding the difficulties in his way, Mr. Jones acquitted himself creditably.

Mr. Laurier was good natured in reply, and he sighed frequently as he gazed at the vacant seat of Mr. Blake beside himself. His main points were that the Government had failed eminently to carry out their promises made in the speech of last year. The Department of Justice had not been reformed or improved, the proposed portfolio of Trade and Commerce had not been created, the Franchise Act was for the especial benefit of maintaining the Government's majority, the Controverted Election Act was a legal enigma which the judges of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick could not interpret, and the country was steeped hopelessly in debt by reason of its unrighteous compact with the Canadian Pacific Railway corporation. "The vicious economical policy of the Government," said Mr. Laurier, "has handed our country over to rings, combinations and monopolies. Our boasted prosperity is mythical. If the alleged prosperity existed, why were thousands upon thousands of our citizens turning their back upon Canada and that prosperity?"

Kindly mention was made by Mr. Laurier and Sir John of the absence of Mr. Blake, and in saying that Mr. Blake was a man of whom any country in the world should be proud, the Old Man at the same time congratulated Mr. Laurier on his elevation to the leadership of the Opposition. This certainly puts at rest, for the present at least, any disquieting rumors as to who the Liberal leader really is. Sir John certainly looks to Mr. Laurier as the responsible head of the opposing forces, and he promised to have an "unofficial conference" with the gentleman from Arthabaskaville in arranging the diagram of debate on the fisheries treaty. This, of course, will be the big event of the session.

The Address was passed with the usual cumbrous formality of procedure, some other routine business was gone through with, and the House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

Notes.

Mr. Blake, who is now at a watering place near Rome, writes that his health is almost re-established.

Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P., is promoting two railway bills, one for a loop line railway from Schomberg to Richmond Hill, on the Grand Trunk, a distance of twenty-five miles, and the other from Port Hope to Inverkuron, the leading spirit in which enterprise is Mr. Clarence Moberly. The usual subsidy of $3200 per mile will be asked for in each case.

The latter line will doubtless create some opposition. It is the only line in Western Ontario running from east to west, the others being from north to south. The counties to be traversed are Durham, Ontario, York, Simcoe, Grey and Bruce. It will be known as the Canada Central Railway.

It is understood that the changes in the system of government in the Northwest Territories will involve an elective assembly. As at present constituted, one-half of the number are appointed by the Federal Government and the other by the people. A number of settlers, who are now practically disfranchised by the present electoral limits, are to be granted a voice in representation. The reorganization will increase the number of representatives by one and will exclude from holding positions in the Assembly the present ex-officio members. The services of Judge Richardson, one of the most experienced members, and other judges will thus be practically lost.

A CONTENTED CONDEMNED MAN.

Neil Tells Governor Green That He Would Not Escape if He Had the Chance.

Men were yesterday afternoon at work at the Toronto Jail pulling out from their grim corner, in which they are stored, the scaffold timbers for execution of murderer Neil on Tuesday next. The gibbet will not be erected until Monday. Meanwhile the woodwork is being tested; the posts which show any signs of decay will be renewed.

Neil betrays little change in conduct as the time for his exit from this world draws nigh. Yesterday he said to Governor Green: "You can believe me or not as you please, but I tell you if the door of my jail was opened I would not walk out. I am anxious to join my mother and father."

On Thursday evening Mr. W. H. Howland, Mr. William Gooderham and Salvation Army Major Coombes spent an hour with him, and yesterday afternoon the first two mentioned gentlemen again visited the cell of the condemned murderer to pray with him.

An Ottawa correspondent writes that there is not the slightest hope that Neil's case will be re-opened by the Executive. The Minister of Justice was absent when the case was considered and Sir John was acting Minister of Justice. It is not probable that Hon. Mr. Thompson will interfere.

THE LIZZIE BRAY CASE.

A Medical Journal Defends the Course Pursued by Dr. Ferguson.

TORONTO, Feb. 24.

Members of the medical profession are more or less interested in the Lizzie Bray abortion case on account of the strictures passed at the inquest by Coroner Powell on Dr. John Ferguson, who attended the girl in her final illness. On the strength of the Coroner's comments, the jury considered that "Dr. Ferguson should be highly censured for granting a burial certificate, knowing and suspecting what he did." Dr. Ferguson gave a certificate that death resulted from peritonitis: Although there was a suspicion that such peritonitis had been produced by criminal interference, there was no actual knowledge of such a deed. As Dr. Ferguson could get no information to confirm his suspicions, and as the relatives earnestly requested him to avoid a public enquiry, he gave a certificate of death from peritonitis, according to the actual knowledge in his possession.

The Practitioner for March contains the above facts, and in commenting on the case says:

The Coroner's remarkable and severe comments on the actions of Dr. Ferguson, bring up a question which in all its aspects is very difficult to settle. The physician is in a position frequently which necessarily gives him possession of important family secrets, and it is a matter of professional honor generally recognized, to keep these secrets sacred and inviolable. While it may not be proper to conceal a crime, it is hard to say when the doctor should become a detective, and go out of his way to hazard his knowledge, obtained in confidence, to the police or other courts. In the case such as the one under consideration, where a mother was compelled to witness that saddest of all misfortunes in this world—the death and everlasting disgrace of her daughter, when that mother in her grief and tears implored the physician to avoid publicity, and when there was no positive evidence of crime, we affirm, without any hesitation, that the majority of reputable physicians would have given just such a certificate as Dr. Ferguson did.

Gamble's Chances of Commutation.

Lawyer Murdock is living in hopes of getting his client Gamble off with a comparatively short term of imprisonment. "I know nothing definite at present," he said to The World yesterday, "but I do not think that Gamble will get more than five years in Kingston. He certainly will not be hanged, and I believe will get off with a comparatively light sentence. However, I will not know anything for a day or so yet."

THE TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE.

They Will Aid Manitoba in the Matter of Railway Accommodation.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.

An important meeting was that of the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon, when, after nearly two hours' discussion they placed themselves on record regarding the request of the Winnipeg Board for aid in securing accommodation for the carrying of grain eastwards.

The Board unanimously adopted the following resolution:

That this Board will co-operate with the Winnipeg Board of Trade in pressing upon the Government the necessity of speedily appointing a court of railway commissioners, with power to determining controversies between the public and the railway companies, to adjudicate on the fairness of freight rates, to prevent unjust discrimination, and to grant charters to railway companies, with other powers that may be thought necessary, believing this to be the only means of satisfactorily settling all differences that may arise between the public and the railway corporations.

The Board adopted the resolutions of the wholesale dry goods section regarding absconders and insolvents, published a few days ago.

This resolution affecting rebate on canal tolls was adopted on motion of Capt. J. B. Hall and Mr. A. M. Smith:

That this Board is of the opinion that the rebate of canal tolls paid on grain passing through to Montreal, either in Canadian or American bottoms, from the great lakes during the past two seasons of navigation was a beneficial one in the interests of the commerce of the Dominion, and would hereby ask the Government for its continuance till such time as the St. Lawrence route is made available for vessels drawing fourteen feet of water; and that a deputation to be named by the President be appointed to urge upon the Government at Ottawa the prayer of this Board in conjunction with the deputation from the Boards of Trade from Hamilton, Montreal, Winnipeg, and other points, and the deputation appointed by the Canadian Marine Association; and that the Secretary is hereby instructed to arrange for a joint meeting at Ottawa at as early a date as possible.

The Board adjourned after electing Mr. L. A. Tilley as a member of the Board of Arbitration, vice Mr. E. Gurney, resigned.

THE WRIT FOR RUSSELL.

Not Likely to be Issued Immediately—Postoffice Savings Bank Balances.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—The writ for an election in Russell will not be issued, as it is said, until the Conservatives of these parts have decided upon their man, and that may take a few days, or even a few weeks.

The nominations in West Middlesex and Prince Edward are on March 2 and the election on March 10.

The balance at the credit of depositors in the Post Office Savings Bank on Jan. 3 was $38,264,659; deposits during that month $738,779, withdrawals $391,698.

DEATH BEFORE DISGRACE.

J. B. LAWLOR SHOOTS HIMSELF THROUGH THE HEART.

The Act of a Man Driven to Desperation by Financial Embarrassments—He Leaves Eight Letters to Explain His Reasons—A Tragedy in the Rossin Yesterday.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.

A case of suicide under extremely sad circumstances occurred at the Rossin House at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, when J. B. Lawlor, until a month ago inspector for the London & Lancashire Life Assurance Company, shot himself dead.

Lawlor registered at the Rossin House on Feb. 13 and occupied a room on the third floor. He kept much to himself and lived quietly, never drinking. On Tuesday last he talked to Mr. Irish about his board bill, saying that he was daily expecting a remittance from the East. He said he was due at Whitby the next day and asked the host if it would be agreeable for him (Lawlor) to go there and forward the amount of the bill. This was not agreeable and so he remained in hopes of getting the money. Thursday morning he got half a dozen of letters from the East but none contained money.

Thursday evening Lawlor went to his room and evidently spent hours in writing letters. At 2 o'clock in the morning Mr. Thos. Murray, M.P.P., whose room is across the corridor, heard what was a shot, but which did not alarm Mr. Murray, as he thought it was a noise made by a steampipe or a shot outside. At 9 o'clock when he came down stairs he mentioned it to Mr. Irish, who sent his brother and a porter up to investigate. The door of Lawlor's room was locked and bolted, but on looking through the transom the porter saw the man's body stretched on his back on the bed and a revolver lying by his side. A boy was put through the transom and the door opened. The body, which was completely clothed, was cold and stiff.

Dr. Theobarn was called, and found that a bullet had entered the heart, and that death must have been instantaneous. On a table were eight letters addressed to Mark H. Irish, Rossin House, Toronto; Mrs. Arkle, care of W. Armstrong, 7 Bathe-street, city; Mrs. J. B. Lawlor, Vankleek Hill, Ont.; Mrs. Lawlor, care of L. S. Parteaux, civil engineer, St. John's, Que.; C. W. Young, Merchants' Bank, Stratford, Ont.; B. Hal Brown, Standard Building, St. James-street, Montreal; Lewis W. Shannon, Kingston, Ont., and London & Lancashire Life Assurance Co., 107 St. James-street, Montreal.

The letter to Mr. Irish reads:

TORONTO, Feb. 23, 1888: Dear Sir,—I owe you a few words of explanation for what I am about to do. I have been in financial difficulties for some time past. I have been endeavoring to negotiate a loan here in Toronto to carry me over my difficulties, but have failed in doing so. To-day I received letters from the east stating that several of my creditors have entered suit against me. I am powerless to meet their demands, so prefer death to disgrace. I rely on your honor as a gentleman to respect my confidence. Tell the reporters simply that financial embarrassment is my sole reason for this. Send the bill for my board to my private address at Vankleek Hill, Ontario, as I am not here this time in my official capacity as I did you to suppose. The amount will be sure you in due course.

Please mail the letters I leave on my table with the exception of the one to Mrs. Arkle, which you will kindly have delivered at once by a messenger, as I wish her to break the news to my wife.

Please do this and you will confer a favor on a heartbroken, miserable man. Yours, J. B. LAWLOR.

Coroner Duncan was notified, but on learning the circumstances decided that an inquest was not necessary and gave a certificate to that effect. Mr. Irish sent by messenger the letter to Mrs. Arkle, who visited the hotel. She had not known Lawlor, but was intimately acquainted with his wife who is a sister of Judge Dartnell of Whitby.

Undertaker W. H. Stone was called in and prepared the body for interment. Mr. Irish telegraphed to Mrs. Lawlor, Judge Dartnell, the London and Lancashire Life Assurance Co., and the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association, Montreal, one of whose 1257 tickets was found on the body. The replies he received intimated that Judge Dartnell would arrive to take charge of the body, and that the deceased was not a member of the Travelers' Association. The London and Lancashire Assurance people wired:

Regret we cannot do anything. Has not been working for us for over a month.

Judge Dartnell arrived by the 10.40 G.T.R. train last night from Whitby and took charge of the dead man's remains, which were removed to Undertaker Stone's establishment in Yonge-street. Judge Dartnell was undecided as to the burial place, not having received instructions from Mrs. Lawlor. The body, however, will probably be placed in a vault in St. James' Cemetery temporarily, and then taken to Whitby or Vankleek Hill for final interment.

Judge Dartnell was not accessible to reporters. It is said he was not well acquainted with his brother-in-law, having met him for the first time in Whitby a month ago. He again met him at the Rossin on Sunday last, when Lawlor made but a slight reference to his financial troubles.

Mr. George Wardell of 175 Sherbourne-street was well acquainted with the deceased, who was born in Hawksbury, Prescott County, Ont. His father was for years in the employ of Hamilton Bros., the lumbermen. He married Miss Louise Dartnell of that place about four years ago and has one child. During the construction of the Grenville Canal he was employed thereon as an engineer under Mr. Perkens, his brother-in-law.

Mr. Lawlor was about 35 years old, of good business abilities and address. Of late he has been engaged in two or three lines of business, but he never succeeded. The letter which he wrote the night before to Mr. Irish will show that he was in a cool and collected state of mind. It was written on the paper of the London & Lancashire Company in a steady business hand that displayed not the slightest evidence of nervousness.

The Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1888.

EXCEPT so far as it fleeces the earnings of labor, a tariff has no more influence, says the Philadelphia Record, upon wages than it has upon the tides of the ocean.

THE total amount contributed for public schools in the province of Ontario in the year 1886 was three million, nine hundred and ninety-three thousand, four hundred and eighty-three dollars.

THE cost per pupil per year in the High Schools and Collegiate Institutes of the province of Ontario was $35.70 in 1876 and $31.14 in 1886, and in that time the average attendance had increased from 4,719 in 1876 to 8,797 in 1886.

HON. MR. HARDY'S bill relating to the enforcement of the Scott Act, provides that the fines shall be applied in the enforcement of the Act; that the Government shall not contribute anything unless the fines are insufficient to meet the expenses; that where there is such a deficiency the Government shall make up one-third of it.

THE enterprising town of Woodstock is seeking incorporation as a city, and a bill for that purpose was introduced by Mr. Freeman Wednesday. Where is Peterborough's city project? Has it died a natural death, or are the advocates of incorporating Peterborough as a city, waiting for the census returns of the assessors for 1888.

OUR Dominion ministers have resolved to purchase in the United States the presses required for the new printing bureau. What a bad example, remarks the Victoria (British Columbia) Times. While preaching the doctrine that it is disloyal to purchase anything from the Americans, especially when retaliation is threatened by the Washington Government, they go to New York for machinery with which to do the Government printing. Surely the men who boast of "drawing their inspiration from British institutions" might have sent to England for their printing presses.

A VERY important bill, probably the most important that will engage the attention of the Ontario Legislature this session, received its second reading on Thursday. It was the Government bill creating the new portfolio of Minister of Agriculture. The object of the bill is a worthy one which none but the most rabid partisan politicians opposed to the government can have the assurance to condemn. The magnitude and importance of the interest of the farmers in Canada are too great and too ardent to be ignored, and in Ontario, an especially agricultural province, is this fact to be remembered. Since Confederation the agricultural interests have been treated as a subordinate branch of a department, whereas there is no other interest so greatly in need of the attention of a department specially existing for the purpose of looking after its promotion. The work of other departments of the government is growing with the growth of the country and so great has the growth become that the agricultural department must be either squeezed out, or retain its subordinate position. This, the Mowat government, ever alert to promote the prosperity of the farmers, do not propose to permit, and the appointment of a Minister of Agriculture is the means adopted to place agriculture and its cognate interests upon the basis it should occupy. Of course Mr. Meredith, leader of the opposition, is opposed to the bill—opposition is his function. He cannot, he dares not, ignore the fact that the vast importance of agricultural concerns demands, in justice, a minister specifically charged with attending to the welfare of the farmers; he objects on the ground of economy. He says there is no need of a special minister at a salary of $4,000 per year. He argues that farming is not so important a concern but that it can find shelter in some corner of some already overworked department, and be attended to if possible, and if not, neglected. This is your true Tory policy towards the farmer. When protection was provided for the manufacturer, the farmer and his concerns were ignored. He did not, according to the protection theorists, need any protection. He was only fitted to shoulder increased taxes to enrich the monopolist manufacturer. The farmers, however, will have their minister, and the expense will be reduced to the lowest possible point. The new department will be merged with the Bureau of Industries and the salary of the minister will be the only additional expense.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 24.

One of the features of yesterday's session of the Legislature was the bringing down of the criminal statistics of the province for the year ending Sept. 30, 1887, as compiled by Mr. R. Christie, Inspector of Jails, Prisons and Reformatories. The morality of the people, if this is a fair guide, stands at about the same height as it did the previous year, and when compared with that of a few years back the comparison is still more favorable.

St. Catharines, according to its record, can wave the plume for either having a very moral town or a very good natured police force. Toronto's record looks blue. Inspector Christie says that in the whole province there has been an increase of 372 in committments for crime. If Toronto were left out there would be a decrease of 249, as in this city there had been the large increase of 621. The total number of committments for the year is 11,017. In seven separate years since 1876 the number of committments have been considerably larger. In 1877 the number was 12,092.

In perusing the report it is interesting to note the number contributed by each of the cities. The moral barometer of these places reads as follows:

St. Catharines	25	Brantford	232
Guelph	125	Ottawa	233
St. Thomas	177	Hamilton	241
Belleville	214	Toronto	391
Kingston	216

The crimes against the person shows a remarkable diminution. In 1883 there were only 886, the smallest number on record since Confederation. Crimes against property number 2133, as compared with 2214. On the other hand, offences against public morals and decency number 401, the largest since 1883, and offences against public order and peace 6686, the largest since 1884. The number convicted of these crimes during the year was:

Common assault	429	Fraud	83
Criminal assault	31	Larceny	1078
Murder	10	Misery	15
Manslaughter	13	Keeping houses of ill-
Arson	71	fame	25
Burglary	15	Frequenting do. do.	143
Embezzlement	26	Drunkenness	1437
Forgery	33	Vagrancy	2193

There were 5134 Canadians convicted, 1934 Englishmen, 2207 Irishmen, 693 Scotchmen, 732 United States men, and 326 other foreigners. Of these 3889 were Roman Catholics, 2276 English Churchmen, 1326 Presbyterians, 1326 Methodists, and 667 belonging to other denominations.

The number of married people suffering the disgrace of conviction for crime was only 3695, as compared with 7233 bachelors and spinsters; 2277 of the criminals were of temperate habits; 7740 were intemperate. Those incarcerated who could read and write were 8336 in number; those who could not, 2451. It cost $126,000 to maintain the common jails of the province during 1887. In 1886 it cost $128,000.

There were eight notices of motion on the order paper, but all were allowed to stand. Mr. Meredith intimated that he intended to press his motion to appoint a special committee to ascertain the mineral and timber wealth of Ontario, how to develop the former and how to conserve the latter. He would move it on Monday.

Twenty-nine public bills and orders were down for second reading. Mr. Garson's, to appoint inspectors of boilers and other devices under steam pressure, was at the head of the list. It provided for the inspection of the boilers and the examination of persons applying for the position of engineer. Engineers were to have technical knowledge, at least five years' practical experience, and would be called on to give $2000 security for the faithful performance of duty. Mr. Garson went into a defense of the bill, showing how many accidents had occurred through negligence and incompetency of engineers and faulty boilers. It was for the safety of the lives and property of the people that he introduced the bill. He asked to have the bill go to a special committee.

Hon. Mr. Fraser had no objection to sending it to a committee.

Mr. Meredith thought the Government should have some policy on so important a matter as this. Of course if they wanted to send it to a committee to kill it he could understand their course.

Mr. Fraser said his hon. friend wanted a more important matter than this referred to a special committee. The Government wished to have the bill go to the committee to have it thoroughly discussed. The Government were not committed to its details.

Mr. Phelps said his bill to amend the Assessment Act would furnish a good deal of information on this subject. He criticised Mr. Garson's bill, and concluded by moving a three months' hoist. The motion was declared out of order. "Then," said Mr. Phelps, "I move the House adjourn." [Loud laughter.]

The bill received its second reading.

Mr. Garson moved that bill No. 67 be referred to a special committee consisting of Messrs. Fraser, Balfour, Gilmour, Gibson (Burse), Gibson (Hamilton), Hess, Hudson, Ingram, E. F. Clarke, McAndrew, Widdifield, Wood (Hastings), Dryden, Garson, H. E. Clarke, Whitney, Phelps and Rayside.

Mr. Phelps moved in amendment that the bill be referred to a special committee, to be considered three months hence. The amendment was voted down and the motion carried.

Mr. Murray's bill placing restrictions on agents of printing establishments situated outside of counties, cities or separated towns, where the agent is canvassing for the sale of printers' supplies was brought up. Mr. Murray explained how harassing it was to local printers to have the agents of metropolitan printing houses come in and take the work away from them. Mr. Creighton was in favor of protection but would not go to this extent. Mr. Waters said the bill was "protection run mad." Mr. Fraser saw no need for the bill. Mr. Wood thought outside agents promoted a healthy competition. Mr. Murray withdrew the bill.

These public bills were given a second reading without discussion, and referred to the Municipal Committee:

Mr. Nairn's, to amend the Municipal Act.

Mr. Monk's, to amend the General Road Company's Act.

Mr. Garson's, to amend the Act respecting cemetery companies.

Mr. Garson's, to amend the Municipal Act.

It took just about 10 minutes to give these 12 private bills their second reading:

Mr. Bronson's, to incorporate the Central Canada Exhibition Association.

Mr. Leys', respecting the Toronto General Hospital.

Mr. H. E. Clarke's, to amend the Methodist Church Act of 1884.

Mr. Widdifield's, respecting the Aurora Methodist Church.

Mr. Wylie's, to incorporate the Town of Stayner.

Mr. Smith's, to incorporate the village of East Toronto.

Mr. Tooley's, to consolidate the debt of London West.

Mr. McLaughlin's, respecting the town of Bowmanville.

Mr. H. E. Clarke's, giving the trustees of the Toronto General Burying Ground power to sell certain lands.

Mr. Leys', respecting the town of Parkdale.

Mr. Bronson's, to incorporate the St. Patrick's Asylum, Ottawa.

Mr. Leys', respecting an agreement between the Grand Trunk and Midland railways and the town of Lindsay.

The House adjourned at 5.15.

NASAL BALM FOR

COLD IN HEAD

—AND—

CATARRH.

There is no disease to which Canadians are more subject than Catarrh—all ages and sex alike are numbered among the sufferers. It is impossible in the limit of a short newspaper article to describe the symptoms fully, but they may be briefly summarised: Cold in the head, difficulty in breathing, hawking and spitting, headache, pains in the region over the eye, stoppage of nasal passages, foul breath, droppings into the throat causing nausea and sometimes vomiting, poisonous secretions accumulating in the lungs leading to consumption. These are but a few of the many symptoms of Catarrh, a disease which affects 7-10 of our Canadian population. NASAL BALM is the only CERTAIN and POSITIVE CURE for this loathsome disease in all its forms and stages. NASAL BALM is the result of years of careful study, and is prepared with a view to radically cure those cases of catarrh, to which Canadians are most subject. It is not a liquid snuff or cauterizing powder, but a pleasant, never failing remedy, requiring no instrument or douche for its use. Easy to use, instantaneous in its effects, permanent in its cures. Ask for Nasal Balm and take no substitute of whatever name. For Cold in the Head there is no better remedy on earth to equal Nasal Balm. Do not neglect a cold in the head for in nine cases out of ten it will lead to Catarrh. Use Nasal Balm upon the first symptoms. This wonderful remedy affords instant relief and cures within a few hours. It can be used for the youngest child as well as for adults, and as a precautionary measure should be kept in every household. For sale by all druggists or sent in receipt of price (50c. and $1.00 per bottle) by addressing FULFORD & CO., Brockville.

PROOF OF ITS MARVELLOUS EFFICACY.

An Unequalled Remedy.

J. McKee, druggist, Peterborough, says:—Nasal Balm gives the most general satisfaction to consumers of any preparation I ever handled. My sales are large and the reports from those who use it, fully substantiate your claims for the medicine as an unequalled remedy for catarrh in the head.

Worth Ten Times its Cost.

T. W. Hunt Port Hope says: I was a sufferer from a long standing case of catarrh and, being urged by friends who had derived relief and its effect was pleasant, soothing and healing. It acted like magic and is worth ten times its cost for the immediate relief it gives. I feel confident the second bottle will effect a permanent cure. I have recommended Nasal Balm for cold in the head and in every case it acts like a charm.

Acts Like a Charm.

John Foster Raymond says:—Nasal Balm acts like a charm for any catarrh. I have only used it a short time and I now feel better than at any period during the last seven years. In fact I am glad to say a cure and at a very small expense.

Feels Like a New Man.

A. E. Fish, merchant, Belleville, states: I take great pleasure in recommending your Nasal Balm to any one troubled with that dreadful disease, catarrh. I have been troubled with it for the past fifteen years, and can say candidly that I never had anything that gave me half so much relief as your Nasal Balm. I have only used two bottles and I feel like a new man.

Beats the World.

D. Derbyshire, president Ontario Creamery Association, Brockville, says:—Nasal Balm beats the world for catarrh and cold in the head. In my own case it effected relief from the first application.

$1.50 for 50 cents.

Capt. D. H. Lynn, manager and proprietor of the C. P. R. and R. W. & O. R. car ferry Prescott, and Ogdensburg N. Y. says: I used Nasal Balm for a prolonged case of cold in the head. Two applications effected a complete and thorough cure in less than 24 hours. I would not take $150 for my bottle of Nasal Balm if I could not replace it.

It Never Fails.

Ex Mayor Bowie, Brockville, Ont., says: I used Nasal Balm for a bad case of catarrh, and it cured me after having ineffectually tried many other remedies. It never fails to give immediate relief for cold in the head.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Trade Duller Than is Usual at This Season—The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Dun, Wiman & Co.'s weekly review of trade will say: Both legitimate trade and speculation continues duller than is usual at this season, though moderate improvement in trade is noticed at Memphis, Charleston, Kansas City and Milwaukee, and in speculation there has been a little more activity in stocks. To natural causes of dullness at this season there is added quite unusual uncertainty in several important branches of business. The termination of the Reading strike has come at last, and, as was suggested some time ago, it only increases the uncertainty in the iron business. Efforts to settle railroad wars have not succeeded, but new cuts cause much disturbance. The sugar trust meets unexpected opposition threatening its existence. Operations of other syndicates or combinations make it impossible to forecast the future in many trades, and meanwhile the uncertainty as to Congress acting on the tariff is in no degree lessened. Within a few days the sharp rise in foreign exchange has also rendered the future of the money market less clear.

The Week's Disasters.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 227 and for Canada 33, or a total of 270 failures, as compared with a total of 213 last week and 239 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 209, made up of 186 in the United States and 23 in Canada.

THE SYSTEM PRAISED.

Hamilton's Civic Deputation Returns From the City of the Straits.

HAMILTON, Feb. 24.—Part of the civic deputation which went to Detroit for the purpose of inspecting the police telephone and signal service system returned this morning. They are unanimous in praising the system and think its adoption here could not fail to benefit the police department very much. The only question with them all is whether the expense of a system suitable to this city will be within the amount which the committee can afford.

Last night the contractors and builders of the city held their second annual supper, 108 sitting down to the feast, which was supplemented by the usual toasts.

At the residence of Mr. John Proctor, East Hamilton, last night Miss Minnie Green, niece of Mr. Proctor, was married to Mr. John Meedie, jr., son of Mr. John Meedie, the well-known King-street merchant.

Yesterday afternoon a plumber named David Chambers, while fixing a leak in a gas pipe in the jewelry store of H. Neal, lighted a match to try if the leakage was stopped. The room was full of gas, and it exploded, knocking the plaster off the walls and scorching Chambers' eyebrows and hair and badly burning his face and arms. He is confined to the house. Neal was blown clear across the room.

Mrs. B. E. Keefer of Toronto lectured in Zion Tabernacle last night under the auspices of the Literary Society of that church.

William Watson, a young man from Toronto, who follows the profession of a pedlar, was arrested by Constable Lowery on a charge of being insane. It is alleged that he has been drinking so heavily of late that he has gone out of his head. He was remanded at the Police Court this morning.

THE JUNCTION CUT ACCIDENT.

Conclusion of the Coroner's Inquest—The Verdict of the Jury.

HAMILTON, Feb. 24.—The inquest to enquire into the cause of the accident on the Grand Trunk Railroad near this city on Feb. 16, was concluded to-day. After hearing the evidence of Hutchison of the express and Brakeman Peacock of the freight, the jury brought in the following verdict:

The said accident was caused by the neglect and disobedience of Conductor David Vince in running out of the Junction Out on the main line of Toronto branch without first having ascertained by the examination of the train register book whether the Toronto train had passed the Junction out or not.

Distinguished Highwaymen.

BANGOR, Me., Feb. 24.—Clarence Whitney and James Foster yesterday pleaded guilty to the charge of having robbed and almost murdered an old farmer named Peter Bennett, residing near East Newport. Foster says he pleaded guilty to save the name of his people. He also states that he has every cent of the $33,000 stolen. He would not tell his true name if anyone should offer him the money that was stolen. It is believed that Foster belongs to a prominent family in New York. Whitney is the son of a Baptist preacher.

Wine Production in France Increasing.

Montreal's Wealth.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24.—At a meeting of the Civic Finance Committee this afternoon a statement was submitted showing the total value of property in the city to be $142,641,725, exemptions $27,021,925, assessed value $93,929,257, and total amount collectable $997,646.55. Last year's collections on revenue account amounted to $1,940,464, being an increase of $39,238 over 1886.

The Susquehanna Ice Gorge.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 24.—The ice on the Susquehanna is now gorged from Myles' Ferry to Chickies, a distance of twenty-one miles. Reports from up the river say that the gorge has broken at Clark's Ferry. Serious damage is apprehended.

Incendiarism at Midland.

MIDLAND, Feb. 24.—A fire broke out at 2 o'clock this morning in Wylie's new saw mill, resulting in the total destruction of the mill and machinery. Loss $8000, insured in British American for $4000; cause incendiarism.

If you suffer from dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; if the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; and there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice being changed and having a nasal twang; the breath offensive; smell and taste impaired; experience a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough, and general debility, then you are suffering from chronic nasal catarrh. Only a few of the above named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case at one time, or in one stage of the disease. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, less understood or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians. The manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer, in good faith, $500 reward for a case of catarrh which they cannot cure. The Remedy is sold by druggists at only 50 cents.

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called
There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the gray and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.
But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dereswend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.
Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dereswend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DERESWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. Their Anniversary.

Monday evening the annual tea and anniversary of Court Peterborough No. 29, C.O.F., will be held at the lodge rooms. Besides refreshments a literary and musical programme will be carried out. Tickets are 25c.

Correction of Date.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the sale of thoroughbred cattle at "Walkerfield" in another column, and to particularly note that the date of the sale is March 7th, NOT March 17th, as incorrectly given in an advertisement in the columns of a local contemporary.

Imperial Federation League.

The regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Imperial Federation League, will be held very soon. The delay has been caused by the inability of those gentlemen who have been preparing papers upon subjects of interest to the League to have them ready in time.

Forestry.

By order of the Chief Ranger the members of Court Peterborough No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, are requested to assemble at the Court Room to-morrow at 2.30 p.m., for the purpose of attending divine service at St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, at 3.30 p.m. Members of Court Little John are respectfully invited to attend.

Stock Breeding.

The Janetville correspondent of the Lindsay Warder writes:—"Mr. Wm. Magee, of Lake View farm, is determined to take the lead in stock raising. He has purchased three more thoroughbred cattle from R. Kincaid, of Peterborough, one beautiful cow 4 years old, "Rose of Walkerfield," and her calf, "Nettie of Walkerfield," and a year old from his famous cow "Duchess of Newcastle" and her sire, "Dandy 11," all registered in the new Dominion herd book. Mr. Magee's herd consists of eight head, one male and seven females."

That Debate.

Says the Lindsay Post:—"The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. have notified the Lindsay branch that they will send a contingent of their picked and tried debaters to Lindsay in the course of a couple of weeks to discuss the question of "Woman Suffrage." The communication has caused a flutter in the Y.M.C.A. debating circles, and the champions are already over-looking their armour and preparing for the fray. A large audience will, no doubt, be attracted by the interesting character of the subject selected. The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. male quartette club will accompany the party."

Methodist Missionary Services.

Missionary anniversary services will be held in Charlotte and George street Methodist churches to-morrow morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Hiraiwa will preach at 11 a.m. in the Charlotte street church and Rev. Dr. McDonald in the George street church at the same hour. Both these reverend gentlemen will speak in each of the above-named churches at the evening meeting. Dr. McDonald has been engaged in missionary work in Japan for the past fifteen years, and has been one of the most eminent laborers in that field. Rev. Mr. Hiraiwa is a native of Japan, and is one of the first converts to Christianity through the labors of the Canadian Methodist missionaries. He will appear to-morrow in his native costume.

In Their New Premises.

The Metropolitan Grocery Company's New Store.—Large, Handsomely Furnished and Well Stocked.

To-day Messrs. T. W. Robinson and Co., of the Metropolitan Grocery, re-entered their Simcoe street store, which for the past month or two has been undergoing repairs and improvements. Mrs. Nicholls, who owns the block and bore the expense of the work, has spared no pains to make it the nobbiest grocery store in town. It is a fitting companion to the mammoth dry goods establishment of Hall, Innes & Co., alongside. In front the windows have been enlarged and deepened, and plate glass, with outside ventilators to prevent frosting, put in. On entering the store one is attracted by the bright, cheery expression of things everywhere observable. The floors are of solid maple, the ceiling and walls are handsomely papered, the shelves and counters (walnut-topped) are of mahogany finish; the stock (of which Mr. Jas. Emmerson had the arrangement) is displayed to the best advantage and convenience. In the store is the handsomest set of tea caddies and meal bins in Ontario. They are decorated in the Japanese style of art, in black and gold. The bins hold a barrel each. Further on are a couple of dozen spice tins of the same class only smaller. They were made by Henry Troemner, Philadelphia, who also supplied a unique candy scales. The Hazzard cash railway, with four stations, tables a noticeable feature of the fittings, and a biscuit case built by Mr. A. Clegg is a decided novelty. The gas chandeliers are of handsome design, and of sufficient number to furnish ample light. The shop is comfortably heated by steam. At the rear is a large refrigerator and private office. An enclosed hoist runs from top to bottom of the building, and will be a great convenience to the firm in handling heavy material. The upper stories have not been touched; they will be used for storing superfluous goods.

The arrangement and display of the stock is worthy of notice. The different departments, on the shelves are separated by recesse in the shelving, forming glass cases with ornamental gables. There are the potted meats, the candies, the farinaceous foods and salt, mustard, baking powder, etc., on one side; a collection of shelf goods of different varieties on the other, all pure, fresh and cheap as it is possible to make them. Beneath the counters are large drawers for sugar, raisins, currants, etc., holding a barrel each, which operate on rollers and can be easily handled with ease. The stock of the Metropolitan grocery comprises all the staple and fancy lines in the trade, confectionery, fish, etc. In their new premises T. W. Robinson & Co. will be better able than ever to supply an appreciative and confident public with best goods at rock-bottom prices.

Credit must be given to the local contractors who did the work. Mr. Wm. Lilley did the painting; Mr. Audw. Douglass the carpentering; McAndrew & Noble the steam-fitting; Mr. D. Bellegham supplied the counters.

The Scott Timber Limit Suit.

In the court of Queen's Bench (Hon. Mr. Justice Street) on Friday, the twenty-fourth day of February, A.D. 1888, the following decision was given in reference to an injunction applied for in the case of Thomas Henry Alexander Scott versus Messrs. the Benedicts, the Rathbun Co. and others:

"Upon motion made unto this Court this day on behalf of the plaintiff for an order restraining the defendants, the Rathbun Company, from cutting or removing timber, trees or logs upon the timber limits, in the statement of claim herein referred to (the Scott limits) until the hearing herein; upon hearing read affidavits of T. H. A. Scott, John B. McWilliams, W. R. Aylesworth, Thomas Callaghan and others, and upon hearing what was alleged by counsel for the applicant, and for the defendant company, and the defendant company by their counsel voluntarily offering to keep an account in the ordinary course of business, of the logs cut, without in any way admitting any right on the part of the plaintiff to require such account, and without prejudice in any way to the rights of the defendants.

It is ordered that the said application be, and the same is, hereby dismissed, and that the costs thereof be reserved to be disposed of at the trial of this action.

On the motion of Mr. Moss, Q.C., of counsel for the defendant company.

By the Court,
JAMES S. CARTWRIGHT,
Regr. Q. B. D., H. C. of J."

'Twas a Famous Victory.

The Peterborough Curlers Beat the Rinkmess and Win the Governor-General's Trophy.

Truro is vanquished and the Governor-General's cup comes to Peterborough! Yesterday's match at the Capital was plain sailing for the local curlers, who walked right away from their opponents and nearly doubled their score. Here it is:—

Majority for Peterborough, 23 shots.

The Governor-General's cup is a handsome piece of silverware, valued at about $80 or $75. It becomes the final property of the club winning it, so that the Peterborough's now have a beautiful memorial to the prowess. Both clubs competing dined with His Excellency the Governor General. The curlers at home were right glad to hear of the Peterborough team's victory, and the members of the winning rinks are to-day receiving the congratulations of their brethren of the stone an' besom.

Personal.

Mr. Wm. Sanderson, of Cavan, and his bride returned to town last evening from their honeymoon tour in Middlesex.

Mr. J. W. Flavelle, who has been for some time doing business in Toronto, has been admitted to the firm of D. Gunn & Co., the well known pork-packers and wholesale provision merchants, Toronto, taking the place of the retiring partner. Mr. Flavelle still retains his Peterborough business.

From Another Cause.

A few weeks ago, it will be remembered, Mr. Baptie's terrace on London street took fire one evening, though very little damage was done. The newspapers at the time accredited the cause of the blaze to a defective flue. It has since been discovered that such was not the case, and in justice to the builder, whose reputation might have been unwittingly injured thereby, the correction is made.

PETERBORO'S POST OFFICE

Completed At Last and Occupied To-day.

A Description of the New Post Office Building, corner Hunter and Water Streets—How a Letter Passes Through—The Men Who Did the Work—A Handsome Government Building.

The new Government building that is to do duty as post office for Peterborough has been finally completed, and Post-master Rogers took possession to-day. The ins and outs of this post office business are familiar to readers of the EXAMINER. For a long number of years past it was used as a Government bait to catch political support, and not till the winter of 1885 did the plans finally arrive. Next spring saw the beginning of the work, and this spring its completion. Thus nearly two years have been required for its building. The time has been well spent, though, as the building is massive, handsome and well put together. It will cost the Government $30,000, all told.

Of the exterior appearance little need be said—the building stands in a prominent place and an idea of

can better be gained by a personal visit than newspaper description. Its Hunter street frontage is 60 feet, with a side measurement of 50 feet. To the mansard roof its elevation is 52 feet, the clock tower (in which as yet there is no mammoth chronometer) rising about 15 feet higher. In general, the building is of the Queen Anne style, of red brick, tuck-pointed. The handsome mansard roof and gables are covered with slate, the roof-deck with galvanized iron. The windows are arched and all plate-glass, with cathedral glass tops; the window quoins, plinths and sills of dressed limestone. The stone arches over the windows are enriched with carved work, which alone cost a handsome figure. There is only one main entrance on the corner of the streets, the doorway provided for originally on Hunter street having been closed up and drop-boxes placed in. Massive flights of stone steps lead up to each of these doorways. In the summer a granolithic pavement is to be laid down in front of the building on Hunter and Water streets. On Water street is a private entrance for the postmaster. A high brick wall encloses a spacious yard in the rear, from which a driveway runs out to Hunter street. So much for the exterior; now for the

INTERNAL ARRANGEMENT.

Entering from the street corner the visitor finds himself in the tile-floored vestibule directly under the clock-tower, from which two doors open out into the main lobby, a cursory glance at which will at once convey to the intelligent observer the fact that no expense has been spared in the appointments of the interior. Polished maple floors, lofty tesselated ceiling, radiant brass desk furnishings, white ash woodwork, and all fresh cheery-looking and comfortably heated—it is indeed a complete building. Five large iron pillars support the ceiling. On stepping into the lobby, one is confronted by a high facade of lock boxes, ranged tier above tier, the whole extending along two sides of the lobby, and forming a barricade that shuts off the rest of the interior from view. The boxes are of the standard government pattern, and were made by a Montreal firm.

ABOUT THE BOXES.

There are 700 lock-boxes, 240 call-boxes and 60 large drawers. These call-boxes are at the right hand side of the general delivery and were originally intended for lock-boxes, but the postmaster considered it better to have them altered. A great many families have boxes but very little mail matter, and their children call at the office half a dozen times a day for letters. These can go to the boxes and, if there is any mail, call for it at the general delivery. Thus the mail clerk will be saved an endless amount of trouble looking through heavy packages of letters, nine times out of ten for nothing, the person after mail matter will save time by not having to wait at the general delivery perhaps a quarter of an hour during a crush, and there will be no trouble from children losing keys. For the lock-boxes the postmaster has a key-board comprising the whole range. Each box has three keys, two of which are given out to the lessee of the box, the third being retained at the office as a model, for in case the others are lost new ones will have to be made from it. Postmaster Rogers formerly gave out all the keys, and as a consequence there are a great many without keys at all now. To avoid confusion, patrons will be allowed to retain their old numbers in the new place, as far as possible.

THE GENERAL DELIVERY is in the middle of the facade, jutting out from it in horse-shoe shape, the pigeon-holes extending inward and almost encircling the mail clerk, who can stand in one position and readily reach any of the boxes in response to calls.

In the corners furthest from the lobby doors are drop-boxes for letters and papers. There is also a drop outside on Hunter street in the western corner of the building.

In the opposite corner is situated the stamp-vendor's office, of which Mr. W. Salisbury has been very wisely appointed manager. All stamps must be purchased here. An attendant will always be on hand to supply the public.

THE MONEY DEPARTMENT.

A polished brass inscription on a doorway in the partition informs the visitor that it leads to the money order and registered letter department. Entering, one finds himself in a small compartment furnished with a counter and brass wire screen, behind which an obliging clerk will be found ready to serve the public. This department as well as the main lobby is provided with a writing desk for general use.

Another doorway just ahead leads into the postmaster's private office, comfortably furnished and withal a cosy nook to do business in. Doors open out from this, one into the hall-way off Water street, the other into the inner space behind the lock-boxes and money order office.

WHERE THE WORK IS DONE.

In this large room the clerks will attend to Her Majesty's mail matter with expedition and comfort. Everything is arranged for convenience, and the staff of five will be able to do much more work in less time than they could in the old premises. The vault is a huge affair, and was supplied by J. J. Taylor & Co., Toronto. The place is supplied with lavatories for the ladies and gentlemen, clothes press, stationery closet, etc. Handsome gaseliers will be the means of supplying artificial light after darkness has set in.

In rear of all is a hallway, with staircase leading up to the caretaker's rooms above, and with a doorway on Water street and another into the yard behind.

TRAVELS OF A LETTER.

The course of a letter or paper through the post-office would be an interesting process to fellow citizens. Those dropped into the boxes either from the street or lobby are taken to the stamping or sorting table alongside, thence to the "general delivery"—a high rack of pigeon-holes comprising 44 different mails. The letters are sorted and placed in their respective pigeon-holes, these passed on to the out-going mail bags. A paper is next placed in the pigeon-holes with letters, but is taken right to the bag-rack. The office will be supplied with a new bag-racks patented by a Mr. Harrison, which for convenience cannot be improved upon. It is an iron frame-work, horse-shoe shaped, liberally supplied with hooks from which the bags depend. Papers are dumped down in the centre on the floor, the clerk picks up an armful and distributes them in the bags about him without any unnecessary movement. After the papers are all in, the letters are placed on top, the bags tied up and all sent off to the station.

THE INCOMING MAIL

has a more intricate process. The mail-cart drives up to the doorway in the yard, the bags are taken in, dumped on a long table right at hand and untied. The different packages are thrown on another table, the letters back-stamped, and then they, with the papers, undergo a preliminary sorting. There are four divisions and the home delivery. Peterborough is made the distributing point for mail matter all over the country, east mails are made up here for four different short mail or stage routes. Each of these routes is called a division, and its mail matter has a separate compartment. It will thus be seen that the equipment and accommodation of the new post office is admirable, and no doubt Mr. Rogers and his able staff of assistants will be able to give the public even better postal service than they have in the past.

DOWN BELOW.

In the basement is the furnace which furnishes the hot water for the entire building. The heating system is about as perfect as it is possible to be. Gurth & Co., Montreal, manufactured the furnace and boiler, and it was placed in position by Messrs. McAndrew & Noble, who had the contract for the heating and plumbing. They laid all the pipes and did their work in a satisfactory manner.

UP ABOVE.

In the third flat are the rooms of Mr. John Irwin, caretaker. It is possible, if not probable, that Peterborough will in a short time be made post office headquarters of this district, and then the upstairs will be utilised as Inspectors' offices, etc.

WHO DID THE WORK.

There was a vast amount of labor required to bring to completion a building of such magnitude and appointments as Peterborough's new post office. The work was all done in a thoroughly satisfactory manner, and those who performed it are certainly deserving of credit. Mr. Mark Curtis, Peterborough's prime brick-manufacturer, furnished the building material for the super-structure, while Mr. Edward Webb ably seconded his efforts in the line of brick-laying. Mr. Jas. Stewart, of Trenton, supplied the stonework, Mr. Henry Sherwood, town, having the contract for the masonry, and Mr. Thomas, of Ottawa, the carving. Mr. Geo. Curtis did the roof-slating and tile flooring in the vestibule. Messrs. J. Whyte & Co. made the iron pillars that support the ceiling. The maple flooring was supplied by the Ontario Canoe Company, and the box-fittings by a Stratford firm. Mr. J. D. Beptie had the contract for the carpenter-work; Messrs. Breese & Bain the galvanized iron roofing and gas-fittings; Mr. Alex. Rogers, the painting; Mr. Wm. Whitehair, the plastering.

THE CONTRACTOR.

The contract for the whole building was let to Mr. John. E. Askwith, of Ottawa, by whom sub-contracts were let to the local men.

Mr. J. E. Belcher, resident architect, had a great deal to do with the plans, and it was upon his suggestion that several improvements were made upon the original plans, to meet local requirements.

Honouring a Neighbour.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fowler Receive the Parting Homage of Their Neighbours—North Monaghan Hospitality—A Successfully Managed Occasion.

Mr. John Fowler, of North Monaghan, having retired from active connection with farming intends to come to town, to reside, about the first of March. His friends and neighbors decided to seize the opportunity to convey the expression of the esteem and respect which Mr. and Mrs. Fowler have won during their life long residence of the township. Accordingly on Wednesday evening, last, about seventy-five of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Fowler assembled at their hospitable residence. The early part of the evening was spent in social enjoyment and the amusements incident to rural gatherings. About ten o'clock Mr. Thos. M. Hunter, on the part of the neighbors, read the following

ADDRESS.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Fowler:—

DEAR FRIENDS,—Deep as is our regret at learning of your departure from our midst, our pleasure is greater in having this opportunity of meeting with you to say farewell and to give expression, as far as in us lies, to our sentiments of respect and esteem, and also of our regret at losing as neighbors, the most respected residents of this township. With many of us you have been associated in the intimate relationship which exists in rural communities. We have had ample opportunity to learn all your good qualities as good, obliging neighbors, and sincere, reliable and faithful friends. As such, you have won our love and respect, and we cannot find words to adequately express our sense of regret at the prospect of being deprived of the associations, which have been a source of pleasure to us for so many long years. It is true you are not going far from us, but you will form a part of a circle to which distance forbids us being admitted. You will form new associations and new friendships but we can assure you that you will find no warmer nor more faithful friends than those you leave behind you in North Monaghan. On behalf of those interested in the success of the Union Sunday School, it is only meet that we should take this occasion of acknowledging with gratitude and thankfulness the important and faithful services of Mrs. Fowler, and her efforts in this connection, have only been consistent with her record as an earnest and conscientious assistant in the promotion of every good work. We beg again to assure you that we shall greatly miss your presence from our circle, and that you shall have our prayers for your happiness in your new home in Peterborough. In slight token of our esteem and regard, we ask your acceptance of the accompanying gifts. They may serve to remind you of the friends that now surround you and whose prayers for your future happiness are blended with the hope that there remains for us a happy reunion in a brighter world beyond the grave.

Signed on behalf of your North Monaghan friends,

THOMAS M. HUNTER
JOHN MCINTOSH,
JOSEPH HARRISON.

February 22nd, 1888.

The presents referred to were a handsome silver water pitcher for Mr. Fowler and a beautiful silver sugar bowl and spoon holder combined, containing a dozen silver spoons for Mrs. Fowler.

Mr. FOWLER briefly replied, thanking his neighbors and friends for himself and on behalf of Mrs. Fowler for the beautiful presents, and what affected him more deeply the earnest expressions of respect and esteem. It was very gratifying to know that after spending a life time amongst the people he should be thought worthy of such high and, he felt, heart-felt honor as he had received that evening. The recollection of the warm place he held in the esteem of his North Monaghan friends would be one of the most pleasant memories he would carry to his new home. He gave thanks on behalf of Mrs. Fowler. The reference to her Sunday school labours only needed the remark that it had been with her a labour of love. She was only too glad to be able to promote any good work.

REV. A. BELL then added a few remarks. He alluded to Mr. and Mrs. Fowler as good and faithful church members, and he could bear testimony to Mrs. Fowler's zeal in Sunday School work, one of the most important departments of church labour—on it depended the future prosperity of the church. He could agree with the sentiments of the address and hoped that Mr. and Mrs. Fowler would thoroughly enjoy themselves in their new home.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON, M.P.P., gave a brief address, suitable to the occasion. He referred to the fact that the address, though highly complimentary, expressed, as far as his acquaintance went, only the simple truth respecting Mr. and Mrs. Fowler. He referred jocosely to the mistake Mr. Fowler was making in exchanging the independence and healthfulness of country residence for the confined and restrained limits of a town residence. The pleasures of rural life were insisted on, one of the happiest evidences of the happy relations existing between neighbours in the country being found in the present gathering. He congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Fowler on the possession of the high esteem of so many worthy friends. As a townsman, he welcomed the new visitors to Peterborough and hoped they would live to enjoy many long years of honoured citizenship of the town.

Refreshments were then served, and the spread was a magnificent one, served in the most faultless style. The whole spread would have done credit to any city hotel. The committee who had charge of the affair are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts.

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realise how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good suit for $5.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00—a good, serviceable Suit; while for $7.00, $8.00 or $12.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD'S CONVERSION THE SUBJECT OF COMMENT.

The Parnell Case in the Supreme Court—A Liberal Caucus—His Excellency Will Close the Present Session of Parliament—Mr. Laurier to Remain Leader of the Opposition.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—The alleged conversion of Sir John Macdonald is about the only topic of conversation at the Capital at the present time. The general idea seems to be that it is a capital joke.

The arguments in the Glengarry election case were concluded this afternoon in the Supreme Court, and judgment was reserved. Mr. Blake and Mr. Cassels left for Toronto this evening. It is said judgment will not be handed down for some time.

Hon. John Macdonald left for Toronto to-night. It is understood that when the Senate adopts the address on Monday it will adjourn for two weeks.

Hon. Alex. Mackenzie is expected to be in his place in the House on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Small are guests at the Russell House. Mr. and Mrs. Cockburn have engaged a house for the session.

The Opposition will probably hold its first caucus on Tuesday next.

Senator Gowan will move on Monday for a select committee to frame new rules, orders and forms to be used in divorce proceedings and to regulate the application for the same.

His Worship Mayor McLeod Stewart is the chairman of the committee which will give a farewell demonstration to His Excellency the Governor-General. Mr. Stewart said to The World this evening that the Governor would prefer a banquet to any other demonstration. It is intended to make the affair strictly national in its scope. The mayors of all the cities and important towns of the Dominion, also the governors of provinces, will be invited. An effort will be made to obtain the use of the Senate Chamber for the banquet, the date of which will be announced just as soon as His Excellency informs Mayor Stewart when he will leave for India. It is understood that His Excellency's departure will not be later than March.

Madame Ouimet will hold receptions in the Speaker's apartments every Thursday afternoon. The Speaker will entertain the Catholic members of the House on Saturdays and Sundays.

Until after Lent the Capital will be quiet socially. Small dinners are about the extent of the present revelries.

Hon. Frank Smith has still to walk with a cane, but his recent mishap is rapidly disappearing.

It is stated to-night that His Excellency is desirous of closing the present session of Parliament ere his departure for India, if the sitting does not extend beyond two and a half or three months.

There does not seem to be much truth in the rumors that the Liberals are in any way decided about their leadership. Mr. Laurier will general the party until Mr. Blake returns. Mr. Blake will, I am informed, be in his place at the next meeting of Parliament. Letters have been received by his friends here that his health is greatly improved.

Cannibalism in Hayti.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—A letter from Port-au-Prince says that recently the body of a child was found near that city. An arm and a leg had been eaten by Voodoos. During Christmas week a man was caught in the streets with a child cut up in quarters for sale. Cannibalism still prevails despite the forced statements to the contrary.

Burglars at Whitby.

WHITBY, Feb. 26.—Early this morning goods were taken from a Grand Trunk car in transit, and the team and sleigh of a farmer named Murphy were stolen to carry off the booty. The up-town statinhouse was also entered early this morning but nothing secured.

NEW STYLE OF SCAFFOLD.

PREPARATIONS AT THE JAIL FOR ROBERT NEIL'S EXECUTION.

A More Merciful Method than the Drop—The Doomed Man Unconcerned About His Terrible Fate—Antecedents of the Murderer.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.

Condemned Murderer Robert Neil continues to sleep, eat and talk with the utmost unconcern, notwithstanding the fact that to-morrow's sun will be the last he will see on earth. He claims to be prepared to die, but still seems to hope that something will turn up to prevent his taking off. His old viciousness has left him, and, although apparently not yet grasping the awfulness of his impending doom, he shows a treatableness of spirit entirely foreign to his former nature.

Neil after his condemnation let out hints to the men guarding him of certain knowledge that he possessed affecting several people in the city. These conversations were reported to Governor Green, and when asked by him to tell what he knew Neil flatly denied ever having mentioned to anyone anything of the character claimed. It is an undoubted fact, however, that Neil has important knowledge which would materially aid the ends of justice, but up to date he keeps his mouth closed. Governor Green made an attempt yesterday to get him to divulge but it was unsuccessful, and now, so thinks the Governor, Neil will carry what he knows to the grave. Means as the few facts are that he has let drop, they will be the subject of investigation after the law has dealt with him. The condemned man expresses a lively interest in the fate of his fellow-in-misfortune Gamble, and eagerly asks every day whether he has had a reprieve or not. This, evidently, is the last straw on which his hopes rest, thinking if the law spares Gamble it is just possible it will spare him, too.

Active preparations for the execution will be commenced to-day. The executioner will not be a prisoner, but further than this the Governor would not say anything concerning him. He will be thoroughly drilled in his part. The scaffold itself is an improvement on the old drop plan. The execution will take place on the level of the jail yard, the condemned man standing between two stout oaken beams. Above him will be the cross-beam, also made of stout oak. A weight, tipping the scale at 300 lbs., is attached to the rope running in a groove in the cross-beam. When the noose is placed on the neck of the condemned, and the signal is given, the executioner cuts a smaller rope which checks the weight. When the smaller rope is parted the weight is displaced, and runs down the upright jerking the man up fully four feet, the rebound leaving the body swinging within perhaps 16 inches of the earth. This is looked upon as a more merciful method of execution than the drop, being almost certain to cause instantaneous dislocation of the vertebræ.

The fatal act will take place at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. Only those holding tickets issued by Sheriff Mowat will be admitted. Prayers were offered up in several churches yesterday for Neil. Several gentlemen interested in his spiritual welfare visited him.

CURRENT FOREIGN TOPICS.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The Contemporary Review publishes an article of Mr. Gladstone's, in which he makes another appeal to the Conservative party. Both parties, he says, can co-operate in the Home Rule question. He observes that the vast tribute America has paid to landlords in Ireland for many years has not shocked the most sensitive, and yet she has been fiercely denounced. America suffers in her internal politics from the unsettled state of the Irish question, the action of the Irish in America being directed not by American, but by Irish motives.

Referring to the position of the union of Conservatives and Dissidents, he admits its continued strength, but he says he cannot detect a rift in the lute, even when left to deal with English matters, it having already stood the greatest strain; but he contends that a union maintained by military and police is not a union of strength.

Criticising Lord Salisbury's references to other European countries, he says the Prime Minister omitted Germany, which stands in almost the highest place, and yet has subordinate parliaments for local purposes.

In a speech at the Constitutional Club, London, Lord Salisbury urged thorough organization on the part of Conservatives as a means of hitting their enemy. Bye-elections were mere outpost skirmishes, in no wise indicative of the result of a regular election campaign. The Conservatives, he said, had nothing sensational to offer to Ireland, but could and did offer her advice based upon scientific principles.

The third secretary of the German Embassy at St. Petersburg, Prince Hohenlohe-Ochringen, attempted to commit suicide yesterday. He is not dead but dangerously wounded.

King John and his army arrived at Godilassi on Feb. 23. They encamped at Masiger and stored provisions at Debarca. Ras Alula will meet King John and advise him to march in the direction of Gonza, owing to the scarcity of provisions in the Province of Hamaran.

The Pope received the Moroccan mission yesterday. The chief envoy presented the Sultan's autograph letter and an address, to which the Pope made a gracious reply.

The five men recently arrested on the charge of attempting to obtain £36,000 from the Bank of England, on forged or stolen bonds of the Hamilton and Northwestern Railroad, were committed for trial in the Marylebone Police Court yesterday.

The Radicals will contest Hempstead, where an election is to be held for a parliamentary successor to Sir Henry Holland, who was recently raised to the peerage.

On the London Stock Exchange during the past week business was extremely light. In American railroad securities business was stagnant, without indications of a revival. Dealings consisted chiefly of sales by English holders.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 26.—It is definitely decided that Treasurer Jones will seek election in Shoal Lake. He doesn't anticipate any opposition.

Dr. Harrison leaves in a day or two for California, having received a telegram that his brother-in-law is seriously ill.

THE UNHAPPY CROWN PRINCE.

He May Not Live Over Three Months, in the Opinion of Medical Experts.

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—Advices from San Remo state that the Crown Prince reappeared at the window of his villa to-day, but did not venture out on the balcony on account of the cold weather. An official bulletin says that last night he had a refreshing sleep of several hours, but that in consequence of the continuance of his cough he is troubled with an abundance of mucous.

Official opinion in Berlin has become utterly despairing. No weight attaches to the bulletins issued by the doctors in face of the known facts. Advices received at the Palace do not conceal the critical state of the Crown Prince. Berlin medical experts concur in the belief that a fatal termination is inevitable within three months and probably much sooner.

The feeling in Germany is growing strong that Prince William ought to display greater interest in his father's state. The court circle knows that the Prince's anxiety and sympathy are intense, but that he has been prevented from going to San Remo by state exigencies.

The Midnight Reports.

SAN REMO, Feb. 25.—Midnight.—The Crown Prince passed a very good day. It is stated that Dr. Mackenzie saw no reason to consult with Dr. Kussmaul, but raised no objection to the latter being summoned.

An Alarming Indication.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—A despatch from San Remo says that the German physicians in attendance on the Crown Prince have discovered with the microscope cancerous matter in the phelgm coughed up by the patient.

Sunday's Official Bulletin.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The official bulletin from San Remo to-day says that the Crown Prince slept well last night, that his cough and expectoration are less, and that an examination of his chest disclosed no traces of affection of the lungs. The bulletin bears the additional signature of Dr. Kussmaul. Other telegrams say that Dr. Kussmaul considers the patient's condition capital, and that all the German doctors believe that the Prince has cancer of the throat. Dr. Bergmann will leave San Remo to-day or to-morrow.

BIG BLAZE AT BUFFALO.

An Early Sunday Fire in the Empire City—The Loss Estimated at $370,000.

BUFFALO, Feb. 26.—At 2.45 this morning a compositor on The Buffalo Express looked out of the composing room and discovered flames bursting from the second story of the building opposite on Exchange-street, occupied by Mr. J. E. Curtiss, manufacturer of gloves and mittens; Wm. H. Barnett, ticket agent, and Bickford & Frances, leather manufacturers. The flames climbed upward through the building with amazing rapidity, burst from the roof and reached across Exchange-street for The Express building. Adjoining the Curtiss building to the west was an old story-and-a-half cottage occupied on the ground floor by Julius R. Fleischman, ticket broker, and upstairs by the family of Henry Brown, including six children. They had a narrow escape. The cottage was destroyed. The five-story brick building of C. Gilbert, next adjoining was damaged by fire and water. To the east the Vanderbilt building, a four-story brick, caught fire and was soon reduced to ashes. The fire caught in the cornices of The Express Block, and in the adjoining building to the east, the Williams Block, and the windows burst with the heat. The firemen succeeded in saving the buildings on the north side, but in a somewhat demoralized condition. The ground floor of the eastern or new part of the Washington Block, which was the only part seriously damaged, was occupied by the Empire Fast Freight Line, the office of the Buffalo Upholstering Company, and the paper warerooms of Richard H. Thompson, the Queen City Shirt Manufacturing Company, and the job composing room of Matthews, Northrup & Co. Here the damage was over by 3.30, though all the departments were considerably damaged.

The total loss is placed at $370,500, divided as follows: Bickford & Frances, building and stock, $100,000. insurance $60,000; J. E. Curtiss, stock, $20,000; Geo. L. Williams, building and stock, $60,000. insurance $42,500; Einsfield & Emig, stock, $30,000, insurance $20,000; Queen City Shirt Company, stock, $70,000, insurance $61,500; Robt. H. Thompson, stock, $30,000, insurance $29,500; New York Central Railroad, $20,000 on building; J. H. Baum, $5000, insurance $1500; Gilbert Starch Works, $500, insured; Matthews, Northrup & Co., $5000, insured.

B.C.'s Finance Minister Sustained.

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 26.—The Legislature decided yesterday by a vote of 15 to 8 that the charge against Hon. Wm. Turner, Finance Minister, was not worthy of support. The resolution asked that Turner be dismissed from office for signing the letter given Mr. Duncan at the time he went to Washington in connection with the Metlakahtla Indians.

A Firebug Gets Fifteen Years.

BROCKVILLE, Feb. 25.—Thomas Ryland, the Irish Creek firebug, was sentenced yesterday to fifteen years in the Kingston Penitentiary.

MANHOOD SUFFRAGE BILL

PROVISIONS OF THE MEASURE DRAFTED BY PREMIER MOWAT.

The Minister of Education and the Provincial Secretary Take About It—Property Qualification Abolished—Lunatics Restrained From Voting.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.

An order will soon be given by the Mowat Government to the effect that every man, mentally eligible, within the fair Province of Ontario, shall have the right to pronounce his opinion of provincial politics at the ballot box. The little enfranchising instrument was revised on Saturday, and is by this time finally framed. Mr. Mowat himself drew up the bill.

The exact provisions of the bill are not known to anyone but the Attorney-General, and he will keep his secret wondrously dark till he moves a first reading, which event will probably be to-morrow.

"I don't know precisely what the provisions of the bill are," said Mr. Ross, on being asked his opinion of the reason, "but it will be as full and broad as conditions will admit. We shall debar those who are wrong in the upper story from the use of the franchise, but the other restrictions will be slight."

Hon. A. S. Hardy said, in reference to the bill: "The restriction will be light. There will be provisions to exclude lunatics, criminals and so forth, and there will also be some residential limitations. I have not seen the bill, but these, I think, will be the only restrictions."

Sad Fate of a Snowshoer.

NORTH BAY, Feb. 25.—Hugh G. Hamilton, head master of the Public School, with Master Willie Kellogg, set out on snowshoes yesterday to enjoy a tramp on Lake Nipissing. When they started on their homeward tramp a stiff breeze was blowing in their faces, and when only two miles had been walked Mr. Hamilton began to feel weak and sat down for a rest. For about three miles their progress was slow, and Mr. Hamilton showed increased signs of exhaustion and would lie down at short intervals. It soon became too dark to distinguish the shore, and Willie decided to endeavor on in hope of gaining the shore and sending back assistance. He was compelled to rest several times, but managed to reach the village about 8 o'clock. Mr. Peet and Chas. Kellogg set out at once with lanterns, and, after following the snowshoe marks for nearly four miles, they found the lifeless body of Mr. Hamilton. The deceased's parents reside near Liscard.

Panic Aboard the Umbria.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—As the Cunard steamer Umbria was passing Montauk Point on her homeward trip yesterday an immense wave struck the steamer, breaking over her port deck and creating a genuine panic among the passengers who were gathered about the rail. John Higgins and Bridget Dalton, two of the steerage passengers, were seriously injured. Both were standing by the rail and were thrown to the deck by the force of the wave. Patrick Kernan, one of the seamen, was seriously injured.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The meeting of the creditors of the Central Bank for the purpose of electing a third liquidator will be held on Thursday. Mr. S. H. Blake will preside. Stockholders will not be allowed to attend, neither can a stockholder represent a creditor. A creditor can only be represented by a co-creditor. Creditors of the Central Bank who cannot be present at the meeting on March 1 may send their written proxies. Printed terms may be obtained, but those who cannot conveniently procure them may, of course, send their proxies in writing.

Mr. Henry Wade, who was at Montreal last week in connection with the Ayrshire Breeders' Association of Quebec, expressed himself as somewhat disappointed with the result of the decision come to at the meeting of that body. The Ontario Association was desirous of amalgamating with the Quebec Association, but it was decided that this amalgamation shall not, meantime, take place. This will necessitate the keeping of two sets of books and the working expenses will consequently be greater than had but one association been formed for the two provinces.

The body of J. B. Lawlor, the suicide, was placed in a vault at St. James' Cemetery by Undertaker W. H. Stone on Saturday afternoon. It is the family's intention to have the remains removed shortly to Yankiook Hill for final interment.

At the Hamilton Police Court Saturday Minnie Sherd was sent to the Mercer Reformatory for twenty-three months for keeping a disorderly house, and Edward McMahon to the Central Prison for six months for aggravated assault on an old man named James Hill.

Arrangements have been completed for a debate to take place in Drayton, March 22 and 23, between Rev. Dr. Sexton and Charles Watts on Christianity and Secularism.

Negative Christianity.

Not the Kind Practiced by Benevolent Institutions—"Come, Ye Blessed of My Father, into the Kingdom."

Sunday afternoon the members of Court Peterborough No. 29, C.O.F., and a few of their brethren of Court Little John, to the number of nearly 100, attended divine service in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, where the annual sermon was preached by Rev. W. C. Bradshaw. The text of the sermon was taken from Matthew xxv., 34, 35, 36:—

Then shall the king say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world:

For I was an hungered and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger and ye took me in;

Naked and ye clothed me; I was sick and ye visited me; I was in prison and ye came unto me.

The purpose for which they were assembled that afternoon, said Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, was to offer up thanks to God and observe the ninth anniversary of the order in Peterborough. He was pleased to welcome them to the church. On this occasion they would remember those who had passed away from earth, leaving widows and orphans to their care and support. We all, he said, must pass away, and stand before the awful tribunal, to be sentenced either to eternal happiness or eternal woe. He charged the brethren before him to look into their own cases, to place themselves, as it were, before the bar of judgment at that very moment, and see how they stood before God. When the judgment day comes, he said, it will be

WITH TERRIBLE SUDDENNESS.

The world will be moving on as before, when suddenly a sound is heard that pierces every ear and arrests every heart. A strange, unearthly trumpet sound is heard that fills every clime. It is heard in the streets, on the sea, in the home and in the wilderness. The earth hears it, and lo! the ground begins to heave and swell. The dust of ages is re-animated, from the patriarch of past ages to the babe that has just been placed in the ground. All live again. There is no place it cannot penetrate. A supernatural light fills the sky, while there, resting on the clouds, drawing nearer and nearer to earth, is a great white throne; and the sons of men are caught up from the earth to receive their trial before it. Such is the suddenness of the judgment, and blessed is he that can say to it, "Come quickly." This subject of the judgment naturally divided itself into two parts. The last judgment we were assured, he said, would be conducted by the Son of Man in his two-fold character as God and man. God cannot complain of over-leniency to man, because God is Himself judge; and man cannot complain of too-strict severity, the Judge is also man and can enter into all his feelings and weaknesses. Look next at the process of judgment. Observe its universality. Before Him will be gathered all nations. We know little of the resurrection of men, he said, but we know that personal identity will be preserved. A Being that sitteth on the throne will call up before Him all the men who ever breathed, without any effort, and He alone can decide upon who are worthy. Passing on to the criterion of judgment, the minister said some lessons could be gained from it. He denounced the lukewarm character of the religion of a great many professing Christians. It was because there was in the churches and society that these benevolent organizations were necessary. It was the lack of practical Christianity in visiting the sick and relieving distress that called for the institution of these benevolent societies. Our churches, he said, were filled with men who practised a negative Christianity, whose religion led them to suffer, sacrifice and do nothing for Christ. There was the sin of omission; and, tried by this test, who could not convict himself? A genuine love of Christ was proven by interest in and practical sympathy with our fellow-men. For in relieving the distress of mankind we are doing it for Christ. "Inasmuch as ye did it to the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto me." So whoever shall give a cup of cold water to him that belongeth to Christ shall in no wise lose his reward. He shall receive the glorious sentence which forms the text of the discourse: "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." How, then, asked the preacher, does the case stand with you to-day, my brethren? As members of this benevolent society and as individuals, you visit the fatherless and the widows, help the needy and suffering, console and bless; and this is the bond of all true virtues, and without it our Christianity would be but as the sounding brass and tinkling cymbal. Referring directly to the subject of the anniversary of the order, he congratulated them on the progress they had made in the last nine years, and particularly so as it was a home institution. It numbered nearly 7,000 members in Ontario, and had paid out $143,000 in death claims, besides over $70,000 for funeral expenses and sick benefits; or on an average of about $2,000 monthly since the organization of the High Court in 1879. It provided insurance at a low cost because there were no stockholders, no palatial offices to maintain; each member was an agent, and no agent received a commission. Taken was a good work, and, done in Christ's name and for Christ's sake, it should not go unrewarded. It would perhaps be the part of their essential or condemnation in the last great day. Referring to the local branch, he said some $10,220 had been paid out to the dependents of the families of eleven deceased members in town. This was in itself a noble record, and a testimony of the value of these benevolent societies. The reverend speaker said he had some personal acquaintance with these societies and he could speak knowingly of their aims. So long as they embraced honest and upright men, we sing from the heart to relieve distress, it was clear that their aims were good, and he for one wished them God speed. But he urged them to study themselves as individuals and see how many sick-beds they had visited and how many times they had held out a helping-hand to needy ones. Their duty to God was not done when they attended to the wants of the members of their local court. He urged them not to let their religion be of the negative kind, but practical and earnest, that they might receive the sentence that would pass them at last into eternal happiness.

The sermon was very practical and instructive, and, besides, right to the point, touching, as it did, directly upon the aims of the Order of Foresters. After service the brethren returned to their hall, where a vote of thanks was passed to Rev. Mr. Bradshaw for the sound lessons which he had extracted from the text, and which carried conviction to their hearts.

BISMARCK'S WILY POLICY.

A Hidden Pitfall for Russian Diplomacy—The Russo-French Alliance.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Prince Bismarck's formal invitation to the Czar to demand the restitution of Russian preponderance in Bulgaria concealed beneath its apparent frankness a pitfall for Russian diplomacy. If the Czar had interpreted the invitation to mean that Russia was free to restore her status in Bulgaria by force, a crisis would have been precipitated and Russia would have been drawn into the fighting allies' trap. This has been avoided and a protracted comedy of negotiations will now precede the tragedy of war.

The Porte may condescend to the mockery of denouncing Prince Ferdinand, if the Powers decide to declare that the order of things in Bulgaria is not quite in accordance with the Berlin treaty, but it will not amount to anything. Prince Ferdinand will not succumb till he is ousted by force. The central Powers will accept no Russian candidate nor any settlement the Czar can propose. Meanwhile Russia has taken advantage of the delay to complete the negotiations for a French alliance, to extend the mobilization of her forces, which is now practically progressing, and to make other preparations.

Regarding the Russo-French alliance, it is reported that the treaty advances to a conciliation. M. Floquet has written a letter to a high St. Petersburg official affirming the desire of the Republican majority to obtain a perfect entente cordiale with Russia. The letter was shown to the Czar, and elicited instructions to Baron von Mohrenheim, the Russian Ambassador at Paris, to negotiate a treaty if M. Floquet's representations were accurate.

The war offices at Berlin and Vienna find great obstacles in the way of obtaining accurate information regarding the displacements of the Russian troops. The bulk of reliable advices show unabated internal activity in Russia directed to the massing of a second line of troops behind the frontier army.

A despatch to The National Zeitung from Sofia says if the Powers declare that Ferdinand's rule is illegal and demand that he shall abdicate the Prince will relinquish his power but will remain in Bulgaria to await the result of an election, expecting to be returned to the throne.

The depreciation in Russian paper roubles is absorbing the interest in financial circles. They closed to-day at 168. Many private families whose whole fortunes are invested in Russian securities are in a state of great anxiety. At the end of the Turco-Russian war rouble notes were quoted at 180, then thought to be an extremely low figure. In October last when the Boers was panicky owing to the Czar's abandoning his visit the quotations stood at 180.25. Bankers state that the decline is due to the growth of distrust in the Russian financial position, combined with constant sale of notes under orders from St. Petersburg.

Gen. von Werder will return from St. Petersburg on March 20. It is denied that he took an autograph letter from the Emperor to the Czar.

The Emperor will be present at the coming manœuvres in the Province of Brandenburg. The plans include operations around the fortress of Grandenz, including the building of pontoon bridges across the Vistula, which the War Office states will have no hostile meaning.

A Note to the Porte.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 26.—M. Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador, handed to the Porte yesterday a note on the illegal position of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria. The Count of Monastello and Herr von Radowitz, the French and German Ambassadors, also visited the Porte. It is supposed the object of their visit was to support M. Nelidoff.

The London Stock Exchange.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—On the Stock Exchange during the past week business continued extremely light, the bulk of the dealings being sales by bull speculators to close accounts. In American railroad securities business was stagnant, without indications of a revival. Dealings consisted chiefly of sales by English holders.

Blood Will Tell.

There is no question about it—blood will tell—especially if it be an impure blood. Blotches, eruptions, pimples and boils, are all symptoms of impure blood, due to the improper action of the liver. When this important organ fails to properly perform its function of purifying and cleansing the blood, impurities are carried to all parts of the system, and the symptoms above referred to are merely evidences of Nature to throw off the poisonous germs. Unless her warning be heeded in time, serious results are certain to follow, culminating in liver or kidney disorders, or even in consumption. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will prevent and cure these diseases, by restoring the liver to a healthy condition. 8

RAILWAY COLLISION.

Wrecked Cars Take Fire, but the Occupants Escape Without Serious Injury.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 26.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning, near Colton, Neb., trains Nos. 4 and 18, on the main line of the Union Pacific Railway, collided with terrible force, the engines telescoping each other and the cars piling up on top of one another. The wreck immediately took fire and a large number of cars were burned, including the baggage and express cars, two Pullmans and one emigrant sleeper on No. 4. The heat from the fire was so intense that all the telegraph wires running alongside the track were melted and for a time all communication was shut off.

How the many passengers escaped was a mystery to them as they watched the burning mass. However, they all got out with but slight bruises, excepting Engineer Powell, who was instantly killed while trying to check the speed of his engine. The passengers who were not injured assisted those who were caught in the wreck, and soon had them all out and at the hotel, where all were reported doing well, none being seriously injured. It is not known here who was responsible for the accident.

The wrecked passenger left Sydney at 12.20 and was running nearly fifty miles an hour when it struck the freight train, which was just taking a side track at Colton. Some of the freight cars, loaded with gasoline and oil, had not got off the main track when the overland flyer struck them, and they immediately burst into flames. The engine turned a complete somersault, the tender going on one side and the engine on the other. The express messenger, Charles D. Howard, barely escaped, but managed at the risk of his life to save many thousands of dollars for the Pacific Express Company. Among the treasures were thirteen silver bricks, five of which were melted by the heat.

OPIUM SMUGGLING.

United States Officials Indignant—The Law to be Enforced.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Special Agent Mc-lohan of New York spent several hours yesterday in consultation with Secretary Fairchild and Assistant Secretary Maynard in regard to the extensive frauds in opium recently discovered at Watertown, N.Y., and in New York City. None of the officials named would say anything with regard to the facts developed by the investigation conducted at either city, except to admit that the newspaper publications in regard thereto were substantially correct. When asked what further action the department would take in the premises Secretary Fairchild replied, "Enforce the law, that's all."

Officers Outwitted.

KINGSTON, Feb. 26.—Much of the opium smuggled into New York State came first to Kingston, from British Columbia, being carried by the Dominion Express Company. From here it was smuggled across the line. Special United States Government officers tracked matters down, and found there were still some valuable packages of opium here and a careful watch was put on them but the officers were not alert enough, evidently, for last night the packages disappeared. Agents of smugglers were here, and just as soon as they discovered that the special officers had gone on a trip to Brockville they whipped out the trunks and made away with them. There was 420 pounds of opium in the trunks.

The Yellow River Floods.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—The steamer San Pablo from Hong Kong and Yokohama brings a few additional details of the second disaster at Yellow River which occurred Dec. 4 and resulted in the drowning of three mandarins and 4000 Chinese laborers. The men were at work at the time repairing the damage caused by the previous floods and 2000 bamboo rafts had been laden with stone in order to form a breakwater, but the rafts, with all the workmen upon them, were engulfed as soon as they reached the middle of the river. Great suffering is reported from the flooded districts. Cold weather came on and the whole country was soon flooded over, making it impossible for boats to reach the villages. In all the large cities huts have been erected by the authorities for the accommodation of the sufferers. Between 30,000 and 40,000 are being thus housed and fed in the city of Chochiakin. The whole country is a sad spectacle, and stories of suffering and destitution come from every direction.

The Spartan's Insurance.

DETROIT, Feb. 23.—On June 19, 1883, about 2 o'clock a.m., the steamer Spartan foundered on Caribou Island, in Lake Superior. The vessel was insured in five companies, among which was the Thames and Mersey Insurance Company, in which a policy of $7500 was placed. The insurance companies refused to pay the claims on the ground of unseaworthiness and carelessness. Suit against five of them was brought in the Wayne Circuit Court by the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, to which the Spartan belonged. The suit against the Thames and Mersey Insurance Company came up for trial before Judge Reilly over a week ago, and has ever since occupied the court's attention. The trial resulted yesterday in a verdict of $6627, being the face value of the policy and interest accrued thereon.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—Money is easier. Call loans at 6 to 6½ per cent. on debentures, and at 4½ to 7 on ordinary stocks. Discounts at 7 to 8 per cent.

The local stock market was generally stronger this morning than yesterday afternoon, and fairly active, with sales of 295 shares.

On call at the Board of Trade to-day, the following bids were noted: No. 1 fall, sellers 90c cash; sellers 89c for the year. No. 1 red winter, 85c on track bill; sellers 90c year. No. 2 red winter, sellers 88c on track; buyers 84½c. No. 1 hard 89c bid.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

This morning not one single load of barley, oats, wheat or hay appeared on St. Lawrence Market from the country. There was scarcely any market and prices remained unchanged generally.

The following figures were quoted: Beef, hindquarters, per lb., 4c to 6c; beef, forequarters, per lb., 3c to 5c; mutton, per carcase, 7c to 8c; lamb, per carcase, 8c to 9c; veal, 7c to 9c; pork, $7.00 to $7.25; chickens, per pair, 45c to 65c; ducks, per pair, 60c to $1; geese, per lb., 8c to 10c; turkeys, per lb., 12c to 14c; wheat, fall, per bushel, 78c to 81c; wheat, spring, per bush., 78c to 81c; wheat, goose, per bush, 73c to 74c; barley, 76c; oats, per bush, 46c to 48c; timothy, $13 to $16.50; clover, $11 to $13; straw, $9 to $10; butter, pound rolls, 22c to 28c; butter, tub, 19c to 22c; cheese, per lb., 12c to 14c.

AFTER TRYING numerous so-called catarrh remedies and receiving no benefit I was finally induced to try Nasal Balm, and after using one bottle I take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers from catarrh.—M. L. Gorton, with S. Gorton & Co., Gloucester, Mass.

I was a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years with distressing pain over my eyes. The disease worked down upon my lungs. I used Ely's Cream Balm with gratifying results. Am apparently cured.—Z. C. Warren, Ratland, Vt. Apply Balm into each nostril. eodw9

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. Mischievous Rumours.

One or two business assignment have set the tongue of rumour and gossip wagging in a manner calculated to do great harm to solvent business men. Without any possible knowledge of the facts several firms are mentioned as likely to go under. In these cases gross injustice has been done. In one case the EXAMINER is requested to give a flat denial. Rumours having gone abroad respecting the possible insolvency of Messrs. Dawson Bros., they desire to state emphatically that any statement to that effect is a flat falsehood. They are perfectly solvent and able pay 100 cents on the dollar. They intend continuing business and will in a few days receive a magnificent spring stock which the public are invited to call and inspect.

The New Post Office Occupied

"Off with the old love, on with the new," is a sentiment verified by Post-master Rogers with great dexterity, and to-day we find him installed in what the brilliant reporter would style "his palatial new premises," corner Water and Hunter streets. From the smooth and silent way in which he chose the time between two days to change his quarters it might be thought there was some desire to evade the payment of rent by the rapid and stealthy removal of the goods. But the exigencies of the public service required the old office to be kept open till six o'clock Saturday night, and all the shifting had to be done after that hour. The work was done, however, and at only ten minutes after the usual hour the post office was open to the public, the mails all distributed, though hours of busy night and early morning work were represented by this condition of things. Mr. Allan Jones, Post Office Inspector, who was present to assist at the removal, said the flitting was one of the most expeditious and smoothly run of the many he had assisted at. Mr. Rogers was in the new office, with an assistant at 4 a.m. and at 6 o'clock Inspector Jones found him busy getting things into shape. This morning from an early hour he was as busy as the oft-quoted bee distributing the new keys to the owners of boxes, and the work being pretty well finished at noon represents many hours of untiring and unceasing work. Parties having keys will have to look sharply after them, for being of a peculiar pattern, once lost they will be exceedingly difficult to replace. Persons with lock boxes will have to take their keys with them, for the new boxes cannot be opened from the inside; nothing but the key will represent the "open sesame." The stamp office is also open and that, with an attendant constantly an hand, will prove a great convenience to to the public. The dilatoriness of the Government officials compel the local staff to submit to many inconveniences from lack of proper appliances which should have been forwarded long ago. The post office staff desire to rise to the responsibility of their new surroundings.

Colliton vs. Landergan.

Following is the full text of the judgment in this case, rendered at Toronto Saturday by Justice Robertson:—

Re Colliton v. Landergan.—Judgment. This was a petition to declare the proper construction to be put upon a devise in the will of the late John Colliton, of the township of Otonabee, in the county of Peterborough, which is as follows: "I leave and bequeath to my lawful wedded wife, Margaret Colliton, all my personal property, and also the sole control and management of my real estate (during her widowhood), the said estate being composed of . . . I leave and bequeath the aforesaid estate to my son, John Colliton, after my wife's death, or on the day of her marriage should she marry again, and the said estate is not to be sold or mortgaged by my son J. C., but is to belong to his heirs. Should my son J. C. die without heirs, then this estate is to be equally divided between my daughters (then living), their heirs, executors, administrators and assigns. . . . My daughters shall get their maintenance off said estate during their minority, or until they get married." Will dated 5 April, 1863; testator died 20 April, 1864. At the date of the will and at the death of the testator J. C. was a bachelor, but since married and has children. The word "heirs" here means "heirs of the body." Tryshitt v. Dawson, 28 Gr. 118. As John could not die without heirs general while his sisters were alive, and he had at the time of the testator's death several sisters living, and therefore the heirs will be restricted to the heirs of the body. J. C. therefore took a fee-tail in remainder after an implied estate for life in his mother. There is a further restriction, "and said estate is not to be sold or mortgaged by my son, but is to belong to his heirs." This restraint on alienation is void. There is a charge on "said estate." "I also bequeath the sum of $80 to each of my daughters at the time of their marriage, each marriage portion to be paid out of the said estate by my son J. C." The words "said estate" mean real estate, viz., the land in question. This is a charge on the particular estate devised to John, which goes to strengthen his position at owner in fee-tail. Doe d. Sams v. Garlick, 14 M. & W. 703. J. C. took an estate tail and can make a good title under the will, subject to the charges referred to. Moore (Peterborough) for the petitioner, the vendor. Hayes (Peterborough) for the purchaser.

A Plea for the Japanese

Doctor Macdonald and Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa, of Japan, French in the Methodist Churches—A Great Mission Field and What is Being Done There.

Sunday was a day of missions in the Methodist churches of the town. Dr. Macdonald (who is an M.D., not D.D., as many supposed) and Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa, a Japanese convert and regularly ordained minister of the gospel, occupied the pulpits, and preached about the condition of religion in Japan in general. In the morning Dr. Macdonald preached in the George street church and Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa in the Charlotte street church. In the evening, by means of sub communication, each gentleman addressed unusually large congregations of both churches, with very little loss of time.

In the Charlotte street church Dr. Macdonald, tall, robust and bronzed by his fourteen or fifteen years labors in the land of the rising sun, was the first speaker. He spoke very rapidly, but with earnestness and the evident intention to make the most of the time allotted him.

Dr. MACDONALD in beginning said the country about which they were to speak was the last land eastward, and caught the first rays of the rising sun; but the natives did not call it Japan as we pronounce it, but "Nip-pon." It had many different names, some of them decidedly poetical. Dr. Macdonald gave a brief account of his party's arrival in Japan, his first impression being that it was indeed a "land of promise"; but they afterwards found out that it needed

CIVILIZATION AND EVANGELIZATION

as badly as any other country. It was about thirty years ago that Commodore Perry steamed up the Yeddo, and as they entered the harbor the Commodore being a religious man, had the company aboard ship sing a hymn; and as the sweet strains floated over the land they were doubly symbolic—of the peaceful nature of his mission and the power of the Gospel to save. One of the names of Japan denotes "The Land of the Gods;" but when the Japanese saw the large, strange ships, they cried, "If these ships belong to barbarians the sooner we become barbarians the better." They had realized the advantages of civilization; and that has been the policy of the Japanese ever since. Japan is, said Dr. MoDonald, a promising mission field. After referring to the agricultural yield and resources of Japan, he passed on to the marvellous progress the people had made in late years. With a population of 38 millions, scattered over a superficial area about a fourth larger than that of Great Britain, they had railways, steamboats, electricity, steam, newspapers and magazines, etc. There were large cities, Tokio, the largest, having a million and a half inhabitants. The mission work, he said also progressed and kept pace with the times. By means of tracts a great deal of good was being done. When they went there fourteen years ago there was great opposition to Christianity—it was feared by the people and distrusted by the Government. The natives regarded the missionaries as magicians and sorcerers, but their work was blessed. Dr. Macdonald related several anecdotes which had come under his notice, showing the hold the gospel had now obtained upon the people's hearts. Now Christianity had won the confidence of the public, and the doctor said he knew whereof he spoke when he stated that the Japanese government would like to see the religion spread among the people. The church in Japan was self-sustaining—the only means by which Christianity can be successfully propagated in foreign lands. They believed also that the true policy in carrying on the work was to secure native converts to preach the gospel to their fellowmen. They now had under their care the great province of Shikoku, with a population of a million and a half; Yamerseka, with 500,000 and the great city of Tokio; all these, yet be believed would become christianized in a few years. In Tokio they had a couple of schools—one for girls and one for boys. These schools are supported by the Japanese, each one paying for his instruction; so that the only expense to the mission is the salary of the foreigners. These schools have lately been graced by a great revival. The national characteristics of the Japanese, said Dr. Macdonald, seems to be to carefully investigate the statements of the missionary, watch if his teachings and practices agree, and then they will embrace Christianity because they see it is a good thing to be guided by. The foundation of the mission work was laid and the building was beginning to go up. Referring to the different religions of Japan—Confucianism, Buddhism and Shintuism—the speaker said Christianity was rapidly superseding them and was destined to become the national religion. The religions of Confucius, Buddha and Shintu taught good, moral codes, that was all; Christianity did more, it had a power that swayed the hearts of men and urged them to noble deeds because of their love for Christ. It was wonderful, too, how divine providence was helping along the work. As to the results accomplished, he said the church had been so firmly planted that if every foreigner was withdrawn it would continue to prosper. Still, it would be a great mistake to withdraw the missionaries. The church had become a power in Japan. Dr. Macdonald said he believed the world would at one time become entirely converted to Christianity, such was the great divine intention; but Japan seemed to be moving in that direction with no ordinary rapidity.

SOME FIGURES.

Dr. Macdonald then left the pulpit and Rev. I. Tovell, to fill up the interim while waiting for Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa, called for a cash collection and gave some interesting statistics concerning the missionary work. The Methodists of Canada last year gave to home and foreign missions $201,874, and it was hoped this year the donations would reach $250,000. If the quarter million figure was reached, he said that then the Methodist church would be giving as much as the whole Protestant church gave 80 years ago. This sum supported over 500 missionary agents the world over. In Japan there were 10 missions, 15 missionaries and 11 native assistants; in the French work there were 12 missions, 9 missionaries and 4 native assistants; among the Chinese in Victoria a mission and missionary and three teachers; among the Indians a large number who are toiling for God. Last year the Charlotte street church gave $500 to the work, and the pastor said he wanted to see the sum increased this year.

REV. MR. HAIRAIWA

was next announced. He appeared in the pulpit attired in a loose flowing robe of some black fabric, the native costume of the Japanese. His speech was very indistinct, whole sentences at times being almost unintelligible to many in the congregation. However, by dint of frequently repeating his statements and speaking slowly and deliberately, he managed to make himself pretty well understood. He is exceedingly small of stature, with tiny hands and feet, but a large, well-formed head and intelligent expression of countenance. He appears to be about thirty years or more of age. He first conveyed to the congregation the warmest regards of his Japanese friends, as he had been commissioned to do before leaving his far-off home. He then explained upon his personal work, going over much of the ground covered by Dr. Macdonald. Next he referred to his own conversion. He was attending college and got into a heated discussion with a mate about Christianity. He thought it would be better to study up the new religion so that he would be in a better position to debate, and sought out Dr. Macdonald and Dr. Cochrane. He studied under them and read the Bible, not as a matter after truth, but to find out just what there was in Christianity. He was finally converted, took a situation as professor in the college, but believing it his duty to preach the Gospel, he threw up his position and became a minister. In studying the English language, he said, he had to overcome a strong national prejudice against anything foreign, and the first English book he picked up to study he threw down in disgust—it smelt bad to his nose. Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa pointed out the differences between Christianity and the other religions of Japan. It would be no use, he said, to preach simply a philosophical morality; there must be behind it a power unto good, such as only the Gospel of Christ had, to lay hold of the people and convince them. The work was progressing favorably, and now was the time to push it. Japan must be evangelized now. One hundred dollars spent now would do more good than ten thousand dollars fifteen years hence. He closed with an appeal for financial help to aid the cause. At the close of the sermon subscriptions were taken from the audience. Rev. Mr. Hairaiwa read some verses from the Testament in the Japanese tongue, after which the services were brought to a close.

Presentation.

The Herald, of Halifax, has the following with reference to Mr. George D. Edwards, son of Mr. James Edwards, of Peterborough:—

"A committee representing the business men of Halifax waited on Mr. Geo. D. Edwards, the retiring manager of the Halifax agency of the Bell telephone company, and presented him with the following address:

"To George D. Edwards:

"DEAR SIR,—It is with great regret that the business community of Halifax, telephonically connected, learn of your intended early departure for another field of labor. During the time you have been in charge of this telephone district the courtesy, diligence and anxiety to meet public and private requirements in that line have been most marked and have evoked general appreciation. You have done much to popularize the system by making every subscriber feel you are anxious to bring about the greatest facility and effectiveness of operation. A number of telephone subscribers request your acceptance (simply as a sight token of their regard for you both in the above capacity and personally) of the accompanying, which they trust may serve to recall pleasant recollections of your stay in the city of Halifax. I have great pleasure in being the medium for conveying to you this tribute of esteem, and friendship. (Signed.)

C. C. BLACKADAR.

"February 20th, 1888."

"Accompanying the address was a massive gold chain. In reply Mr. Edwards said the presentation was an entire surprise to him, so unexpected indeed that he could not adequately thank the gentlemen who had so kindly remembered him. Though his stay in Halifax had been short, it had been an enjoyable one. The above and the address, accompanied by a diamond scarf pin, presented him last week by the operators, are evidence that Mr. Edwards has made some warm friends during his stay amongst us."

Personal

Mr. John Garvey was in town during last week.

Mrs. Wm. English, who was taken suddenly ill on Friday last while out calling, is recovering satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Rogers, of Calgary, Alberta, N.W.T., arrived in town on Saturday for a week or ten days' visit. While in town they are the guests of Col. J. Z. Rogers, Ashburnham. Mr. Rogers thinks Peterborough is looking up and he condenses his opinion of Calgary and its surroundings into the emphatic expression, "It's the finest country in the world—that's the most and the least I can say about it."

An Ohio Tragedy.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 26.—Lewis Chesrown, 70 years of age, is a resident of Mohicanville. He is estimated to have been worth about $80,000. Of late years he has been perfectly helpless and resided with a son. Recently Lewis Chesrown, jr., was appointed guardian of his father. Another son lives in the same house and last Wednesday both were discharged from home and in their absence the other sons called and carried away their aged father. Lewis Chesrown obtained a writ of habeas corpus, which was given to Constable W. H. Kelly to serve. He went to the house of John Chesrown where the old man was confined. Five of the Chesrown boys were in the house, and they refused to open the doors. Kelly got a posse and forced the entrance. As he crossed the threshold he was shot by Elias Chesrown and so badly wounded that he died last night. Kelly's deputy, Jacob Helbert, next fell dead with a bullet in his brain. Elias then jumped on a horse and rode to the Ashland Jail, where he gave himself up. The four other brothers were arrested

DENVER, Feb. 26.—The jury in the case of Charles E. Henry, the young gambler from London, Ont., who on Nov. 13 last shot and fatantly killed Effie Moore, a variety actress at the Palace Theatre, over a love affair, yesterday returned a verdict of acquittal. The defendant debited a plea of "transitory insanity."

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realize how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $5.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00—a good, serviceable Suit; while for $7.00, $8.00 or $12.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

THE WEATHER.

Fresh to strong west and north winds; fair weather; rising temperature.

"Come, Gentle Spring, Ethereal Mildness, Come."

TO THE PUBLIC—The undersigned would respectfully intimate to the public that he has made more than usually complete preparations for the spring trade. He is now receiving at the GOLDEN LION a magnificent consignment of Direct Importations from Great Britain and France, purchased on the best of terms and in the most favorable condition of the market. These include Millinery Goods, Trimmings, Ribbons, Silks, etc., from the city of Manchester; Laces, Silk and Cotton, from Calais, (France), and carpets, rugs, oilcloths from Glasgow. The public is invited to come and inspect these goods which will be found of unusually good value.

The Golden Lion is making unusually complete preparations for the spring trade. His milliner, Miss White, and her head assistant, are now in the wholesale markets picking up the latest styles, and in a few days his dressmaker will take a trip to the centres of fashion to gather the latest ideas in styles for the benefit of the patrons of the Golden Lion. She will be able to utilize the immense stock of stylish dress goods now on hand, to the satisfaction of the most exacting patron.

The Golden Lion would call the especial attention of the public to the fact that his line of spring goods will present attractive inducements in material, and the prices will be made as reasonable as possible with a view of an early clearance of spring stock, so that the contemplated renovations and improvement of the premises may be entered upon as early in the summer as possible. The growing demands of the business render the improvement and enlargement necessary.

In conclusion the public are invited to call at the Golden Lion and examine one of the finest stocks in every department ever offered in Peterborough.

THE GALLOWS ERECTED.

ALL THE ARRANGEMENTS PERFECTED FOR NEIL'S EXECUTION.

The Doomed Man Spends His Last Hours in Prayer—Testing the Scaffold—Neil Will Not Disclose the Secrets he Claims to Possess—The Papers From Largan.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.

Robert Neil, the condemned murderer, is spending the few short hours which intervene between him and eternity in prayer and reading. On Sunday night he slept well with the exception of a few fitful starts. Yesterday he appeared more thoughtful than usual, and seemed to listen with even greater attention than before to the spiritual consolations offered him.

In the morning, and again in the afternoon, Mr. William Gooderham visited Neil, who listened to his exhortations with deep interest.

In the jail itself a more than usually gloomy air pervades everything. The guards even seem affected by the impending execution, and speak in whispers, and walk gingerly along the flagged corridors as if unwilling to awake the echoes. In the eastern yard all afternoon men were engaged in erecting the ghastly engine of death, the job being got through with at 5 o'clock. It was tested, a wooden block weighing 280 lbs. taking the place of the man. It worked to perfection, and if the executioner does everything right the dreadful scene will be over in a short time.

Neil's weight was placed at 130 pounds, but he has gained considerable flesh since his incarceration, having eaten heartily. The guards on the death-watch describe his appetite as positively ravenous. The prison fare is meagre, but the Governor made up for it from his own private table.

Sheriff Mowat spent a good deal of yesterday down at the jail. It is safe to say that he never spent a more uncomfortable hour in his life than between 4 and 5. The executioner had arranged to be on hand at 5 o'clock but did not keep his appointment, and it was feared his heart had failed him at the last moment. But it was not so. About 5 he came strolling into the jail and relieved the Sheriff, who was beginning to think that perhaps he might be compelled to perform the disagreeable office of hanging himself. The executioner was instructed in what he had to do and was locked up for the night. He gets $20 for the work.

Neil continues obstinately to divulge the information which it is claimed he is in possession of. Governor Green made another vain attempt on him last night.

An Ottawa correspondent sends the following: "I saw the Minister of Justice to-day about Neil. The papers from Largan are of no importance and the Minister will not interfere."

Warden Massie of the Central Prison sent a letter to the Minister of Justice regarding Neil. It is practically a refutation of the statements contained in Mr. W. H. Howland's open letter, and reviews Neil's criminal record in an unfavorable light.

The Ingersoll Fire and Theft.

INGERSOLL, Feb. 27.—After the fire last night two boys were arrested named Short and Hampton. Short is a son of the man from whose house the money was stolen, as reported in to-day's World, and on being searched $314 of the money was found hidden in his socks and drawers. The sum missed was $128, which belonged to a sister of Mr. Short, who is on a visit from New York to her brother here.

Scott Act Fines at St. Thomas.

Ranche Cattle Losses.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 27.—R. G. Head, President of the International Range Association, says that the reports circulated in the east that the loss of ranche cattle this winter would reach from 50 to 75 per cent. were absolutely false.

At the mid-winter whipping at Newcastle, Del., on Saturday, five whites and eight blacks were given from five to ten lashes each by the sheriff.

Evelyne Snowden, a colored girl, was shot in the right breast and dangerously wounded on Saturday night in New York by Charles Jefferson, with whom she had been living.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

A SHORT SITTING OF OUR LAW-MAKERS AT OTTAWA TO-DAY.

Sir Charles Tupper and General Laurie Presented to the Speaker—The Address Adopted in the Senate—International Law in Behring Sea.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—Immediately after prayers in the House of Commons this afternoon Sir Charles Tupper was escorted into the chamber by Sir John Macdonald and Hon. Mr. Thompson, and was presented in the usual formal way, this ceremony being necessary by his re-election after being unseated. The supporters of the Government cheered long and loud as Sir Charles shook hands with the Speaker and stepped to his seat beside the Premier. Immediately after both Sir John and Sir Charles retired, and a few minutes later, while the formal business of presenting petitions was going on, returned with Major-General Laurie, the newly-elected member for Shelburne, N.S. The Major-General was cheered until he shook hands with the Speaker, but the applause ceased immediately thereafter by reason of the fact that in the confusion of the moment he passed between the Speaker and the mace. The rule against this is regarded with superstitious reverence by the Parliamentarians, and when it is broken they rather look for something dreadful to happen. However, in this case everything held firm, and the Major-General reached his seat in safety.

Mr. Amyot's bill to amend the Controverted Election Act was then presented and read the first time. It is similar in terms to that presented by the same gentleman last year and makes the time within which an election to the Commons may be protested independent of gazetting of the member, thus preventing a repetition of such unfair conduct as that of the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery last year, by which the gazetting of many Liberals was held back beyond the proper time.

Mr. Edgar asked whether Canadian fishing vessels are required to report, enter or clear when putting into Canadian ports or harbors for shelter or repairing damages, whether Canadian fishing vessels when in any Canadian bay or harbor for the purpose of shelter or repairing damages, of purchasing wood or of obtaining water are liable for harbor dues, buoy dues, light dues, or other similar dues. Mr. Foster, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, asked until to-morrow to answer on the ground that he had not all the information required at hand.

Information as to the costs in the case of the St. Catharines Milling and Lumbering Company v. The Queen was moved for by Mr. McMullen, and the motion was carried. This case, it will be remembered, involves the question of the Dominion's right to the soil in the disputed territory, which right is claimed because the Dominion extinguished the Indian title. The costs of the Milling Company's side are being paid by the Dominion.

To Mr. Innes and Mr. Casgrain Sir Charles Tupper said the Government were considering their questions asked on Friday regarding the introduction of legislation, in view of recent bank failures, amending the General Banking Act.

Mr. McMullen's motion for a return showing the sums of money paid in costs or otherwise in the suit of the St. Catharines Milling and Lumbering Company v. the Queen was agreed to.

The Senate sat till 6 o'clock this evening and succeeded in disposing of the address. The old gentlemen had quite a lively afternoon of it and some of them kicked up their heels in real coltish fashion in referring to the great public question of the day. All of the speakers referred in words of kindness and emotion to the near departure of the Governor-General. The fisheries treaty was freely talked of, but in the absence of correspondence and papers their points were very obscure. The talkers were: Senators Kaulbach, Alexander, Dickey, McInnes, Girard, Almon, Bellerose, Haythorne and Abbott, the Government leader of the House.

Senator Macdonald of British Columbia handed in a notice of motion enquiring whether any answer had been received to questions submitted in 1886 by the Imperial and Dominion Governments to the United States, whether British vessels fishing in the open seas beyond the territorial waters of Alaska would be exposed to seizure. Her Majesty's Government at the same time would be glad of the assurance that pending a settlement of the question no seizures of British vessels be made in Behring Sea. Also for correspondence subsequent to May, 1887, between the three Governments relating to international rights in Behring Sea and to seizure of British ships therein by armed vessels of the United States.

Shorthanders' Annual Meeting—Election Appeals Dismissed.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Shorthand Writers' Association was held in the debates office to-day. Arthur F. Wallis of The Toronto Mail was chosen president.

The Supreme Court to-day dismissed with costs the appeals to unseat Messrs. Coulombe (Con., Maskinonge), Gauthier (Lib., L'Assomption), Casgrain (Lib., L'Islet) and Langelier (Lib. Montmorency). The court held that it had no jurisdiction. The appeals were against the six months' hoist.

Those who are supposed to know Government intentions assert that the Atlantic mail contract is to be treated as an open question, removed from the field of party politics. So it ought to be. It is said that resolutions will be introduced asserting the necessity for a faster ocean mail service, and reciting the advantages of such a scheme from a national as well as a commercial point of view, and leaving the amount of subsidy blank. The Canadian Pacific Railway people are pressing a twenty-knot speed, while the partisans of the existing steamship lines deride the chances of such a business being attracted as will justify the needed expenditure on the part of the contracting company, or the granting of a Government subsidy, likely to prove a reasonable supplement to actual earnings, taking the most sanguine view of the latter. These place the subsidy for ships the equal of the Umbria and Etruria at very little less than a million of dollars a year; or four thousand pounds sterling a trip. It is not likely, they claim, that Parliament will sanction any such outlay; while a company undertaking the speed for less money would find speedy ruin, or be constantly embroiled in disputes arising out of breach of their contract. If it be true that the Orient tender was based on the acquisition of the Arizona, Alaska and Austral, there is certainly reason to suppose that these ships would not attain the sea-going speed required, which at present is only shown by the Umbria and Etruria. The Canadian Pacific Railway people insist that if the twenty knot speed be guaranteed they can divert from New York such a share of the traveling public as will pay the revenue. Their opponents doubt this and allege

A LAMENTABLE TAKING-OFF.

Mr. George Eyvel Meets His End Under Distressing Circumstances.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.

Peculiarly sad are the circumstances connected with the death at Mr. George Eyvel, who breathed his last yesterday morning at his home on Sussex-avenue. Early on Saturday morning, Jan. 27, about 2 o'clock, the people living at 376 Huron-street were roused from bed by a banging at the front door. Mr. William White, the occupant of the house, came down and found a young man in an almost helpless condition using his best endeavors to get within the door. He had broken one of the panes of glass of which the door is composed, and on the door being opened he fell in the vestibule and lay there. All they could get from him in explanation of his conduct was that he was freezing to death, was freezing to death.

The night was bitterly cold, one of the coldest of the season. The thermometer at 10 o'clock registered one below zero. The Whites suspected something else than frozen hands was the cause of the man's intrusion at such an unseemly hour, and Mr. White went for the police. Two constables arrived shortly after 2 o'clock and marched him off to No. 2 Police Station, on Esther-street, which is a mile and a half from 376 Huron-street. When they got him to the station Dr. Stanby was summoned to relieve the sufferer.

A chain of fatalities seem to have pursued Mr. Eyvel even after his unfortunate situation was brought to the notice of others. Although he was not more than 100 yards from his own door at 2 o'clock, it was fated for him to undergo all the exposure that has been related as following him from that hour till he got home about ten hours later. First of all when he reached Mr. White's house he was thought to be a burglar and drunk. Those who knew Mr. Eyvel would be the last to suspect that he could ever meet his end through exposure from drink. As a newspaper man no one was ever more faithful and reliable than he, and as a member of The Hansard staff he has been equally attentive to his duties. He was a sober, industrious journalist, esteemed by all his brethren of the press.

The fact that Mr. Eyvel's misfortune has been attributed to drink is one of the saddest features in connection with the event. The night being so bitterly cold, it may be the fact that Mr. Eyvel had taken a glass of liquor on his way home, but the sad plight in which he was found at Mr. White's door must have been caused by some accident or robbery such as has been above referred to. After gaining White's door is was Mr. Eyvel's fatality to be obliged to remain there for an hour or so without assistance although so near his own home. In the helpless condition in which the police found him he was taken in a cold, biting air through a distance of a mile and a half, and, although he was visited by a doctor soon after reaching the station, he was allowed to remain there four or five hours when he might have been under better treatment than lying on the cell floor. And, finally, it was only when he was recognized by one of the Police Court reporters that Mr. Eyvel got into the hands of friends who understood the situation and accorded him proper treatment.

At a meeting of the Canadian Shorthand Society last night the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That in the lamentable death of Mr. George Eyvel this morning in this city the Canadian Shorthand Writers' Association has lost its honored President, and the shorthand profession generally a conspicuous ornament.

That the success which Mr. Eyvel achieved in his profession by steady perseverance and unremitting application, until he reached the highest position in the gift of the State, and one of the few prizes of the profession, to be won only by the development of special talents and the highest ability as stenographer and literateur, should incite all our members to equal diligence in perfecting themselves in our noble art-science.

That the members of the Canadian Shorthand Society here assembled take this first opportunity of tendering to the Canadian Shorthand Writers' Association our sympathy with them in our common loss, and to the widow and young family whom Mr. Eyvel has left this sincere expression of our condolence on the sudden and severe loss which they have sustained in the removal of a kind husband and father.

That we hereby instruct our secretary to convey to Mrs. Eyvel this resolution, and that we request our members to make special arrangements for attending the funeral of our late friend and brother in the profession.

George Eyvel was born in Scotland but raised in Canada; began life as a school teacher, learned shorthand and then drifted into reporting and journalism. It was in 1875 that he came to Toronto and joined the staff of The Liberal, just then started. In June of that year he went on The Globe. Some years after he bought an interest in The Sarnia Observer, but soon sold out to his partner. When the official reporting staff of the House of Commons was reorganized about 1878, Mr. Eyvel was one of the first men appointed to it, and ever since he has been one of its best men. In his day he has reported all the leading speakers of Canada. He was an excellent descriptive writer, as the columns of The Globe and other papers can bear testimony. He loved the newspaper life and his newspaper friends, and in the idle hours he liked nothing so well as to sit down with them and talk over the odd incidents of their calling.

Regret at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—Deep regret was expressed around the lobbies and the press rooms when the death of George Eyvel reached the city. Resolutions of condolence were passed by the Canadian Shorthand Association, of which the dead reporter was a member. The Hansard Staff, and by the Press Gallery of the House of Commons. Floral offerings will be sent from

THE GREAT STRIKE BEGUN

ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN ON THE C. B. AND Q. QUIT WORK.

The Trains Left at the Nearest Point When 4 O'clock Came Yesterday Morning—No Attempt Being Made to Move Freight —Other Labor Troubles.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—General Manager Stone of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, said to-day: "The strikers did not bring their engines through to the end of their runs, but left them at the nearest point when 4 o'clock came. Thus all our passengers from the Missouri River were dumped at Galesburg, and these we took from the Illinois Central at Forest were left at Aurora. From the latter point we were able to bring them in without much delay, but at Galesburg the passengers were obliged to wait until 10 o'clock before we could start them in."

The superintendent's office and the lobby leading to it were crowded this morning with men applying for the positions vacated. They are put through an examination by the superintendent of motive power, and if they are found competent they are taken to the yards. Before 11 o'clock this morning fifty of the applicants had been accepted. The management is not attempting to move any freight at present. The Burlington is the only road that has access to the lumber district, but having no engineers on their engines an attempt was made to have a Chicago and Eastern Illinois engineer switch his train into the lumber district. He refused on the ground that it was switching for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and so further attempt was made in that direction.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad officials have arranged with other lines to honor all their tickets covering the Pacific coast business, and are in hopes of making further arrangements as to other points. Agents at all points have been notified to refuse all perishable freight absolutely, and to accept other freight subject only to delay.

Chief Arthur said that the strike did not occur because the schedule the Brotherhood had offered was not adopted, but because when the question of wages was reached General Manager Stone refused to do anything at all. He added that the fight was purely a question of wages.

This afternoon 600 of the freight handlers of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad were laid off and every freight office in the city shut down in consequence of the engineers' strike. Advices from all points along the Chicago, Washington and Quincy say freight traffic is at a standstill, while passenger trains are running behind time.

The first accident to occur following the commencement of the strike took place this afternoon at Naperville, Ill. Six trainmen were more or less injured. Passenger train No. 2 ran short of water. The engine was cut loose from the train to run ahead and then in coming back to again couple on the train became to a certain extent unmanageable on a down grade and collided with the cars.

The Rock Island Gets Into Trouble.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 27.—A serious result of the strike occurred this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Rock Island road had quietly put some Burlington cars on its freight trains with the apparent intention of helping the latter road in the freight business. The Rock Island engineers, on discovering this, became furious, leaving a score or more of freight trains on the track. The firemen joined in the movement, and the consequence is a total stop of Rock Island freight traffic, at least for a time.

Furnace Employes on Strike.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 27.—The strike of the furnace employes of the Edgar Thomson steel works against a reduction of 10 per cent. in wages was inaugurated to-day. The strike affects nearly 1,000 men.

Fighting a Reduction.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 27.—The employes of the Columbia rolling mill struck to-day against a reduction of wages. Three hundred men are out.

Police Interrupt a Hamilton Cockfight.

HAMILTON, Feb. 27.—At 2 o'clock Sunday morning the police, on a hunt for cockfighters, made a descent upon the house of Patrick Connor, on the corner of Mary-street and the Grand Trunk Railway. Through cracks in the floor they looked into the cellar, and there sawfully 100 men around a pit about twelve feet square. At each side of the pit was a man holding a bird. While they watched, the birds were let go and fought for some minutes. Two of the constables found their way into the cellar. There was a cry "Police," and immediately all the lamps about the place were smashed. The men made for the windows and doors. The windows were torn out, sashes and all, and the spectators of the mill rolled promiscuously over each other. Fourteen men and three birds were taken prisoners. George Brand tried to escape from the police on the way to the station, but Officer Campaign caught him after he jumped from the patrol wagon. At the Police Court this morning the Magistrate imposed a fine of $10 on each of the captive sports, or sixty days in jail. The police have secured the names of about fifty who were present, and other prosecutions may follow.

Mr. McShane's Case.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—The efforts made to secure a settlement of the charges of corruption in the Lapraire election case against Mr. McShane have, it is stated on reliable authority, fallen through. The evidence is now before a judicial tribunal, and Mr. McShane will have to submit to the ordeal of having his case decided by the judges of the Superior Court and stand or fall thereby.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

FISH PROTECTION.

Information has been received by our Fisheries Inspectors, which leads to the belief that large numbers of muskinonge, bass, etc., are being caught in an illegal manner, and some of the offenders, if caught, will be dealt with to the full extent of the law. Clause 10 of the Ontario Fisheries Act reads as follows:—"That it shall not be lawful to fish for, catch or kill brook trout, salmon trout, white fish, bass, pike, pickerel, muskinonge, grayling, herring or perch, in any inland lake, river, or stream under the control of the Province, by any device or means other than by hook and line or angling, except the waters leased or licensed for the express purpose of net fishing." Spearing fish with wire is by the above equally illegal as spearing, and, as it is believed to be extensively practised on certain waters, parties should be warned in time and give it up before being compelled to do so by the inspector.

HOP POLES.

Quite a large business has sprung up in this neighborhood in the cutting of hop poles, all of which are taken by Mr. Johnston, the price being about $25 per thousand. After being sorted and trimmed they are shipped to Windsor, Ont., (each car containing between 10,000 and 11,000) where they meet with a ready sale to the hop growers of that district.

HOUSE ACCOMMODATION.

If there is one thing Lakefield wants more than another it is increased house accommodation. Scarcely a day passes that you do not hear of parties inquiring for houses to rent, only to be told there are no empty houses in the village; so that they have to go elsewhere, and we lose in many instances those who would make desirable citizens. When the mill and the new woolen factory are started there will be still more urgent need of house room, which it will be impossible to fill unless some of our monied men turn their attention to building the class of houses required. It speaks well for Lakefield that such should be the case, and proves that our village is progressing in many ways, while its natural advantages also make it a desirable home for those who have means to live independent of business cares.

INJURED.

Mr. Joseph Watson, of this village, had the misfortune, last Thursday, to get his foot severely crushed by being caught between the bank of the sleigh and a log, while at work in one of Messrs. Strickland's shanties in Burleigh. He returned home next morning to have it properly attended to, but will be laid up some time from the effects.

CHOSEN FRIENDS.

The regular meeting of Victoria Council No. 39, O.C.F., will be held in the Orange Hall next Thursday evening at 8 p.m.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

The Village road master has just finished his winter task of gravelling the streets, only a few loads remaining to be spread in the spring where it will be found to be required. Charlotte, Clementi, Hunter, Strickland, Chippewa, Concession, King and Ermatinger streets, have all received more or less, and next spring will be found first-class by the public and a credit to the council. Park, Hague, George, Smith and Water streets, which were damaged by the raising of the dam, have had some $500 of the $600 granted by the government expended upon them, and the balance will be laid out as soon as it can be determined how it can be done to the best advantage. If the road and walk committee only do as well with the sidewalks as they have with the streets, the ratepayers will next December be able to say to them "Well done good and faithful servants enter thou unto the sweets of office for another year."

BIRTH AND DEATH REGISTRATION.

The amended Act now in force imposes a heavy penalty on Division Registrars who do not prosecute parties who they know have neglected to register births and deaths. A large number in this municipality have been very negligent in the past, and as the registrar does not feel disposed to be mulcted to the extent of $60, he will in future hand in the names to 'Squire Hall, whose lenses, no doubt, will be unpalatable, but will be instructive for the future.

BITTEN BY A MUSKRAT DOG.

On Saturday afternoon a young girl, daughter of Mr. Thomas Clark, was severely bitten by a dog that had been kept tied up for some time and, it is said, half starved. It had got loose and came into the house and she attempted to turn it out, when it sprang at her and lacerated her arm and ankle very severely. Her cries brought the mill men to her assistance, and then ensued a chase after the dog, which was finally despatched with a pike pole in the hands of one of the men. Medical assistance was obtained and the girl's wounds dressed.

SERMON TO FORESTERS.

There was a fair turn out of the members of Court Lakefield to attend the special service in the Methodist church on Sunday morning, although the attendance was not nearly so large as it might have been. The members assembled at the court room and marched in a body to the church, where the front seats had been reserved for them. Rev. Mr. McFarlane took for his text, 1st Peter, 2nd chapter and 17 verse, and delivered an able and impressive sermon which was appreciated by all members of the Order as well as by the general public present.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.

Opposition Leader Meredith applied for a return of the evidence taken before the removal of James Gelbourne from the Commission of the Peace for the county of Peterborough; also, all information in the hands of the Government connected with it. He understood that Mr. Gelbourne had been removed, not because he was incompetent or unmindful of his duties, but on the petition of political opponents. He understood that it was the policy of the Government to appoint their supporters to these offices. This was the reason why the best men did not fill the offices. [Laughter.]

The Attorney-General said representations had been made that Mr. Gelbourne had done certain things not consistent with the dignity of the office which he filled. A commission was appointed and it was found that Mr. Gelbourne had not the necessary property qualifications. This being the case they did not go into the charges. The Government had no policy to exclude Conservatives. Politics had nothing whatever to do with Mr. Gelbourne's removal.

Mr. Gibson (North Huron) said several Conservatives had been appointed justices of the peace in his county.

Mr. Balfour said nine Conservatives had been appointed in Essex during the last few years.

Hon. Mr. Hardy—They will charge us with bribery if you're not careful. (Laughter.)

Mr. Wood (Hastings) announced that he would test the hon. gentlemen's sincerity in this respect before long.

The motion passed.

Mr. Snider's bill respecting municipal fire insurance was discussed. Some of its provisions are: Any municipality could by by-law, on being petitioned by 100 ratepayers, establish a municipal fire insurance company; the officers would be the municipal officers; no larger risk than $2000 could be taken; the assessors would be the valuators. Mr. Snider made a half-hour's speech elaborating the bill and giving statistics in favor of mutual insurance companies in comparison with stock companies. It was a new idea and needed utilization. He asked to have the bill referred to a special committee.

Hon. A. M. Ross congratulated Mr. Snider on the thorough manner in which he had gone into the subject, and the figures given seemed to indicate that some such system would be beneficial. There were many difficulties in the way, however. The classification of risks would be found a different thing in the hands of assessors. As the hon. gentleman said, it was a new idea, and needed utilization. He advised the withdrawal of the bill for the present so that municipal councils might be consulted and their views obtained. From the hon. gentleman's remarks he presumed that this was all that was desired.

Mr. Meredith pointed out that a similar bill was introduced twelve years ago. He gave Mr. Snider credit for much thought in connection with the bill, however, and favored a second reading.

Mr. Gibson (North Huron) took no stock in the project. He had no faith whatever in these mutual insurance companies. He had had experience.

Mr. Craig said the insurance business required special training, such as municipal councils were not likely to have. Improper selection of risks, he thought, would militate against the system. Compulsory insurance would also tend to increase incendiarism.

Mr. Wood (Hastings) viewed the scheme as impracticable, and while he did not cast any reflection on Mr. Snider's labor, he did not think it was worth considering at all.

Mr. O'Connor favored the bill, and Mr. Waters pointed out some objections to it.

The bill was withdrawn.

Mr. Phelps' Act to further protect deer was read a second time and referred to a select committee. The bill will make still hunting illegal, and will give only one month in the year, November, to deer hunting. Only two weeks in the year, from Nov. 15 to Nov. 30, will hunting with hounds be permitted.

Hon. Mr. Hardy said still hunting was a practice very undesirable, as it, more than anything else, was the cause of thinning out the deer. He knew of a man who went to the back country and brought in between 80 and 90 deer, while a large party brought only a deer.

Mr. O'Connor's bill to amend the Assessment Act secured a second reading, as also did Mr. Phelps' bill to amend the Assessment Act, Mr. Awrey's bill to amend the Municipal Act, and Mr. Clancy's bill to amend the Registry Act.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Young Liberals met in their rooms, Yonge-street Arcade, last night, to discuss the advisability of adopting "A graduated income tax as a means for raising revenue." Mr. G. M. Dunn, who introduced the motion, supported it with vigor. Mr. King opposed it, and the question was laid over. Mr. A. F. Chamberlain gave notice of motion approving of the Fisheries Treaty just closed. Mr. A. M. Dymond gave notice of motion favoring the abolition of capital punishment. The Secretary was instructed to prepare an order paper for each meeting, and also a report of the questions of public interest discussed by the Club during the year.

Robert Ledington, assistant bookkeeper in the wholesale jewelry firm of P. W. Ellis & Co., was arrested yesterday in New York city on a charge of forging the firm's name to a check on the Traders' Bank for $600. The forgery was discovered last week, when it was found his accounts were short the amount of the forged check. Ledington was traced to New York and arrested. He lived on Walton-street with his wife and two children, whom he left in his flight. He will be brought back to Canada as soon as the extradition papers can be procured.

The Master-in-Ordinary on Thursday last fixed yesterday afternoon for the reception of the liquidators' report on the claims against the Central Bank. These, however, are not yet in complete form to be filed. The work has been delayed through difficulty in deciding on a number of them and the absence from official duty of Mr. Foster, Q.C., owing to the death of his mother. Under the circumstances Master Hodgins enlarged the time till to-morrow afternoon. It is understood that some 1600 of the claims sent in are disputed. It is also probable that on March 1, the day fixed by the Master to settle the list of contributories, a further extension will be granted.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

The United States Senate Likely to Consider it in Open Session.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—It is understood that the Senate Committee on Rules has got so far in its consideration of the proposed open executive session proposition as to agree to report an amendment to the present rules, making it in order by a majority vote to remove the injunction of secrecy from a treaty or to consider and act upon a treaty in public. It is inferred that this is to prepare a way for the consideration of the fisheries treaty in open session. The action of the committee was not unanimous. The Foreign Relations Committee has not yet taken up the fisheries treaty, but it is expected to do so at its regular meeting on Wednesday. It has sent for maps and documents thought to be necessary to an understanding of the subject.

A Diplomatist's View of the Treaty.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Mr. W. H. Trescot, who was the counsel of the United States before the Halifax Commission, prints a long letter in The Herald criticising the fisheries treaty. Mr. Trescot's understanding of the treaty may be thus epitomised:

1. We are bound not to fish within the three-mile limit.

2. That this limit must be measured along shore and not across headlands.

3. That every vessel bearing the flag of the United States has the right, no matter what her business, to enter any British port, and subject to the same charges and obligations exacted from all other vessels, to buy or sell freely, to land and tranship cargo, and to do whatever any other vessel of any other friendly nation may do.

4. That, therefore, Canada cannot justly make a distinction between our fishing vessels and other merchant ships bearing our flag.

How to Handle Wasps with Safety.

In reply to a query in Science, "Is it true that while one holds his breath it is impossible for him to be stung by a wasp?" a Connecticut correspondent in the same journal says: "I have picked up hundreds of live wasps, holding my breath at the moment when the wasp was grasped, and have never been stung under such circumstances. I have frequently been stung by wasps when I have disturbed them unawares. As to the explanation of the phenomenon, I have none to give. I have tried the experiment on hornets, honey bees and bumble bees, and a single trial with each was sufficient to prove that the plan did not work with either of these species."

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J.D.Tully and all druggists. dw

Fast Skating.

Sheppard, the fast skater, was at the rink last night, and an impromptu match was arranged with four young men, Messrs. J. Canning, W. Logan, R. H. Henderson and A. Mooney, who were on the ice at the time. There was no money put up. The race was four miles, 16 laps to the mile, a fresh man each mile, each of Sheppard's opponents getting a half-lap start. Sheppard won with the greatest ease. The young men who entered the contest do not pretend to be fast, but merely raced "for the fun of the thing." Sheppard is, without doubt, one of the fast-est skaters in the province.

Remember Bindery.

Merchants and business men, now in the time to call at the EXAMINER bindery and leave your orders for journals, day books, ledgers, invoice books, cheque books, and all blank books used in business. Don't wait till the moment you want to use them. All blank books last longer for not being used immediately after being finished.

The Sewerage Scheme.

It is wonderful how news travels. At last night's council meeting a Colorado firm of engineers applied for the engineering work of the proposed sewerage system, should the town decide to invest a small fortune in it, and Chairman McNeil of the special committee stated that he had already received seven or eight letters from engineering firms to the same effect. They are evidently sharp business men and are looking after their interests. How all these firms get wind of the affair is a mystery, as outside of Peterborough there has not probably been a line published in the newspapers with reference to it.

A Knotty Subject.

A C. P. R. official at the station here is mentally disturbed over an arithmetical problem he has been wrestling with for some time, the solution of which he has been obliged to give up in despair, and he now seeks the EXAMINER'S aid in discovering some great mind which will evolve a satisfactory answer. The problem is:—A starts from Peterborough to Lakefield, a distance of ten miles, walking at the rate of 5 miles an hour. B starts with him and travels only 3 miles an hour. At the same time C leaves Lakefield for Peterborough, walking 4 miles an hour. Let it be understood that they all start at the same moment. The query is, how long after leaving Lakefield will C be exactly half way between A and B, who are walking away from Peterborough? This is a question that will require a deal of thinking. The aforesaid C.P.R. official has made out what he believes to be the correct answer, but for the life of him he can't tell how he arrived at his conclusions. He not only wants the correct answer, but a full solution of the problem. Who can ease his mind?

The Carters' Stand.

The council was completely "flabbergasted" last night over the carters' by-law. For about half an hour the councillors sat looking at each other and silently racking their brains in the endeavor to find a suitable location for a carters' stand. Numerous were the suggestions made, and just as numerous were the objections. A deputation of carters was present and made known their wishes, but these did not seem to accord with the general opinion of the council. At last all the proposals were bunched together and welded into one motion, which gives the carters greater privilege than they had before or than they asked for or expected. They have almost the whole range of Water street, the north side of the market square, and any other spot on George, Hunter, Simcoe, Brock or any other street in any other part of the town, provided they gain the permission of the proprietor of the premises in front of which they stand to do so. Anyone wanting to find a carter in future can search anywhere from the river to Park street, or from the locks to Auburn, with a fair prospect of finding one. The carters are satisfied, however, as according to the present by-law each one will have a little stand of his own, probably on George street or some other main thoroughfare.

Street Numbering.

Mr. Langford is pushing his street numbering scheme with exemplary energy. Monday night he submitted his report and a plan of a portion of the town. The numbering from north to south starts from Lake street, and from east to west from the river. The plan is so arranged that every corner number at a street intersection will be the same. That is the corner number on every street intersecting, say George street, will be the same. The plan submitted make the length covered by every street number in the business portion of the town 17½ feet and in the residence portion 24 feet. It is to be hoped that the proposed plan will be made to include the whole corporation, the added expense will be comparatively trifling and the plans will be very incomplete unless the whole town is included. While the work is in hand by all means let the work be done thoroughly. It would be foolish economy to stop short at Park or any other street. That would be something like a man getting an architect to draw a plan of a house and leaving off the kitchen for the sake of economy in the cost of the plan. Once done the work is done for all time; and the town is rapidly extending in every direction. It is a question if it would not be wise to include even Ashburnham, for amalgamation with Peterborough, or Peterborough's absorption by Ashburnham is only a matter of time.

A Leap Year Question Settled.

The weekly entertainment of the Y. P. A. in the George street Methodist church last night was largely attended. The programme was one of unusual merit. Rev. J. S. Thompson occupied the chair. The impromptu debate was upon the question: "Resolved, that this being leap year, it is the gentleman's privilege to speak first on the street." Messrs. Dixon and Harrison were on the affirmative and winning side; Messrs. S. R. Armstrong and A. E. Scott on the negative. A violin solo by Miss Louise Yokome received a hearty encore as an evidence of its merit, while Master Freddie Benton's performances made a decided hit. Following is the programme:

PART I.

Duet	Misses May and Eva Martin
Violin Solo	Miss Louise Yokome (encored)
Solo	Master F. Benton (encored)
Reading	Mr. Harrison
Solo	Miss Owens
Reading	Miss Ritchie

PART II.

Peterborough's Parliament.

Civic Matters Discussed — The Sewage Pumpering Scheme—A By-Law to Regulate Carters and their Stand—A Refund to the Morton Clock.

Mayor Stevenson and Messrs. Langford, Douglas, Moore, Hall, McNeil, Kelly, Winch, Davidson and Cahill formed the quorum at the Council meeting Monday night.

The engineering firm of Lowry & Aulls, Denver, Col., offered their services, should the town decide to adopt a sewerage system, at reasonable terms—Referred to the special committee appointed to consider the sewerage scheme.

Messrs. Roberts Manufacturing Co., Toronto, wrote, enclosing a circular and price-list of their door plates for the numbering of houses—Received.

Mr. George Matthews asked for a new hydrant on the corner of George and Wolfe streets—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee with power to act.

Messrs. Thomas Lytle and Joseph Stewart applied for positions on the police force—Referred to the Committee on Appointments.

HOUSE NUMBERING.

Mr. Langford presented the following report:—

Your special committee appointed to consider the advisability of numbering the houses, beg leave to report that in their opinion it should be carried out at once, as the cost will be small and the benefits to the citizens considerable. Your committee has had a map of a small portion of the town prepared to show the manner in which the work would be done. According to this plan we commence to number at Lake street from the south and from the river on the east. The probable cost to the town would be, say $150, being the price of maps, street corner signs, etc., numbers to be paid for by owners of property. Your committee recommend that they be empowered to carry out the report; all of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. LANGFORD,
Chairman.

There was considerable discussion on the report.

Mr. MOORE considered it better to begin to number north and south from Hunter street, instead of in the one direction from Lake street.

Mr. DOUGLAS found fault with the scheme only because it was not intended to take in the whole town, there being no provision for numbering beyond Park street. He wanted to see these isolated ratepayers get some of the benefit.

On motion of Mr. CAHILL the report was referred back to the Committee with power to act, and to obtain further information (in accordance with the suggestions above noted).

THE MARKET TOLL QUESTION.

Mr. McNeil, chairman, presented the following report:

Your Market Committee have had under consideration the question of market tolls, and beg leave to report and recommend that the same be awarded to Mr. John Doherty, the present lessee, at the same amount as last year, namely, $900 per annum from April 1st, 1888, to April 1st, 1889.

That the Treasurer be and is hereby instructed to refund Mr. J. Doherty $100 on account of loss on market tolls last year.

Your committee recommend that the Clerk be instructed to make a demand upon the town trust commissioners for all the monies received by them from ground rents and butchers' stalls on the market square, for the purpose of improving the market.

The report was adopted.

THE CARTERS' BY-LAW.

The second reading of a by-law to regulate and control the carters of Peterborough was moved by Mr. Moore.

The by-law provided for the issuing of licenses to carters at the rate of $10 per year for a team and $5 for a single horse; any unlicensed person carting or conveying goods for hire in the town to be subject to fine. The licensed carts were to be numbered, and the charges were affixed as follows:—Two-horse truck, one hour, 75c.; half-hour, 50c.; one-horse truck, one hour, 50c.; half-hour, 25c.; with an extra charge of 50 per cent. per hour between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Mr. MCNEIL moved that a clause be inserted providing for a carters' stand on the north end of the market square.

There was a great deal of discussion on this question of providing a stand. Finally portions of Water street, between the Mechanics' Institute building and the Stewart House, and north of the post office to Brock street, were appointed, or any other place on any of the main streets where permission is given to stand.

The by-law was passed.

Mr. CAHILL moved, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that the street and bridge inspector be authorized to make any necessary repairs on Smith street bridge at once.—Carried.

Mr. MCNEIL moved, seconded by Mr. Hall, that the Market Committee be instructed to take into consideration the best means of improving the present market, and report to the council.—Carried.

Mr. MCNEIL moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that the chairman of the Property Committee have the council chamber chairs repaired at once.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned for three weeks.

Remanded for Larceny.

Two lads named Valois and McMartin, aged 16 and 13 years respectively, were before the magistrate this morning, charged with larceny by Mr. Wm. Speer. His evidence went to show that on Saturday afternoon last about two o'clock he left the carpenter shop on Water street where he was working, and returning again in about an hour found the door kicked in and a number of his tools stolen. There were foot-prints in the fresh snow, leading out to George street, and in following them he met another lad who told him they had been made by young Valois and McMartin. Monday morning he taxed the latter with the theft, and after a little prevarication the boy admitted his guilt and implicated Valois. They returned some of the tools, but not all, taking them from secret hiding-places about their own homes. A number of tools belonging to other men were also found, which they had evidently got in the same way. Monday afternoon the boys were arrested by Acting-Chief Adams, and after their trial this morning they were remanded till Thursday for judgment.

Chief Rutherford's Report.

The Present Standing of the Fire Brigade —The Chief Makes a Complaint.

Mr. T. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department, presented the following report at Monday night's council meeting:

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT FOR THE YEAR ENDING DEC. 31ST, 1887:

To the Mayor and Council:—

The following is a statement of the fire department for the year just ended:

The firemen have attended 20 fires and 3 alarms in the past year, the full amount of loss of all property by fire for the year being according to the estimate of owners, $26,400. The amount of insurance received was $17,280; a loss to the owners of $9,120. This includes all fires inside of the corporation and also of Ashburnham.

APPLIANCES FOR FIRE PURPOSES.

We have now on hand 1,600 feet of good, reliable hose and about 35 ft. of unreliable; one hook-and-ladder wagon got last year, and first-class in all its appointments; also one hose wagon, complete in all its appointments; one hose reel and steam fire engine, two sets of harness for wagons, also two sets of sleds for the wagons for winter use.

In regard to the efficiency of the department, I must say that I am well pleased, and must say that I have great pleasure in stating it to your honorable body. In regard to the care taken of the engine and other property, I have the same old complaint to make. The rooms and engine have not been kept in the order that they should be. The engine at the present time is in a very dirty condition—I mean the working part of it. I am sorry that my duty compels me to make these complaints, but I have been very much annoyed at the disorder and dirt at times during the past year.

In regard to the horses used in the department, I hope there will be a great improvement in getting horses suitable for the purpose.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Your ob'd't servant,
THOS. RUTHERFORD,
Chief Fire Department.

Court Peterborough Celebrates its Ninth Anniversary In Good Style.

There was a large attendance at the handsome home of Court Peterborough No. 29 on Tuesday night, on the occasion of the celebration of the ninth anniversary. To begin with the excellent refreshments served by Messrs Long Bros., were partaken of by the about 300 guests present. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., a member of the Order, gave a few opening remarks, followed by a brief address from Rev. W. C. Bradshaw. Mr. Stratton subsequently gave a more extended address, treating of the beneficent principles of the Order, and showing how great had been the benefits derived by many in Peterborough. Then came the following programme:—

Organ Solo	Mr. Jeques
Vocal Duet	The Misses Hickey
Harmonica Solo	Mr. W. Burdick
Song	Miss Ada Miller
Humorous Song	Mr. Bonnett
Reading	Chas. Brown
Violin Solo	Miss Louise Yokome
Reading	Dr. Clarke
Song	Mr. F. W. Miller
Duet	Mr. and Miss Rickey

After the conclusion of the programme the rooms were cleared as speedily as possible and the carpets covered for dancing. The orchestra, led by Prof. Doucet, furnished excellent music, and for several hours the delights of the dance were enjoyed by a large number of happy people. The entire affair passed off most successfully and the flourishing organization, as on every occasion maintained its reputation of doing well what it undertakes to do. The committee of management is deserving of great praise for the success of their efforts in providing a delightful entertainment.

Honoured Before Married.

Mr. James Ellis Suppered and Presented With a Silver Token of Regard.

Last night about twenty-five warm personal friends of Mr. James Ellis, of the C.P.R., sat down to supper at the Hub, with Mr. Ellis in the seat of honor as the guest. It is understood he is to be married in a day or two, and his friends took this means of practically congratulating him on his approaching happiness. Mr. R. M. Roy occupied the chair, the presentation being made by Mr. George Stephens. The gift was a beautiful silver tea service, purchased at W. A. Sanderson's jewelry store. Following is the address:—

To J. Ellis, Esq.:—

SIR,—We, the undersigned, representing a small number of your many friends in Peterborough, taking advantage of the coming event of your marriage, beg to present you with this tea service, and at the same time tender you our most hearty congratulations, as expressing, in a slight measure, our appreciation of your geniality and good fellowship, which on all occasions, and under all circumstances, have no variance. You will please accept this slight token of our great regard and esteem in the spirit in which it is tendered, with the full assurance that we sincerely wish that your married life may be one of longevity, prosperity and happiness.

The World's Atlas.

The Home Knowledge Association, of Toronto, has issued a world's atlas, which, while not being so large as to be unwieldy, yet contains a vast amount of information of the kind that is required for general use. A good atlas of this kind is essential in every home and in every business office. It contains accurate maps of every part of the world, those of Canada and the States being particularly good. It also contains astronomical, historical, classical, statistical, Biblical and ancient world maps, with well written descriptions of each, and an especially good treatise on astronomy. There is complete information regarding the history of the Dominion, its system of government, resources, etc., summaries of legal intelligence and the constitution of its courts; a list of post offices in Canada, and other useful knowledge of of a general nature.

TRY E. Welsh for first class pastry. George street.

—The guests of the Foresters last night cannot say they did not receive a warm welcome.

—A burning chimney on George street this morning made a big blaze and plenty of smoke.

—When you long for a good smoke try a "Crow" cigar, and you'll enjoy it. H. Quirk, manufacturer.

—The Smith street bridge badly needs repairing, and the inspector has been instructed to attend to it at once.

—After the 27th and last clause of the carters' by-law had been read at the council meeting, a member remarked that "it had as much claws as a menagerie."

—A motion was made at the council meeting Monday night to refer a certain matter to a special committee. A councillor jumped up and said he wasn't aware that there was any special committee, but was informed that he was a member of it himself. Then he resigned.

—A Toronto firm in a circular to the town council drew attention to its "luminous" door-plates, which on a dark night shine brilliantly—the darker the night the more they shine. Splendid thing for Mr. Young-husband after an evening at the club. No danger of getting into the wrong house.

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realize how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $5.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00—a good, serviceable Suit; while for $7.00, $8.00 or $12.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

THE WEATHER.

Moderate to fresh winds; partly cloudy and moderately cold; slight snow in some localities.

"Come, Gentle Spring, Ethereal Mildness, Come."

To THE PUBLIC—The undersigned would respectfully intimate to the public that he has made more than usually complete preparations for the spring trade. He is now receiving at the GOLDEN LION a magnificent consignment of Direct Importations from Great Britain and France, purchased on the best of terms and in the most favorable condition of the market. These include Millinery Goods, Trimmings, Ribbons, Silks, etc., from the city of Manchester; Lace, Silk and Cotton, from Calais, (France), and carpets, rugs, oilcloths from Glasgow. The public is invited to come and inspect these goods which will be found of unusually good value.

The Golden Lion is making unusually complete preparations for the spring trade. His milliner, Miss White, and her head assistant, are now in the wholesale markets picking up the latest styles, and in a few days his dressmaker will take a trip to the centres of fashion to gather the latest ideas in styles for the benefit of the patrons of the Golden Lion. She will be able to utilize the immense stock of stylish dress goods now on hand, to the satisfaction of the most exacting patron.

The Golden Lion would call the especial attention of the public to the fact that his line of spring goods will present attractive inducements in material, and the prices will be made as reasonable as possible with a view of an early clearance of spring stock, so that the contemplated renovations and improvement of the premises may be entered upon as early in the summer as possible. The growing demands of the business render the improvement and enlargement necessary.

In conclusion the public are invited to call at the Golden Lion and examine one of the finest stocks in every department ever offered in Peterborough.

MOWAT'S MANHOOD BILL.

PROVISIONS OF THE MEASURE TO COME BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE.

Property and Income Qualifications Abolished—Insane Men and Criminals Excluded—The Redman Will Have His Say in Electing M.P.P.'s.

TORONTO, Feb. 29.—Although Mr. Mowat's Manhood Suffrage Bill was not brought down in the Legislature yesterday, the following will be found a very accurate wording of the principal clauses:

Property or income qualification for voters as respects the Legislative Assembly is abolished, except as hereinafter provided.

The following persons (and no others) being males of the full age of 21 years, and subjects of Her Majesty by birth or naturalization, and not being disqualified under sections 4 and 5 of the Ontario Election Act, or otherwise by law prevented from voting, shall, if duly entered on the list of voters proper to be used at the election then pending according to the provisions of the said act, or the Voters' Lists Act, be entitled to vote at elections to serve in the Legislative Assembly of this province, that is to say;

Every male person who, at the time fixed by statute, or by a bylaw authorised by statute, for the return of the assessment roll to the clerk, had resided in this province for twelve months next preceding the said time, and who at the said time was in good faith a resident of, and domiciled in, the municipality in the list of which he is entered, and who, at the time of tendering his vote, is a resident of and domiciled within the electoral district and had resided therein continuously from the time first aforesaid.

Occasional or temporary absence of any person in the prosecution of his occupation as a lumberman, mariner or fisherman, or in attendance as a student in an institution of learning in this province, shall not be construed to be a discontinuance of residence, within the meaning of this act, and shall not disentitle such person to be entered on the voters' list as a qualified voter, or to vote.

2. Enfranchised Indians, whether of whole or part Indian blood, shall, like other persons, be entitled to vote without having a property qualification.

3. Unenfranchised Indians of whole or part Indian blood residing among Indians, or on an Indian reserve, shall not be entitled to vote.

4. Unenfranchised Indians, of whole or part Indian blood, not residing among Indians or on an Indian reserve, shall, in lieu of legal enfranchisement, be required to have the same property qualification as heretofore in order to entitle them to vote.

The same property qualification as heretofore shall be necessary in each of the municipalities, townships, and places in the Electoral Districts of Algoma East, Algoma West, East Victoria, East Peterboro, North Hastings, North Renfrew, South Renfrew, Muskoka and Parry Sound as may have no assessment roll or voters' list.

The assessor shall place on the roll the name of every male person who delivers or causes to be delivered to the assessor an affidavit signed by such person in the form or to the effect set forth in Form "B" appended hereto, if the facts stated are such as to entitle such person to be placed thereon.

The affidavit may be taken before any assessor or justice of the peace, commissioner for taking affidavits, or notary public, and every such officer shall, upon request administer an oath to any person wishing to make an affidavit in the form or to the effect aforesaid.

LAW'S SUPREME PENALTY.

ROBERT NEIL HANGED THIS MORNING AT THE JAIL.

The Murderer Dies Without a Tremor—His Last Night on Earth—His Dying Speech on the Scaffold—The Fatal Jerk—The Executioner.

TORONTO, Feb. 29.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning, in cold yet bright weather, under the gaze of officials and officials' friends, Robert Neil paid in Toronto Jail the last penalty of the law for the murder of Central Prison Guard Rutledge. He never winced a muscle in the last dread scene, and in his dying words disclaimed he ever had any murderous intent and forgave all as he hoped for forgiveness himself.

From 9 o'clock Monday night until 1.30, Neil sat and chatted with his guards, mostly on religious topics. He spent much of the time in prayer, but would sometimes revert to the Central Prison tragedy, and the crime he had committed. "I had nothing against Guard Rutledge," he told Death Watch Wilson. "He never hurt me, but Guards Water and Hartley did treat me bad." He included Warden Massie with the other two, and said the three had treated him like a dog. As for Rutledge he again and again reiterated the assertion that he did not mean to kill him. From 1.30 until 7 o'clock yesterday morning Neil slept soundly, so soundly that John Armstrong, the prisoner who was looking after his wants, had to shake him to get him out of bed.

At 7.15 Inspector Brookenreid and six men marched to the jail from the Wilton-avenue station. They were needed to patrol the outside of the jail wall and keep the small boys and their elders from climbing the brick defences and looking down at the execution. Sheriff's Officer Sherman was stationed at the jail door to take up the tickets, Turnkey T. H. Wilson acting as inner guard. At 8.30 Undertaker McCabe arrived with a coffin, a plain pine affair, painted black.

As the hour of execution approached a feeling of unrest began to be felt, and watches were consulted to see how many minutes were to elapse before Neil would meet his doom. In order to prevent the crowd pushing in on the officers of justice a temporary fence about three feet high and extending outwardly from the wall about fifty feet had been erected, and no spectator was allowed to come within these bounds.

At last the appearance of County Crown Attorney Badgerow in the yard, heading the march to the gallows, indicated to the waiters that the hour of Neil's death had come and silence fell upon the crowd.

The hangman entered the condemned man's cell at 8.45. He carried with him the hempen cord for the purpose of pinioning Neil's arms. The prisoner was not in any way taken aback and patiently submitted to the operation. This was not of an extensive or elaborate character. The new cord was double-fold, passed from arm to arm just above the elbow joint and securely tied sailor-fashion in the middle of the back.

The operation occupied but a few minutes, and then the Sheriff, looking at his watch, said, "The time is up."

The prisoner replied, "I am ready to die," and forthwith the procession, the last on earth for Neil, was formed.

Solemnly they paced, the least anxious of the party being Neil. He was a little pale, but looked healthy; his eyes were not bright, for he had been weeping in the cell, but he wore no downcast look, did not apparently take special notice of anybody or anything, and the first sight which met his eyes on mounting the dozen steps into the yard was the upreared gallows. This he looked at for a few moments intently but apparently unnerved and unconcerned.

Across the frozen snow the procession, which was the cynosure of all eyes, passed and entered the railed off enclosure. Inspector Brookenreid and his constables were on duty, and with the exception of officials and one or two representative visitors allowed no one to pass the precincts. Neil was at once conducted to the centre of the platform by his custodians, the fatal noose being immediately behind his head. In front of the scaffold his spiritual advisers disposed themselves, the Sheriff and Governor occupying positions close to the man who in the midst of life was so shortly to be in death.

The hangman at once drew the ominous black cap from his pocket, and was advancing to place it on the head of the culprit, when Governor Green asked Neil if he wished to say anything.

In response the murderer said in a low voice which was only imperfectly heard by the spectators:

I am here although I ought not to be here. I would not have been here but for that man at the Central Prison. I never meant to kill that man any more than I wish to kill any man here. They used me up there so bad that I didn't know what I was doing. They used me hard in the broom-shop. They used me there like a brute. It is not my fault that I am here. It is pretty hard to be hanged; but I forgive everyone, and I hope to be forgiven.

The hangmen then adjusted the noose at Neil's neck, when the culprit was heard to complain and the knot was readjusted.

Neil then said in a clear, firm voice: "May the Lord have mercy on my soul," to which Governor Green and well nigh every one present responded "Amen!"

The hangman hereupon adjusted the black cap, and chisel in hand, took his post close to the detaching rope. Then, in clear tones on the frosty air, arose the prayer which is earliest learned and never forgotten in every civilized land. "Our Father Who Art in Heaven." Thus rang out the death-knell of Robert Neil, for the pastor had not proceeded further in the well-known prayer than "Deliver us—," when the hangman cut the rope, and Neil was swung into the air and was in the throes of death.

With a blow of the chisel the executioner cut the check rope, the 300 pound weight struck the ground, and Neil shot up in the air fully four feet, came down again with a jerk, and hung apparently lifeless a foot from the earth. After hanging a second, he made an ineffectual attempt to raise his pinioned arms to his head, his legs gave a slight twitch, and the body lost motion.

The body was allowed to remain hanging for 15 minutes, when Undertaker McCabe conveyed with the coffin.

GENERAL EUROPEAN NEWS.

The Rules of Procedure—Meeting of Parnellites—Mr. Cox Released.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—In the House of Commons to-day the second procedure rule, which reduces to 150 the majority necessary to enforce closure, was adopted by a vote of 295 to 134.

A motion for the adoption of a rule enabling the Speaker to order the withdrawal of disorderly members or to ask the House to decide upon the conduct of such members was adopted.

In a letter to the electors of Deptford, in support of the candidacy of Wilfrid Blunt for the Commons, Mr. Gladstone urges that Mr. Blunt went to Ireland to maintain the law, to vindicate popular rights and to encourage the people in an ordinary struggle against coercion. He adds: "To speak of the union affording Irishmen the benefit of equal laws with the British is mockery. The electors ought to remember that the Tories are aiming to degrade and oppress another people struggling to be free."

There will be a meeting of the Parnellites in London on Wednesday to discuss their attitude in the debate on Mr. Parnell's Arrears Bill.

A Unionist conclave will be held on the return of Mr. Chamberlain to consider the Local Government Bill and Mr. Russell's Arrears Bill.

A Unionist conclave will be held on the return of Mr. Chamberlain to consider the Local Government Bill and Mr. Russell's Arrears Bill.

Mr. Cox, M.P., sentenced to one month's imprisonment for a speech inciting tenants to conspiracy, was released to-day from Limerick Jail. He was greeted by a large crowd on his release, and made a speech denouncing Chief Secretary Balfour and maintaining that the National League was stronger than ever. Numerous addresses were afterwards presented to him.

Hampstead to-day returned Mr. Hoare, Liberal-Unionist, without opposition, for the House of Commons, to fill the vacancy created by the elevation of Sir Henry Holland to the Peerage.

According to an official despatch from Massowah, King John, with Ras Alula and a large army, is advancing upon the Italians.

Three of Pasteur's agents sailed from Naples for New South Wales to-day. They take with them a quantity of cholera microbes, and will inoculate and ultimately exterminate the rabbits in Australia.

It is asserted by The Gaulois and The Figaro, of Paris, that the presence of a British squadron in the Gulf of Genoa is due to the action of Signor Crispi, the Italian Premier and Foreign Minister, who wished to make a demonstration against France.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Z. Davis, the young mulatto who assaulted and murdered little Maggie Gough yesterday, was captured to-day at Forest.

Put Back to Port.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The Belgian steamer Hernan, which sailed last Sunday for Antwerp, is returning to port. She has lost her rudder.

The Brotherhood and the Knights.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 28.—General Master Workman Powderly said to-day that the Knights, as a body, would not order the taking of the places of the striking engineers of the Burlington Road by the Knights in retaliation for the Brotherhood taking their places on the Reading system. He wants the Brotherhood to win the fight, and wants the Knights to help them so that the two organizations will be strongly united hereafter in the struggles that either may be forced to enter.

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—On call to-day at the Board of Trade No. 1 red winter 95c on the track for one or five cars. No. 2 red winter offered at 86c, 83c on the track bid. No. 1 Manitoba pork, five cars offered at 90c, to arrive. No. 1 northern, five cars offered at 84½c on the track, to arrive, 83c bid. One car of shorts offered at $20 on the track, $18 bid.

Money on call is quoted at 6 per cent. on debentures and 6½ to 7 per cent. on stocks; and for discount the price is 7 to 8 per cent.

The Montreal money market is unchanged. Sterling exchange dull; 109 3-16 sixty day bills, 108¾ demand. Currency drafts on New York drawn at a premium.

The total transactions on the local Stock Exchange yesterday were 193 shares, of which 119 were bank stock.

Canadian securities in England are quiet and steady.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Another quiet day was experienced on St. Lawrence market to-day. Up to noon only one load of wheat put in an appearance on the grain market. Inside, the market was quiet and unchanged.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET.

Liverpool—Spring wheat 6s 6d to 6s 8d, red winter 6s 7d to 6s 8d; peas 5s 4½d, corn 4s 8d, pork 62s 9d, bacon 32s 6d, cheese 58s 0d, consols 102¾.

NO CHANGE OF TARIFF.

MR. LAURIER RAISES A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

The Fishories—New Arrivals in the House—A Field Day in the Senate—Motion to Appoint a Select Committee to Inquire Into Divorce Cases.

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—Sir Charles Tupper made a statement in the House this afternoon which sets at rest ideas that may have been formed that there is to be any "tariff tinkering" during the present session of Parliament. It has been rumored around the lobbies that the Government had made up its mind to let the tariff alone for a time, and Sir Charles told the House in a word that this was correct.

What effect this announcement will have upon movements which have been started in several quarters to fight the modus and operations of various "combines" which are said to exist in Canada remains to be seen. Mr. Charles Wallace's motion for a select committee is virtually in the direction of enquiring into the operation of what is popularly known as the "sugar combine."

The new arrivals in the House to-day were big Herman Cook, John Charlton, and Dr. Ferguson of Niagara Falls, who took their seats for the first time this session. Mr. Cook, although unseated in East Simcoe, is going to hold on to his chair until the Supreme Court, in which an appeal has been filed, passes upon the merits of his dethronement. This will probably not be during the present session. Herman is a popular member on both sides and he would be greatly missed if out of the House. However, he took somewhat to Mr. Parnell's methods to-day. He was playing hide-and-seek with his chair. He was in and out of it by turns.

Mr. Laurier, rising to a question of privilege, called attention to a subject not put down on the orders of the day, the assumption of authority by the Speaker to dismiss the three French translators of the Hansard, who have been mentioned as having incurred the displeasure of Mr. Chapleau by taking part in the last general election on the Nationalist side. Mr. Laurier addressed the chair in the most respectful terms, but claiming that there was reason to doubt Mr. Speaker's right to exercise the authority he had exercised in dismissing officers appointed by the House, asked that he (the Speaker) would lay his decision and the papers connected with it before the House as soon as possible. Sir John Macdonald agreed that on the ground on which the request was based Mr. Laurier was right to bring it up as a question of privilege, and the Speaker promised to lay the papers on the table to-morrow.

This was somewhat of a field day in the Red Chamber. Senator Gowan's motion for a select committee to revise the rules and forms of proceedings in applications for divorce was debated for three hours, and when Senator Vidal moved the adjournment of the House the talk was not finished.

Senator Gowan has gone fully into the question of divorce as promulgated by the body of which he is a member and he sees the necessity of a complete revision of the rules. Divorce proceedings, as hitherto conducted by committees of the Senate, have been not only a disgrace but a positive luxury which only the wealthy can enjoy. The only real relief is probably in the way which The World has frequently stated—a divorce court.

So many members of Parliament are Roman Catholics and thus conscientiously opposed to divorce that it puts a strong barrier in the way of adjudicating upon their cases. Senator Gowan's chief alteration is to have a select committee on divorce, composed of seven members, who shall try all applications. The proposed rules also provide that the hearing of cases may be in camera, but senators not members of the committee may attend. Your average senator takes considerable interest in these marital disintegrations, especially when they are spicy, and he would think it hard if he were shut out.

Senator Abbott, the leader of the Senate, favored the appointment of the select committee.

Senator Ogilvie in his remarks favored a much cheaper mode than the present one. "The law," he said, "should be for the poor as well as the rich." The debate will be continued to-morrow.

All Quiet at Galesburg.

GALESBURG, Ill., Feb 28.—The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Road got nearly all the passenger trains out this forenoon. Five of the old engineers are reported to be loyal to the company. The Brotherhood has expelled them. A number of engineers have been sent here from the outside and more are coming. The strikers are quiet.

The Great Game that Makes the Hour Light—Local Matches.

The "Strickland rink" came down from Lakefield yesterday and played a local rink for a bag of flour for the Protestant Home. Following is the score:—

Lakefield.		Peterborough.
W H Casement		Geo Edmison
W D Strickland		G W Hatton
T J Bird		A McNeil
R O Strickland, skip.	19	Judge Weller, skip.	13

VS. EDUCATIONALISTS.

Skip Attrill took a rink to Lindsay yesterday and played the "Educational rink" of that town. The game was very close, four ties occurring during the match, but Peterborough finally lost by two points. Score:

Lindsay.		Peterborough.
F F Macpherson		D Ballenhem
W S Milner		J D Baptie
J C Harrison		A Hall
W J Hallet, skip	19	T P Attrill, skip	17

THE WINNERS CHALLENGED.

Skips Rutherford and Attrill have challenged the two winning rinks who played at Ottawa, to a game for the oysters to-morrow night.

SWEEPS.

Three rinks went to Campbellford to-day. They expect to win.

The educational rink of Lindsay will soon play a return match in town.

REAL ESTATE.—Mr. L. G. Fobert, of Bridgenorth, has purchased from Mr. C. J. Kearney his farm, situated a short distance north of the village. Mr. Fobert intends renting it along with the adjoining hundred acres owned by him.

PARISH PRIEST.—The Rev. Father Lynch, of Peterborough, has been appointed parish priest of this mission.

SCHOLASTIC.—The school attendance is very large, the average being about sixty-five. The pupils are working diligently for the J. R. Stratton prize, a five dollar gold piece. There is also a special prize for writing, given by the teacher, Mr. Lee. The prizes will be awarded at the midsummer examination.

PERSONAL.—Mr. A. Lee and Mrs. T. F. Lee, of Peterborough, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Lee.

An Octogenarian's Twentieth Birthday.

To-day, Feb. 29th, Mr. Walter Paterson, sr., celebrates his twentieth birthday, though he was born eighty years ago. The apparent mystery is explained by the fact that he was born on the 29th day of February, 1808, and consequently his birthday came only once in every four years. And though eighty years of age, he rose on his twentieth birthday with the briskness of a young man of twenty years, and shaved himself with a steady hand. Mr. Paterson enjoys a hearty old age, a fact that will bring him numerous congratulations from the large circle of citizens who hold him in high respect. The EXAMINER extends its heartiest congratulations to Mr. Paterson, and wishes him still several years of honoured old age.

Protestant Home.

The committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home thankfully acknowledge the following donations for February:—Mrs. B. Ferguson, corn beef; from Lakefield curling club, 100 lbs. flour; Peterborough curling club, 100 lbs. flour; Otonabee Lodge Oddfellows, bread and sandwiches; Mrs. Lewis, blanket coat; a friend, $1 worth bread tickets; Mrs. Bannell Sawyer, canned fruit; Mrs. Joseph Loasley, cakes, apples and oranges; Mrs. J. G. Hall, for work done by Daniel Burgess, $3; from Toronto curling club, two barrels flour; Mrs. George Burnham, 3 pairs pillow covers and quilt; Mrs. James Best, pair pillow covers and pair sheets; P. Connal & Co., bedroom set; an English friend, parcel reading matter; from a friend, money found, $1.50; Mrs. G. A. Cox, $5.

Fire Systems.

Belleville's fire system, it would seem, is not altogether satisfactory. Not long ago the brigade was re-organized, and now the Ontario says:—"Mr. W. H. Campbell, chief engineer of the fire department, left last night for Toronto to enquire into the workings of the fire system in that city. He will possibly visit Peterborough on his return." No doubt he can get much valuable information in Toronto, but the system adopted in the Queen City would be too extensive and costly for Belleville. Peterborough's system would just fill the bill. If Mr. Campbell calls here he will at once be convinced of the efficiency of our fire system.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 29.

There was nothing particularly important done at the Legislature yesterday. The bills have begun to percolate through the last stages of procedure, quite a number passing the final reading yesterday and becoming the law of the province. Mr. Waters' bridge bill gave rise to a good deal of fun, though its defeat did not seem to be a joke the member for Middlesex enjoyed very heartily. The House adjourned at 5.15.

Mr. Waters' bill in regard to the maintenance of bridges came up for second reading. It was debated for half an hour or more. Mr. Drury's opinion was that the matter should be shelved till a new Parliament was elected, inasmuch as it was voted down last session. He did not think Mr. Waters considered the provisions of the bill thoroughly.

Mr. Waters ruffled up at once, and the way he defended himself from such a charge, and the way he strewed salt over the member from Simcoe put the House in uproar. Mr. Drury could go home as often as he liked and then come here and say he considered the provisions of the bill thoroughly, while the speaker, who never was out of the House but one day in nine sessions—(immense applause)—was, forsooth, told he did not consider the bill thoroughly. [Applause.]

Mr. Drury: The difference between myself and the member for Middlesex is that I go home on the Sabbath Day and he stays here—I presume for the purpose of reading up the municipal law. [Cheers and laughter.]

Mr. Waters (resentfully): I want the hon. gentleman to understand that on Sundays I never put my pen on paper or read the municipal law or any other law. [More laughter and applause.]

Mr. Meredith said Mr. Waters had made a damaging confession in saying he read neither the municipal nor any other law on Sundays. Surely he read the Good Book. [Laughter.] At the same time, Mr. Drury stood a fair very good chance in this great race that was to come off if he had Mr. Waters after him.

Mr. Preston moved a three months' hoist, but it was withdrawn on Mr. Waters' consent to decide the fate of the bill at once.

The vote was taken and the bill was defeated by 51 to 37, the Government voting against it.

Mr. Stewart's bill to amend the act respecting coroners so as to dispense with useless coroners' inquests at jails, was brought up. The Attorney-General did not feel disposed to advise the House to adopt it. The present law was the law that had been in force from time immemorial almost. He would require strong reasons before he would support a change.

The bill was withdrawn.

Mr. Awrey's bill to amend the Municipal Act was read a second time.

Around the Lobbies.

The Private Bills Committee reported their bills, with slight amendments, yesterday. An act to consolidate the debs of Ridgetown; an act to authorize Peterboro to issue debentures; an act respecting Port Arthur, Neebing and Shuniah; an act to confirm mortgages and conveyances made by the churchwardens of Christ's Church, Hamilton; an act respecting the Nicholls Hospital Trust, and an act respecting the incorporation of Markdale. The Chester incorporation bill was laid over.

Mayor Sovan, ex-Mayor Mason, ex-Mayor Charlton, Ald. Moore, Ald. Morden, Ald. Morgan, Ald. Dixon, Ald. Griffith, Ald. Williamson, Ald. Paine and Ald. Matthews, were a deputation from Hamilton to ask the Government to aid in reconstructing the sewer from the Asylum to that city. It would cost $85,000 to do the work, and they wanted the Government to give $20,000. Mr. Mowat replied that he would consider the matter.

Hon. Mr. Hardy's bill to amend the act respecting the office of Sheriff, defines the duties of the Sheriff of York and the Sheriff of Toronto. The Sheriff of York shall perform the duties of sheriff at those courts, and none others, held within Toronto: Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice, York County Court, General Sessions, and County Judge's Criminal Court. The Sheriff of Toronto shall perform the duties of Sheriff at the Court of Appeals, Queen's Bench Division of the High Court, the Assize Court and Nisi Prius, Oyer and Terminer, and General Jail delivery, on the High Court sitting elsewhere than at Osgoode Hall. The respective Sheriffs will summon jurors in the courts they attend respectively, and will be entitled to the Sheriff's fees attached to these courts. So long as there is only one jail in Toronto the Sheriff of Toronto shall have control of it.

During the sitting yesterday Hon. Mr. Hardy brought down returns showing the amount spent on colonization roads for the past five years, the number of commitments made to jails under the Division Court process, and correspondence relative to provincial accounts between the treasurers of Ontario and Quebec. Another return in reference to Upper Canada College showed that the receipts during last year were $28,361.80, and that the disbursements were $22,761.18.

Mr. French's bill, now before the House, with reference to stenographers, provides that the stenographers engaged in county courts shall be paid for transcripts in addition to the salary they may receive from the county councils or law societies, and that payment shall be made by the litigants. It gives power to the judge to say what proportion of the cost of transcripts is to be borne by each litigant. The bill came up for second reading yesterday, but at Mr. Mowat's request was allowed to stand for a few days.

The Vallejo Horror.

VALLEJO, Cal., Feb. 28.—Eight of the men killed by the explosion on the steamer Julia yesterday had wives and families, and five more were single. The list of unrecovered bodies is now thought to number eleven. It is supposed that, exclusive of the crew, there were fifty-two passengers on board, making sixty-three in all, and not a single one escaped without injuries.

To dream of a ponderous whale
Erect on the tip of his tail,
Is the sign of anagram
(If the weather is warm),
Unless it should happen to fail.

Dreams don't amount to much, anyhow. Some signs, however, are infallible. If you are constipated, with no appetite, tortured with sick headache and billious symptoms, these signs indicate that you need Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. They will cure you. All druggists. c

TAKE

NASAL BALM FOR

COLD IN HEAD

—AND—

CATARRH.

There is no disease to which Canadians are more subject than Catarrh—all ages and sex alike are numbered among the sufferers. It is impossible in the limit of a short newspaper article to describe the symptoms fully, but they may be briefly summarized: Cold in the head, difficulty in breathing, hawking and spitting, headache, pains in the region over the eye, stoppage of nasal passages, foul breath, droppings into the throat causing nausea and sometimes vomiting, poisonous secretions accumulating in the lungs leading to consumption. These are but a few of the many symptoms of Catarrh, a disease which affects 7-10 of our Canadian population. NASAL BALM is the only CERTAIN and POSITIVE CURE for this loathsome disease in all its forms and stages. NASAL BALM is the result of years of careful study, and is prepared with a view to radically cure those cases of catarrh, to which Canadians are most subject. It is not a liquid snuff or cauterizing powder, but a pleasant, never failing remedy, requiring no instrument or douche for its use. Easy to use, instantaneous in its effects, permanent in its cures. Ask for Nasal Balm and take no substitute of whatever name. For Cold in the Head there is no better remedy on earth to equal Nasal Balm. Do not neglect a cold in the head for in nine cases out of ten it will lead to Catarrh. Use Nasal Balm upon the first symptoms. This wonderful remedy affords instant relief and cures within a few hours. It can be used for the youngest child as well as for adults, and as a precautionary measure should be kept in every household. For sale by all druggists or sent in receipt of price (50c. and $1.00 per bottle) by addressing FULFORD & CO., Brockville.

PROOF OF ITS MARVELLOUS EFFICACY.

An Unequalled Remedy.

J. McKee, druggist, Peterborough, says:—Nasal Balm gives the most general satisfaction to customers of any preparation I ever handled. My sales are large and the reports from those who use it, fully substantiate your claims for the medicine as an unequalled remedy for catarrh in the head.

Worth Ten Times its Cost.

T. W. Hunt Port Hope says: I was a sufferer from a long standing case of catarrh and being well up in years (78) hardly expected to ever obtain anything that would give me material or permanent relief. At the time of receiving Nasal Balm I was very bad with catarrh, but take great pleasure in stating that on the second application I obtained wonderful relief and its effect was pleasant, soothing and healing. It acted like magic and is worth ten times its cost for the immediate relief it gives. I feel confident the second bottle will effect a permanent cure. I have recommended Nasal Balm for cold in the head and in every case it acts like a charm.

Acts Like a Charm.

John Foster Raymond says:—Nasal Balm acts like a charm for my catarrh. I have only used it a short time and I now feel better than at any period during the last seven years. In fact I am sure of a cure and at a very small expense.

w6w

Feels Like a New Man.

A. E. Fish, merchant, Belleville, states: I take great pleasure in recommending your Nasal Balm to any one troubled with that dreadful disease, catarrh. I have been troubled with it for the past fifteen years, and can say candidly that I never had anything that gave me half so much relief as your Nasal Balm. I have only used two bottles and I feel like a new man.

Beats the World.

D. Derbyshire, president Ontario Creamery Association, Brockville, says: Nasal Balm beats the world for catarrh and cold in the head. In my own case it effected relief from the first application.

$1.00 for 50 cents.

Capt. D. H. Lyon, manager and proprietor of the C. P. R. and R. W. & O. R. car ferry Prescott, and Ogdensburg N. Y. says: I used Nasal Balm for a prolonged case of cold in the head. Two applications effected a complete and thorough cure in less than 24 hours. I would not take $100 for my bottle of Nasal Balm if I could not replace it.

It Never Fails.

Ex Mayor Bowie, Brockville, Ont., says: I used Nasal Balm for a bad case of catarrh, and it cured me after having unsuccessfully tried many other remedies. It never fails to give immediate relief for cold in the head.

THE BURLINGTON STRIKE.

The Tie-Up Generally Effectual—Sleeping Strikers—All Quiet at Galesburg.

CHICAGO, Feb. 29.—The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road moved a few suburban trains this morning, but no through trains arrived to-day. All was quiet in the yards and round-houses. Notices were posted that no freight would be received.

An attempt was made to disable the engine drawing the fast mail, which left the Union depot at 2.10 this morning. The difficulty was soon discovered and the obstruction removed.

Mr. Perkins, president of the company, has arrived from the east, and says he regrets very much that the men should have seen fit to act so hastily, and he is surprised that Mr. Arthur should have approved so sudden a termination of the old and satisfactory relations. He thinks the engineers are making a mistake in attempting to force railroads to unreasonable terms. The Chicago, Barlington and Quincy is paying, has always paid, and expects to pay, as good wages as other roads, but the company is responsible to the public, and it cannot concede the right of its employes to say what its methods of pay or its regulations and safe-guards shall be, touching the life and safety of the hundreds of thousands of persons it transports. He agrees entirely with the position taken by the officers of the company. They have never paid all men and all runs alike, and he does not think they ever will.

DISASTROUS FIRES.

Serious Accident to a Child—A Board of Trade Memorial.

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—Fire broke out this afternoon on the top floor of the Morton House, over the Union-square Theatre. It burned its way into the theatre which, together with the hotel, was badly damaged, the loss amounting to $100,000.

When the inmates of the hotel were made aware of their danger they rushed pell-mell down stairs, and many of them were badly bruised. Manager J. M. Hill of the Union-square Theatre was in his office in the building, and with him was Treasurer Hall of the Casino. They escaped with difficulty. The clerks in the hotels seized the huge iron safe and rolled it into the street, leaving inflammable articles behind. Everybody got safely into the streets.

When the fire was raging most fiercely the roof of the theatre fell in while numbers of firemen were doing yeoman service by fighting the fire from the interior. The spectators were horrified to hear heartrending screams and in a moment or two those of the firemen who were able rushed from the building. Foreman Forens, Assistant Foreman Atkins, Firemen Ross, J. Leddy and Frank O'Connor had to be carried out by their comrades, being badly burned and injured by falling timbers. Ambulances carried them to the St. Vincent's and New York hospitals. The driver of one of the St. Vincent's ambulances dashed around the corner of Fourteenth-street and Sixth-avenue with such reckless speed that the axle was broken and the ambulance upset. Two of the injured firemen were flung out and rolled into the gutter. They were picked up and sent to the hospital in a car.

HOME INSTITUTIONS.

Hamilton City Fathers Think They Should Be Patronized—College Federation.

HAMILTON, Feb. 29.—The City Council last night changed the clause in the Waterworks Committee's report recommending the acceptance of James Morrison's (Toronto) tender for brasswork, on the ground that home institutions should be patronized, and gave the contract to the Hamilton Brass Manufacturing Company, although Mr. Morrison's tender was the lowest.

Drs. Burwash, Curran and Potts spoke at a meeting in Centenary Church last night in relation to college federation and its advantages so far as they relate to Victoria College.

There was a meeting in the American Hotel to-night of those interested in experimental boring for natural gas.

Charles Beakerson, George Clark, John Clark and Henry Lewis, the boys who were arrested on suspicion of having in their possession tickets which they knew had been stolen from the Hamilton and Dundas Street Railway office, were allowed to go this morning, there being no evidence against them.

William Watson, the pedlar who was arrested a few days ago on the charge of insanity, was taken home by his friends to Toronto last evening.

James Whitney fell into an ice-hole on the Bay yesterday and broke his leg.

Accident in an Organ Factory.

GUELPH, Feb. 29.—Henry Darby, an employe of Bell's organ factory, was engaged yesterday in running a buzz planer, when on reaching over, his hand slipped, the first and second fingers of the right hand coming in contact with the knives of the planer. He was taken to a surgeon, when it was found necessary to amputate the fingers.

Victims of a Cressing Accident.

MONTREAL, Feb. 29.—The two men, Duncan and Smith, who were struck by the cowcatcher of a locomotive at the Wellington-street crossing of the Grand Trunk Railway last evening, are still very low, and are not expected to recover.

MONTREAL, Feb. 29.—Six boy burglars, who broke into Bonsecours Market during Sunday, were to-day sent to the Reformatory for five years, while the seventh was liberated on $200 bail, sentence being suspended.

The price of granulated sugar has been lowered ¼c. this week and is now 7c. to consumers and 7 5-16c. to J. A. Mathewson & Co., non-combiners.

While a little girl named Daynault, 6 years of age, was playing in a room where her brother and two friends were playing a game of cards, one of the players struck the table with his fist when a coal oil lamp, which stood on the table, fell and the bowl breaking off from the foce fell on the child, igniting her dress. The players did their utmost to put out the flames but when they finally succeeded the little girl was burned from head to feet. The child is in a critical condition.

Proceedings were instituted in the Practice Court to-day to interdict Alex. Spence, who recently savagely attacked one of his deserters while in delirium tremens. Spence, who is very wealthy, is resisting the proceedings.

At a meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade to-day it was decided to memorialize the Government to increase the weight of letters carried for 3 cents to one ounce instead of half an ounce, and also to appoint a deputation to wait upon the Dominion Government in connection with deputations from the Hamilton, Toronto and Winnipeg Boards o Trade and ask that the reduction of canal tolls be continued during the coming season of navigation.

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. Sir John's Conversion.

Politicians are greatly interested in the statement that Sir John Macdonald has been converted at the evangelistic meetings in Ottawa conducted by Crossley and Hunter. In fact people of all classes talk a great deal about it, but not nearly as much as they do about the grand dual carnival at the skating rink on March 9th, under Canton auspices. It will be the last, but by no means the least, of the season.

A Malicious and Damaging Falsehood.

The following false and damaging paragraph appears in the commercial columns of the Toronto Empire:—"Dawson Bros., dry goods, Peterborough, are reported to be in difficulties." We have much pleasure in stating that there is not the first word of truth in the above report, nor are the firm in any sort of difficulty, never having had a note protested and being able to meet all their paper promptly. They have instructed their solicitor to demand the retraction of the report by the Empire, and to institute a suit for damages at once.

One Horn Too Much.

This morning Mr. K. Kloome, taxadermist, delivered the head of a deer that he had set up, and to show the effect of one horn too much, as he was carrying it down the rather slippery street, he was the object of most particular attention, and being a man of steady habits, it was a matter of great surprise and regret to his friends to see him carrying a horn too much. Fortunately the horn was on the head of the deer, which possessed three antlers. Two were well developed and occupied the normal position. The third antler, or the "horn too much," grew, about half length, on the right side in front of the other antler. The deer was shot by Mr. Walter Kidd, of Dummer, son of Mr. A. R. Kidd, and the head may be seen at Kidd's shoe store.

THE FARMERS IN COUNCIL.

Giving and Exchanging Agricultural Ideas.

Second Meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 29th.

The second annual convention of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute convened in the court room of the Court House at 10.30 this morning. There was not a very large attendance, there being only about fifty members present.

In the unavoidable absence, through illness, of the President, Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, on motion of Mr. F. E. Bell the vice-president, Mr. T. E. Bell occupied the chair and made a few remarks upon the important part played in the farming economy by Farmers' Institutes. He called upon who read a paper on "Buying and Selling." This paper was something of the nature of a surprise, being largely of a poetical and theoretical character not in strict accordance with what was expected from the essayist. Two points were alluded to, one that the larger the constituency of non-producers of agricultural products the better for the farmer, and the other that that farming community, which had the largest demand, would enjoy the best market. Alluding at considerable length to the part played in the production of agricultural resources by machinery and the manner in which the building of railways had developed new markets, the principle was laid down that the nearer the producer and consumer could be brought together the better.

MR. DAWSON KENNEDY—Hear, hear.

The essayist devoted considerable time to elaborating the fact that it would not be wise to strive for more money gain—not advisable to strive, as the one chief aim, to get the highest prices for farm produce; the farmer should not devote his attention to making money too fast, but should bear a good deal for the sake of developing the highest state of culture and individual improvement. The "hackneyed fallacy" of "selling in the dearest and buying in the cheapest market" was referred to, and especial importance attached to the development of a home market. Mr. Carnegie concluded with an eloquent peroration, emphasizing the happy and flourishing condition of the Canadian farmer, and intimating, in effect, that the duty of the farmer was to trust in God, pay taxes, and improve himself and he would be happy.

Mr. D. KENNEDY asked Mr. Carnegie in reference to the allegation that the average farmer was making a profit of 18 per cent. on his operations, though the cost was forgotten of producing the crops of the farm and the cost of living, while he could show, taking these things into consideration, that the average farmer, did not make two per cent. Referring to the statement made by Mr. Carnegie, that the purchasing power of a bushel of wheat had increased, Mr. Kennedy pointed out that the producing power of the soil had decreased in greater proportion.

Mr. CARNEGIE said he did not agree with the high figures referred to as many farmers did not pay expenses, but he asserted that farming was the best occupation in the world.

In answer to Mr. Wm. Graham, of Smith, Mr. Carnegie said he did not think that Commercial Union would be for the benefit of Canada.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Carnegie, for his paper on "Buying and Selling."

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The session resumed at two o'clock. Mr. T. E. Bell, vice-president, in the chair.

The first business was the reading, by Mr. Wm. Claxton, of a paper on Commercial Union.

Commercial Union opens a wide field for discussion, but as this is a farmers' meeting I will confine myself to the agricultural aspect of the case.

Commercial Union means unrestricted reciprocity, unrestricted commercial intercourse between Canada and the United States, or in other words the obliteration of the customs line between the two countries. In fact the abolition of all tariff and custom dues.

As I proceed I will reply to some of the objections of the opponents of Commercial Union.

WHO PAYS THE DUTY?—This topic has been discussed by economists of reputation from Adam, Smith, Mill, Ricardo, and other writers downwards, who argue that the burden of customs duties falls on the importing community and not on the community which sends the goods on which the duties are imposed. But they admit there are exceptions to the rule. I would not presume to say whether these eminent writers are right or wrong. They may be right from their standpoint, especially, so far as England is concerned.

AFTER FIFTY YEARS

of an extensive business experience and reading, I will humbly submit the conclusions which I have arrived at in connection with our trade with the United States. When the supply exceeds the demand the price is equalized, and in that case, is regulated by the European or foreign markets. This is the case at the present time with wheat and cheese in Canada and the United States, and the price is governed, both in this country and in the States, by the price in England. And when combinations are formed to control the market, and put up the price, say of such a necessary article as coal, the consumer importing coal into Canada from the United States, in such abnormal case, would pay the duty.

OATS.—A few few years ago we had a magnificent crop of oats in Canada, and there was a good demand for them in the States. That year I shipped 180,000 bushels to Boston, which I bought at the several stations of the Midland Railway in the vicinity of Peterborough. When these shipments reached the boundary line at Island Pond, they were until I paid the duty of ten cents per bushel amounting to over $18,000, or I should have said the farmers from whom I bought the oats paid the duty to support the American Government.

A merchant residing at Rochester or Ogdensburg shipping 180,000 bushels to Boston from his side of the customs line, at the same time, and selling at the price at which I sold my oats, would receive $18,000 more than I received, and consequently could pay the American farmer ten cents per bushel more than I could pay the Canadian farmer.

WOOL.—Sheep-raising in Canada should be a profitable business for farmers. Are flocks increasing? Have they not decreased since the termination of the reciprocity treaty in 1866? Why? Because the price of wool has been so low that farmers found it undesirable to keep large flocks of sheep. How would Commercial Union affect this property?

THE PRICE OF WOOL IN ONTARIO

for some years past has been from 18 to 20 cents, while the price in the States has been, for the same grade, 36 cents. Do away with the duty and the price in Ontario for fleece washed wool would be at least 36 cents per pound. The duty on wool imported into the United States is 10 cents per pound.

In confirmation of what I say, I submit a letter from my Boston agents—one of the largest wool houses in America.

BOSTON, August 31, 1887.

W. CLAXTON, Esq., Peterborough, Ontario.

DEAR SIR,—With your request for a posting in regard to Canadian wool in mind, we now take pleasure in quoting you 26½ cents as the price current here for Canadian wools on the duty paid, and would further say in this connection that those wools when brought to our market come into direct competition with Kentucky and Maine wools; and, but for the heavy duty upon your class of stock, we should be able to use a large quantity of it in this country to good advantage, inasmuch as the class of wool with which it competes is in somewhat limited supply in the States.

Yours respectfully,
FRED BROS. & CHILDS.

Mr. Dryden, a farmer, a member of the Ontario Legislature, says, in his speech on this subject: "Last week I had

A CALL FROM TWO AMERICAN FARMERS,

"one from Pennsylvania and the other from "Michigan. Both have large flocks of Shropshire grades, but the Pennsylvania farmer "raises sheep for meat and the Michigan "farmer for wool. Now, how do you suppose their prices compare with ours? We "sell lambs dropped in March at $3 to $3.50, "and the Pennsylvanian assured me that he "got $6 to $6.50 for theirs. The Michigan "farmer told me that the clips of his Shropshires sold for 35 cents, unwashed." Mr. Dryden says: "Open the American markets and the revenue to the Canadian farmer from wool, as well as from mutton, will be enormously increased. I say this because no other portion of the American continent is so well adapted for raising sheep as this Ontario."

BARLEY.—A farmer selling 500 bushels of barley for the American market loses ten cents per bushel, or $50.00 on the 500 bushels—the American duty. There is something in the climate and soil of Ontario that produces a finer quality of barley than other parts of the continent for making the excellent pale lager beer which is consumed in such vast quantities in the States, and the brewers there cannot very well do without it.

HORSES.—Suppose you sold, to an American, a horse for $100,

IT WOULD COST HIM, DUTY PAID,

in the States, not taking freight and expenses into account, $120. If you bought the horse back again in the States and brought it to Canada, it would cost, duty paid, on this side, $144. If you sold it again to the American as $100, which would still be the value in Canada, and bought back a second time in the United States at $120, the value of the horse there, and imported into Canada, you would have, after paying the American duty of $40 and the Canadian duty of $48, just $12 out of the price the horse was first sold for. And, as this would not probably pay the expenses of one trip to the States, it would have been better, the first time the Customs House officer said, "Stand and deliver," if you had said, "I will deliver the horse, take him, and I will go home and ponder the question as to whether

"THE PRODUCER OR THE CONSUMER PAYS THE DUTY."

If you follow these transactions, the illustration will show that on both sides of the line the shipper—the producer—paid the duty. And this rule works in the same way on every article which the Canadian farmer produces and sends to the United States—with the exception, perhaps, of wheat and cheese.

The opponents of Commercial Union say that as the United States produce the same articles that Canada produces they do not require our products, and that England is our natural market. Let us see. In 1886 we sent 15,786 horses to the United States. The stated price of these was $1,761,490—nearly $120 each. The duty paid on these was $352,298. The United States imported that year from Canada 33,165 head of cattle, valued at $443,430, on which the duty was $89,686. Canada sent to the markets of the United States 343,862 sheep, valued at $943,514, the duty paid was $188,702.

The latest report indicates that we sent 18,225 horses, 45,765 horned cattle and 363,046 sheep last year. Twenty per cent. of the duty on horses and cattle

REPRESENTS OVER $451,000.

By the returns—June 1887—the value of imports from the United States to Canada was $34,958,110, while the value of exports to the United States was $39,523,685, or a balance in favor of Canada of $4,565,575, the total volume of trade in 1887 being $74,480,765.

Canada exported to the United States in 1886 between eight and nine million bushels of barley which paid a duty of ten cents per bushel, not taking into account malt which paid a higher duty than barley.

Canadian farmers exported in 1886 over thirteen million dozen eggs worth in the neighborhood of one and three-quarter million dollars. Eggs are admitted free of duty into the United States. This accounts for the great impetus given to this great trade in eggs.

If we had unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, would it be unreasonable to suppose that our trade in horses, cattle, sheep, butter, wool, poultry, and other products would not also be greatly increased? Farmers would get

FROM $20 TO $30 MORE FOR EVERY HORSE,

$10 more for every ox, $10 more for every $50 worth of sheep, lambs or poultry, ten cents more for every pound of wool and four cents per pound more for every pound of butter exported to our neighbors across the line. What a change it would make in the butter trade! At present Canadian butter has to be sent 3,000 miles to England to compete with German butterine and oleomargarine—imitations so perfectly manufactured that there is not one person out of a hundred who could distinguish these articles from genuine butter.

If the vast sums of money paid the American government for duties on Canadian produce exported to that country were distributed among Canadian farmers, giving them enhanced prices for the articles they produce, many of them would be able to remove incumbrances from their farms, and they would be enabled to buy land for their sons.

At the meeting of the Farmers' Union held at Port Hope last summer, Mr. Butterworth, of Ohio, said: "A farmer starts from Ontario with a carload of barley for New York.

WHEN HE REACHES THE PICKET LINE,

the United States government kindly takes one bushel out of every seven. He pays storage and commission and buys corn on the United States side and starts home. His own government stops him at the picket line and the officers take one bushel in every four. Thus, after a season of unremitting toil, he is permitted to rejoice in the fact that in exchanging his produce for things necessary for his family, he has had wrested from him by two Christian governments one half of his goods." Indeed it is hard for the Canadian farmer to be in a very prosperous condition. He is taxed to support his own and the American Government, our protected manufacturers and monopolist combinations.

LUMBER AND FISH.

I will not take up your time in discussing these products, as farmers are not so much interested in them, more than to say that the duty on lumber imported into the United States is $2 per thousand feet. If we had Commercial Union the lumbermen would get $2 more for every thousand feet of lumber they shipped to the States.

At a meeting of the lumbermen held the other day in Toronto, they passed a resolution unanimously in favor of Commercial Union. They should be the best judges of their own business.

FISH.—The condition of the fishermen is analogous to my case, as illustrated in the cute transactions. The fishermen of the great fishing port of Gloucester, near Boston, come to our coast, catch fish and sell free of duty in the American market, while our fishermen have to pay a duty of one cent per pound to the United States Government. Our fishermen want Commercial Union, and failing to get that they will go for annexation. Mr. Longley, the Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, says so.

THE DISLOYALTY CRY.

If Commercial Union would give us everything that political union could give, what object would there be in seeking annexation?

The man that is disloyal to himself, his family and his country, is the disloyal man. If the majority of the people believe and decide that Commercial Union would benefit the country, they will have it if the Americans are willing to give it to us. Does not this cry express a fear that the people would be so fascinated with Commercial Union that they would hanger after political union? A prosperous people are a contented people, and a contented people do not become disloyal. In 1847 there was a great commercial depression all over the world. In Canada it was severely felt, and business was demoralised. It continued to cling to the country, and the common cry at that time was "Rain and Decay." In the United States, with its vast resources, they soon surmounted their difficulties, and the country advanced with leaps and bounds. Thus, it was, that Canadians began to contrast their condition with the state of things across the line, and they began to grumble, and these grumblings soon broke into the cry of annexation. Associations were formed from Great Britain and annexation to the United States. And these associations issued manifestoes which were numerously signed. The Montreal manifesto was signed by 326 of the principal men of the city, viz: Rose, Galt, Holton, Ferrier, Macpherson, Redpath, Molson, Torrance and others.* That manifesto stated what Commercial Unionists say to-day, viz:—"that reciprocity would render Canada a field for American capital—render our rivers, canals and railways, the highway for the business of the west, enhancing the value of property and agriculture, giving remunerative employment to the people. And Canadians could purchase articles at lower prices. All danger of war would cease and there would be perpetual peace and amity between the two countries."

TO PROMOTE PEACEABLE SEPARATION

THE RECIPROCITY TREATY OF 1854

fully proved the correction of that forecast. When we got reciprocity Canada took a new start by sharing in the prosperity of our neighbors across the boundary, and the cry for annexation died a natural death. If this was the result of reciprocity from 1854 to 1866 would it not be the same under Commercial Union. These twelve years were golden years for Canada, and many of the foundations of the comfortable farm houses that we see to day on every side, and other buildings were laid during that prosperous period.

Under the operations of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854 the gross exchange of natural products between the Canadian provinces and the United States rose from $20,000,000, in 1853, to $34,000,000, in 1866.

THE BEST MARKET.—Our opponents say that England should be our market, and that we should loyally deal there. Commercial Unionists say we have a better market at our doors of sixty millions of the most prosperous, wealthy, and enterprising people on the face of the earth. I, and many others,

HAVE TRIED THE ENGLISH MARKET,

and if there is any thing that would be likely to make a man "commit profanity," as Mark Twain says, it is consigning produce to England. I have no hesitation in saying that if a bank engaged largely in that business, if its charter permitted it to do so, the bank would become bankrupt. In Liverpool produce is sold at 4 months' credit—"Liverpool terms"—and in London at two months'. The shipper pays 3% commission for selling and guaranteeing the debt. The commission and the other charges eat a man out of house and home. It takes nine cents a bushel to sell wheat and pay the charges after the vessel touches the dock in Liverpool. It takes 12% in Liverpool, including freight, to sell cheese, butter, clover seed, &c., and 10% in London. The only safe way to do business there is to sell c.i.f. if you can do so, which is not an easy matter. If one sends a thousand boxes of cheese, they weigh it, take full weight, and then take one pound for each cheese; so the shipper is docked 1,000 pounds. Last year I

SHIPPED 10 CARS OF CLOVER SEED,

2,000 bags, 5,000 bushels, and this winter nine cars to England. In England they weigh and deduct one pound for each bag, and then another pound per bag for the draft; so that on my 2,000 bags they docked me 2,000 pounds, and clover seed, with charges added there, is worth from 8 to 10 cents per pound. I mention these matters to show the old-fashioned way which they have of doing business.

The brightest business men they ever had in Montreal were large consigners of produce to England, and they all succumbed to the inevitable, with one exception; and they may be described as men appearing with their heads above a flood for a little while, and then disappearing out of sight for ever.

If a Canadian dealer sends produce to the United States he sells for cash, gets paid for what he sends without any docking, and gets quick returns with moderate charges. The farmers in Canada are three-fourths of the population and wealth of the country. If they will cling together, study their own interests, and not listen to politicians, and strive for Commercial Union, the country will reap the advantages, and their descendants will call them blessed.

*Some of these names have been familiar for years to the public as those of our most prominent public men under the following titular forms:—Sir Alex. Galt, Sir John Rose, Hon. Luther H. Holton, Hon. Senator Ferrier, Mr. Redpath, the sugar refiner, Mr. Molson, banker and Mr. David Torrance, importer.

New Law Firm.

On and after March 1st the law firm of Edmison & Dixon, barristers, solicitors, etc., will have its offices in the Dolan block. Mr. Geo. Edmison, the senior partner, will have associated with him Mr. A.E. Dixon, a young man of great ability and promise, who acquired his legal training in Mr. Edmison's office and has just passed the final law examination which makes him a full-fledged barrister and solicitor. With young blood infused into the long-established and prosperous business founded by Mr. Edmison, the new firm will no doubt increase its good reputation and the amount of its business. Mr. Dixon is a rising young lawyer who will make his mark in the world.

THE WEATHER.

Partly cloudy or cloudy weather; somewhat higher temperature; light falls of sleet or snow.

"Come, Gentle Spring, Ethereal Mildness, Come."

To the Public—The undersigned would respectfully intimate to the public that he has made more than usually complete preparations for the spring trade. He is now receiving at the GOLDEN LION a magnificent consignment of Direct Importations from Great Britain and France, purchased on the best of terms and in the most favorable condition of the market. These include Millinery Goods, Trimmings, Ribbons, Silks, etc., from the city of Manchester; Laces, Silk and Cotton, from Calais, (France), and carpets, rugs, oilcloths from Glasgow. The public is invited to come and inspect these goods which will be found of unusually good value.

The Golden Lion is making unusually complete preparations for the spring trade. His milliner, Miss White, and her head assistant, are now in the wholesale markets picking up the latest styles, and in a few days his dressmaker will take a trip to the centres of fashion to gather the latest ideas in styles for the benefit of the patrons of the Golden Lion. She will be able to utilize the immense stock of stylish dress goods now on hand, to the satisfaction of the most exacting patron.

The Golden Lion would call the especial attention of the public to the fact that his line of spring goods will present attractive inducements in material, and the prices will be made as reasonable as possible with a view of an early clearance of spring stock, so that the contemplated renovations and improvement of the premises may be entered upon as early in the summer as possible. The growing demands of the business render the improvement and enlargement necessary.

In conclusion the public are invited to call at the Golden Lion and examine one of the finest stocks in every department ever offered in Peterborough.

THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1888.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, March 1.

The Attorney-General on rising to move concurrence in the "Quebec resolutions" was received with Ministerial applause. He made the proposition that the motions should be considered separately, as they referred to a variety of matters. He then proceeded to sketch the conditions upon which Canada became a consolidated dominion, and then argued that legislation, regardless of how carefully it was made in the first instance, was open to valuable amendments at the dictation of experience. It was in view of the felt necessity that such amendments were needed to the British North America Act that the conference at Quebec was held. Most of the provinces sent deputies, some of these provinces being governed by Conservatives and some by Reformers.

There was nothing in the resolutions to offend Conservatives, and he ardently wished the Conservatives of this House would join in adopting them. They were so valuable that he was confident that they would be ultimately adopted. [Ministerial applause.] He would say a few words on each resolution, reserving the opportunity of fuller discussion upon each. The preamble, reciting how the British North America Act had been working with friction, grave omissions had been discovered in it, that Provincial autonomy was disregarded, and that amendment to it was needed, he fully concurred in. He strongly objected to the power given to the Dominion Government to disallow Provincial Acts. He did not see why the veto power should exist anywhere. [Ministerial applause.] The people's representatives should be allowed to exercise legislative functions freely. [Ministerial applause.]

At the time the Confederation Act was framed it was thought there was less damage in giving the veto power to the Dominion Government than to continue it in the hands of the Imperial Government; and it was understood that the Dominion Government would not exercise it with such freedom as it had been in the past. But it was well known that the Dominion Government, both Reform and Conservative, had used it much more freely. The veto power should be abolished, but if it were to remain it would be much to the advantage of the provinces to have it placed in the hands of the Imperial Government. Failing this, the courts should be called on to decide whether or not provincial legislatures were exceeding their powers. These resolutions went further; they proposed to give the courts power to decide whether or not the Dominion Government was exceeding its powers. He believed in keeping the provincial legislatures in their sphere and in keeping the Dominion Government in its sphere also. [Ministerial hear, hear's.] Private litigants should not be allowed to disturb legislation two years after enactment.

The Senate question next claimed his attention. The Senate was called into being to protect the provinces, but the Dominion Government appointed those very men who were to protect the provinces. It was like the plaintiff choosing the counsel for the defendant. It was the provinces that should have the power to appoint the Senators. Then it would be a body of power, as it ought to be, but which it was not now. He objected also to the British North America Act on account of its not defining the duties of the Lieutenant-Governors. Statesmen and politicians of both parties thought the Lieutenant-Governors were to exercise the prerogatives of the Crown's representative over all matters the legislatures dealt with, and the Lieutenant-Governors had exercised such powers. But these powers had been called into question. Their duties should be exactly defined. Under the British North America Act the Dominion could assume control of all public works, constructed at the outlay of provincial or municipal money. The resolutions proposed a change in that respect. He contrasted the voters' lists and the system under which they were managed with the system introduced by the Dominion, and urged the abolition of one. The provincial system was fair, and there was no need for a second system, incurring great expense. And terrible. The eighth resolution referred to magistrates. Heretofore the provinces had exercised appointing power, but their power had been called in question by private litigants, and it was not clear that the provinces had the power. Now that the question was raised the power in this respect should be settled. Some legal matters, of little public importance, were discussed. Several resolutions were passed over, and the question of the possession of lands occupied by Indians, he said, should be clearly set forth. The power of the Legislature as to passing bankruptcy and insolvency acts should be also set forth by an Imperial Act. He hoped the hon. members opposite would deal with these resolutions with as little party spirit as they could entertain. They were necessary and important; they would remove friction, and would greatly strengthen the bonds of union of the provinces as a part of the Empire in which they all loved to live.

The Attorney-General seconded the motion.

Mr. Meredith arose amid Opposition applause. He believed that it was the intention of the Government, as soon as they received the assent of the House, to apply to the Imperial Parliament to make these resolutions amendments to the British North America Act. It was meet, therefore, that they should be fully discussed. It was the most important proposition ever presented to this House, involving as it did the determination of the Premier Province to alter the whole scheme of the unity of the provinces composing the Dominion. He desired to appreciate the consideration of the question with anything but a party spirit, but with mindfulness of the best interests of this great Dominion. [Applause.] But he was afraid it was with the spirit of a political partisan that the hon. gentlemen opposite approached it, for did not the resolutions on the table contain what was being agitated by the hon. gentleman opposite for years. [Opposition applause.] Before the hon. gentleman could get the country to assent to such change as were proposed they must establish two things, first, that there is a defect in the constitution now in existence, and second, that what they propose to substitute is better than the constitution as it is. [Opposition applause and hear, hear.] But these resolutions were not what their advocate opposite claimed, the wishes of the people of the Provinces. He would call attention to the fact that two Provinces were not represented, and the Government of Quebec which introduced the scheme was not a Government chosen or party lines [Ministerial cheers] but it a party that went to power on an issue, which, if persisted in, would be destructive to our system of Confederation. [Loud Opposition applause and cheers.] He would also point out that some of the men that affixed their signatures to these resolutions were traitors to the Dominion. [Sensation and Opposition applause.] Attorney-General Longley publicly declared his belief in the instability of Confederation, and the Nova Scotia representatives reserved their right to secede from the Dominion no matter what decision the conference arrived at. What was the use of the hon. gentleman opposite talking about making arrangements for the bettering of the terms of the Constitution, when the very men he conferred with were traitors! [Opposition applause]. The Attorney-General said it was the intention that the Dominion Government should use the veto power but sparingly or not at all. The utterances of the framers of the act proved that the Attorney-General's statement was altogether unfounded. Conservatives and Reformers, Frenchmen and Englishmen, carefully considered the question and resolved to place it in the hands of the Central Government. Tache, Brown, Mackenzie, Rose and others discussed it. The Attorney-General complained of an over use of the power, but out of the whole 1400 bills passed by the legislatures less than fifty had been disallowed. But the hon. gentleman was not always the champion of Provincial rights. Why in 1873 he voted for two bills and then asked the Dominion Parliament what their policy was before he would give them effect. [Opposition laughter and applause.]

The Minister of Education, who was now itching to get up and defend Provincial rights, had a record when in the Dominion Parliament, in favoring the veto of the Brunswick School Act. [Opposition applause.] He then quoted the Hon. Edward Blake as to the propriety of the veto power. The power was given advisedly to the Central Power and he defied the Attorney-General to point out an act vetoed that should not have been vetoed unless it might be the Rivers and Streams bill and the Red River railway bill, and there was division of opinion on those He characterized the proposition of surrendering this veto power to the Imperial Parliament as base and unworthy. It was an acknowledgment that Canadians were not fit to govern themselves. The Dominion Franchise Bill, he said frankly, was not what was wanted. It was expensive and not what he could commend. [Applause.] It was not, however, unfair as the hon. gentleman opposite claimed. In dealing with Senate reform he pointed out the position taken by the Reform party on the stump. There it was held that the Senate was a useless appendage. Here the hon. gentleman wanted to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to maintain it.

The financial aspect of the matter showed that one party wanted hard cash and the other wanted glory. Mr. Mercier got the cash and Mr. Mowat got the glory. [Laughter.] The polite Frenchman played on the Attorney-General's vanity—for the Attorney-General has vanity. [Laughter and Opposition applause.]

The Hon. G. W. Ross received an ovation on taking the floor. It was a full two minutes before the applause subsided. He commenced by criticising with quiet sarcasm the mode of argument and tactics the leader of the Opposition had used. He defended the action of the conference point by point. He laid the blame of Nova Scotia's discontent on the shoulders of Sir Charles Tupper, who had coerced that province into the Union. If it seceded it would be a British colony as Newfoundland was. In discussing the question as to whether the British North America Act was perfect or whether it was open to amendment he said their side of the House believed in progressiveness and also in the idea that constant improvement was necessary. If the hon. gentleman opposite believed in everything as it was was perfection he was an anachronism. He should be removed from the House. [Laughter.] His friend next him (Mr. Creighton) should close the door of his Empire. It was born out of time. [Laughter.] It was a foundling and a mistake. [Uproarious laughter.] They held that amendments were necessary in order that the pillars of the state might be strengthened. He dealt argumentatively with the question of provincial autonomy and the veto power, giving reasons why it should be taken out of the hands of the Government. In order to protect the rights of the provinces, they must look to somewhere else. He could say emphatically that the veto power had been abused. Transferring the veto power to the Imperial Parliament was as much in the line of responsible government as the present condition of things, as the Minister of Justice was not responsible to the people of this province. The veto power was exactly similar to that when vested in Downing-street. They were a parliament with certain rights and prerogatives of royalty. Certain rights they had originally they did not surrender to the Dominion Government. The creative energy that called the province into being was Imperial, and in that event they were justified in going to the foot of the throne. [Ministerial applause.] The addresses of the Legislature were met with scant respect by the Dominion Government. It would be immeasurably better to have the veto power rest in Downing-street than where it was. The atmosphere there was purer and constitutionally more bracing. [Ministerial applause.] He would have expected that his hon. friend would have been in favor of a strong central power. It was characteristic of some people to favor strong central power. The United States had a strong central power, but its real strength was its immense diffused power. So had despotisms strength of central power, but its weakness was in the extremities. He chided the last speaker for having criticised their propositions with regard to the Senate when he did not propose something better himself. He described the weakness of the Canadian Senate as compared with the United States Senate and the House of Lords. What they proposed to do was to infuse some blood into the Senate; some representative blood, and the scheme they proposed was the best they could formulate. As it was now Sir John Macdonald created the Senate. The Senate did not represent the political views of the people, but those of Sir John Macdonald. Their idea was to create a deliberate body representing the intelligence, vigor and political complexion of the provinces. They might even appoint some of the hon. gentlemen opposite. He spoke briefly to the franchise arrangements, favoring one franchise act for the provinces and the Dominion. Replying to Mr. Meredith's facetiousness as to "honor and glory," he said if the financial aspect were examined it would be found that Mr. Mowat got a great deal more than glory. The hon. gentleman had only referred to a few of the resolutions. Could they hope that there would be no opposition offered to the rest. He was sure that if the resolutions were placed before the people of Ontario they would be ratified. He hoped the hon. gentleman would even yet withdraw the opposition he had made, and that these resolutions would be carried into effect, to conduce to the smooth movement of their institutions. [Loud and continued applause.]

THE CENTRAL BANK.

This Day's Election of Liquidator—Mr. Campbell Will Not be a Candidate.

TORONTO, March 1.

Temperance Hall, Richmond-street, will be crowded this afternoon by creditors of the Central Bank. The occasion of the gathering is the election of third liquidator as colleague of Messrs. Howland and Gooderham.

By order of Chancellor Boyd, Mr. Archibald Campbell has been deposed from his post, and many shareholders and creditors will be glad to learn that at to-day's meeting Mr. Campbell will not be a candidate.

This statement is made on the authority of Mr. Campbell himself.

Fully acquitted of the many charges made against him, Mr. Campbell considers that his commercial character has been amply vindicated by Chancellor Boyd's decision, and he retires from an onerous and thankless office stating that he did his duty, and he generously hopes that his successor will do the best for the speedy winding-up of the broken bank.

The arrangements for the meeting have been finally made. Hon. S. H. Blake will preside, and the scrutineers will be Mr. Neil McLean, chief clerk to Master Hodgins, and Mr. Henry Pellatt, the well-known Toronto stock broker. After the opening of the meeting the chairman will receive nominations of candidates in writing without speeches. Should five minutes elapse after the first nomination and no more be tendered, the chairman will declare the nominations closed.

Then speeches may be made by creditors in favor of or against any of the candidates proposed. After the speeches the voting will take place. Creditors attending in person will deposit their marked tickets in one box. The creditors attending and voting in their own right and as proxies for other creditors will deposit their tickets in a separate box. At the close of the meeting the scrutineers will ascertain the result of the voting, which will be announced to the meeting by the chairman.

Mr. Coyne of St. Thomas and co-adjutor of Mr. Foster, Q.C., appeared before the Master yesterday, with Mr. Barwick for the Ontario Bank, and applied for the approval of the court to an assignment of the loans of the premises of the Central Bank at Guelph to the Ontario Bank. An order was made sanctioning this arrangement.

The amount of the circulation in the treasury, recently counted by the liquidators, has been revised, and at present it stands as follows: $203,975 in $1,295 notes of $5, 19,000 $10 notes, 2820 notes of $20.

This circulation was cancelled after being counted by cutting out and destroying the signatures thereto.

In addition to the above circulation there was counted: Debentures in the treasury—Sorgey, $914; Town of Durham, $400; Town of Sarnia, six debentures of $1000 each.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Foster, Q.C., on behalf of the liquidators, filed the creditors' claims against the Central Bank. This is a formidable document. It gives 3500 claims in detail, their total amount being a million and three-quarters dollars. Mr. James French of Toronto is the largest claimant, the amount against his name being $70,000. About 500 of these claims are disputed, but the sums in dispute are generally insignificant, principally relating to the amounts of interest.

THE RAILROADERS' STRIKE

CONSIDERABLE HEADWAY MADE BY THE C. P. & Q. YESTERDAY.

Officials Predict Complete Resumption of Their Passenger Traffic Within Two Days—Business in the Chicago Lumber District Paralyzed.

CHICAGO, Feb. 29.—Mr. Perkins, President of the Burlington, is still in the city, where an Associated Press reporter called on him this afternoon and informed him that in reply to a question Mr. Arthur had said that his side was willing to refer the questions at issue to a disinterested committee to arbitrate and asked what the Burlington thought of the proposition. Mr. Perkins said:

"Unfortunately there is nothing to arbitrate because the demands made upon us are of such a nature as to make it impossible. We must control our property and cannot submit to any body questions which relate to the best exercise of the skill and experience of the management in the conduct of the road. No other questions are involved because the managers have offered in their answer to the demands to adjust and equalize wages and they are ready to take that question up at anytime."

Taking the number of trains moved during the day as a criterion, the Burlington may be said to have made considerable headway within the past twenty-four hours in furnishing accommodation for their enormous passenger traffic, and have gained a point on the Brotherhood, and so flattering do the officials of the road consider their prospects that they predict a resumption of their entire passenger service within two days.

The members of the Brotherhood, so far as can be learned, to a man ignored the order of the company to report at noon to-day or consider themselves discharged.

About thirty of the engineers and firemen left for St. Joseph, Mo., on the noon Rock Island train. The Burlington Company have a roundhouse there and will endeavor to supply it with its full complement of men. Forty men left on the same road last Monday for Council Bluffs and about twenty more yesterday for immediate points on the Burlington reached by the Rock Island. Twenty-five arrived from the east last night. They left for Galesburg this morning. Twelve arrived from Pennsylvania this morning and departed at noon for Aurora. It is said that five of the old men not connected with the Brotherhood have reported for duty, and will assume their duties to-morrow.

TREMBLING IN THE BALANCE.

The Fate of John Gamble in the Hands of the Minister of Justice.

TORONTO, March 1.

The chief topic of conversation on the street yesterday was the question whether or not John Gamble, convicted of the murder of Lizzie Bray, would suffer the extreme penalty of the law on the morning of next Tuesday.

Yesterday afternoon Gamble's lawyer, Mr. W. G. Murdoch, received the following telegram from Mr. A. Powes, Deputy Minister of Justice at Ottawa:

Gamble matter before His Excellency. Hope to be able to advise you as to his decision tomorrow by telegraph. A. Powes.

"I gather from this," said Mr. Murdoch, "that Gamble's fate will be decided to-night. The regular process in considering a death sentence in Ottawa is for the Minister of Justice to go thoroughly over the papers in the case, and consider it in all its bearings. He writes out his opinion, and then the papers go before the Cabinet Council, when every member can have something to say about it if he wishes to. The Council decides on a course to pursue, and then turns over the whole affair to the Governor-General, and he almost always follows the opinion of the Minister of Justice and the Council. As for Gamble, I expect he will get off with a short sentence."

Women's Christian Temperance Union

Report of Last Meeting—Resolutions and Other Business.

At the regular meeting of the W.C.T.U. held on Monday afternoon, an interesting discussion took place on the different lines of of work that the Union have already taken up and several suggestions were made for extending our usefulness in new directions.

The Secretary reported having presented the petition from the Union to J.R.Stratton, M.P.P., and T. Blezard, M.P.P., praying them to use their vote and influence in favor of Mr. Waters' Bill, re the extension of the franchise to widows and unmarried women for Legislative elections.

Some interesting information was laid before the meeting about our Band of Hope, which showed it to be fairly prosperous considering the length of time it has been organized.

The Secretary was instructed to petition the Mayor that he instruct the Chief of Police to enforce the Sabbath law, as some places of business are kept open until long after midnight.

It was resolved that the request for prayer for the success of the vote about to be taken on the Scott Act in the county of Halton be complied with, and that we earnestly implore our heavenly Father to again crown with victory this third effort of the temperance workers of Halton, also that the message contained in Deuteronomy xx., 1-4, be wired to them for their encouragement and inspiration as they go to the struggle.

Resolved: that this Union work in union with Royal Templers of Temperance in the Gospel Temperance services.

A short prayer service imploring help for ourselves and "Victory for Halton," concluded this very interesting meeting.

We would extend a very urgent invitation to every woman in Peterborough who is interested in temperance work for "God and Home and Native Land," to be present at our next meeting, which will be held on Monday afternoon, March 12th, in our hall on George street.

Considerable grain sold at the following prices:—Spring wheat, 76c. to 77c.; fall wheat, 80c.; peas, 75 to 78c.; oats, 42 to 43c.; barley, dull, the top price being from 75 to 76c., quantity offering is now very light. On the market:—Fresh butter and eggs in good demand; fresh butter selling from 22 to 23c.; eggs 20c.; keg butter, fine with a good deal offering, difficult to sell unless fine, which sells from 16 to 18c.; potatoes, 90c. to $1 per bag; beef, $5 to $7, if poor in quality difficult to sell; other commodities unchanged.

The Electric Light

is a matter of small importance compared with other applications of electricity. By this agency Polson's Nerviline is made to penetrate to the most remote nerve—every bone, muscle and ligament is made to feel its beneficent power. Nerviline, pleasant to take, even by the youngest child, yet so powerfully far reaching in its work, that the most agonizing internal pain yields as if by magic. Neglect no longer to try Nerviline. Buy to-day a ten cent trial bottle and be relieved from all pain. Sold by druggists and country dealers everywhere. 6dw9

SCOTT ACT AMENDMENTS.

MR. JAMIESON'S BILL TO BE INTRODUCED TO-DAY.

Synopsis of Its Provisions—The Burlington Canal and the Hamilton Armory—The Fisheries Treaty—An Interview With Sir Alexander Galt.

OTTAWA, Feb. 29.—Mr. Jamieson will to-morrow introduce a bill to amend the Canada Temperance Act, which embodies the views of the executive of the Dominion Alliance. The first section is the same as last year, and provides that the petition may be deposited in any county registry office. The second and third sections make the act applicable to the electoral divisions of British Columbia. The fourth extends to the temporary judicial districts. The fifth provides that no repeal vote shall be taken until two years and ten months after the act comes into force. The sixth provides for the sale of intoxicating liquors for use in any art, trade or manufacture and medicinal purposes, requiring in the latter the certificate of a medical man having no interest in the sale, and making it compulsory that the druggist shall keep a register, and imposes a penalty upon any medical man giving a colorable certificate.

Section 8 repeals the whole of Section 103 of the original act, the object being to obviate the difficulties which arise in connection with the jurisdiction of police magistrates and others.

Section 10 gives power to one magistrate to take all proceedings prior to the hearing of the case. It has been held under the present law that two must take the information.

Section 12 is intended to improve the search clause. At present no warrant can be issued until prosecution has been undertaken. This proposes that any officer may lay an information at any time and obtain a search warrant.

Section 15 amends the law so that a search can be made at any time. Under the existing act it can only be made in the daytime.

Section 16 provides a set of forms for justices of the peace under the act.

The last section provides that the penalty imposed, when the provincial or other public officer is prosecutor, shall be paid to him. At present it is handed to the County Treasurer. In other cases it is proposed that half shall go to the prosecutor and half to the municipality.

Messrs. Brown, McKay, Carpenter and Henderson waited on the Minister of Public Works to-day on the subject of deepening the Burlington Canal so as to admit of barges and vessels passing through and of extending the southwest pier. The Minister promised to enquire into the matter as soon as the weather would permit.

Messrs. McKay and Brown waited on the Minister of Militia and Defence to-day relative to the work required to be done to complete the armory at Hamilton.

Sir Alexander Galt, who is in the city, was seen this afternoon. Sir Alexander was a member of the Halifax Fishery Commission of 1870, which made the famous award of $5,500,000 to Canada, and few public men are supposed to know more about the fishery question than Sir Alexander. I asked his opinion regarding the results of the recent commission. Sir Alexander said:

"Well, I do not wish to express an opinion just now, seeing that the whole question will come up for discussion in a few days, and as yet, rightly speaking, is Government property, but still I have no hesitation in saying that the arrangement that had been made is one that ought to be satisfactory to both countries."

"What do you think of the 'Canada betrayed' cry?"

"Oh!" replied the venerable politician, "that is all nonsense."

"Has Canada made any undue concessions?"

"Now, you must not ask," he replied, "I don't wish to say anything more at present."

Although Sir Charles Tupper has been in his place in the House for two days since Parliament opened he went to his office in the Finance Department for the first time to-day since his return from Washington. As the Finance Minister walked briskly along Wellington-street with The World he said he felt strong and in good health. It is understood Sir Charles will now devote himself to preparing his budget speech which, considering that the tariff is not to be overhauled, will be a lighter job than usual.

The standing committees of both Houses will meet for organization to-morrow.

Sir John told Sir Richard Cartwright that he would agree to next Wednesday for beginning the debate on the trade relations between Canada and the United States provided the protocols of the fisheries treaty were ready to be presented to the House by that time.

It was arranged to make the debate a straight one from day to day.

Mr. Scarth of Winnipeg and Mr. MacDowall of Saskatchewan entertained other Manitoba and British Columbia members in the House of Commons restaurant this evening at dinner.

Valuable Paintings.

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—The auction sale of the Albert Spencer collection of paintings at Chickering Hall last night was very successful. The sixty-eight pictures sold brought $284,200.

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, Feb. 29.—Money on call is quoted at 6 per cent. on debentures and 6½ to 7 per cent. on stocks, and for discount the price is 7 to 8 per cent.

Scarcely a sale was noted on the local stock market this morning, the single transaction being a block of fifty shares of Northwest Land Company at 58. Quotations showed no practical changes, the greatest variation not exceeding ¼ in any one line.

At the St. Lawrence Market business was dull, and but little farmers' produce came in.

Blood Will Tell.

There is no question about it—blood will tell—especially if it be an impure blood. Blotches, eruptions, pimples and boils, are all symptoms of impure blood, due to the improper action of the liver. When this important organ fails to properly perform its function of purifying and cleansing the blood, impurities are carried to all parts of the system, and the symptoms above referred to are merely evidences of Nature to throw off the poisonous germs. Unless her warning be heeded in time, serious results are certain to follow, culminating in liver or kidney disorders, or even in consumption. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will prevent and cure these diseases, by restoring the liver to a healthy condition. a

AUSTRO HUNGARY WILL INCREASE HER MILITARY STRENGTH.

British Admiralty Instructions—A Protest Wanted—Warlike King John of Abyssinia—Two New Bishops—Mr. Blunt Defeated in Deptford.

LONDON, Feb. 29.—The Admiralty has issued to commanders of home squadrons full instructions regarding their positions for defence in time of war, including the mode of manning, victualling and coaling ships, and the method of communication. It is reported that the plan will be tried early in the spring. The instructions apply to the squadrons at Portsmouth, Devonport, Holyhead, Queenstown, Kingstown, Sheerness, Hull, Leith and in the Clyde. The Channel squadron has also received instructions, but its positions are kept secret.

Lord Wolseley made a speech at the Rifle Club last evening, in the course of which he deplored the fact that the Ministers had not asked Parliament for the supplies necessary to put the navy in proper condition. He said he was sure that the English Parliament would be as ready to vote supplies as the German Parliament had been.

The discussion on the new procedure rules was resumed in the Commons to-day, and the rule proposed by Mr. W. H. Smith, empowering the Speaker or the chairman at his discretion to take the vote of the House by a simple rising of the members, was taken up.

After a hot debate the rule was adopted, 226 to 93, with a proviso that the names of those voting in the minority must always be recorded.

Mr. Darling (Cons.) defeated Mr. Wilfrid Blunt (Lib.) in the Parliamentary election at Deptford to-day by 4345 votes to 4070.

According to The London Chronicle it is asserted that Mgr. Rampolla, the Papal Secretary, said that the British Government should, by some act or concession, grant a privilege to Irish Catholics which would form a pretext upon which to build a letter to the bishops. This reply was given to a request of the Duke of Norfolk that the Pope use his influence with the Irish bishops to stop the agitation in Ireland.

The Governments of Italy, Austria and England have sent a reply to Russia's proposals regarding Bulgaria. They concur in the opinion that the position of Prince Ferdinand is illegal, but they will not take any steps likely to disturb the peace of Bulgaria.

A conference of ambassadors will be asked by Russia, owing to the failure of her proposals through Turkey, to decide what action shall be taken in regard to the position of Prince Ferdinand.

A considerable increase of the army is contemplated by the Austro-Hungarian Government. The present military law, which expires in 1889, fixes the strength of the army at 800,000 men, besides the Landwehr. There have been only slight modifications in the law since it was adopted in 1868. Austria-Hungary, which is not numerically as strong as other powers, intends to institute thorough and extensive reforms which will place her on an equal military footing with France and Germany.

It is denied in St. Petersburg that Russian troops are being withdrawn from the frontier. The recent movements were solely due to the unsanitary conditions of the places formerly occupied by the troops.

The Vienna Allgemeine Zeitung says the Cossack Ashinoff has stored a quantity of munitions in the Russian convent at Galata, preparatory to a great raid into Bulgaria.

A despatch from Rome says that King John has issued a proclamation summoning all classes of his people to arms, and declaring that he hopes after exterminating the Italians to annihilate the Soudanese. It is reported that the Abyssinians intend to attack the Italians in two columns, which will advance from Asmara and Keren respectively. King John has probably reached Asmara by this time.

Very Rev. M. Jansen has been appointed Bishop of the new diocese of Belleville, and Very Rev. M. Ryan has been appointed Bishop of Alton, Ill.

A despatch to The London Times says the principal American lead merchants have made an agreement with European producers for the privilege of selling their output at £16 per ton for three years.

A letter from Prof. Lenz, the African traveler, says there is no ground for the report that Stanley has met with disaster. If any misfortune had befallen him news of it would have reached the Congo station long ago. It is probable that Stanley was obliged to remain at some place longer than he expected.

The British steamer Excelsior, Capt. Taylor, from Messina for Philadelphia, was sunk at Gibraltar last evening, through a collision with the British steamer Meming. The crew was saved.

Ten persons and many head of cattle were killed by an avalanche in the valley of Morobbia, Switzerland. A large number of houses were also destroyed.

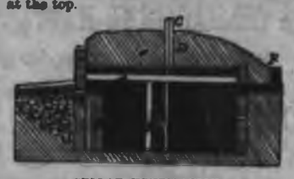
Ventilating a Cellar.

In this enlightened age, it is not necessary to waste space or time in explaining the reasons why every cellar, whether under dwelling house or elsewhere, ought to be ventilated. Every progressive man and woman understands the necessity, but everybody does not know how to bring about the desired ventilation. A Kansas genius, who has solved the problem to his own satisfaction, explains, in Prairie Farmer, with the assistance of a diagram similar to the one here presented, his mode of ventilating an outdoor cellar.

In his cellar he puts a vertical tube—8 inches square, inside measurement, extending from within 4 inches of the floor, out 3 feet above the roof. This is left open until extreme cold weather when it may be readily closed with a wisp of hay at the top.



CELLAR VENTILATION.

This tube, he explains, draws off all moist and cold air from the bottom, as the warm air always rises to the upper space. If the cellar becomes too warm, a slide is drawn from the side of the tube near the roof, until the desired lower temperature is secured.

When this correspondent builds another he proposes to have two tubes, one reaching down to the floor, as above described, and the other just through the roof, as shown at C. The construction of his cellar is as follows: F, ventilator, with screen over inside end. This is for summer use, being closed in winter, though it might serve as a chimney if it was necessary to have a stove in the cellar during the latter season. The roof beam A and brace B are of hard timber, 6 by 6 inches. The plank covering the rafters, E, is 2 by 12 inch hard pine. The walls are made of stone.

A Lesson

is to be learnt from the sight of a bald head. Falling out in premature grayness of the hair can be stopped if taken in time. Do not let it run on without making an effort to save it. Get a bottle of Dr. Dorenwend's German "Hair Magic." It stimulates the growth, gives fresh vitality and keeps the hair its natural color, besides being a superb dressing. All druggists sell it. dw

AFTER TRYING numerous so-called catarrh remedies and receiving no benefit I was finally induced to try Nasal Balm, and after using one bottle I take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers from catarrh.—N. L. Gorton, with S. Gorton & Co., Gloucester, Mass.

I was a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years with distressing pain over my eyes. The disease worked down upon my lungs. I used Ely's Cream Balm with gratifying results. Am apparently cured.—Z. C. Warren, Rutland, Vt. Apply Balm into each nostril. eodw9

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists. dw

Tried to Run.

This morning as Acting-Chief Adams was bringing the boys Valois and McMartin from the gaol, where they were confined on remand, the former attempted to escape. Officer Adams did not hand-cuff them, and they were walking one on either side of him, when Valois bolted at the corner of Brock street and ran a considerable distance before he was re-captured. The Acting-Chief, though a large man, is quite a sprinter in cases of emergency.

A Contingent of Foreigners.

About twenty-five Scandinavians, Poles, Russians, Asiatics and other Eastern foreigners are said to be on their way to this country and will soon land at Quebec. The Energetic Emperor of Enterprise.

The Uncrowned Czar of the Clothing Trade—A Magnificent Capture—A new Departure.

The present generation in Canada has not produced a more astute, wide-awake and pushing business man than Gough, the wonderful cheap man. By his energy and enterprise and success in securing bargains, and his philanthropy in presenting them and making them known to the public he has richly earned his "wonderful" title and established a record which makes all his competeters mere weak imitaters. The latest example of Gough's Wellingtonian keenness and Napoleonic dash is his purchase of the $50,000 stock of clothing of the great clothing house of Petley & Petley, Toronto. This stock comprises the largest and best selection of ready made clothing ever gathered under a retail roof, and Gough got it for and has taken a ten years lease of the stores on King street, Toronto, and will hereafter run the business as the business has never been run before. Gough learned his trade, serving his time, in Petley's. In his day this mammoth establishment did a business of $250,000 a year, and since that it has grown nearly 100 per cent., and now that Gough has his hand in it the boom begins. This new departure will necessitate the removal of the original Gough to Toronto, personally that is, but his soul, like John Brown's, will still march on in Peterborough. He has disposed of the Peterborough business to his brothers Richard and Gus Gough, and the firm will hereafter be known as "Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men." E. H. Gough will be in Toronto—always in the market—ever on hand to get big stocks at a bargain. He will be absent in body, but in spirit he will be present, and the era of big bargains he has established in Peterborough will be continued. Note the fact—Goughs have on the road a mammoth train load of the great Petley & Petley stock (bought at 50 cents on the dollar) and it will be slaughtered on the same 50 cents on the $ principle. At the store of Gough Bros. the same principles will reign, the same sacrifice of values will be made in the public interest.

The Peterborough store will be closed to-day and to-morrow till the new stock can be arranged. On Saturday the shop will be opened and the boom in bargains will begin. Look out for bargains upon bargains under the new regime. Come and see.

Ellis—Buller.

Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Joseph Buller, King street, the marriage of his daughter Ettie to Mr. James Ellis was celebrated by Rev. J. W. B. Beck. There were only a few of the relatives of the contracting parties present as guests. Mr. Alex. Elliott assisted the groom, while Mrs. Mattheson, of Toronto, acted as bridesmaid. The wedding was conducted very quietly, but scores besides those who witnessed the ceremony were deeply interested in the union of two young people who were so well and favorably known to them. Mr. Ellis has for a number of years occupied a position at the C.P.R. station here, and among his fellow-employ'es as well as all his associates and acquaintainces was very popular. The bride is a young lady who has been a life-long resident of Peterborough, and is esteemed among an extensive circle of friends for her many virtues and sociability, as evinced by the numerous wedding presents she received. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis have gone on a two weeks' honeymoon tour to Pittsburg, Pa., followed by the unanimous wish of a host of friends for a life-long honeymoon happiness and worldly prosperity.

Moffat—Davidson.

Wednesday afternoon Rev. Mr. Torrance joined in bonds matrimonial, Mr. Christopher Moffat, town, and Miss Jane, daughter of Mr. Angus Davidson, of North Monaghan. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's father. Miss Annie Moffat was bridesmaid and Mr. Pennington Alexander supported the bridegroom. The bride was honoured with many handsome presents. The newly married pair, who enter upon their domestic partnership with the best wishes of a large circle of friends, have taken up residence on the corner of King and Park streets, where it is to be hoped they will spend many happy years.

Personal.

Mr. R. Elliott, of Listowel, High Chief Ranger of the High Court of Foresters, is in town to-day.

Mr. S. Carver has returned from California, where he has been visiting his brother for a couple of months.

Mr. Buttle Hudson and sister leave to-day for the Pacific Coast. If there is a good opening in California for the taxadermist business, Mr. Hudson will send for his family. There should be a chance there for Mr. Hudson for he is a most skilful and successful taxadermist—in fact an artist in his business. It is to be hoped he will be successful. Mr. T. Menzies furnished the tickets via the Grand Trunk and Northern Pacific railways.

Mr. Herbert Charman leaves this evening by C. P. R. express for British Columbia, where he proposes to try his fortune, and in case of his success, of which there is little doubt, he will send for his family. Mr. Charman has been for years a resident of the town and will be missed, especially in connection with St. John's church and Sunday School, in both of which he has been a most successful and earnest worker. While he goes to British Columbia to better his worldly position he will at the same time omit no opportunity to promote the interests of the Church.

THE FARMERS IN COUNCIL.

Giving and Exchanging Agricultural Ideas.

Second Meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 29th.

At the conclusion of the reading of Mr. Wm. Clurton's interesting paper on Commercial Union that gentleman remarked that in advocating Commercial Union, he had no other interest than that of his country at heart. His long and eventful business career was about ended, and he could himself hope to reap no benefits from such a great measure. He quoted also from an article in a Peterborough paper, reporting Mr. John Carling as having said at Bell's Corners: "The market prices showed that the farmers of Canada would not gain but lose by Commercial Union, as the prices of these articles were higher in the Toronto and Montreal markets than in Buffalo and Detroit." This statement (if it ever was made) he declared it to be untruthful, and gave figures supporting his contention. He said he fully believ that Commercial Union was the best thing for Canada.

Mr. CARNEGIE said he supposed by Commercial Union Mr. Clurton meant the abolition of the Customs law and a common tariff to both countries. In that case he would like to know how the revenue of the country was to be kept up.

Mr. CLUXTON said he was sorry the question had taken a political turn, but he would say where there was a will there was a way. When the time comes to consider that matter the Government would find a means.

Mr. CARNEGIE denied that it was a political question, for as yet neither party had taken it up. He said that if the custom houses were abolished the only way to keep up the revenue would be by direct taxation.

A VOICE.—Even that would be better.

Mr. CARNEGIE.—Perhaps; but the farmers will be the ones to feel it heaviest. He then went on to deal with Mr. Clurton's paper. As to paying duty, he said the paper made it appear that the duty both ways was paid

BY THE POOR CANADIANS.

The matter of duty-paying was affected by circumstances, and each side of the line paid their share. He said the woolen trade and high prices in the States were due to the heavy duty the U. S. government placed upon imported manufactured woolens, and the superior class of wool raised there. As to cattle how was it that American dealers bought in Canada, took them to the States, paid the duty, and afterwards shipped them to England, our own market? Because, he said, the American government allowed a refund of all duty but 10 per cent. when the articles were exported from the country again. This not only applied to cattle but all products. Mr. Carnegie stated that the duty paid on horses was not actually more than one-half of Mr. Clurton's figures. Then again, if Commercial Union was adopted, he said, Canada, being but a twelfth of the size of the States, would only have a proportionate voice in the making of the commercial laws to govern both countries. And how could the American market be better than the English when it was shown that Americans themselves bought in Canada and shipped to England. Regarding barley, he admitted that Ontario barley was superior; but if commercial union was adopted the supply would be largely increased and the price proportionately decreased. Referring to Mr. Clurton's claim for reciprocity, he said that during the latter years while the treaty existed the American civil war was waging, and that helped more than anything to make good times in Canada. He said Canadians were as good as Yankees, and fully as capable of developing their own country as the Yankees.

Mr. CLUXTON referred to a statement of Mr. Carnegie's that if a man bought a horse in Canada for $100 the animal was entered at the line as costing $51. This was unfortunate, as it only proved that there was a vast amount of perjury committed in order to evade paying duty. As to the American war's influence on Canada, he said during only the last 4 years out of the 12 did the war continue, and Canada's prosperity had began and continued right from the beginning of the treaty's existence. The war had little effect.

Mr. HILLIARD thought it better not to discuss this matter at these meetings, but others were of opinion that it was perfectly proper.

Mr. HILLIARD dealt with the lumber phase of the question. He said the supply of timber in Canada was being rapidly exhausted, and it would be better to than to throw open our already depleted forests to the United States. A great many erroneously thought the pine forests extended north to Hudson's Bay, an opinion which he corrected. It had been said there were large tracts near Lake Superior. He offered $20 to anyone who would show him a pine tree or stump on the route from 20 miles out of Port Arthur to Rat Portage.

Mr. CLUXTON said Mr. Hilliard differed from all other lumbermen on this question, as shown by the resolution in favor of Commercial Union by the lumbermen at Toronto, mentioned in his paper. He had this to say, so earnestly did he believe in Commercial Union, that if at the next election a Conservative candidate (and he had been a life-long Conservative) offered himself who was opposed to it, he would oppose him might and main. (Applause.)

Mr. DAWSON KENNEDY, in moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Clurton, said the paper read by him was one of the most practical and comprehensive he had ever heard. It was perfectly proper to discuss such a matter at these meetings, and when the government took it up it was time for them to drop it. He advised forming a Commercial Union Club in the county. Mr. Carnegie, he said, had addressed them as a politician, not a farmer; but the politicians of the country had already got the farmers into a bad state. He hoped at another time they could fully discuss the question.

Mr. J. G. GALVIN, in seconding the motion, corroborated Mr. Clurton's statements regarding the benefits of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854 66; and, he would like to know, how was the revenue raised then?

The motion was then put and carried unanimously.

A proposal was made to take a vote on the question of Commercial Union, but it was promptly vetoed.

POULTRY RAISING.

Mr. J. MCCLELLAND, Bowmanville, gave an essay on poultry raising. The value of poultry and eggs exported annually was $1,854,241. As to profit, he said everything depended on good management, the proper housing, sheltered from the north with a good light, and, if possible, an earth floor; if boards, covered with earth or sand. Ladder perches should be dispensed with altogether. The perch should be on a level. A drop board is sometimes put under the perch 6 or 8 inches, leaving space under the board to give room for nests. Instead of having the drop board flat, two 14 inch planks might be used and shaped like a trough. He suggested that the bottom of the trough be dusted either with road dust or slacked lime. That helped to prevent vermin, one of the greatest troubles in poultry raising. A great many people complained that their fowl laid no eggs and were not fat enough to kill. Underlying this was the question of vermin. The food that should produce eggs and fat went to feed this vermin. Poultry manure came very near to the value of Peruvian guano, and was sold for manufacturing purposes also. If it was packed properly and kept free from dust it was a source of profit. Referring to the comparative prices of beef and fowl, the price of the latter was 50 per cent. higher. He held that poultry was the best paying stock on the farm. A hen will lay from 15 to 20 dozen eggs a year, which at 15c. a dozen comes to $2.25 for 15 dozen. It is estimated that a bushel of corn will keep that hen a year if well looked after in other ways. A bushel of corn will cost 84c. —a clear

BALANCE TO PROFIT.

He quoted from a report of Mr. Whitman, of Fitchburg, showing a profit of over $4 a head per year on his poultry. Another gentleman reported a profit of $5.15 per head. Regarding feed, it is estimated that a dozen eggs will weigh a pound and a half. It will require 2-1/10 pound of corn to raise a pound of eggs, while pork requires 5¼ pounds to the pound of pork. In other words, a bushel of corn will raise 11 pounds of pork, which at 8c. a pound will give 88c., leaving a profit on a bushel of corn (at 84c.) of just 4c. Compare that to poultry and you will see the difference. The nutritive value of eggs and the cheapness of their raising was scarcely recognized. If the food value of meat and eggs was compared it would be found that the latter were far ahead. A good fowl was as easily kept as a cross-bred. Their eggs sold as well, for breeding far better, and as stock often ten times greater than the common breeds. Mr. McClelland gave instances supporting his statement. He would recommend a man to stick to one variety. Poultry to be well marketed must be fat. The secret in getting them fat was in looking after them. They may have been fed extravagantly, but they were infested with lice and that was where the food went. For marketing the better plan was to not feed from 15 to 24 hours before killing so that their food may be well digested and they will look better. A secret in marketing was to make a good appearance. He recommended that they be plucked dry. If scalded it and the fowls would not keep. The body should not be allowed to cool before the feathers are taken off, which can be done then as easily as if scalded. In marketing to a distance the head and feet should be left on, the feet and wings drawn close to body, and packed in straw, breast down. In no case should the feet be taken off turkeys. In fact it would make all fowl more presentable, and if this was adopted the farmers would reap the reward.

DESTROYED THEIR APPEARANCE,

Mr. BELL asked if he recommended corn as an egg producer.

Mr. MCCLELLAND said corn was good for fattening, but for egg producing mixed food was better. In winter time warm feed in the morning was a good thing. Poultry should be watered well and regularly, and in the winter a little iron mixture kept the fowls in good health. Milk given to fowls would make them produce more eggs in summer than they otherwise would.

Mr. F. J. BELL asked what breed he would recommend.

Mr. MCCLELLAND replied that it was a question of choice, but Dorkings was a good breed.

In reply to questions as to how to exterminate lice, he said he would first whitewash his house and then inject into the feathers of each one a little German insect powder. Sulphur was good, but not up to this powder. The use of carbolic acid or petroleum acted as a preventive.

He recommended the perches not to be too high, the drop board probably 16 or 18 inches above the floor and the roost 8 or 10 inches above that. Regarding the temperature, he said the house should not be kept too warm, for that bred disease.

The convention adjourned till evening.

EVENING SESSION.

The audience was very small, but those present were greatly edified by a highly instructive address by Mr. John Dryden, M.P. P. of South Ontario. Times were hard, he said, and it was idle for anyone to try to make out that farmers were prospering and making money right along. In face of these facts it behooved the farmers to learn all they can about their work and how to attain the best results from it. At these Farmers' Institutes there was always something to learn. He had learned that at the afternoon session there had been a discussion upon Commercial Union, and if he were to give his opinion he would be strongly in favor of it. But even if it were adopted it would not make every farmer rich. It might be a help and encouragement to them, but they must study and work just the same. He said he proposed to touch upon just two matters connected with farming—their financial and educational interests. In conducting a farm every husbandman should adopt a method suited to the soil on his farm, and use his brains and judgment. There was no general line of action to be followed without variation. There was no business that required more thought than farming. If farmers intended to be financially successful they must be masters of their own business. Farming must be conducted according to the circumstances, and with intelligence and a readiness to grasp new and improved methods. Then there must be in view constantly, with a sharp attendance to farming details. The most must be made out of every little thing, and taken together they amount to a great deal. And if there was any line in business that the old saying, "whatever you do, do it well," applied to, it was to farming. Some people think it all right how a thing is done so long as it is done, but that was a mistake. Everything should be done just so. From an educational standpoint, Mr. Dryden proceeded to point out how the farming community could improve itself. Such an education should first of all begin in the farm home. The boy should be educated to honor and be proud of the farming occupation. There was, it is true, a general impression pervading society the whole country over that farming was a mean calling. That was not so. The farmer's calling was a noble, independent one, free from worries and at the foundation of all other callings. The boy should not only be taught the dignity of the calling, but the necessity of hard labor. Labor may be the means of pleasure, and must be endured in every position. It was human nature to imagine that everyone else's position was easier than your own, but the fact was everyone had to work. If interest was taken in the work it lightened the labor and became a pleasure. There was more in that, especially as regarded young people, than was imagined. He urged farmers to endeavor to so improve the farm implements and home comforts and to give their boys an interest in having everything good. They should also learn the value of labor. All boys, he said, should not be kept on the farm. Unless the boy has an inborn taste for farming, he should not be made to continue at what he would regard as drudgery. Still, it must be admitted that were leaving the farm, and a stop should be put to it. A great many boys who would have had a taste for farming, had their education been attended to, leave the farm and go into cities. Above all things, farmers should not be above their business. The speaker did not believe in confining a boy's education to the common school. If a higher education would improve his mind, why should he not have it? A farmer's son needed this as much as, or perhaps more than, anyone else. But sending a boy from the farm to a high school was a rather dangerous thing. He is apt to be shunted off the line of farming and the channel of his thoughts turned to other subjects. Right here are the benefits of an early inculcation of the dignity of farming to be seen. When the boy gets through the school, if he has been properly educated in his youth, he goes back to the farm with increased zest for the noble calling. But while the school education was being attended to the farm education should not be neglected. While his mind is being improved let his muscle be strengthened and his knowledge of and interest in agriculture kept up. He hoped and believed the time was near when the principles of agriculture would be taught in the schools. A step had already been made in that direction by the establishment of an agricultural college. These farmers' institutes, too, were great schools for all. Everyone could learn something. He himself believed that now was a most favorable time for sheep-raising. Farmers should not be afraid to impart knowledge for fear their neighbors should know as much as themselves. Farmers should learn to depend on each other and help each other, oiling together and be loyal to themselves and their country.

A vote of thanks was moved to Mr. Dryden by Mr. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. Galvin, and was unanimously carried.

THE NEXT MEETING.

On motion the next meeting of the Institute was appointed to be held at Lakefield, the fixing of a date being left in the hands of the Board, which will meet here at two o'clock next Saturday.

Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $5.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00—a good, serviceable Suit: while for $7.00, $8.00 or $12.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.
SOLICITORS—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten years five per cent. debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,222.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest coming at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the agents.

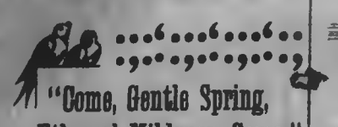
THE WEATHER.

Strong winds; cloudy, with snow and rain.



"Come, Gentle Spring, Ethereal Mildness, Come."

TO THE PUBLIC—The undersigned would respectfully intimate to the public that he has made more than usually complete preparations for the spring trade. He is now receiving at the GOLDEN LION a magnificent consignment of Direct Importations from Great Britain and France, purchased on the best of terms and in the most favorable condition of the market. These include Millinery Goods, Trimmings, Ribbons, Silks, etc., from the city of Manchester; Laces, Silk and Cotton, from Calais, (France), and carpets, rugs, oilcloths from Glasgow. The public is invited to come and inspect these goods which will be found of unusually good value.

The Golden Lion is making unusually complete preparations for the spring trade. His milliner, Miss White, and her head assistant, are now in the wholesale markets picking up the latest styles, and in a few days his dressmaker will take a trip to the centres of fashion to gather the latest ideas in styles for the benefit of the patrons of the Golden Lion. She will be able to utilize the immense stock of stylish dress goods now on hand, to the satisfaction of the most exacting patron.

The Golden Lion would call the especial attention of the public to the fact that his line of spring goods will present attractive inducements in material, and the prices will be made as reasonable as possible with a view of an early clearance of spring stock, so that the contemplated renovations and improvement of the premises may be entered upon as early in the summer as possible. The growing demands of the business render the improvement and enlargement necessary.

In conclusion the public are invited to call at the Golden Lion and examine one of the finest stocks in every department ever offered in Peterborough.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE ESTIMATES BROUGHT DOWN BY SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

The Case of the Dismissed Translators—Mr. Guillet Ruled Out of Order—Proceedings in the Red Chamber.

OTTAWA, March 1.—Parliament has been in session only eight days and the House witnessed the extraordinary proceeding to-day of having the estimates laid on the table by Sir Charles Tupper just before adjournment at 6 o'clock. In other years it was generally a month after the opening before the estimates were brought down. It is therefore quite probable that the session will not extend beyond May 1, as the tariff is to be unmolested.

The Speaker's dismissal of the three French translators is a small matter at best. The translators were very active in the elections and used very strong language. There is ground for the indignation of Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Ives. Notwithstanding this, however, the Speaker in dismissing officers of the House seems to have exceeded his authority, and when the Premier refused to allow the essential parts of the evidence to go on the record the Liberals, at the instance of Mr. Edgar, were right in insisting that the assistant clerk should read the report. That job would have taken a good half day if the Premier had not returned and sent in Sir Hector Langevin to yield to the Opposition's demand. The gentleman made a double stroke. He got a beautiful back-rap at Mr. Chapleau, and some warm compliments for his courtesy and common sense. He deserved the compliment and Mr. Chapleau deserved the snub. The assistant clerk is probably the worst reader the schools ever permitted to go at large. A back country threshing machine jumping cogs is music to the voice of that official. He would break up a quorum in Paradise.

Then came up Mr. Guillet's amended motion regarding Mr. Ellis of St. John and his Annexation utterances. There was a good deal of fun over the matter. Evidently one object of the question was to get the quotation from the article in the St. John Globe—Mr. Ellis' paper—upon the records of the House, but Mr. Lister rose before ten words had been read, and, with a bland smile, submitted that the question was out of order, as containing an allegation of fact. This rule is intended to prevent just such tactics as were resorted to in this case, making charges without proof under cover of asking a question. The Speaker read the rule, and ruled the question out of order amidst loud laughter.

IN THE RED CHAMBER.

The Select Divorce Committee—International Rights in Behring Sea.

OTTAWA, March 1.—The Senate to-day disposed of Mr. Gowan's motion for a select committee to draw up new rules to govern divorce proceedings. The committee is Senators Odell, Kaulbach, Ogilvie, Abbott, Dickey, Power, Macdonald (B.C.), Vidal, Haythorne and Gowan.

In reply to Senator Macdonald's (B.C.) question as to whether the Dominion Government had received any assurance from the Government of the United States that British vessels fishing in the open sea beyond the territorial waters of Alaska would not be subject to seizure by United States cruisers, Senator Abbott, speaking for the Government, stated that there had been considerable correspondence between the two Governments on the subject, and that he might say that it has never been contended by the United States Government that they had any right to seize British vessels in Behring Sea, or that they had any exclusive jurisdiction or rights in those waters. The Canadian Government had not, as has been stated, refused to grant clearances to sealing vessels starting for Behring Sea, but if they undertook to seal in these waters they did it on their own responsibility, and my Government would be done up in Ottawa thin.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, March 2.

The Legislature again presented a busy scene yesterday, when the debate on the Quebec Resolutions was resumed. Before the House sat the lobbies were filled with members and right anon, the majority of whom were discussing pro and con the capabilities of Mr. Evanturel, who was to be the first speaker of the day. At 3.15 the M.P.P.'s were in their places in the chamber.

Mr. Evanturel was received with renewed applause. He opened with a reference to the last speaker's (Mr. H. E. Clarke) artificial smile and his unmerited prominence by being placed in a front seat of the Opposition benches. The first point of his (Mr. Evanturel's) speech was a defence of his compatriots in answer to a fancied charge of disloyalty. The French Canadians had always been true since they gave their allegiance to the British Crown. The British flag would not be floating on this continent to-day were it not for the loyalty of the French Canadians at the time of the American invasion. He also defended the Nova Scotians from the charge of disloyalty. He next took up the veto power, and agreed with the Ministerialists that it would be better to take it away from the Dominion Government. In these hands it was a constant obstacle to the exercise of the beautiful prerogatives of this province. He complimented the leader of the Opposition on having for once censured the Dominion Government for a waste of public money, in discountenancing the Dominion Franchise Act. He complimented the Ontario Government on the splendid debating powers shown at the Quebec conference. Concluding, he said he could give his vote in favor of the resolutions freely, so that something could be made of the provinces. [Applause.]

Mr. Guthrie said the constitution of the Senate was indefensible. He did not agree altogether with the plan embodied in the resolutions—[Opposition applause]—but he would rather take half a loaf than no bread. Neither was he altogether in favor of the subsidy increases. He did not, however, hold they were open to the objections taken by the hon. gentleman opposite. It was highly desirable that the validity of the Provincial and Dominion acts should be settled by the courts, and to business men it was apparent that the resolution referring to the bankruptcy and insolvency act should be carried into effect. The provinces should also have as free power to pass acts as the Dominion, as little restriction on one as on the other. If they were to have a veto power at all they should repose it in the Imperial Government. It had been shown by experience that their use of it would be sparing indeed. When did the Queen-in-council veto a Dominion act? As the veto power rested now it was unsafe to the provinces. Not only because political partisanship was bitter at Ottawa, but because Sir John Macdonald was incompetent as a constitutional law authority. It was surely proper to vest the veto power over Ontario acts in the same place where the veto power over Dominion acts was, notwithstanding all that had been said about the third-class clerk in Downing-street. [Ministerial applause.]

When Mr. French rose to speak Mr. Creighton cast his eyes upward to the Opposition press gallery, where The Empire reporters sat.

Hon Mr. Fraser: That's right, have it reported well.

Mr. French became nettled. He demanded Mr. Fraser's attention as courtesy due from one member to another.

Mr. Fraser: Does the hon. gentleman think I am not going to pay him attention?

Mr. French did not want any more interruptions. He objected first to the form of the invitations sent out to the various premiers of the provinces to attend the Quebec conference, hinting that the one form for Reform premiers and another for the Conservatives, showed a secret understanding among the Reform premiers. He then went into a defense of the veto power as it was, and referred to a number of particular cases in which that power was used, raised by Mr. Guthrie. He devoted twenty minutes to elaborating the resolution providing that the Dominion elections shall be carried on by the use of Provincial Franchise Acts. It was unfair to allow hostile legislatures to control, to a certain extent, the Dominion elections by giving them the power to say how these elections shall be conducted. He was satisfied that the Dominion Franchise Act would be simplified, made less expensive, and satisfactory to all. As to the election of senators he preferred a vote of the whole Province for the Province's representatives to the Senate rather than giving the Legislature the appointing power. He was content, however, with the Senate as it was.

Mr. Wylie arose to continue the debate, but in deference to the wish of the members moved the adjournment. It was ten minutes to eleven.

Before the motion for adjournment was passed Hon. Mr. Fraser moved that the debate be adjourned till Tuesday next, with precedence over other business till finished.

Mr. Meredith hoped it would not interfere with his "mining and forests" motion set for Wednesday.

Hon. Mr. Fraser thought they would get through on Tuesday night.

Mr. Meredith asked how it was that the Attorney-General suddenly changed his proposition with regard to voting on the motions separately. Did he think that he would catch some members of this side by separate voting, and did he conclude if he did not move the resolutions en bloc he might lose some of his own?

The Attorney-General said such a thing never entered his mind. His explanation at the beginning of to-day's sitting was sufficient.

The Railway Committee met yesterday morning and reported three bills with slight amendments: The Ottawa and Thousand Island bill, the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie bill, and the Berlin debenture bill.

The Municipal Committee received a large deputation respecting toll roads. Among those present were these: Mr. Tetzel, Wentworth; Mr. Kerr, York; Mr. Sexton, Ancaster; Mr. Cockshutt, Brantford; Mr. Bruce, Markham; Mr. Waldel, Dundas; Mr. Awrey, M.P.P., and Mr. McMahon, M.P.P. It was the opinion of nearly all that toll gates should be abolished, but the mode of providing for vested interests was the subject of contention. A large sub-committee was appointed to consider the matter.

LYE ELECTED LIQUIDATOR

MEETING OF THE CREDITORS OF THE CENTRAL BANK.

A Large Gathering in Temperance Hall—Hon. S. H. Blake Makes a Good Chairman—Mr. Campbell not a Candidate—Mr. Gooderham's Prayer for Courage.

TORONTO, March 2.

Two hundred and fifty shareholders and creditors of the broken Central Bank yesterday afternoon, at an exciting meeting in Temperance Hall, unanimously elected Accountant Henry Lye as third liquidator, vice Deposed-liquidator Campbell, reaffirmed their entire confidence in Liquidators Howland and Gooderham, passed a resolution that them gentlemen and their new coadjutor prosecute the "scoundrels" who committed the "rascality" of wrecking the bank, and transacted other business of interest to themselves and their fellow-sufferers.

Hon. S. H. Blake made an admirable chairman, and deserved and thoroughly appreciated the vote of thanks he received. So gratified was he that he vowed he would forego his legal fee and give that as a contribution to the bank's assets. On the platform with him were Liquidators Howland and Gooderham and Solicitors McLean and Pollatt.

Dr. Pattullo moved, and Mr. Henry Walmsley seconded the appointment of Accountant Lye as Mr. Campbell's successor.

Mr. W. Robins and Mr. W. Cooke proposed Mr. J. G. Fitzgibbon.

Five minutes elapsed and the nominations were declared closed.

Liquidator Howland produced the bank book, showing a balance of $459,455, equivalent to 75 cents on the dollar for the creditors. This satisfactory statement was heartily welcomed and duly applauded.

The Chairman, by request, took a standing vote. Almost every one stood up for Lye; only the proposer and seconder of Fitzgibbon befriended him. Then came the formal motion appointing Mr. Lye, which was carried unanimously, the Chairman adding that the meeting had made an admirable choice. He believed Mr. Lye to be a thorough bookkeeper, and the best investigator of accounts in Ontario.

On motion of Messrs. Tait (Toronto) and Wright (Port Perry) this resolution was unanimously passed:

That this meeting expresses its approval of the general course of action of Messrs Howland and Gooderham as liquidators and its entire confidence in their judgment to adopt and carry out the best means of realizing the assets of the bank for the benefit of the creditors.

Mr. Tait, in submitting this, rebutted the insinuations made against the petitioning liquidators, and said that public and commercial morality had to be considered in connection with the bank. The creditors did not begrudge the cost in view of the revelations and exposure. [Applause.] In conclusion he maintained that if Mr. Campbell had allowed his name to come before that meeting as a candidate he would have learned in the most emphatic way what are the opinions of the creditors in reference to him. He had no hesitation in saying that if one-thousandth part of what had come out had been known before Mr. Campbell would never have been a liquidator. [Cries of "Never, never."]

Mr. Wright urged that Mr. Campbell should be made to disgorge the money he got through the Barnett notes. [Applause.] He thought the liquidators should prosecute him.

Mr. John Mulvey, Toronto, deprecated these remarks behind Mr. Campbell's back, maintaining that he had done his duty.

Mr. Webb, Toronto, said he judged of a man by the company he kept. He had great fault to find with Mr. Campbell. His evidence condemned him entirely—[applause]—as did his transactions at Montreal. And more to the same effect.

On motion of Messrs. Booth and Woodsworth this resolution was also passed, after considerable discussion:

That Messrs. James Nelless, Dr. Pattullo, James French, Hugh Scott, Joseph Tait-Wright, and Charles E. Howett and O. McElderry of Guelph, be appointed a committee to represent the creditors as a class, in so far as their interests require attention and representation.

Mr. James Bigelow strongly urged the prosecution and punishment of those who had robbed the bank.

Mr. A. S. D. Hill, Guelph, was cheered on announcing that he still had $100 left which he would give to prosecute these rascals, even if they had got beyond the Pacific Ocean. Thanks were heartily due to those who had unearthed this rascality. Let them go on in their course. He moved:

That Messrs. Howland, Gooderham and Lye be authorised to use any and all means within their power to prosecute to the utmost extremity all the parties who are guilty of wrecking the Central Bank.

Mr. Jas. B. Bickell, Toronto, seconded the motion, which was unanimously adopted.

A shareholder said that 1800 years ago a Nazarene walking the streets of Jerusalem found a pack of money-changers in the Temple and kicked them out. There was need of such work now. [Applause.]

A GREAT CONFLAGRATION

AN ENTIRE SQUARE IN NEW YORK CITY WIPED OUT.

Furniture and Cigar Factories Go Up in Smoke—The Losses Estimated at $1,000,000, Insured for About Half that Amount—A Fireman Injured.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The most furious conflagration New York has seen since the burning of the Erie Line Railroad stables ate out a square of 200 feet on Lexington-avenue, between 51st and 52nd streets, at noon to-day. The new furniture factory of Pottier, Stymus & Co., and the adjoining cigar factories of Powell, Wenigren & Smith on 52d-street were consumed in less than half an hour. The losses approach $1,000,000, insured for about half that amount. Assistant Fireman Samuel Reed had his shoulder blade broken and Policeman Malone had his foot badly burned.

The Vanderbilt Hotel caught fire, as also did a row of Brown stone flats. The windows and interior woodwork were consumed, while the tenants fled in terror. The Hospital for Crippled Children was saved by surrounding it with engines that threw water upon it constantly.

TORONTO TOPICS.

In the arbitration case of G. A. Chapman against Capt. Wm. Hall the decision of the arbitrators was issued yesterday. The claim of Mr. Chapman has been sustained, the amount awarded against Capt. Hall being $643.75. The costs of the arbitration amounting to $67 will have to be paid by Capt. Hall.

Mr. Hall was in a highly indignant frame of mind yesterday. "This finishes my connection with the Board of Trade," he remarked. "It has been a pretty expensive experience for me and I will resign. A more unfair or unjust award was never framed, and Chapman would never have got a cent in a court of justice. I see there is no use for anyone to come against Chapman in an arbitration before the Board, and I may as well step down. I will pay the award and costs, and then sever my connection with the institution."

The Provincial Land Surveyors wound up the business of their annual meeting yesterday afternoon. Reports of the Legislation, Publication, Instruments and Entertainment committees were presented and adopted. A vote of thanks was tendered the retiring president, G. B. Kirkpatrick, who has held the office for the past three years. These officers were elected by acclamation: A. Niven of Haliburton, president; Villiers Sankey of Toronto, vice-president; Willis Chipman of Brockville, secretary-treasurer. These gentlemen were nominated for councillors, of whom three are to be elected: T. Speight, Toronto; Elihu Stewart, Collingwood; Thos. Fawcett, Gravenhurst; W. R. Aylesworth, Deseronto; J. McAree, Toronto; H. B. Proudfoot, Clinton, and G. B. Abell, Toronto.

Yesterday morning Mr. W. G. Murdoch, John Gamble's counsel, received the following despatch from Mr. Power, Acting Deputy Minister of Justice:

His Excellency the Governor-General in Council has been pleased to commute the death sentence passed on John Gamble to imprisonment for life in the penitentiary.

The news was semi-officially announced to the reprieved man by the jail officials later on the day. Gamble expressed himself as pleased that his neck was out of the halter, but afterwards remarked that he thought his offence did not merit a life long imprisonment in Kingston. The death watch was taken away from his cell last night, and he will be sent to the penitentiary within two days.

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 1.—The total transactions on the local stock exchange yesterday were 313 shares.

In the hardware business trade is quiet, but prices are firm. The prospects are considered good.

In groceries there is a fair trade, with orders generally confined to small parcels. Sugars a little weaker. Payments fair.

On the horse market there has been no outside demand, and trade has been more than ordinarily quiet owing to the severe weather.

Money on call is quoted to-day at 6 per cent. on debentures and 6½ to 7 per cent. on stocks; and for discount the price is 7 to 8 per cent.

THE ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Business picked up a little both inside and outside of St. Lawrence market this morning. Fresh eggs are coming in more freely, and the demand is so good that they are all bought up immediately they appear. There is a strong Lenten demand for eggs, and judging from a comparison of the egg and fish receipts, the finny tribe have lost popularity as a Lenten dish, and more attention is being paid to eggs. They can be bought for 20c to 24c per doz. Limed eggs are as low as 13c. The meat market is unchanged. On the grain market three loads of barley sold at 71c to 77c and three loads of wheat at 79c to 81c.

WINE AND WHISKEY.

SERMON BY LAYMAN

(Written for the Examiner.)

I notice that the chief argument against prohibition is that Christ sanctioned the use of wine. And the opponents of prohibition very illogically and very improperly draw from that sanction, that because Christ sanctioned the use of wine he also sanctioned the use of whiskey and all the other intoxicants which are now used, and against which use prohibitionists are now contending. Whether the wine recommended, or said to be recommended, by Christ was fermented or unfermented wine is not now the question. The people of the present day are seeking to stop the drinking of whiskey, brandy, champagne, rum, gin, wine and beer, and all other kinds of intoxicating drinks, the least dangerous of which is wine. And the only argument used against this contention is that the Saviour once advised the use of wine. If Christ did not recommend the use of whiskey, brandy, champagne, rum, gin and beer, then the whole opposition of the anti-prohibitionists falls to the ground. And as they don't pretend that he did so, in all fairness they should abandon this opposition to the Scott Act and should either support that Act or set up some other ground of opposition to it. I cannot express sufficiently my great surprise and regret at the position taken by Rev. Mr. Macdonell, of Toronto, to the movement in favor of temperance. As a man of intelligence he surely must know that his argument and his use of Christ's alleged approval of the drinking of wine, if true, is no argument against prohibition in the use of the thousand and one other intoxicating drinks, which are so common and so dangerous and so injurious. And one is led to believe that his opposition has some other foundation for it, and which he does not care to make known. Of all men in the world he ought to be the last man to try to uphold the vice of drunkenness as it exists at the present day. And if, as a minister of the Gospel, he has any duties to perform in opposition to sobriety, truth and justice more powerful than those in favor of temperance I would like him to say so and to define what they are. It is to be presumed that he knows that Christ said no drunkard should enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, and I would like to have him say how he can advocate the cause of intemperance which is so plainly denounced and punished by God, and which is certain to lead its victims into eternal misery in the world to come. Before he preaches another sermon against prohibition, or writes another letter against the movement in favor of temperance, I would ask him to take the rounds of the city of Toronto and observe the misery, poverty, and crime, and wretchedness, and woe, of the thousands of those who use strong drink, and to listen to the cries of thousands of abused, starving mothers and children, which are the direct results of those intoxicating drinks which he so eloquently and persistently upholds. And I would like to ask him if he believes that his merciful Saviour ever gave His sanction to these things. I suppose that Mr. Macdonell will admit the consistence of Christ when he uttered the words with regard to wine which are imputed to him, and if he was the omniscient He surely could foresee the dreadful effects of the use of those drinks which Mr. Macdonald would have us infer He sanctioned the use of. And He, in His omniscience, must have foreseen that the land, everywhere, would be studded over with taverns and saloons, and other places of strong drink, and studded over with distilleries, and breweries and other forms of the manufacture of strong drink, and that He must have foreseen that the cultivators of the soil would be largely engaged in raising the grain to keep these manufactories going, taking away from the people hundreds of millions of bushels of grain with which to produce the poison which is devastating the world and keeping the people bound hand and foot by their use, and sending every year millions of unfortunate men, women and children to untimely graves, and sending their souls to endless perdition. Now, Mr. Macdonell must hold to one of the two lines of argument which alone are open to him in reference to the use of strong drink, either that Christ did not sanction the use of intoxicating drinks or that He did sanction them, foreseeing what untold sin and misery and wretchedness and crime they would produce. I hardly think Mr. Macdonell will choose this last argument, and, if he does not, what becomes of all his finespun theories and of all his sophistry in his apparently earnest advocacy of strong drink and in his earnest opposition to the holy cause of temperance? His business is to save souls, not to destroy souls. His business is to uphold and advance law and order, not to destroy them. His business is to teach men the Gospel, which says no drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven. His business is to look after the spiritual needs of the people and to help the people on to a higher standard of truth and happiness, not to degrade and destroy them; and his business is to convince sinners of the errors of their ways and to bring them to the worship of the Most High, which can only be done with men who are sober and in their senses. And his business is to make men good and useful citizens and good fathers, by clothing them in their right minds so that they may know and be able to perform their duties wisely and properly. This constantly bringing up the pretended sanction of Christ and their deducing therefrom the right of the people to get drunk, the right of the people to waste their means, which should only go to the healthy support of themselves and their families, is a dangerous thing. And it is a blasphemous thing as well. If Mr. Macdonell is opposed to prohibition and wants to encourage dissipation and drunkenness let him come out fairly and squarely and say so. But he ought to be the last man to pretend to oppose prohibition against the thousand and one intoxicating drinks which are destroying the land and ruining both the souls and bodies of thousands in our own land and of millions in other lands also. If he has nothing better to tell his hearers than that it is lawful for them to drink brandy and whisky, and to get drunk, and to waste their substance, and to impoverish and abuse their families because Christ on one occasion recommended the use of the wine of His day, he ought forever to hold his peace. No one ought to know better than Mr. Macdonell that he cannot reason from a less to a greater, and that the bare right to use wine does not make right the use of whisky and brandy, and does not justify drunkenness and all its attendant evils, and does not justify his opposition to the good cause of temperance.

NO FUNDS FOR THE SHOW.

The Agricultural Council's Protest—Election of Officers.

TORONTO, March 2.

The annual meeting of the Council of the Agriculture and Arts Association of Ontario was held yesterday afternoon with these members in attendance: Ira Morgan, Metcalfe; Joshua Legge, Gananoque; P. R. Palmer, Belleville; Robt. Vance, Ida; J. C. Snell, Edmonton; G. Moore, Waterloo; William Dawson, Victoria; James Rowand, Mount Forest; L. E. Shipley, Greystead; and Charles Drury, M.P.P. Mr. Ira Morgan was elected President; Mr. J. C. Rykert, M.P., Vice-President; and Mr. George Graham, Treasurer.

Secretary Wade's report was a voluminous document. The live stock registrations were: Clydesdale horses 547, Shire or Cart 20, Ayrshire cattle 158, Hereford 21, Polled Angus 17, Devon 22, Berkshire swine 454, and Suffolks 38. Fees received amounted to $1314.50. Reference was made to the operations of the Clydesdale Horse Association; the Shire or Cart Horse Stud Book, in which there was a marked falling off in the numbers recorded of these animals; the Canadian Draught Horse Association; the Dominion Short Horn Breeders' Association and the Ayrshire Breeders' Association. It was stated the Hereford, Polled Angus and Devon cattle do not seem to make much headway in this country, the breeds being in the hands of only a few men. Registrations in the Berkshire and Suffolk swine books have increased rapidly.

The educational scheme has not been a success. Farmers' sons as a rule do not read after leaving school. Six certificates were granted last year. Prizes will be awarded this year in group No. 2, for prize farms, and judges will have to be appointed for the work.

Notices have been sent out all over the country and the United States that Kingston has been selected for holding this year's exhibition. "The usual grant was asked for," said the report, "from the Provincial Government, but to our surprise it has not been placed in the estimates for that purpose."

Secretary Wade was instructed to notify the Clydesdale Association that the association will give a gold medal for competition at its forthcoming exhibition.

There was a general talk about the neglect of the Ontario Government to make the customary grant of $10,000 this year to the association, and the opinion was expressed that the Kingston show would have to be abandoned unless the Government gave the money. Mr. Drury, M.P.P., said the Government would be guided by the wishes of the Legislature. He did not think the appointment of a committee would be of any value, the feeling being that the "usefulness" of the show was gone.

These standing committees were made:

Building and Executive—Legge, Palmer, McPherson and Drury.

Finance and Printing—Drury, Rykert, Shipley and Vance.

Gates and Turnstiles—Moore, Vance, Dawson and Palmer.

Prize Farms—Rawlings, Shipley and Rowand.

Fat Stock Show—Snell, Moore and Rawlings.

Educational Scheme—Drury, Wade and Prof. Mills.

Herd Books—Drury, Snell, Shipley, Rowand and Wade.

Short Horn Association — Snell, Dawson, Rowand, Shipley, Moore, Rawlings and Morgan.

Agricultural Hall—Rawlings, McPherson.

CANADA'S IRON FIELDS.

How the Country Would Become Rich Under Commercial Union.

TORONTO, March 2.

The Commercial Union Club met last night in Association Hall to discuss Commercial Union from a mining point of view. Mr. S. H. Janes chaired the meeting. Observing a few strangers present, among them a couple of mining gentlemen, from the United States, he felt it necessary to apologize for the slim attendance. He assured the strangers, however, that the club was doing great missionary work throughout the country.

Mr. T. D. Ledyard read a carefully compiled paper on iron mining in Canada. England, he said, gets the greater part of her Bessemer ore from Spain. The Spanish mines are nearly exhausted and in a few years Great Britain must look to Canada for Bessemer ore, because Canada has as good a supply of it as any country in the world. There is no reason why Canada cannot be a great steel producer. It would not be surprising to see the English iron makers transplanting their business to Canada. Already they are looking Canadawards. Within the past few months the speaker has received several communications from Englishmen enquiring about our iron and other ores. Canada consumes annually 300,000 tons of iron, as much as one large furnace on the other side produces. Last year the United States used 12,290,000 tons of iron. If the duty of 75 cents a ton on iron ore were removed by the American Government Canada would participate in the benefits of this huge market. Ontario possesses the best Bessemer ore in the world. Within 120 miles of Toronto are large districts of this ore, containing over 60 per cent. of metallic richness, and free from tatanium, phosporus and sulphur. This ore could be shipped cheaply to Buffalo or Cleveland, being taken to those points in the same cars that bring coal here. Toronto would make an excellent point for a blast furnace. All Canada wants to develop these splendid resources is Commercial Union with the Republic. In conclusion Mr. Ledyard suggested that the club should procure a map of North America on which would be drawn a line, broad and deep, to mark the boundary line between the two countries so that it might clearly appear how absurd it is to try to keep apart two parts of the same continent, which nature intended to be commercially one. Above the map he would paint these words: "Let us have free trade with our own continent, our natural market." [Applause.]

Mr. W. H. C. Kerr, who was recording the minutes, was forcibly struck with the map idea, and he thought it could easily be arranged to procure one with the boundary lines marked as suggested.

Mr. J. N. Blake and Mr. W. H. L. Gordon referred to the great importance to Canada of the mining industry. This country had not yet wakened up to her great wealth in this respect.

Mr. Samuel D. Mills, superintendent of the Martel Furnace, St. Ignace, Mich., saw no reason, if the 75 cent duty was removed, why there should not be as many furnaces in Ontario as there were in Michigan. He substantiated all Mr. Ledyard had said about the extent and richness of Canada's minerals.

Mr. Herbert C. Jones followed, and after him Mr. C. M. Dobson took the floor. He made some assertions which somewhat dampened the spirits of the previous speakers. He said he had just returned from Georgia. There are many iron mines here. These mines are rich, having 68 per cent. of metallic iron. The United States will derive enough of iron from this district to supply its wants for a long time to come, and it will have no need to call on Canada. The mines in Georgia are just being opened. The ore can be taken to Pittsburg for $7 a car. Labor there is cheap compared with Canada. Colored labor is 75 cents a day. Canada is quite unable to compete with the United States in the iron industry, even if the duty were taken off.

THE U. S. TARIFF.

Features of the New Bill—Additions to the Free List—Reductions.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The new Tariff Bill makes a number of additions to the free list, including timber in various forms (provided that the duty shall remain in case of imports from any country levying an export duty on the same), salt, flax straw, hemp, manilla, jute, burlaps, tin plate, beeswax, gelatine, glycerine, isinglass, phosphorus, soap stocks and soap, extract of hemlock, indigo, licorice-crotean oil, hempseed oil, rapeseed oil, cotton, seed oil, petroleum, alum, artificial mineral waters, decoctions of spirits of turpentine, bone black, ochre, amber, alsenic, essential oils, barks, beans, berries, balsams, bulbs, boracic acid, cement, whiting, blue vitriol, copperas, potash, sulphate of soda, refined sulphur, coal tar, naphtha, benzine, pitch, crude, opium for medicinal purposes, iron and steel cotton hoops, needles, copper ores, nickel, antimony, quicksilver, brick, vegetables, chicory, cocoa, dates, plums, prunes, currants, meats, game, poultry, milk, paper pulp, feathers, grindstones, curled hair, human hair, marble, broom-corn, rags, paintings, itinerary, undressed building stone, strings, tallow, wools hair of the Alpaca goat, wools and shoddy.

Metals are to pay duties as follows: Pigiron $6 per ton, iron railway bars $11, steel $11, iron slabs, blooms, loops, 35c., iron bars, blooms, billets, in the manufacture of which charcoal is used, $30 per ton, iron or steel T rails $15 a ton, round iron in coils or rods and rolled iron unenumerated 1 cent per pound, sheet iron this 1 cent per pound.

The entire wood schedule is subjected to 20 per cent. duty. All grades of sugar are reduced by an amount varying from 1-5 to ⅞ of the present duties.

Creamery or Cheese Factory.

In reply to the question, "Which is the more profitable for the average farmer and small stock raiser, the creamery or the cheese factory?" Michigan Farmer answers: "As a general rule the cheese factory will return the most money to its patrons, one year with another. But there are special seasons and conditions which would change this. The returns made by cheese factories the past season run from $68 to $75 per cow—the average would be about $69. It must be remembered, however, the cheese factory only leaves the whey for its patrons, while the creamery leaves all the milk, a difference which, if properly utilized, would materially change results. Then, again, the quality of the butter or cheese produced would have an important bearing upon the returns. If the products of either are of a low grade, through the lack of experience or carelessness on the part of the managers, such factory or creamery will not be able to pay their patrons as much as if they were making a first class article. It would be better to sell your milk to a well managed creamery than a poorly managed factory, and vice versa. Brains and experience are essential in either."

Nuts and Nut Trees.

The shell bark hickory tree thrives best from thirty to fifty miles from the seashore. It will perform better work in fruiting if its roots are fed from a running stream.

The butternut produces better crops on the hills away from the shore, and it also delights in damp feet. The fruit is better if left on the ground until after hard frosts.

The black walnut must be gathered and cleaned of its husk before hard frosts. Then the nut can stand any kind of weather. Eat it and all other nuts with a small quantity of salt. The oil in nuts requires a cast iron digestive apparatus. The salt aids nature in digesting the fruit.

Chestnuts will grow anywhere, but better near the salt air. The cultivated varieties can be improved by the aid of fertilizers.

A correspondent claims that a walnut grafted on butternut stock produces fruit that is better flavored than the natural walnut. The only difficulty is that the walnut outgrows the butternut stock.

If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. A Change of Occupants.

The occupants of a certain house in town which does not bear an untarnished reputation have lately moved out, and the premises have been occupied by a respectable woman. She has been greatly annoyed at nights by the importunities of men who were former habitues of the place, they at times threatening to burst in the doors. This morning she purchased a revolver at a down town hardware store, and declares she will give these nocturnal disturbers of her peace a warm reception if they still continue their hoodlumism.

Anchor Ice.

The presence and effects of anchor ice in the river during the past week have had a bad result on the mills in the neighborhood of Hilliard's, dependent on water power as a motor. All the mills were compelled to shut down, the water works being the only exception. The energy of the superintendent defied frost and ice. By the most strenuous exertions the wheels were kept moving, though at one time (on Thursday) the pressure obtainable was rather low. But well directed energy, day and night, has overcome the difficulties and everything is now flowing freely. It is not probable that we shall be troubled with anchor ice any more this season.

Words of Commendation from the Commanding Officer.

Following are some extracts from the last annual report of the Department of Militia and Defence, just received at this office:

57TH PETERBOROUGH RANGERS.

This Corps paraded for my inspection at Peterbrough, on the 17th November, under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Rogers. I cannot speak too highly of the improvement this Battalion has made in their drill since last year.

The Corps mustered nearly its full strength and their appearance was clean and soldier-like and very steady while in the ranks. Their marching and wheeling would have done credit to regulars. I called out several of the Companies for drill under their Officers, all of which was well done, and proved that an interest was taken in the efficiency of the Corps, both by officers and men. The physique of the men was splendid, the average age being 25 years.

The Regimental Band is very good.

DRATH.

I much regret to report that the District has lost by death a most zealous and efficient officer in Captain Weller, 3rd Regiment of Cavalry. He was buried with military honors at Peterborough, his late Troop (No. 2) turning out to a man to do honor to their late much respected Captain; the Volunteers at Peterborough also attended, all under the command of Lt.-Colonel H. Rogers, 3rd Cavalry.

57th Batt., Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, Peterborough.
No. 1 Co., Capt. Edwards.
No. 2 Co., Capt. Langford.
No. 3 Co., Lieut. Peck.
No. 4 Co., Capt. Birdsall.
No. 5 Co., Capt. Burke.
No. 6 Co., Capt. Brennan.
Each of the companies has an establishment of three officers and 42 non-commissioned officers and men. The actual strength present at inspection was:—

No. 1 Company	2 officers.	40 men
" 2 "	1 "	40 "
" 4 "	2 "	43 "
" 5 "	1 "	39 "
" 6 "	2 "	42 "
	10	214

The established staff is 8 officers; 7 were present at inspection.

The amount of ammunition issued to Lieut.-Col. Rogers for practice during the year, 5,040 rounds of ball. The ammunition issued on repayment during the year to the Peterborough Rifle Association was altogether 5,000 rounds; amount, $80.

A Boy Battalion.

Parallel Progression of the Mental and Muscular.

Arma studiumque equo pede prosequimur.—NOCTU IPSI NOBILES.

The military drilling of the lads of the Collegiate Institute appears to have passed beyond the stage of experiment and become a pronounced success. Sergeant-major Rundell has managed to infuse into his collegiate corps a large portion of his own military enthusiasm, and he has now, he asserts, the most satisfactory, attentive, intelligent and appreciative boy battalion he has ever had the pleasure to instruct. His youthful warriors watch for his coming with the greatest interest. They are making rapid progress in their drill—and they are not learning mere routine of military manœuvres and exercises either, but are undergoing concurrently, a valuable gymnastic training, which will give muscular vigor and elasticity, grace of movement, correct bearing and a military "set-up," which will make their physical development a satisfactory complement to their mental training. No boy is any the worse, but much the better, if his "goose-step" proceed pari passu with his Ac Ane, Ane provided always the proper conditions are present.

The gallant Sergeant-major has now under his training eighty boys, composing a battalion of two companies, each forty strong. Each company is properly officered, though, of course, the commissions are only "provisional"; a circumstance, however, which does not discredit them in comparison with a no small number of the officers of the "regular" volunteer force. The eighty are composed of the four forms of the Institute, and the boys of each form receive one hour's squad and company drill a week, leaving time for one hour's battalion drill each week. The two companies will have a "field day" at battalion on Monday afternoon next, in the drill shed, from three to half past four o'clock. A boy who takes a full course at the Institute and attends the military "manœuvres" at the same time, will, upon leaving the Institute, be qualified to enter the volunteer force a well drilled soldier, able, in the matter of drill, to give pointers to even some of Her Majesty's "hoseliers."

NOTE.—Students of the Collegiate Institute connected with the battalion are requested to look into the EXAMINER to-morrow evening and note the three prizes offered in connection with the Latin motto at the head of the above paragraphs.

That Breach of Promise.

The Alleged Victim Denies the Statement—Port Hope's Amatory Troubles.

The following letter was received this morning:

LINDSAY, Feb. 29th, 1888

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

SIR,—I see in your DAILY EXAMINER of Feb. 29th an article referring to a Mr. Singer as being connected with a breach of promise case. I have just left Port Hope and have no doubt the article refers to me. Now I distinctly deny the truth of such statement and unless you at once contradict the article I will proceed against you. Would like to know from what source you obtained your information.

Yours, etc.,
A. SINGER

The paragraph complained of was an eight-line item in our "News Nugget" column condensed from a lengthy article in the Port Hope Times of the 23th. When an item is "cut down" to such an extent it is not customary to give credit. If we have unwittingly done Mr. Singer an injustice by giving treachous and publicity to the slight facts, this correction is given with pleasure.

The Problem Solved.

A Question That Many Have Given up in Despair at Last Conquered.

We have received several answers to the arithmetical problem published the other day, but none fulfilled the required qualifications of comprising not only a correct answer but an intelligent process of solution. The following, however, seems to strike at the root of the matter at the very beginning:

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

DEAR SIR,—In reading over the weekly EXAMINER this morning I came across the following problem wanting an answer and solution:

A starts from Peterborough to Lakefield, a distance of 10 miles, walking at the rate of 5 miles an hour. B starts with him and travels only 2 miles an hour. At the same time C starts from Lakefield at the rate of 4 miles an hour. How long after leaving Lakefield will C be exactly half way between A and B? By puzzling my brains for a while I managed to get off the following:

If C was walking towards Lakefield with A and B, he would be half way between them all the time, as 4 is half way between 3 and 5. If he walks from Lakefield half way to Peterborough (5 miles), he will be in exactly the same position that he would have been in had he been walking from Peterborough towards Lakefield. Therefore he is half way between A and B.

C walks 5 miles, at the rate of 4 miles an hr., which is 1 mile in ¼ hr., or, the 5 miles in 5/4 or 1¼ hrs.

A walks 5 miles in 1 hr.; that is in 1¼ hrs., 6¼ miles.

B walks 3 miles in 1 hr.; that is in 1¼ hrs., 3¾ miles.

Difference between A and B, 2½ miles; half of 2½ miles is 1¼ miles, the distance which C is from A or B.

Hoping that that this will ease the official's mind regarding this problem, I am,

Yours, etc.,
F. B.

Unworthy Charity.

Cases That Should not be Encouraged—How the Town is Imposed Upon.

The position of Mr. Adam Hall as chairman of the Charity Committee is no sinecure. Almost every day he is called on to relieve cases of pressing poverty, and there is need of a vast amount of discrimination and enquiry to prevent imposition. Day before yesterday an extensive land-owner of Ennismore brought to town a family who were unable to pay their rent to him. He placed them in one of his own houses in town, and called upon the chairman of the Charity Committee to assume charge of them and pay their passage to Gravenhurst, where they wished to go. This, of course, Mr. Hall refused to do, and requested the Ennismore man to take his family of indigents back to the township and saddle them upon the township authorities. He, however, said he had tried not only that plan but had endeavored to get up a private subscription, in vain. He further declared that if the town authorities did not pay their way out of town he would turn them out on the street and force the corporation to take care of them. Mr. Hall notified him that not only would such a course render him liable to criminal prosecution, but that the committee would promptly re-ship them to Ennismore. He then interviewed every councillor on the board and requested their assistance, but they all wisely refused to shoulder the responsibility. Seeing that he could not force them on the town in any way, he secured a private subscription sufficient to send them to Gravenhurst. The Ennismore gentleman will no doubt feel that he has not been treated well in this connection, but he should also remember that the town will not assume any and every case whether it has a right to or not.

HE IS SATISFIED.

There is another case of long standing that for downright "gall" deserves the ban. A man and his family came here from Ottawa last fall and at once ensconced themselves in comfortable quarters at the town's expense. An effort was made to get him to return to the city from whence he came, but his reply was that he found Peterborough plenty good enough. He was offered not only his fare but a neat sum of money besides, but he is satisfied with his present location and can't be moved.

Only yesterday a case cropped up that may be deserving, but the impression is that it was a "game." A young woman and a child arrived in town on the noon G. T. R. train. She was without money, and gave as a reason for it that while asleep on the train her purse containing a ticket to Peterborough and $20 in cash had been stolen. The woman was given shelter by Mr. Henry Owens, to whom she stated that she was from Bark's Falls and was on her way to Ottawa to see her mother, who was sick. She said it would be no use telegraph to her husband (who was absent from home collecting accounts) for money, but she wanted the town to buy her a ticket. Mr. Hall was applied to, but he did not see his way clear to lend her any financial aid at the town's expense. Mr. Owens then himself gave her money to take her to Ottawa, and she went on her way rejoicing. Mr. Owens certainly is to be commended for acting the good Samaritan at his own expense, but Mr. Hall, as custodian of public money, does not propose to deal out funds indiscriminately.

And Still They Live.

The Ottawa Champions Still Unconquered—A Game for the Oysters.

The game at the rink last night between the Ottawa champion team and a couple of strong rinks of the local club, for the oysters, was watched with great interest by a number of spectators. It was at times close and exciting, but resulted in another victory for the Ottawa team. Score:

The Energetic Emperor of Enterprise.

The Uncrowned Czar of the Clothing Trade—A Magnificent Capture—A new Departure.

The present generation in Canada has not produced a more astute, wide-awake and pushing business man than Gough, the wonderful cheap man. By his energy and enterprise and success in securing bargains, and his philanthropy in presenting them and making them known to the public he has richly earned his "wonderful" title and established a record which makes all his competeters were weak imitators. The latest example of Gough's Wellingtonian keenness and Napoleonic dash is his purchase of the $50,000 stock of clothing of the great clothing house of Petley & Petley, Toronto. This stock comprises the largest and best selection of ready made clothing ever gathered under a retail roof, and Gough got it for and has taken a ten years lease of the stores on King street, Toronto, and will hereafter run the business as the business has never been run before. Gough learned his trade, serving his time, in Petley's. In his day this mammoth establishment did a business of $250,000 a year, and since that it has grown nearly 100 per cent., and now that Gough has his hand in it the boom begins. This new departure will necessitate the removal of the original Gough to Toronto, personally that is, but his soul, like John Brown's, will still march on in Peterborough. He has disposed of the Peterborough business to his brothers Richard and Gus Gough, and the firm will hereafter be known as "Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men." E. H. Gough will be in Toronto—always in the market—ever on hand to get big stocks at a bargain. He will be absent in body, but in spirit he will be present, and the era of big bargains he has established in Peterborough will be continued. Note the fact—Goughs have on the road a mammoth train load of the great Petley & Petley stock (bought at 50 cents on the dollar) and it will be slaughtered on the same 50 cents on the $ principle. At the store of Gough Bros. the same principles will reign, the same sacrifice of values will be made in the public interest.

The Peterborough store will be closed to-day and to-morrow till the new stock can be arranged. On Saturday the shop will be opened and the boom in bargains will begin. Look out for bargains upon bargains under the new regime. Come and see.

Haliburton.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

GOOD TIMBER.—Mr. Archie Brooks is now about through cutting square timber for this season, and is hauling very heavy loads in order to have all at the landing before spring opens. He has some excellent and immense timber, pine, ash, elm, spruce, etc., that would surprise a person, and people ask him where he had them hid, and they certainly speak well for our timber land north of us, and he says he will have a better average measurement than any he has taken out for years. He says it is the first and last crop of a large portion of the country there, and the forest fire of last year has ruined many miles of valuable hard woods.

Supplementary Commendation.

A correspondent of the Picton Times sends the following in reference to Dr. Jenner, who has recently set up residence and begun the practice of his profession in Peterborough:—

To the Editor of the Picton Times

DEAR SIR,—I would like as a friend of the doctor's to add a few words to the eulogium of that dinner. I was there, and in addition to the most kindly and congratulatory references to the doctor and his good wife, I heard guest after guest afterwards exult over the occasion as one brimful and overflowing with hearty fellow-feeling. And why should it be otherwise? Those who know the doctor, know that as a student his record is simply par advance. Honors, medals and scholarships have become a plentiful prey to his splendid abilities, the gold medal and an average of ninety-five per cent on all subjects in the final examinations at "Trinity" for example. We who know him do not wonder at the evidence of his determination to make his professional life studious and thorough when we think of his having being animated therein through the tutorship of and association with such man and places as Sir Andrew Clarke (physician extraordinary to Queen Victoria), Dr. Fenwick, of London Hospital, Dr. Morell Mackenzie, Dr. Warren Tay, of Blackfriars, Moorfields, and Soho Hospitals, being recommended to and securing a locum tenens in such a place as Norwich. And then three years of successful and widely extended practice together with the positions of trust he held so worthily leave the evidence that Picton loses a sober, industrious, Christian man with a most estimable wife, both of which Peterborough gains. Thanks for space.

On Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock a large company were gathered together at the residence of Mrs. Aaron Mann, Dalhousie street, to witness the marriage ceremony of Mr. Albert Turnbull, of Souris Valley, Turtle Mountain District, Man., to Miss Lucy A. Mann, daughter of the late Aaron Mann, Esq. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. Clifton Parker, of the Baptist church. The bride was supported by her sister, Miss Christie Mann, and the groom by his cousin, Mr. Herbert Perrin. The congratulations of the relations and friends present were offered to the happy couple. Many and valuable were the presents tendered them, showing the esteem in which they were held. The happy couple took the 5.50 train to Toronto and the western towns. After spending a couple of weeks they will return and make arrangements for proceeding to Mr. Turnbull's home in the Souris Valley, where he has an extensive and well stocked farm.

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realise how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $4.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $4.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $4.00—a good, serviceable Suit; while for $7.00, $8.00 or $10.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

"Come, Gentle Spring, Ethereal Mildness, Come."

To the Public—The undersigned would respectfully intimate to the public that he has made more than usually complete preparations for the spring trade. He is now receiving at the GOLDEN LION a magnificent consignment of Direct Importations from Great Britain and France, purchased on the best of terms and in the most favorable condition of the market. These include Millinery Goods, Trimmings, Ribbons, Silks, etc., from the city of Manchester; Laces, Silk and Cotton, from Calais, (France), and carpets, rugs, oilcloths from Glasgow. The public is invited to come and inspect these goods which will be found of unusually good value.

The Golden Lion is making unusually complete preparations for the spring trade. His milliner, Miss White, and her head assistant, are now in the wholesale markets picking up the latest styles, and in a few days his dressmaker will take a trip to the centres of fashion to gather the latest ideas in styles for the benefit of the patrons of the Golden Lion. She will be able to utilize the immense stock of stylish dress goods now on hand, to the satisfaction of the most exacting patron.

The Golden Lion would call the especial attention of the public to the fact that his line of spring goods will present attractive inducements in material, and the prices will be made as reasonable as possible with a view of an early clearance of spring stock, so that the contemplated renovations and improvement of the premises may be entered upon as early in the summer as possible. The growing demands of the business render the improvement and enlargement necessary.

In conclusion the public are invited to call at the Golden Lion and examine one of the finest stocks in every department ever offered in Peterborough.

C. U. WITH GREAT BRITAIN

INTERESTING PAPER AT THE IMPERIAL FEDERATION LEAGUE.

Why Canada's Connection With the Empire Should be Perpetuated—Better for the Dominion—Facts and Figures That Should Not Be Forgotten.

TORONTO, March 3.

The Toronto Branch of the Imperial Federation League met in the Canadian Institute building last night. Mr. J. M. Clarke presided.

The subjects of debate for the evening were a paper by Mr. John Matthews on Imperial Federation, and a notice of motion by Mr. H. Merrick that one of the planks in the platform of the Toronto Branch be the advocacy of a discriminatory tariff between Canada and Great Britain in relation to natural and manufactured products.

Mr. Matthews said that the Imperial Federation movement was a reaction from the movement in favor of disruption organized some years ago. The success of this movement was now dying, and the feeling in favor of the unity of all parts of the Empire was growing in strength. The present construction of the Empire was as dangerous to the members as it was peculiar. In 1886 Canada and Australia were in the hazardous position of being molested by Russians without any arrangement whatever being made for the Pacific Ocean fleet service. It was imperative, in view of self-defence, that some arrangement should be mutually agreed to. It was argued that Canada would have to surrender her rights on entering a federation scheme, but local rights would in fact be untouched as compared with what they would be under annexation to the United States. The powers of individual states were closely restricted, while Canada under federation would be as free as at present. It would also be immensely advantageous to adopt the federation scheme in preference to annexation in point of taxation. The expenditure classed as Federal in the United States amounted to $5 per head.

The expenditure classed as Imperial in Great Britain amounted to about $4 per head. The proposition to pay the Imperial expenditure according to the value of property would be fair. The property in Great Britain and Ireland was valued at about five thousand millions, while the colonial property was valued at about five hundred millions. According to this the colonial tax for Imperial expenditure would be about $1.75 per head. The cost of maintaining cruisers for the protection of the fisheries, the maintaining of militia, and such services, would of course be borne by the Imperial Treasury, taking off a large local tax. In addition to this great advantage it was proposed under federation to consolidate the colonial debt and have the Empire guarantee it. A lower rate of interest would be the result, hence another benefit.

The federation, every way considered, was much superior to annexation to the United States. It would cost greatly less, Canada would still continue to enjoy its present local privileges and social vice of all kinds so prevalent in the United States would not be thrust upon Canadians.

Mr. Merrick's notice of motion was discussed, Mr. A. H. Lefroy, Mr. Matthews, Mr. Bain and others taking part in the debate.

No action was taken, the question being left over for further discussion.

Agriculturists' Festivity at Whitby.

WHITBY, March 2.—An entertainment under the auspices of the South Ontario Agricultural Society was held in the Town Hall here this evening, consisting of an oyster supper, speech-making and the presentation of a silver-headed cane to J. R. Mathewson, ex-President of the association. There was a fair gathering of farmers and others. Several prominent persons delivered addresses suitable to the occasion, the usual toasts being responded to.

The freight conductors and brakemen on the Allanda and Pacific Railroad struck late last night against a reduction of wages.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

THE TRAFALGAR-SQUARE MEETINGS DISCUSSED IN THE COMMONS.

Canadian Horses for the British Army—An Extra War Grant for the Austrian Government—The Bosnia Forts—A Ministerial Yarn—The Pope's Coronation Anniversary.

LONDON, March 2.—Mr. Bradlaugh resumed the debate in the House of Commons this evening on the motion of Sir Charles Russell for the appointment of a committee to inquire as to the right of the Government to interfere with meetings in Trafalgar-square. He proposed an amendment to the motion providing that the public inquiry be especially directed to the meeting in Trafalgar-square on Nov. 13 and the conduct of the police in connection therewith. He accused the Government of shirking the inquiry by treating the motion as a question of confidence.

Attorney-General Webster maintained that nobody had a right to go into a highway and make a speech. Obstructing a highway was an indictable offence. He declared that no inquiry was needed to confirm the Executive's power to stop meetings in Trafalgar-square.

Mr. Bradlaugh's amendment was rejected by a vote of 323 to 207.

Sir Charles Russell's motion was also defeated, 316 to 234.

The Secretary of War is considering the advisability of purchasing annually a number of Canadian horses for army purposes. In the House of Commons yesterday he expressed great satisfaction with the result of such purchases in the past.

In committee of supply, the House negatived a proposal to disallow the expenses (£3000) of Mr. Chamberlain at Washington, 314 to 68. The Times says it is no flattery to say that Mr. Chamberlain has greatly increased his political stature by his whole demeanor in America.

Mr. Simeon Jones, Dominion Commissioner to the Argentine Republic, has arrived in London on his way to South America. He sails from Southampton on March 9.

The Austrian Government will, it is expected, ask for an extra war grant exceeding 100,000,000 florins at the next meeting of the delegations.

The Moscow Gazette (Government organ) says that Prince Ferdinand will be declared a usurper in Bulgaria by Turkey, which will interfere with a military force to establish a status there according to the treaty of Berlin, either in receiving a mandate from all the powers or carte blanche from Russia.

The Bulgarian Government has instructed its Constantinople agent to call the Porte that the Government will reflect all proposals calculated to disturb Bulgarian independence.

Russia has increased her frontier guard by 2000 men. Four regiments of infantry, under General Archinihoff, have arrived at Kishenoff.

The North German Gazette asserts that the Boulanger election intrigue is directly traceable to the Orleanists, who are interested in disturbing the peace. The new Boulanger worship, it says, is as dangerous in tendency as transparent in its origin.

Editorial prominence is given in The London Chronicle to-day to the absurd sensational story that the Prince of Wales had a narrow escape from being kidnapped by Fenian pirates while out yachting off San Remo.

The ex-President of the French Republic, while deeply feeling the disgrace of his son-in-law, maintains a cool and calm demeanor. He complained last evening of the acrimony of French politics, and said: "As for my own character, I leave posterity to judge."

To-day was observed in the city of Rome as the anniversary of the coronation of the Pope. His Holiness received the congratulations of the Sacred College. The Pean of the College delivered an address. The Pope replied in an animated speech. He lamented more than ever his position, which he said was unbearable. He declared that if the Italian Government did not prohibit the jubilee fetes it was in its own interests that it acted and not from any feeling of respect for the Holy See. The Catholic world must be aware of the situation. No arrangement with the Government was feasible until the independence of the Papacy was restored.

London advices say that the Foreign Office has made public the despatches sent by Mr. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain during the progress of negotiations at Washington for the Fisheries Treaty. In a communication to Lord Salisbury dated Washington, Feb. 15, Mr. Chamberlain says the satisfactory results of the conference was due in a large degree to the spirit of conciliation manifested by both sides, and the strong sense of all the conferers of the importance of removing all cause for irritation, and of promoting friendly intercourse and good neighborhood between the United States and Canada and Newfoundland.

He speaks in high praise of Minister West and Sir Charles Tupper and also calls especial attention to the services rendered by Messrs. Bergne and Maycock.

The despatch further stated that the American Government on the present occasion repudiated any desire to share the inshore fisheries of Canada, and the point of dispute was therefore limited to the question of commercial facilities.

A DETROIT SWINDLER.

How David Simon Opened a Store at Drumbo, Ont.—A Montreal Victim.

DETROIT, March 2.—David Simon of this city last fall went to Drumbo, Ont., where he rented a store. He then travelled to Montreal to get stock for the clothing business. In an affidavit recently filed in the sheriff's office in Detroit, W. O. N. Parker of Montreal swears that Simon came to him, presented a forged guarantee for $900 worth of goods from P. Levy of Brantford, and bought $1600 worth of stock on credit. He opened his store Dec. 1, and after thirty days sold out to a pawnbroker from Hamilton and skipped to Detroit. To-day Deputy Heston arrested Simon on a capias. Moses Vinebery to-day took out a capias charging Simon with having done him out of $950 worth of goods. Other claims are said to exist to the amount of $3000.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Albert Ledington, charged with forging a check on the Traders' Bank of Toronto, was arraigned before Commissioner Osborne to-day and consented to return to Canada without extradition proceedings.

THE MANITOBA SITUATION

LITTLE ELSE TALKED ABOUT AT THE DOMINION CAPITAL.

What the Government is "Going To Do About It"—Disallowance to Be Thrown Overboard—Manitoba's Guardian Angel—A General Satisfaction at Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, March 2.—Premier Greenway's announcement in the Legislature yesterday that a settlement of Manitoba's grievances was in a fair way of being effected, is the topic of the hour. The Premier refuses to say much on the matter at this stage. He hinted, however, that negotiations had been going on with Ottawa parties for some days, and that the Local Government entertain hopes that the existing difficulties may be amicably arranged. As a consequence of the secrecy maintained by the Ministers on the subject, many different ideas are given as to the terms offered by the Dominion Government as a settlement of the difficulties. Some say that the C.P.R. is interested in the negotiations, as they are materially affected by the continued agitation. Others entertain the opinion that the Federal authorities will allow the immediate completion and operation of the Red River Valley road, while a few believe the abandonment of that road has been suggested and the building of another road to the east through Canadian territory will be urged. Premier Greenway and Attorney-General Martin leave for the Capital to-morrow.

The Manitoba ministers, barring snow blockades, will arrive in Ottawa by Monday evening. They will, it is understood, confer with the Government immediately on their arrival in the city. "What will the conference be about," did you say? Well, it is a secret that almost anyone can find out around here that Sir John has promised to annihilate disallowance as far as Manitoba is concerned. This is what the people want up there and have it they will, so several of the members and newspaper men from that province say.

Mr. Robert Watson (Lib.), the member for Marquette, is the man who arranged with the Prime Minister that Mr. Greenway and his Attorney-General should come on to Ottawa and have the conference. Mr. Watson telegraphed to Mr. Greenway that everything looked favorable and the Manitoba Legislature was at once adjourned for two weeks to allow of the meeting.

It is pretty well understood that Mr. Watson got Sir John's assurance that disallowance would be thrown overboard, and the Red River Valley Railway will be built legally. This being the case, what is to be done with the Canadian Pacific Railway people for abrogation of the monopoly clause? Something will certainly be done, but I will not pretend to conjecture what it is at present.

Speaking of Manitoba, men from that province who are here now say the people are becoming quite desperate, and nothing but competing lines of railways will satisfy them. The finances of the province are in a sad plight; the whole bottom has fallen out of the treasury.

Mr. Greenway, his friends here say, is looked upon as the new guardian angel of Manitoba, and great things are expected from his visit to Ottawa. They also aver that were Mr. Greenway to go to the people to-morrow he would carry thirty out of the thirty-five seats.

Manitoba Cutting Down Expenses.

WINNIPEG, March 2.—The services of a number of employes in the Attorney-General's department, including Municipal Commissioner Murray, will be dispensed with at the end of the month.

COMMISSIONERS BANQUETED.

The Canadian Club Entertains Mr. Chamberlain and His Associates.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Canadian Club of this city gave a big dinner at the Hotel Brunswick to-night to mark the completion of the labors of the Fisheries Commissioners. Covers were laid for nearly 200 and the list of notables present included many of the most prominent of New York's "diners-out."

Erastus Wiman presided, and on his right sat Mayor Hewitt. At the chairman's left were the members of the Fisheries Commission: The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Sir Lionel S. Sackville-West and their associates, Hon. J. S. D. Thompson, Hon. Geo. E. Foster and J. H. G. Bergne. Among the guests were Jacob Wendell, Jonathan A. Lowe, President of the Boston Merchants' Association, C. S. Smith, President of the New York Chamber of Commerce, and other representative business men.

Letters of regret from Secretary Bayard and Sir Charles Tupper were read before the speech-making of the evening began. In his letter, after detailing the circumstances of the receipt of the letter of invitation, Secretary Bayard says:

"The work in which your distinguished guests have been here engaged is surely one of high honor and usefulness, well deserving of grateful recognition at the hands of all who have at heart the happiness and welfare of the United States and Canada. I hope the treaty now pending for ratification may be thoroughly comprehended upon both sides of the border and be tried upon its merits. As its accompanists come to be understood the more it will be approved of by all fair-minded and reasonable men as an honorable, practical and just settlement of a controversy that for generations has baffled adjustment and threatened the friendly status of two neighboring states who have no just cause to be other than steady friends. . . . The treaty has been framed in a spirit of just and mutual conciliation and advantage, and I earnestly hope that the blindness of partisanship or the infamous of local selfishness or ignorance may not be suffered to deprive the two countries of its great benefits. Its defeat would be a great public calamity which I hope patriotism may avert."

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, March 3.

Mr. Meyer moved for an order for returns showing the names of applicants for water lots in front of lots 5, 6, 7 and 8 in the first concession of the Township of Bertie, fronting on Niagara River, also facts connected with the matter. Motion agreed to.

Mr. Clancy moved for an order of the House for a return showing the estimated cost, if any, and actual cost per yard for each drain constructed by or under the Government within the counties of Lambton, Kent, Elgin and Essex, and the name of the engineer or other person employed by the Ontario Government to make such estimate, the price per yard at which the work was let and whether at public sale or by tender and the salaries or other remuneration paid the engineers or other persons employed by the Ontario Government to superintend the construction of the said drainage works, and charged to the said works respectively.

Mr. Clancy, in speaking to the motion, stated the importance of the information he wished to place in the hands of the members. At present there was no way of ascertaining anything in regard to the subject. The drains constructed in different municipalities under the acts of 1869 and 1873 had turned out to be next to useless, and rebate had been allowed to a good many of the municipalities. Some had paid nothing whatever. Others had petitioned for rebates, and had paid their annual instalments for the past few years under a strong protest. He did not think he had been at all captious in seeking for these returns, or had said anything to incur the opposition of the Government. He hoped the returns would be brought down. In relation to this he would enquire from the Treasurer how it was that the account of the drainage in the Township of Sombra, County of Lambton, was placed at even more than it was last year, though $20,000 had been paid in an annual instalment and $20,000 had been rebated.

Hon. A. M. Ross said this was the result of erroneous calculations of interest. A correct account had been prepared.

Hon. Mr. Fraser was mollified at what Mr. Clancy said in regard to the returns. A few days ago Mr. Clancy had sought to censure the Government; and that being the case, and the motion being contrary to the rules of procedure, he had objected. Now, however, he would endeavor to have these returns down before the session closed.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. Clancy moved for a full statement of details in regard to the drainage work done under the acts of 1869 and 1873.

Hon. A. M. Ross proposed another plan of supplying the information from that proposed by Mr. Clancy. The details Mr. Clancy asked for would entail a great amount of labor.

Mr. Clancy replied that the detailed information he asked for was desired, not only by himself and the members, but by the municipalities interested. He hoped Mr. Ross would not object to it.

Hon. Mr. Ross hoped to have the return brought down before the close of the session.

Mr. Monk moved for an order of the House for a return showing the counties in Ontario that offer a bounty for the destruction of wolves; the amount offered and the amount paid by such counties since 1880. He explained that he was assured by settlers in the back country that the wolves destroyed more deer than the hunter. These counties were, as a rule, sparsely settled and the inhabitants were not in easy circumstances. If the county councils offered large bounties it would come heavy on the settlers. He suggested that the Government should set apart a sum to supplement bounties given by county councils.

The motion passed.

Mr. Waters applied for a second reading of his bill to amend the Assessment Act, abolishing the assessment of farm stock. He laid down the principle that where capital was taxed, income derived from such capital should not be taxed. Farm stock was indirectly the produce of the farm and should not be levied upon. As for the power of farm stock to produce taxes it was comparatively small. Last year in Middlesex the total taxes produced was $61,000, while farm stock only produced $707. The principle of taxing farm stock was rotten and should be abolished.

Mr. Meredith said there were many anomalies in the Assessment Act. The Government should take the whole question into consideration and treat it scientifically. He did not oppose the bill.

THE HALTON REPEAL.

The voting on the repeal of the Scott Act in the county of Halton, on Thursday, represents the first defeat of the Scott Act, that is, the first defeat of an attempt to sustain it when it had once been enacted. The first place in the Dominion to adopt the Scott Act was Fredericton, N.B., in 1876, Oct. 21st. Since that time the adoption of the Act has been voted on in eighty-counties, and sixty-three have adopted it. Several attempts have been made to repeal the Act, including the attempt in Halton in 1884, when the Act was sustained by a majority of 180, an increase of 99 over the majority by which it was first adopted in 1881. The Act has been in force in Halton seven years come next April, and it was constantly gaining favor in the eyes of those favorable to the principle of local option. It is difficult to arrive at the real cause of the recently demonstrated unpopularity of the Act, though there is, perhaps, reason to believe that the imperfect nature of the Act itself, rendering it difficult of enforcement, and its partial character, making what is a legally sanctioned act in one county, a crime in another adjoining one, had some effect in dampening the ardour of the friends of local option, and the failure to secure the respect of those disposed to be neutral. It is somewhat amusing to contrast the reasons given by two Toronto journals. For instance the Empire attributes the defeat to the following cause:—"Grit leaders, finding their party losing in the election contests, came to the conclusion that the Scott Act was largely responsible, and determined to sacrifice it." A despatch from Ottawa to the Mail says:—"It is the result of a secret alliance between anti-Scott Act Liberals and Conservatives. It is notorious in Halton that the Conservatives offered to support the petition for the repeal of the Act provided the anti-Scott Act Grits would support Mr. Henderson's candidature for the representation of the county. The alliance seems to have been successful in both its objects."

There is no ignoring the fact that the Ontario Government used their best efforts, and with a great degree of success, to enforce the Act, and that in so doing they alienated from the party all the anti-Scott Act Liberals; the Tory "temperance" men used them for political purposes with the result of a Liberal constituency for years, electing a Tory at the recent by-election. As a quid pro quo the Conservatives joined the anti-Scott Act Liberals in an attempt at repealing the Act, with the result known.

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

PRESENTATION.

The Lodges comprising Lakefield District L.O.L., who have in the past been under many obligations to W. Bro. J. B. McWilliams, late County Master, Peterborough, for acts of kindness and advice, determined to show their respect and appreciation by presenting him with a testimonial, which took the form of a handsome gift as well as a beautiful specimen of the engraver's art. The book bore the inscription—"Presented by the members of Lakefield District L.O.L., to Bro. J. B. McWilliams, County Master, 1888." The presentation was made in the Orange Hall, Lakefield, on Thursday evening, the 1st inst., in the presence of a large number of members of the Order, who had assembled to do honor to their late County Master. The following is the address which accompanied the gift, and which was read by Bro. Rich. Waram, C.M., also Bro. McWilliam's reply:

THE ADDRESS:

To J. B. McWilliams, Esq., Junior Deputy G. M. of the Right Worthy Grand L. O. L., Ontario East, and Past County Master of the West Peterborough County L.O.L., etc., etc.:

DEAR SIR AND BRO.,—The District of Lakefield L.O.L. beg to present to you this Past Master's jewel as a token of their high respect and esteem. In the discharge of your duties as an Orangeman and especially in the responsible offices you have held, we have watched your conduct closely and honestly and we have great pleasure in congratulating you, not only on the fair and impartial manner in which you have acted during your administration but also on the many honourable and valuable services you have rendered to the Order in this county.

It is indeed pleasurable to us, both as individuals and as a lodge, to put on record and openly to acknowledge our satisfaction and commendation of your acts and conduct as County Master of the West Peterborough L.O.L. We expect perfection in no man, but careful work, honest endeavor and honourable conduct we desire always to recognize.

We therefore hope you will long bear with pride and honor to yourself and to us this slight memento of our goodwill.

JAS. MOORE, District Master.
WM. EDWARDS, District Secretary.

THE REPLY.

It is a pleasure for me to be here this evening and to have an opportunity of meeting so many of my old friends and receive this token of their friendship and respect.

It is now about 20 years since I became a member of the Orange Association, and during that time have had many pleasant meetings with the brethren of the Lakefield District, and can say there never was an unkind or unpleasant word passed between us. In all the contests I have had for County Master the Brethren of the Lakefield District, independent of party feeling, have always supported me, and I desire this evening to return my hearty thanks for your confidence and support and should I cease to meet with you in an Orange Hall, I hope we will remain as warm friends in the future as in the past. After the confidence that has been shown to me by the Orangemen of Peterborough in electing me to fill the highest position in the county for so many years without my ever soliciting a vote; after the valuable present and testimonial given to me by the Orangemen of the county a short time ago, the receipt of this kind address and beautiful present from the District of Lakefield, makes it very difficult to carry out my intention of withdrawing from the Association. I honor and respect the principles of the Orange Society, and believe there is no better Society under the sun, if the principles are properly carried out. I never looked upon the Orange Society as established for the purpose of insulting or oppressing our Roman Catholic countrymen, but as a defensive society and one that should always be ready to champion the cause of the weak and oppressed, no matter of what class or creed.

During the years I have been in the Society I have never missed an opportunity of assisting a brother who was deserving, either by placing in business or obtaining a situation. While I have done everything in my power to aid worthy Orangemen, yet I never thought it my duty to do anything to injure a Roman Catholic, but on the contrary am pleased to know that I have been a friend to and have many friends amongst the Roman Catholics. Life is too short to spend in quarrelling over a question of religion when we all have the same harbor in view. Life is like starting out on a long journey, and if we as Orangemen or Protestants claim the right to travel one road let us give those who differ with us the right to choose their way and only hope that both roads may terminate in Heaven.

I again thank you for your kind wishes and for the valuable present, and trust we may have many pleasant meetings together, and when our sojourn in this land is over, that we may enjoy each other's company in a happier land.

Bro. McWilliams was taken by surprise, having been requested to attend a special meeting of great importance. The badge was presented by Bro. Jas. Moore, D. M., after which supper was served and two or more hours spent in speeches, toasts, songs, etc. During the evening a letter of regret from Apsley Lodge at not being present, was received and read.

FRATERNAL VISIT.

Robert Elliott, Esq., High Chief Ranger of the Canadian Order of Forestry, paid a visit to Lakefield on Thursday, 2nd inst., on business connected with the Order. During the afternoon nearly all the members of Court Lakefield called upon him in the Court room, to pay their respects and to confer with him on various matters affecting the Order in this place. In the evening a special meeting was held which was largely attended considering the short notice the brethren had. The R. W. Bro. gave them an able and instructive address on the state of the order in general, and congratulated the local Court upon the large membership they had attained, upon their handsome room, and upon their general prosperity and manner of working. He also replied to all queries and gave them some hints and advice for their future guidance. After the Court had been closed, R.W. Bro. Elliott was entertained at a supper by the members of the Court at the Parser House, where a couple of pleasant hours were spent, and as Bro. Elliott left on his homeward drive to Peterborough about 11 p.m., he was followed by the hearty cheers of the assembled members, who showed they understood how to "Welcome the coming, speed the parting guest."

A MISTAKE.

"A little nonsense now and then
Is relished by the wisest men."

A gentleman a few evenings since spent the evening at the house of a well known humourist residing a short distance from the village. On leaving for home he, by mistake, took his hosts cap in place of his own and did not discover the error until the following morning, when he was apprised of it by receiving a note, of which the following is a copy:—

"I have no with, sir, to accuse you of theft.
A cap of mine is missing since the night you left.
Mistakes may happen, but there is one here
That much resembles one you used to wear.
If, sir, you have it, will it prove a task
To bring it back? Sir, this is all I ask.
The cap left here is far too large for me—
In fact, wont fit the head of R.Q.D.

It is almost needless to add the exchange was promptly made, and our facetious friend was again happy.

To dream of a ponderous whale
Erect on the tip of his tail,
Is the sign of a storm
(If the weather is warm),
Unless it should happen to fail.

Dreams don't amount to much, anyhow. Some signs, however, are infallible. If you are constipated, with no appetite, tortured with sick headache and billious symptoms, these signs indicate that you need Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. They will cure you. All druggists. c

Still Active.

The Minden Echo says:—"Rev. M. Turnbull, of Peterborough, occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church here on Friday evening last, and preached an eloquent sermon to a large and attentive congregation." Rev. Mr. Turnbull also attended a recent church concert at Dunsford, Victoria county, and delivered an address.

NASAL BALM FOR

COLD IN HEAD

—AND—

CATARRH.

There is no disease to which Canadians are more subject than Catarrh—all ages and sex alike are numbered among the sufferers. It is impossible in the limit of a short newspaper article to describe the symptoms fully, but they may be briefly summarized: Cold in the head, difficulty in breathing, hawking and spitting, headache, pains in the region over the eye, stoppage of nasal passages, foul breath, droppings into the throat causing nausea and sometimes vomiting, poisonous secretions accumulating in the lungs leading to consumption. These are but a few of the many symptoms of Catarrh, a disease which affects 7-10 of our Canadian population. NASAL BALM is the only CERTAIN and POSITIVE CURE for this loathsome disease in all its forms and stages. NASAL BALM is the result of years of careful study, and is prepared with a view to radically cure those cases of catarrh, to which Canadians are most subject. It is not a liquid snuff or counteracting powder, but a pleasant, never failing remedy, requiring no instrument or douche for its use. Easy to use, instantaneous in its effects, permanent in its cures. Ask for Nasal Balm and take no substitute of whatever name. For Cold in the Head there is no better remedy on earth to equal Nasal Balm. Do not neglect a cold in the head for in nine cases out of ten it will lead to Catarrh. Use Nasal Balm upon the first symptoms. This wonderful remedy affords instant relief and cures within a few hours. It can be used for the youngest child as well as for adults, and as a precautionary measure should be kept in every household. For sale by all druggists or sent on receipt of price (50c. and $1.00 per bottle) by addressing FULFORD & CO., Brockville.

PROOF OF ITS MARVELLOUS EFFICACY.

An Unequalled Remedy.

J. McKee, druggist, Peterborough, says:—Nasal Balm gives the most general satisfaction to consumers of any preparation I ever handled. My sales are large and the reports from those who use it, fully substantiate your claims for the medicine as an unequalled remedy for catarrh in the head.

Worth Ten Times its Cost.

T. W. Hunt Port Hope says: I was a sufferer from a long standing case of catarrh and being well up in years (72) hardly expected to ever obtain anything that would give me material or permanent relief. At the time of receiving Nasal Balm I was very bad with catarrh, but take great pleasure in stating that on the second application I obtained wonderful relief and its effect was pleasant, soothing and healing. It acted like magic and is worth ten times its cost for the immediate relief it gives. I feel confident the second bottle will effect a permanent cure. I have recommended Nasal Balm for cold in the head and in every case it acts like a charm.

Acts Like a Charm.

John Foster Raymond says:—Nasal Balm acts like a charm for my catarrh. I have only used it a short time and I now feel better than at any period during the last seven years. In fact I am sure of a cure and at a very small expense. mwfw

Feels Like a New Man.

A. E. Fish, merchant, Belleville, states: I take great pleasure in recommending your Nasal Balm to any one troubled with that dreadful disease, catarrh. I have been troubled with it for the past fifteen years, and can say candidly that I never had anything that gave me half so much relief as your Nasal Balm. I have only used two bottles and I feel like a new man.

Beats the World.

D. Derbyshire, president Ontario Creamery Association, Brockville, says: Nasal Balm beats the world for catarrh and cold in the head. In my own case it effected relief from the first application.

$1.00 for 50 cents.

Capt. D. H. Lyon, manager and proprietor of the C. P. R. and R. W. & O. R. car ferry Prescott, and Ogdensburg N. Y. says: I used Nasal Balm for a prolonged case of cold in the head. Two applications effected a complete and thorough cure in less than 24 hours. I would not take $100 for my bottle of Nasal Balm if I could not replace it.

It Never Fails.

Ex-Mayor Bowie, Brockville, Ont., says: I used Nasal Balm for a bad case of catarrh, and it cured me after having individually tried many other remedies. It never fails to give immediate relief for cold in the head.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, March 2.—The time for receiving petitions for private bills in the House of Commons was to-day extended to March 24, and for receiving private bills from the committee to March 29. The private bills introduced and read the first time at to-day's session were as follows: To incorporate the Canada and Michigan Tunnel Company—Mr. Patterson (Essex). Respecting the Canada Southern and Erie and Niagara Railway Companies—Mr. Ferguson (Welland).

The examination of the Deputy Superintendent of Indian Affairs took place to-day before the Master-in-Chancery in the case between the Ontario and Dominion Governments relating to the Whitefish Lake Indian reserve, the timber upon which was sold by the Dominion Government to Mr. Robillard, M.P. Mr. Æmilius Irving, Q.C., and Mr. John A. Barron, M.P., appeared for the Ontario Government, Mr. H. J. Wickham of Toronto for the Dominion, and Mr. Gormally of Ottawa for the Quebec Bank, which represents one of the licensees from the Ontario Government. The Deputy Superintendent produced maps, letters and other documents proving the location of the timber in dispute, the nature of the transfer to Robillard, and other points of the kind.

Mr. Wood (Brockville) from the Committee on Standing Orders reported in favor of extending the time for receiving private bills to March 24. This was agreed to. A similar motion was carried in the Senate. Clarke Wallace's Select Committee on Combines was authorized to employ a shorthand reporter. The work will be equally divided between Herbert Burrows and J. L. Payne of The Empire, and Henry S. Stafford of the Montreal Gazette.

Mr. Jamieson sent up his bill amending the Canada Temperance Act, the text of which I telegraphed Wednesday, and it was read a first time.

Mr. Edgar withdrew his motion for a select committee to inquire into the working of the "combines," saying that Mr. Wallace had got there in advance of him. Mr. Edgar made another speech about the alleged injustice of the present tariff, and he prophesied that Protection must go. The high tariff was responsible for the "combines" in the United States, and it was also to blame for their presence in Canada.

Addressing the Finance Minister he said that Sir Charles must have observed during his recent residence in Washington that the hue and cry on that side of the lines was to pull down the tariff.

Sir Charles, however, had no reply for Mr. Edgar.

Several returns moved for by members were ordered to be brought down, including one by Mr. Denison showing the number of railway accidents reported to the Government during 1886 in respect of which actions are now pending.

Geo. W. Dower, David Hastings and D. J. O'Donoghue of Toronto and Frank J. Farrell of Ottawa, representing the Typographical Unions of Canada, had an interview with Sir Charles Tupper to-day and asked that the duty on stereotyped plates be increased and that celluloid plates and matrices be classified. At present stereotyped plates pay 5 cents per pound and celluloid plates and matrices are unclassified. The deputation said that this was asked in the interests of Canadian printers and publishers. Sir Charles promised to look carefully into the matter. The Toronto men went home to-night.

The Senate Adjourned Till March 13.

OTTAWA, March 2.—The Senate sat for 1½ hours this afternoon and adjourned till March 13.

The select committee of seven on revising the rules of divorce reported in favor of reducing the committee to five. This was agreed to.

Senator Odell and others made things lively for a short time in presenting a series of complaints against "certain officials of the Intercolonial Railway, who had on a certain date ordered several passengers out of their sleeping car at Riviere du Loup, en route from Halifax to Montreal, and made them finish their journey in an ordinary coach."

Mr. Abbott made the usual promise to investigate.

THE BURLINGTON STRIKE.

Officials of the Road Say There Will be no Compromise.

CHICAGO, March 2.—The Burlington officials positively state that no compromise will be made with the strikers, and that a large number of Reading engineers will at once go to work. The latter say that they starved long enough at the East and are not disposed to take further risks.

The General Passenger Agent said to-day that the passenger service was practically where it was before the strike, and that they were moving freight on every division of the line.

The Reading Engineers' Attitude.

READING, Pa., March 2.—All trains on the Reading system are running as usual. The order of Chief Arthur to the Brotherhood officials in the East to induce Brotherhood engineers on the Reading Railroad to quit their engines is receiving no attention in the Schuylkill Valley. Hints on Horse Breeding.

At one of the New York Farmers' institutes, an experienced breeder in horses read a paper on "Horse Breeding," in which occurred the following statements:

First decide what style of horse you want to produce. There are several classes of horses, the race horse and trotter; the carriage horse, such as the Cleveland bay and French coach, and the various breeds of draft horses: The English Shire, the Clydesdale and the Percheron. Of these various breeds the race horse can only be bred to advantage in large establishments. The American trotter has only become a distinct breed within a generation, but now we produce the trotter quite uniformly. The English race horse was the progenitor of the American trotter, of which Ryadik's Hambletonian, Mambrino, Henry Clay and a few others were the first sires. Only within fifteen years has an intelligent study of the trotter been pursued. Now the rules adopted and published in the register govern. American breeders of the trotter have reached a degree of success of which they are justly proud. They produce the fastest road horse in the world.

The Cleveland bay was the offspring of the thoroughbred race horse on larger mares. The French coach horse was bred under government supervision, which owned all the stallions. The Norman should not be confounded with the Percheron. The former is smaller—a carriage horse; the latter better adapted to heavy draft. It is the draft horse of France. The English Shire and Clydesdale horses have been much mixed. Give the best of care and feed well. Such treatment pays.

The farmers can breed a few colts every year and work their mares most of the time. Cheap raising of colts on the starvation plan does not pay. The dam should earn her keeping. He estimated the cost of properly raising a colt until it is four years old at $120. The profit or loss will depend upon the quality of the colt at that age.

Home Hints.

Mrs. Robert Williamson of Glenila, Parry Sound, Ont., says, "I could not keep house without Hagyard's Yellow Oil at hand. I have used it in my family for Croup, Sore Throat and a cut foot, and can highly recommend it to everybody. 2w7d

A Lesson

is to be learnt from the sight of a bald head. Falling out in premature grayness of the hair can be stopped if taken in time. Do not let it run on without making an effort to save it. Get a bottle of Dr. Dorenwend's German "Hair Magic." It stimulates the growth, gives fresh vitality and keeps the hair its natural color, besides being a superb dressing. All druggists sell it. dw

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

FOR INFLAMMATION of the Lungs and Bowels, give "Maud S." Condition Powders to your Cattle. fs

DESTROY THE WORMS or they may destroy the children. Use Freeman's Worm Powders, they expel all kinds of worms. dw

FOR NETTLE RASH, Itching, Piles, Ringworm Eruptions, and all skin diseases, use Prof. Low's Sulphur Soap. dw

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists. dw

The thanks of the Examiner are due to Mr. W. J. Armstrong, of New Westminster, B.C., for copies of British Columbia papers, and also a copy of the San Francisco Journal of Commerce, giving an elaborate and highly complimentary eight-page sketch of British Columbia, profusely illustrated.

The Way of the Cross.

At St. Peter's Cathedral last night during the regular services His Lordship, Bishop Dowling, with impressive, though not elaborate, ceremony proceeded to hang about the walls of the church a pictorial representation of "The Way of the Cross," comprising fourteen large paintings brought by the late Bishop Jamot from Rome. After the ceremony the choir chanted the Te Deum.

Expanding.

Mr. J. J. Sheehy is having his store lengthened by nearly half. The vacant room at the rear is being fitted up and when completed will be made a part of the store. Mr. Sheehy intends increasing his stock this spring to fill up his enlarged store. He will go to Montreal to purchase a stock in a short time. Mr. Sheehy's business has been steadily increasing and he must expand.

Market Items.

The market attendance this morning was very small for a Saturday, no doubt owing to the drifted state of the roads. Beef and other meats were the only commodities offered on the square, while in the butter market there was a small showing and few sales. An extensive produce buyer told the Examiner that the class of butter offered for sale was in general the worst ever shown in town, being nothing more nor less than packed butter worked up into rolls. It had, he said, been brought on the market in tubs first, taken home unsold, and worked over. Prices ranged from 20 to 22c. for the best. Eggs, too, were high, from 18 to 20c. They can be bought in many of the stores in town for 18c., and those asking 20c. did not make many sales.

To Institute Pupils.

In connection with the Latin motto at the head of the little article on "A Boy Battalion" in Friday's Examiner, the following offer is made. The daily Examiner free for one month to each of three boys as follows:—To the boy in the second form who first hands in to the Examiner office a correct translation—literal (and free, to show that the application is understood). To the boy in the third form who first hands in to the Examiner office a statement showing: (a) the name of the author of whose language the first two words of the line are a parody, the work and the place from which taken; and (b) the name of the author of the second two words and the place where found. To the boy in the fourth form who hands in the best criticism of the correct Latinity of the line. Each statement to be endorsed as correct and best by the classical master. The prizes may seem small, but amongst the classical ancients a simple wreath of bay was the reward of the highest achievements.

A Scrap-iron Swindle.

A few of our local iron dealers are in trouble. They consider they have been made the victims of as neat a swindle as was ever perpetrated. This week a young man who represented himself to be agent for a Hamilton iron firm, came to town and bought all the scrap-iron he could from local men. One of the gentlemen from whom he purchased kindly lent the stranger his team for a couple of days to gather it up and take it to the station. Payment was promised as soon as it was all got together and he could draw on his firm. Yesterday matters came to a crisis. The scrap-iron, twelve tons in all, was placed in a C.P.R. car and sealed. Then the wily agent came up street to one of the banks and drew on his firm's credit for $80, giving as security a lien upon the car of iron. During the day his creditors were looking for him, but he was not to be found, and the only intelligence they had of him was that he had gone to Lakefield and would return in the evening. They waited, but suspecting something, also watched the C.P.R. trains. But the stranger was equal to them, and kept out of sight in the ladies' waiting-room until the evening train was just moving out of the station, when he rushed out and before he could be stopped was aboard and away. Thus the affair stands. The car is still here, but the bank holds a lien upon it, and the local men are afraid they will have to lose all their scrap-iron. Efforts are being made by them to recover their property.

Father Conway's Departure.

Address and Presentation Before Leaving for His New Parish of Norwood.

After the regular services in St. Peter's Cathedral last night a number of gentlemen whose names are appended, stepped forward and read the following address :—

To the Rev. P. Conway, Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, and Chancellor of the Diocese:

Reverend Sir,—We, your friends and parishioners, have learned with feelings of deep regret that the relations hitherto existing between us are about to be dissolved, to some extent at least, by your departure from the town of Peterborough.

You have lived and laboured in our midst for the last six years and during all that time we have had frequent occasion to observe and admire your unwearied devotion to the spiritual advancement of the flock confided to your charge and your no less zealous attention to the temporal matters pertaining to your position.

Your excellent administrative qualities have been shown in the erection of a substantial addition to our Cathedral church, which now, owing to your energetic efforts, is almost entirely free from debt; in the purchase of a handsome residence for our good bishop; in the building of a new school for the education of our children, and in the performance of many other good works, which time will not permit us to specify in detail, but which abundantly prove that you have at all times and upon all occasions devoted your entire energies to the promotion of your people's spiritual and temporal welfare.

We were deeply affected at your late serious illness. We heartily rejoiced at your recovery, and returned to Almighty God our sincere thanks that you had been spared, as we then hoped, to remain with us for many years; but now that it is His holy will that we should again be parted, while we deeply regret the impending separation, we bow in humble submission to the divine decree, and yield our views to the mandates of superior wisdom.

Neither are we alone in our sentiments of sorrow at your departure, for during your residence amongst us you have greatly endeared yourself to those who differ from us only in their religious opinions, and their expressions of regret on this occasion are as sincere and spontaneous as our own.

We all trust that in your new abode you may find health and strength to continue your labors in the service of God, and we hope you may be spared to see the successful completion of all the good works you have promoted, and in which you have borne so great a part.

We cannot suffer you to depart without testifying to some small extent the love and esteem in which we hold you, and we therefore offer you this purse, in the hope that you will accept it from us as a slight evidence of these sentiments to which we have endeavored to give expression, and with which we assure you, reverend father, we one and all regard you.

THE REPLY.

Rev. Father Conway said in reply that he was certainly at a loss to find language to express his feelings on this occasion. He did not know in what form to speak. He felt the address exaggerated his good deeds and his good qualities. He had tried during his pastorate to carry out the wishes of the good and lamented Bishop Jamot, whose ashes lay beneath the church, and with the co-operation of the people in matters pertaining to their spiritual and pecuniary interests, he found that his burden was greatly lightened; and he knew he could look forward to a continuance of that co-operation. The address spoke of his zeal; all he could say was that he had tried to do all he could, and he never forgot the words which he heard uttered in the seminary in his early life, that a priest would have to stand at the judgment seat of God and account for every soul entrusted to his charge. In fulfilling his trust he felt he was but doing his duty. He said he would never forget the kindness that had been shown him by the people of Peterborough, particularly during his late illness. He felt that it was largely the prayers of the people of Peterborough, of the little children in the schools, which brought about his almost miraculous restoration to health. He knew that in this present instance in acting in obedience to the will of the Bishop he was acting in accordance with the will of God. He would go to his new parish with courage. He would ask the prayers of his people, and he would make a promise in return that as long as he lived he would never forget to pray for the good people of Peterborough.

Norwood.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

At a special meeting held in the Foresters Hall on Saturday evening, February 25th, 1888, an address and presentation was made to Bro. J. F. Perkins, Chief Ranger, on the eve of his departure to Amherst, Nova Scotia. The address was read by Bro. James Kerr, D.D.H.C.R. for the Midland district, as follows:—

ADDRESS,

To Bro. J. F. Perkins :—

We, the officers and members of Court Rob Roy, 114 C.O.F., cannot allow this opportunity to pass without expressing our regret at your departure from our midst. We shall greatly miss your genial smile and wise counsels at all our gatherings. Ever since you became a member of this Court you have occupied the office of Vice-Chief Ranger and lastly the office of Chief Ranger to the satisfaction of the entire membership. We have watched with pleasure your untiring efforts in spreading the principles of Forestry and doing all that lay in your power to advance the interests of our noble order. And, as a slight token of our appreciation of your labors, we present you with this silver water pitcher, and as you look upon it may it bring to your memory the happy hours that we have spent together as brethren. May the blessing of Almighty God rest upon you in your new field of labor upon which you are about to enter, and may prosperity and success attend you throughout the remainder of your earthly career, until the blessings of Forestry are no longer necessary, and we all meet in High Court above.

Signed on behalf of the Court,

Jas. Kerr,
Rec. Sec.

Bro. Perkins made a suitable reply, thanking the brethren for the handsome present that he had received from them and that it was a surprise that he did not expect.

Battalion Order.

Of Interest to Those Preparing for Office—To Corporals and Sergeants.

Following is a copy of a Battalion (57th) Order of March 1st, which will be of interest to members of the regiment :—

No. 1.—All acting non-commissioned officers or men desiring to qualify for such appointments will require to pass an examination before an examining Board appointed by the commanding officer on the following subjects, 75 per cent of correct answers being required to qualify for sergeant and 60 per cent for corporal :

DRILL.

1. Acting as drill instructors for squad or company either in close or extended movements.

2. Manual and firing exercise, piling arms, bayonet exercise and manual for sergeants.

3. A thorough knowledge of the names and uses of the different parts of a rifle and lock, also bayonet.

4.—Aiming and position drill.

5.—Guard, mounting, marching, reliefs, posting sentries and challenging, etc.

6.—Method of inspecting arms.

INTERIOR ECONOMY.

1.—The various non-commissioned officers of a regiment, their rank, precedence and duties.

2.—Duties of non-commissioned officers and men on guards, picquets, escorts and sentry, including honors and salutes.

3.—Duties of regimental orderly, sergeant and corporal.

4.—Duties of company orderly, sergeant and corporal.

5.—Mode of forming and dismissing parades.

6.—Dress and equipment of non-commissioned officers and men, and how worn.

As the examination will be partly written, all must be able to read and write, and be acquainted with at least the first four rules of arithmetic.

By order,
R. W. Bell,
Major and Acting-Adj't.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Council of the Arts and Agriculture Association are hopeful as to the ultimate action of the Local Government in reference to the $10,000 grant for this year's show. Mr. Charles Drury, M.P.P., has informed them that the grant will be forthcoming, and as his associates know that the East Simcoe representative is well up in the confidence of the Government, his statement is accepted without reservation.

The Bankers' Section of the Board of Trade held a lengthy and strictly private meeting yesterday afternoon. As far as can be gathered—March 4—the coming settling-up day engrossed considerable of their attention.

The offer of Mr. C. L. Van Wormer to his creditors of 25 cents on the $ has been definitely refused. The Central Bank liquidators will not hear of a settlement on this basis, and the estate will therefore have to go to the hammer.

Yesterday's blizzard played havoc with the trains on the Canadian Pacific Railway. The express due at 10 a.m. on the Toronto, Grey and Bruce division was not in at 11 o'clock last night, being stuck in a snow drift somewhere near Orangeville, and the express from Montreal was snow-bound. The Grand Trunk Railway was somewhat more fortunate, their trains averaging not more than an hour late.

The Central Prison convicts have just completed the work of repairing the fences and levelling off the soldiers' burying ground at the Old Fort.

John Gamble, the man sentenced to life-long imprisonment in Kingston for the murder of Lizzie Bray, starts for the Penitentiary this morning, in charge of Sheriff's Officer Jarvis and a county constable.

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

Toronto, March 2.—The Bank of England rate is 2½ per cent. to-day.

Federal Bank stock is offered at 60, but there are no bids.

The local provision market is very quiet and prices steady.

Money on call is quoted to-day at 6 per cent. on debentures and 6½ to 7 per cent. on stocks; and for discount the price is 7 to 8 per cent.

The blizzard of hail had a discouraging effect on St. Lawrence market this morning, both inside and out. Sellers were scarce and buyers were scarcer. Prices did not change.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET.

Liverpool—Spring wheat 6s 6d to 6s 8d, red winter 6s 7d to 6s 9d, No. 1 Cal. 6s 6d to 6s 7d, corn 4s 8d, peas 5s 4½d, pork 66s 9d, lard 39s 3d, bacon 38s 0d, cheese 59s.

The Oil Market.

In New York to-day the oil market was quiet and lower. Oil opened at 92½, and worked on a narrow range, touching 92¾ and closing at 89½.

At Oil City to-day the market was fairly active, though weaker, opening 92½, highest 92¾, lowest 92½, closing 89½ offered. Sales yesterday, 945,000; shipments, 71,165; runs, 70,363.

THE WEEK'S TRADE.

Actual Transactions Satisfactory—Prospects Uncertain—Causes of Business Timidity.

New York, March 2.—Dun, Wiman & Co.'s weekly return of trade says : Actual business is satisfactory for the season. Prospects are confused and uncertain, in some directions promising, but in other branches of large importance decidedly clouded. The passage by the House of the bill authorizing bond-purchases was designed to remove the monetary uncertainty, an influence which affects all trade and industry. Whether the Senate will pass the bill in its present form is not yet certain and Secretary Fairchild's report makes it questionable whether the measure, if passed, would prove an adequate reliance for the prevention of treasury absorption of money.

The western railroad wars and strikes continue to disturb business. Because of cuts by Canadian lines the eastern trunk roads announce a reduction of 10 per cent. on east and west bound rates March 5, and efforts to settle the western were defeated on Thursday by the St. Paul.

An important cause of uncertainty in many branches of trade is the movement to change the customs tariff. Whether the proposed changes are deemed desirable or not those who think them probable are for that reason moved to defer business operations. The bill published on Thursday would affect so many industries and branches of trade that individual opinions, favorable or unfavorable to it, must considerably influence transactions while it remains pending.

Business Disasters.

New York, March 2.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 203 and for Canada 42, or a total of 244 as compared with a total of 270 last week and 273 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 208 in the United States and in Canada 36, total of 239. The casualties reported in Canada are still unusually large in number.

GONE UP IN SMOKE.

Stables and a Bakeshop at Port Hope Burnt—Fire at Iona.

Port Hope, March 2.—About 4 o'clock this morning the Queen's Hotel stables, occupied by Warmington & Elliott as livery stables, were discovered to be on fire. The building, which was a wooden structure, was destroyed. The stable and a bakeshop, occupied by Murphy Bros., was also burnt. Their loss will amount to about $400, partly insured. The Queen's stables were owned by Mr. James Cochrane and were not insured. Warmington & Elliott's loss was $400, insurance $100. The bakeshop and stables occupied by Murphy Bros. are owned by Mr. Jo's Stevens and fully insured. The origin of the fire is unknown.

A Dwelling Consumed.

Iona, Ont., March 2.—The house with part of contents belonging to W. J. Philpott, half a mile north of here, was totally consumed by fire this morning. The cause was a defective pipe or chimney. Loss $1200, insurance, if any, not known.

A BATCH OF TRUE BILLS.

Among Them One Against Labor Commissioner Armstrong for Criminal Libel.

Montreal, March 2.—At the Court of Queen's Bench to-day true bills were found against Constable Plante and Detective Naegele for the theft of a diamond ring from Mr. Dufresne. Plante making default, a bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

True bills were also found against the six boy burglars who committed a series of robberies in this city and against Judge Armstrong, chairman of the Labor Commission, for criminal libel, for having made the statement at a sitting of the Labor Commission that the Hudon Cotton Company was a hotbed of immorality and debauchery.

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realize how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $5.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00—a good, serviceable Suit; while for $7.00, $8.00 or $12.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.
SOLICITORS—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten years five per cent. debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.00, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. The Dominion Bell ORGANS.

We wish to call your attention to the benefit derived from the

that has lately been added to the above Organs. This improvement has been a long felt necessity, the one which has never been successfully solved before by any Organ Companies until a patent was secured for the above Company directly from the Inventor.

The Dolcer Organ Companies advertise their Organs mouse and dust proof, because they employ the usual method of blocking around the pedals, as we have done heretofore, but it is unsatisfactory, and the only sure and perfect plan is that which we adopt, of covering the PEDALS and BOTTOM of our Organs. This attachment has iron throughout (with the exception of the Covers) having no cords, screws, or delicate mechanism to get out of order or repair, and works AUTOMATICALLY with the Full Board of the Organ. The one simple act of opening or closing the Organ, instantaneously operates the Pedal Covers.

This improvement has been placed on all the different styles of Organs, and the aim is now, as in the past, to produce an instrument that HAS NO EQUAL.

All information and inquiries cheerfully answered. Catalogues sent free upon application. Examine the Mouse and Dust Proof Organ before purchasing, and be satisfied that you have the best in the World.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

THE SITUATION STILL FRAUGHT WITH DANGER IN THE EAST.

Parnellite Dissensions—An American Warship at Gibraltar—The International Peace and Liberty League—An Appeal From the Sentence—Emmet's Birthday.

LONDON, March 3.—The Russian Ambassador to the Court of St. James, on hearing from the Marquis of Salisbury at the conference yesterday that England would oppose the forcible removal of Prince Ferdinand from the throne of Bulgaria, intimated to the British Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs that if Russia should find that her rights of suzerainty over Bulgaria were ignored by England and the other great powers the Czar would take the extreme step of renouncing the Treaty of Berlin, and that the Government at St. Petersburg would immediately adopt vigorous measures independently of the signatory powers.

Whether this is an empty threat and the Russian diplomatists are trying to play a bluff game in sheer desperation of getting the Russian claims acknowledged in any other way than by force of arms, or whether Russia has detected in the attitude of Germany and Austria a substantial backing for this threatening aspect, cannot be determined at this moment. At all events, it is firmly believed in the ministerial circle here that Prince Bismarck is inclined for the present, perhaps in consequence of the uncertainty of the immediate future of the internal policy and imperial influence of Germany, to avoid any sort of direct issue with the Czar and his advisers; and that the German Chancellor has brought, but vainly brought, strong pressure to bear on Lord Salisbury and Count Kalnoky to induce them to cast the weight of their voices in the scale in favor of concessions, at least temporary, to Russia.

The immediate purpose of the presence of Count Herbert Bismarck in England is to ascertain how far Bismarck may be able to rely upon the active military and moral assistance of the British Government in the event of the refusal of all concessions to Russia leading to war.

It is generally understood that war is bound to be the outcome of all this palaver, although Bismarck's efforts have probably succeeded in putting off the catastrophe to what has seemed from the start the latest possible date, namely, next May.

Russia's relations with the Allied Powers are developing as forecast in these despatches. The diplomatic proposals of Russia have resulted in nothing definite. What is definite, however, is the frantic eagerness of Russia to obtain a war loan and her ceaseless preparations for war. The financial crisis at St. Petersburg appears to be somewhat relieved. The price of roubles here yesterday was slightly easier at 165.

The Russian press attribute the crisis to an organised raid by Berlin operators. Bankers expect a further collapse of Russian securities, and are directing their attention towards the purchase of Italian securities, arguing that closer commercial relations between Italy and Germany will arise out of the political alliance between those countries, and that there will be a war of tariffs between France and Italy, because of failure of the negotiations for a commercial treaty.

Orders have been issued to expedite the collection of stores in Warsaw. Many officers on furlough have been recalled. The attitude of the Powers regarding Bulgaria irritates military and public circles in Russia.

The Dublin Express asserts that the foundations of the National League will be shaken by the internal dissensions existing in the ranks of the Parnellites. A number of leaguers, under pressure of American inspiration, join the Gaelic Association, which opposes Parnell's policy.

Mr. Gladstone, in returning thanks to two hundred and fifty clergymen of the Church of England for a memorial drawn up by them in favor of Home Rule, said it had moved it would have the effect of greatly widening the growing conviction that neither honor nor advantage can possibly be gained by a continued refusal to accede to the moderate and constitutionally expressed demands of the Irish people.

A United States warship is at Gibraltar. She will proceed to Tangier in order to support the demand of the American Consul at that place for a Moor imprisoned at Rabat, who is under American protection.

A petition is being circulated by the International Peace and Liberty League of Paris for a permanent arbitration treaty between France and the United States. The petition has received the signatures of 1600 persons, including 160 members of the Chamber of Deputies.

Mr. Wilson and Mr. Ribaudeau, sentenced to imprisonment for trafficking in decorations, have appealed from the decision of the Court.

An enthusiastic meeting was held in Dublin to-day in commemoration of the birth of Robert Emmet, the Irish patriot. Mr. Davitt presided and Mr. T. D. Sullivan made an address. In the course of his remarks Mr. Sullivan said he hoped that a statue of Emmet would be erected on the spot where he was executed. "Irishmen," he said, "were neither afraid nor ashamed to vindicate Emmet's action. Although they now adopted different means they were actuated by the same spirit that actuated Emmet."

Business on the London Stock Exchange during the past week has been inactive everything dropping. Foreign securities were heavily sold, especially Russians on German account. American railroads experienced a sharp fall. Sales were pressed by operators for a rise who were tired of waiting for an improvement in New York. Buying sometimes slightly checked the decline, but the responding decline in New York toward the close of the week added to the fall.

The steamer Wyoming, which arrived in Queenstown to-day, conveyed the body of Stephen J. Meany. The remains were subsequently taken to Ennis. The proceedings of the party accompanying the body were watched by detectives.

The members of the Roumanian Cabinet have tendered their resignation.

The Prince of Wales has received the nomination of Honorary Colonel of the 12th regiment from Emperor Francis Joseph.

THE LAKE CARRIERS.

Third Annual Meeting of the Association at the City of the Straits.

DETROIT, March 4.—The Lake Carriers' Association, which includes all the prominent representatives of the carrying trade on the lakes, held its third annual meeting in the city yesterday. S. D. Caldwell of Buffalo was re-elected president.

The secretary announced that a bill had been introduced in the Canadian Parliament by Mr. Kirkpatrick to abolish the discrimination against American wrecking vessels in the assisting of Canadian vessels in distress. A resolution by Capt. Henry was adopted, requesting the Secretary of State to open negotiations with the Canadian Government towards the abrogation of the law.

The question of closing the Chicago bridges in the daytime was referred to a committee.

It was agreed to leave the selection of the next place of meeting till the end of the year.

The Sugar King Down on Trusts.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—Claus Spreckles, the sugar king of the Pacific slope, arrived here with his son last evening. In an interview he said his plans had been definitely made as to the building of a refinery in the east. He had not decided the location. He said the capacity would not be under 4000 barrels per day, and might reach 8000 barrels. "So long as I can," said Mr. Spreckles, "I will never go into any 'trust.' I will erect either here, in New York or Baltimore, and I will carry it on with my own capital, and I defy any trust to break me up. I can sell sugar for whatever they can sell it."

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 3.—Money on call was quoted yesterday at 5½ per cent. on debentures and 6 to 6½ per cent. on stocks; and for discount the price is 6½ to 7½ per cent.

Compared with the past week's business St. Lawrence market was quite brisk this morning. Fresh eggs were offered freely and rapidly bought up at 20c to 22c per dozen. An improvement was noticeable in the way of roll butter, but prime rolls were scarce. Meats were as loose as they have been during the week, although the market is still overstocked. Small meats, such as lamb, mutton, etc., are a trifle firmer. The hay market was busy, some 40 loads being sold; there was no change in prices. On the grain market 1000 bushels of barley sold at 73c to 79½c, 200 bushels of wheat at, fall 51c to 52½c, spring 78c to 81c, goose 72½c. One load of oats sold at 38c per bushel.

The Oil Market.

The New York oil market to-day was strong but quiet. Oil opened at 92⅝, then declined to 92⅜, being the lowest price of the day, then advanced to 94¼, and finally closed at 93⅝.

In Oil City to-day oil opened weaker, but advanced during the day and was strong and active. Opening 92½, highest 94, lowest 92½c, closing 93¾ bid.

UNSER FRITZ CONDEMNED.

NO HOPE OF RECOVERY ENTERTAINED BY HIS PHYSICIANS.

Conflicting Reports From San Remo—Cancer Disclosed by Microscopical Examinations—Reports of Coolness Between the Crown Prince and the Emperor Rumored.

BERLIN, March 4.—The Imperial family has ceased to hope for the recovery of the Crown Prince. The first results of the microscopic examination by Prof. Waldmeyer as communicated to the Emperor are unfavorable, disclosing traces of cancer in the pus arising from necrosis of the cartilage of the larynx. The full official report of Prof. Waldmeyer will be delayed until Dr. Rocklinghausen makes an analysis. Dr. Ziemmesen will probably also be requested to examine the pus.

Apart from the results of the examination court despatches confirm the progress of symptoms tending toward a fatal issue. The occasional appearance of improvement is followed by a renewal of the gravest indications. Thus on Thursday the Crown Prince seemed stronger and in bright spirits, but during the following night there was an excess of diarrhœa with slight fever.

The newspaper reports from San Remo conflict. While The National Zeitung says the patient is sleeping well, that his spirits and appetite are better and that he holds himself erect, The Berlen Courier and Nord-Deutsche Zeitung on the same day reports that he had a bad night.

The presence of Prince William at the villa has cheered his mother and the Princess. Comments adverse to Prince William continue to be heard in Berlin society. Significance is attached to the fact that none of the family met him at San Remo station. When he arrived from Genoa in company with Prince Henry, his brother, and Prof. Bergmann, he was received by the Prefect, the Mayor and the German Consul. This arrangement was due to the Crown Prince who sent instructions to Prince William at Carlsruhe that Prince Henry with Dr. Bergmann would meet him, the obvious object being to enable him to gain full knowledge of the condition of his father before seeing his mother and sisters. The Crown Princess with the Princesses awaited him within the villa. It is understood that he received the warmest welcome and that many tears were shed during the interview. Twenty minutes after his arrival the Crown Princess alone accompanied him to meet his father.

During Friday and Saturday Prince William was with the Crown Prince on the balcony, and there was every appearance of cordiality between father and son. The reports of a coolness in their relations are chiefly traceable to French sources.

During the week Prince Bismarck had a long conference with Emperor William, it is supposed with reference to the proposal to grant Prince William power to sign in the event of the temporary incapacity of the Emperor concurrent with the prostration of the Crown Prince. The Crown Prince differs from Prince Bismarck on the question of a regency of this character. It is reported that the Emperor accedes to the proposal, admitting the force of Prince Bismarck's plea that the simultaneous illness of himself and the Crown Prince might create confusion in the management of public affairs.

Sunday Night's Bulletin.

SAN REMO, March 4.—At 10 o'clock to-night the general condition of the German Crown Prince was unchanged. The patient passed a good night and good day. He expectorated much less frequently and the throat felt more comfortable. A cold wind was blowing to-day, but the patient passed a short time on the balcony protected by screens.

Prince William has postponed his departure. He spends much of his time with his father.

Prof. Waldemyer has not visited the Crown Prince. He is busy making a microscopic examination of the matter discharged from the Prince's throat. It is noticed that the doctors are now attending to the patient more closely than ever. Dr. Bergmann signed the Sunday morning bulletins.

SHOAL LAKE NOMINATIONS.

Mr. Jones (Lib.) and Mr. Dismuir (Con.) Will Contest the Constituency.

WINNIPEG, March 4.—Mr. Jones (Lib.) and Mr. Dismuir (Con.) were nominated at Shoal Lake yesterday.

Mr. Jones promised that all the measures in Greenway's platform would be carried this session except the Municipal Bill, and that a general election would take place next summer. If not, he would resign. The French constituencies would be wiped out and a larger representation given the western part of the province.

Mr. Dismuir claimed the election on local grounds.

Surrogate Court Clerk Marston and Chief of Provincial Police Tupper have been notified that their services will be dispensed with after May 1. Other officials are also likely to be beheaded.

PROGRESS OF THE STRIKE.

NO DELAY CAUSED IN THE TRAIN SERVICE.

The Places of the Strikers Rapidly Filled by Recruits—The Situation in St. Louis—A Striking Engineer Shot by a Fireman.

CHICAGO, March 3.—There was no change to-day in the passenger service of the Burlington. About the Union Depot there were no signs of the strikers. The suburban trains were arriving and leaving on time. The through trains which came in were the ones that have been running for several days. A number of switch engines were at work in the Western-avenue yards, but no freight trains were sent out.

"We ran a larger number of passenger trains yesterday than we did on the same day two years ago, and we thought we were doing a big business then," said Solicitor Goddard. "Here, this is only the fifth day of the strike and we are doing very well. We have sent out almost 400 engineers in two days and an equal number of firemen, and we have more coming. About sixty came in last night, and we have men recruiting for us in the east all the time. We should have our passenger service entirely complete only for the physical impossibility of taking the new men over the road. The fact is we are getting men faster than we can put them on.

"The Brotherhood may call out their men on the other roads if they choose; that won't hurt us. We will go right on and fill up our ranks and do business. We have 6000 miles of road of our own, and that's a little world in itself. We can bring in grain and fill up our elevators and haul goods out to our local points. The situation will be this: If the men on the other roads are called out they will shut down completely and every man and boy in their employ will be discharged. This will mean 10,000 men thrown out of work without pay, incalculable damage and inconvenience to the public and the roads. We will be better off than any of them for we will have plenty of men and can continue business. Such a move would be the most demoralizing to their own forces that the Brotherhood could take.

"None of the Burlington employes have been discharged. A few men who worked by the day have been laid off, but none of the regular employes of the road are losing their places or wages by this strike excepting engineers and firemen."

A Striking Engineer Shot.

BROOMFIELD, Mo., March 3.—George H. Bostwick, the Burlington bridge foreman, fatally shot John Roxy, a Brotherhood striking engineer, this morning. To avoid lynching Bostwick walked to Linneo, where he is under arrest. He states that he was a sworn deputy sheriff and in charge of an engine just arrived from the east at Brookfield, that Roxy and others approached the engine and endeavored to take charge of it. An altercation ensued and Roxy drew a pistol, and when refusing to put it up he (Bostwick) shot him. There is intense excitement in Brookfield.

A FRESH COMPLICATION.

Chicago, Burlington and Northern Men to be Called Out To-day.

CHICAGO, March 4.—A report gained currency late to-night that the engineers and firemen on the Chicago, Burlington and Northern would be called out to-morrow. The Burlington and Northern is a new line to St. Paul, and has been generally regarded as an offshoot or ally of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. The report was finally ascertained to be true, and at midnight Vice-President E. B. Harris of the Burlington and Northern was closeted with President Perkins of the Burlington and Quincy. Mr. Harris had been served with the notice to-night. It was the result of a meeting of the engineers and firemen held this afternoon at Lacrosse. The notice was substantially that if the Burlington and Northern did not cease interchanging traffic with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy before 7 p.m. Monday the engineemen would strike in a body.

Vice-President Harris refused to be interviewed regarding the situation, but sent out word to an Associated Press reporter that the interchange of traffic could not cease. "The company," the message from Mr. Harris added, "proposes to run the Burlington and Northern Road themselves."

Suicide or Murder.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—Yesterday afternoon the dead body of Thomas Williamson, member of the Society of Friends, and one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Delaware County, was found lying in McCullough's woods, about a quarter of a mile from his home. Three bullet holes were found in his temple, and notwithstanding that he held a new revolver of cheap pattern clenched in his right hand, the general idea is that he was murdered.

THE United States reduction of tariff amounts to a reduction of taxation of fifty-five million dollars. There is to be no change in the Canadian burden of tariff taxation.

THE annual report of the Indian Department states that there are now 122,000 Indians in the Dominion, under the charge of the Government, occupying, 1,147 reserves.

MR. FREEMAN, North Norfolk, has introduced into the Ontario Legislature a bill, the object of which is to punish the parties who perpetrate the seed grain frauds that have attracted so much attention lately. It does not interfere with legitimate seed grain sales, but prohibits, as far as possible, sales by agents who do not represent reliable houses, but who sell worthless grain at speculative prices, take the farmers' note, sell them to a broker and then leave the country.

THE Dominion Railway Commission proposes to abolish free passes on railways, except to federal and local cabinets. There is no reason in making these exceptions. If the laborer or mechanic who receives $1.50 or $1.00 per day travels by rail, he has to pay his fare like a man, while the Federal or Provincial Minister with his $7,000 or $4,000 a year, when he travels, gets his railway pass, like a pauper shipped from one town to another. That, however, is the way of the world: the more one has the more one wants, and as a rule one gets what he wants.

Literary Notes.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE—for March is as good as gold, full of sterling reading matter, magnificently illustrated. The following copy of the intellectual bill of fare, will give some faint idea of the merits of the number:—

"Blucher Unhorsed at Ligny"—Frontispiece. Drawn by R. F. Zogbaum. Engraved by Peckwell.

"The Campaign of Waterloo"—I. By John C. Ropes. With illustrations by R. F. Zogbaum and others, and from drawings made on the field by W. T. Smedley. Also with reproductions of old prints and a map furnished by the author.

"The Yellow Kims"—By Bessie Chandler.

"The Nixie"—By Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson.

"A Shelf of Old Books"—Leigh Hunt. By Mrs. James T. Fields. Illustrated with drawings, portraits and fac-similes.

"The Electric Motor and its Applications"—By Franklin Leonard Pope. With illustrations.

"Natural Selection"—A Romance of Chelsea Village and East Hampton Town. In three parts. Part III. (Conclusion.) By H. C. Bunner. With illustrations.

"Storm and Calm"—By C.P. Cranch.

"Mendelssohn's Letters to Moscheles"—From the Manuscripts in the Possession of Felix Moscheles—II. (Conclusion.) By William F. Apthorp. With portraits, reproductions of drawings, musical scores, etc.

"The Day of the Cyclone"—By Octave Thanet.

"First Harvests"—Chapters VII.-X. (To be continued.) By F. J. Stimson.

"The Tragedy"—Song. By Charles Edwin Markham.

"Beggars"—By Robert Louis Stevenson.

The special articles are of unusual merit—"The Campaign of Waterloo," "The Electric Motor and its Applications," being worthy of particularly careful, as they will prove to be of, profitable perusal, particularly the latter. This number also contains the conclusion of the interesting series of articles entitled "Mendelssohn's Letters to Moscheles."

THE PANSY.—The Pansy for March has come. For once let us tell what is in it. Pansy's story on the Golden Texts for the month. Pansy's other story, Up Garret. Margaret Sidney's story The Old Brimmer Place. Mrs. Archibald's story of a disagreeable girl. A cat story. Mrs. Livingston's Pansy Society story. A sea story. Several missionary sketches. The Indian School at Carlisle. Baby's Corner. Pictures, a dozen or two. A lot of letters to Pansy from boys and girls. And a Queer story. $1 a year, 10 cents a number. D. Lothrop Company, Boston, will send you a sample copy of the Pansy (back number) if you send five cents and ask for it.

THE USUAL TREATMENT of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says:—Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure cannot be expected from powders, snuffs, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient. 2w10

SATURDAY BLAZES.

A Carriage Shop and Provision Store Burnt at Hammerville.

BEARDVILLE, March 4.—On Saturday night about 11 o'clock a fire was discovered in the basement story of Isaac Normand's carriage shop. The building was speedily a furnace of flames. All the large stock of carriages and material was destroyed with the building. A three-story brick building adjoining on the west, owned by Wm. Kew, and occupied by Wm. Walker as a meat and provision store, was also burned. The contents, except a large refrigerator, were removed. Normand's loss is probably $2000; insured for $2000; Kew's on building $1500, no insurance; Walker's $300, no insurance.

Fire at Erie, Ont.

ERIE, Ont., March 3.—The Advocate printing office, plant, type, stock, and the whole of the contents, were burned between 11 and 12 o'clock last night; also stables and contents—except the horses and cattle, which were got out—of John Carsocks, adjoining the printing office. Both are partially covered by insurance in the Wellington Mutual.

Montreal's Modest Contribution.

MONTREAL, March 4.—Last evening at 7 o'clock fire occurred in H. Goodrich's last factory, Fortification-lane. The fire was discovered in the bottom flat and spread rapidly to the one above. The stock was nearly ruined. The damage will amount to over $3000; not insured.

Incendiarism at Millbrook.

BELLEVILLE, March 4.—An incendiary fire occurred at Milltown at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, destroying two drive houses and a barn. The fire started in Thomas Appleby's drive house and spread to Wesley Reed's barn and drive house, consuming the three buildings with their contents. Mr. Appleby did not lose anything on the contents, but, besides the buildings, a horse and cutter of Mr. Reid's was burned. Mr. Reid had an insurance of $300 on his buildings, but nothing on the contents. It is not known whether Mr. Appleby was insured or not. These buildings have been set on fire four times within a few months.

A REMARKABLE ESCAPE.

Desperate Attempt to Commit Suicide—A Woman's Leap and Luck.

ST. CATHARINES, March 4.—On Friday Mr. Robertson, who resides near Decew Falls, on coming home found his wife absent, and on the table discovered a note addressed to himself and in his wife's handwriting, in which it was stated that she was tired of life and intended to destroy herself. The letter further stated that her body would be found below the Falls. On search being instituted the woman was discovered by Mr. Morningstar, owner of the mill at the brink of the Falls. It was thought the woman was dead, as she had thrown herself from the look-out place at the mill over the precipice of the Falls, fifty feet below. The concussion of her fall made a dent in the ice of over four inches where she fell, the ice being somewhat soft from the thaw. After falling on the ice she rolled over to the brink of a deep hole, where the water is about twenty feet deep, and forms a sort of maelstrom from the fall of the large body of water from above. She escaped with a few serious bruises and perhaps a broken rib or two, but beyond this she does not seem to have suffered any serious injury. She was got up with a great deal of difficulty, for the place is almost inaccessible in fine weather, and is rendered much more so now on account of the ice formation. It is supposed the unfortunate woman was laboring under a temporary dementia at the time of committing the act.

SNELL'S MURDERER.

It is Said that Young Tascott Was in Winnipeg Last Week.

CHICAGO, March 3.—When the police officers learned, a few days ago, that William B. Tascott, the murderer, had been seen in St. Paul, Detective Sergeant Aldrich and two other officers were sent up there to investigate the matter. A careful search by the St. Paul police resulted in the finding of Tascott's satchel and finger rings in a pawn shop, where they had been pawned a week before by a young man answering to the description of Tascott. A thorough search was made for the fugitive, and a club was obtained from a barber who had shaved off his mustache and clipped his hair a short time after he had been seen in the pawn shop. Next it was learned that a young man answering his description, but with altogether different clothes, had taken a train for the Northwest. Sergeant Aldrich followed this clue to Winnipeg, and last night telegraphed the Chief of Police that Tascott was in Winnipeg a week ago Thursday, and that he is sure of being on the right trail. Important developments are expected to-day or to-morrow. The police sent a circular to all points in the Northwest several days ago giving a careful description of Tascott's new clothing and all other points obtainable.

Attempted Escape of a Prisoner.

MONTREAL, March 4.—In the Court of Queen's Bench yesterday during the trial of James Thompson for robbery from the warehouse of the Canada Industrial Company, the defendant asked that his partner in crime, James McCormick, who had previously pleaded guilty, be called as a witness. The request was granted. As McCormick left the witness box he kicked Constable Lemieux, who was escorting him, severely on the legs and felled him. McCormick then made a desperate attempt to escape but was caught at the door. The united efforts of seven constables were required to overpower him.

HAMILTON BUILDERS.

Demands of the Carpenters and Bricklayers —A Widow's Unhappy Experience.

HAMILTON, March 4.—There is considerable uneasiness and anticipation of trouble among the builders and members of the building trades in this city. Relying on the prospects of a prosperous season the workmen are moving for increases in wages and also for the securing of certain rights which they think is is now a favorable time to agitate for. The carpenters do not ask an advance of wages, but they want to have none but union men employed, and they also ask that the foremen or bosses be union men. The bricklayers ask for an increase from 32 to 33½ cents per hour. Amicable negotiations are in progress for a settlement of the difficulties.

The female teachers in the Public Schools of the city will petition the Board of Education at its next meeting for a change in the system of grading salaries. The petition will be signed by all the teachers except those in the highest grades—about 120 in all. What the teachers want is the system in practice in Toronto—the grading of salaries according to length of service. They claim that Hamilton teachers are underpaid—that the average salary of a female teacher throughout cities in the province is $461, while in Hamilton it is only $330.

About a week ago a respectable Toronto widow with a child of 4 years advertised in a Toronto paper for a situation as a housekeeper. The advertisement was answered, ostensibly from Kincardine, by a man about 37 years of age, who said that if she suited she would have a good home with him, and also requesting her to come on to Hamilton, where he would meet her and take her to his home. The poor woman did as directed, coming to Hamilton, where she was met by the pretended Kincardine farmer, who used a good deal of suavity to lead her to believe that she was just the person needed, and holding out matrimonial inducements to the widow. He then took her to Allison's Hotel, and registered as man and wife. Next morning the amateur agriculturist disappeared, and the poor woman, without means, did not know what to do. She is still at the hotel, and Mr. Smith, the immigrant agent, is expecting to secure a situation for her with a respectable farmer.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A boy named Mitchell was arrested on Saturday night for trying to pass a forged check for $42 on the northwestern branch of the Bank of Commerce. The check bore the name of George Barton, and is supposed to have been made by a young man who got a check book from the cashier late in the evening. The boy is in the St. Andrew's station, and the police are looking for the young man.

To Cashier McHarrie is due the credit for capturing the boy. He questioned him closely, and finally cornered him and sent for the police. The forgery was an exceedingly clever one.

The Catholics of the city are looking forward with considerable interest to the result of the meeting of the Separate School Board to-morrow night. The question of the ballot as against open voting will be put in the form of a motion for the members to declare yes or nay. It is claimed that sixteen trustees have pledged themselves to support the views of Archbishop Lynch and vote against Mr. Cahill's motion.

The Central Bank liquidators regret that many claimants have omitted to state their postoffice address, which is necessary for the purpose of forwarding dividend notices, etc. Therefore it is hoped they will by post-card or otherwise supply the necessary information.

John Williams, a young man boarding at No. 264 Pape-avenue, became suddenly insane on Saturday and had to be taken in charge by the police.

The quarterly meeting of the Commercial Travelers' Association was held in the association's rooms, Public Library building, on Saturday evening. Secretary Sargent presented his report and the financial statement. Both were found satisfactory. The auditor's report was also presented and approved of.

Killed Herself With Paris Green.

MONTREAL, March 3.—Yesterday morning Antoinette Lamontagne, a girl of 16 years, who had suffered from a religious mania for a few months back, feeling ill took a quantity of paris green which one of the boarders of the house had placed on a shelf in the bath-room. When she came back to the sitting-room her mother saw some of the powder on the girl's dress and asked her about it, but could elicit no satisfactory answer. A physician was called in and used emetics and finally the stomach pump; but as the poison had been taken on an empty stomach a great quantity was already absorbed. The unfortunate girl lingered in agony until this morning.

Proposed U.S. Internal Tax Reduction.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—It is understood that the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee have virtually agreed on a bill affecting internal taxation. It is said that the bill will abolish all taxes on tobacco except cigars, cigarettes and snuff, together with the special taxes on retail dealers in tobacco and the special taxes now paid by retail dealers in whisky. The repeal of the taxes mentioned would reduce the annual revenue about $22,000,000.

To Cure a Corn.

There is no lack of so called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's" and no other. 6dw10

Beckwith Hanged.

HUNTSVILLE, N.Y., March 1.—Oscar F. Beckwith was hanged at the Court House in this city at 10.00 this morning.

The crime for which Beckwith was executed was the murder of Simon Vanderveer at Amsterlitz, Jan. 10, 1888. After killing his victim with an axe he cut up the body and burned it in the stove. The detectives, after a chase of nearly two years, ran the murderer to earth in the wilds of Muskoka, whence he was brought to Toronto and remained in jail for a number of weeks awaiting extradition proceedings. The sentence under which the execution took place was the sixth sentence of death pronounced upon him.

Col. Amyot's Unsuccessful Libel Suit.

QUEBEC, March 1.—The case of Amyot v. Tarte and Demers, arising out of Le Canadien's criticism of the 9th Battalion in the Northwest, was brought to a close in the Court of Review yesterday. Col. Amyot sued for $25,000, and the jury in the case dismissed the claim. On a cross appeal the Court of Review yesterday maintained the dismissal of the action, but ordered each party to pay its own costs.

Suicide Near Mapleton.

ST. THOMAS, March 1.—Wilmot Pickell, 20 years old, married, committed suicide yesterday at the residence of his brother-in-law, W. H. Brown, living on Lot 21, 11th concession of South Dorchester, near Mapleton. The cause of the act is said to be that his wife had opened a letter addressed to him which disclosed marital infidelity on his part.

To Support the Consul's Demands.

GIBRALTAR, March 4.—The United States warship Enterprise is at this port. She will proceed to Tangier to support the demand of the American consul at that place for the release of a Moor who is under American protection and who is imprisoned at Rabat.

A Blizzard in York State.

CANANDAIGUA, March 4.—A blizzard struck the Mohawk Valley to-day. The thermometer has been near zero all day and is 6 below to-night.

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last.
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. LOCAL NEWS.

The Weather.

Increasing northeast and east winds; partly cloudy to cloudy weather, followed by snow; rising temperatures.

Interesting to the Ladies.

The ladies of Peterborough and vicinity will be interested in noting that the Golden Lion has, amongst all its other magnificent array of goods, a specially fine stock of embroideries, Hamburg edgings and muslins. These goods are the cream of the market and are direct importations, and therefore the prices will be found most reasonable—in fact exceeding low for the superior quality of the goods. No time should be lost in giving these goods an inspection.

Smart's Organs and Sewing Machines.

Mr. D. Smart has disposed of his small goods (sheet music, violin music books, etc.) department which, will hereafter be in charge of Prof. Doucet. Mr. Smart, however, will continue to occupy the same stand and deal in pianos, organs and sewing machines, to which he will devote his whole attention. The public are particularly invited to call and inspect the mouse-proof and dust-proof organs at D. Smart's. See advertisement elsewhere.

Plan of the Opera House for Harmony Male Quartette and Miss Annie Rowden's Concert has been changed from Hartley's Music Store to Mr. McClelland's Jewelry Store.

A Sterling Actor.

Thos. W. Keene is one among the few American actors who have acquired by honest endeavor and sterling merit a firm and lasting foothold in the esteem of the public. His portrayal of the wily cardinal in "Richelieu" has a perennial charm about it that lends a rose tint to the production, and reminds one forcibly of the delight enjoyed by those who attended the last carnivals under Canton auspices, and of the pleasant anticipations of those who propose attending the third and last one on Friday afternoon and evening next. Look out for the prize list to-morrow.

Eli's Method.

Eli Sagar, the prince of patent medicine and corn cure vendors, was on the market this morning. He is "a queer 'un" indeed, and has a decidedly original method of crying his wares. After performing a sleight-of-hand trick with a piece of silver, he accounted for his exploit by opening up his vest, displaying an expansive shirt front, and, after giving himself a sounding whack, remarking:—"It's because I'm sound. There's nothing the matter with me. It's my great nerve power. Why, I've got nerve enough to stop a railway train." Then he proceeded something as follows, interlarding an occasional shout to enliven the proceedings:—"Now then, gentlemen, here's my great blood purifier—why, there's Bill W—— from down my neighborhood. How are you, and how's all your folks? Say, your brother Dick's married, ain't he, and livin' down by the old home? Why, certainly; and you just go to him and he'll tell you how good this blood purifier is. I sold him half a dozen bottles. You sirree, gentlemen, and don't you forget that what Eli Sagar says no flies light on. Now then, here's my tragical, magical, magical soap, for removing pitch, tar, paint, grease or anything else (even to an Irish landlord), from silks, satins, cloth or the side of a building. Why, it's simply invaluable—say, here's a couple of men right here that'll prove all I say, won't you? Certainly, they've used it and know. Now then, see here, I don't wrap a dollar bill around it like some fakirs do—I've got more use for my money and besides I'm honest, you see, honest as the day's long. Now, who'll give me half a dollar for this bottle of blood purifier and this cake of soap? Anybody? You won't, eh? Well I'll just see about that. I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll throw in a box of my celebrated razor paste, that will make your razor so sharp it'll cut all your hardwood for a season and split a hair up the middle afterwards. There's Jim W——, he knows all about it. Don't you Jim? Why yes, I've known Jim since he was about so year old, and he knows what's what. Now then, who'll give me a half a dollar for the lot? You? You? Here you are, sold for a half dollar, and if aint good as I say bring it back and I'll refund your money. Now then, who's next."—and so it goes. Eli is a sort of regular institution in Peterborough, and if all the inhabitants of Harwood are "hustlers" like him it must be a lively place. Eli knows everybody and everybody seems to know him. Eli "gets there" every time.

Dr. Barnardo's North West Farm.

The readers of the EXAMINER will doubtless recollect that during Dr. Barnardo's visit last season he visited his Industrial Farm in the North West. The public will be interested in the success of this enterprise and will read with attention the following description of the farm furnished of a Northwest correspondent of the Globe:—

"After examining a good deal of the Provinces his agent pitched upon this spot, and so far as my own information goes it would have been difficult for him to make a better choice. The philanthropic doctor is a long-headed man of business; at any rate he has managed to get what looks like the large end of the bargain as regards his lands. He has secured altogether 7,520 acres, which is made up as follows:—A bonus from the Manitoba & Northwest railway, 2,400 acres; a bonus from the Manitoba Government, 960 acres; purchase from the M. & N. W., 960 acres; school lands purchased, 640 acres; and acquired from other parties, 2,560 acres. The large house he is erecting is to be completed by the end of March at a cost of £300. It is strongly and warmly built of wood, and when finished will be thoroughly comfortable and even an imposing structure. On the ground floor is a large dining hall, while dormitories occupy the same space above. There is a large entrance hall, and from the windows of the hospital rooms on the ground floor is a view as charming as any I have seen in the Northwest. If any of his boys are ill they will be able to lie in bed and look for miles and miles over prairie and bluff, wooded valley and hay lands, and all on a scale which we can never have even dreamed of at home. The wheat fields will lie in front of the house; to the left there is a pleasant little copse and on the right there is a large tract of hay land, where any amount of hay can be had at all times for the cutting. Dr. Barnardo has undertaken to bring out 50 boys, whose coming is anticipated eagerly by the farmers of the district; and it was pleasant to stand at the upper windows of the house and try to imagine what the view would be, when, instead of being black and leafless, the trees and all the valley should be green with the spring; when, instead of unbroken snow, the eye could range over miles of golden wheat, and turn for rest from this splendour to the natural prairie carpeted with its multitude of wild flowers, and wonder what these boys from black courts and squalid alleys and perhaps even prison yards, would think of their new home in the New World."

This evening rinks skipped by Messrs. Bradburn and Rutherford will settle the question of superiority and who shall pay for the oysters.

A rink composed of juniors visited Keene on Saturday to try conclusions with the seniors there. In the morning they were beaten by six shots, but in the afternoon they more than retrieved their lost laurels by defeating a strong rink, which included three of the Keene skips, by five shots. The boys are to be congratulated on their success. Below are the scores:—

Peterborough.	Keene.
G. Edmison (lr.)	J. McLaughlin
B. Boucher	T. Campbell
G. Boucher	Dr. Shaw
W. F. Hamilton, skip. 7	M. Kennealy, skip ... 13

SECOND MATCH.

G. Edmison	D. Lommis
B. Boucher	M. Kennealy
G. Boucher	R. McIntyre
W. F. Hamilton, skip. 16	J. Dickson, skip ... 11

The boys speak in the highest terms of the kindness accorded to them.

At a meeting of the directors of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute held Saturday afternoon, it was decided to hold a meeting at Lakefield on March 15th and one at Bailliboro on the 29th instant.

His Arm Squeezed.

This forenoon Mr. George Benton, carter, had his arm badly jammed between a telegraph pole and a large safe that was being shifted from his sleigh into Mr. E. E. Henderson's office. He will be laid up for a few days.

The Flight of a Pidgeon.

During the silent watches of the night on Saturday constable R. Pidgeon winged his flight from town, taking with him besides his family and household effects the anathemas of numerous creditors who mourn the loss of many shekels in consequence of his hasty departure. Here is a splendid opportunity for the brilliant reporter to work in the old chestnut about 'folding his tent in the night like an Arab and silently stealing away" but the thought is repressed on the instant; suffice it to say he is gone, presumably where the woodbine twineth, and where there are no impertunate creditors to be bamboozled with glittering promises that never can be fulfilled. In the meantime Mayor Stevenson has supplied his place with Mr. J. Stewart, an appliant for the position.

Attaining Perfect Health.

Obedience to the Commands of God Will Bring Perfect Health of Mind and Body—Religious Misconceptions.

Rev. D. F. Cox, of Millbrook, preached in the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, Sunday morning and evening the annual missionary sermons. His evening discourse was an exceptionally interesting and practical effort, appealing, as it did, to the instinct of self-preservation inherent in man. The reverend gentleman showed conclusively that by obeying the behests of the Lord the acme of physical as well as moral and spiritual life, was to be obtained. His sermon was largely interpolated with apt comparisons that never failed to impress the point he made. His text was from the first epistle of John, v., part of the 3rd verse:—

"And his commandments are not grievous."

Men generally, said the reverend speaker, looked upon a christian life as a solemn, gloomy life, and they seemed to have the wish to put it off as long as possible. There must be

SOMETHING WRONG,

and he attributed it to a misconception of the christian life; for as the text put it, "His commandments are not grievous."

The preacher then went on to point out the conflicting ideas of religion and christianity entertained by some people. There were the people who went to church and assisted in the ceremonies, and imagined that by so doing they were living christian lives. They were, he said, like a man who wanted to cross Little Lake, but who instead of jumping into the boat and rowing himself over, stood in it while resting on the shore and expected it to take him across without any effort on his part. They knew the boat of christianity was waiting for them but they did not realize that it was a means to gain a heavenly glory. The whole Christian life, he said, was a life of love—love to God and love to humanity. In support of the proposition of the apostle that "the commandments of the Lord were not grievous" (and some people, he said, hold the belief that God's requirements of man were too hard to meet), the reverend gentleman said that in the first place the apostle's statement was true because the commandments of the Lord were only natural—fully in accord with the laws of nature. Society makes unreasonable demands, he said, that hastened to comply with, but God's demands were not unreasonable. They were calculated to give us strength, physical and mental, and full development of our moral and spiritual natures—calculated to build up a grand Christian manhood. It might be asked if there was not an indisposition in man to keeping the commandments of God. No; the indisposition was the result of a perverted nature, not of natural manhood. Sin was not natural to man, as proved by watching the effects of keeping natural and unnatural laws. There is no injury in keeping natural laws, and in keeping the law of God there was all harmony and peace. And in breaking God's law was it not found that the law of nature was also being violated. The reverend gentleman instanced the effects of tobacco and alcohol on the human system, against which man's whole nature rebelled, causing him sickness and agony until his nature was so perverted that it was forced to submit. So it was with sin. The spirit of the Lord and the spirit of alcohol, he said, would no more mix than oil and water. One must have away over the man. So by disobeying God's laws man was destroyed physically, mentally and morally. Now the question naturally arose, if this exposition of the religion of the Lord was a correct one, how did so many ungodly people have the idea that Christian life was gloomy and melancholy. One answer was, because of misrepresentation by people in the church, so-called Christians, whose experience is and temptations, and sorrows. That was not true religion. If Christians would only shout abroad the joys and pleasantness of religion, the people could not be kept out of the church. Another evil was the experiences of men who had "tried" a religious life for a while, just like a suit of clothes, to see how it would fit. This class of men he likened to basswood furniture, veneered with walnut or mahogany. In being roughly handled, in coming in contact with the world, the corners were knocked off the veneered Christians and their true inward quality shown up. They tried Christianity as a matter of business policy, and they failed miserably to attain to its joys. This was a negative Christianity, with no peace or joy to it. There was no change of heart, and they could not realize that His were ways of pleasantness and paths of peace.

Still Further Honored.

Rev. P. Conway Presented with a Token by the Choir of St Peter's.

Last Friday evening after the regular services in St. Peter's Cathedral the members of the choir met in the vestry and presented Rev. P. Conway, their late pastor, with an address and handsome writing desk and chair. Mr. J. Coughlin read the following address, to which Rev. Father Conway replied feelingly:—

To Rev. P. Conway:

REVEREND AND DEAR SIR,—We assure you the present occasion is one of sadness to the members of the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral. The sorrow is caused by our reason for calling on you for such a purpose as we now have. It is a source of instruction also in showing us the inscrutable ways of our divine Master in His disposition of all things, and to give us an idea that everything earthly is only momentary.

We had fondly hoped that your presence amongst us would continue until our heavenly Father called you to Himself at the finish of your labors on earth, to a brighter sphere above, where we all hope to meet you and unite our voices in chanting His praises forever.

We experience unbounded joy at your recovery from the last dangerous illness that prostrated you, and our anxiety and solicitude was deep, and sincere for your ultimate and complete restoration to health, and we thank Almighty God for granting the prayers that were offered to Him in your behalf.

On the eve of your departure from Peterborough we ask your acceptance of this writing desk and chair as a memento of the kindly feeling amongst us, and hope that you may be spared for many years to enjoy their use.

Rev. Father Conway left Saturday morning for his new parish in Norwood, followed by the best wishes of all his people for many years of usefulness and happiness.

[NOTE.—It was omitted to mention in Saturday's issue that the congregational address to Rev. Father Conway was beautifully engrossed by Mr. Harry Grandy. The work was the best ever performed by Mr. Grandy, which is saying volumes for its excellence.]

Sadly Sudden Death.

In the Midst of Life, Death Seizes Mr. J. A. Hartley.

This morning the public were shocked to learn that Mr. J. A. Hartley, one of the best known residents of the town, had passed suddenly away. On Sunday Mr. Hartley was in his usual health and spirits. He took his meals with his customary good appetite, and performed his regular duties with his wonted vigor. It has been his custom to read his Bible late in the evenings, sometimes till after twelve o'clock, and Sunday evening he was similarly engaged. He wished to go to church, and requested Mrs. Hartley to remove a bandage and poultice from his hand, one of the fingers of which had been injured by accident. She persuaded him that he had better not go out that night, and he yielded and lay down on the sofa in the sitting room, declining to go to bed, as he intended to go away from home on business very early in the morning. Here Mrs. Hartley left him lying after having thrown a blanket over him. About three o'clock in the morning she went down stairs to see if he was all right. She wakened him and he rose and hastened up stairs with the blanket still over his shoulders. He sat down on the bed and complained of a severe pain over the region of the heart, saying that it was the severest he had felt for a long time. Mrs. Hartley went down stairs to prepare a mustard poultice to be applied to the affected part. She used as much expedition as possible, but, to her inexpressible horror, when she returned upstairs she found Mr. Hartley covered up in bed, quite dead.

Mr. Hartley was a native of County Cavan, Ireland, where he was born in 1826. At the age of seventeen he left that county and came to New York. After a short time he went to Cincinnati, remaining a couple of years. He then came to Port Hope, and, after a short stay, to Peterborough, where he has since remained. He spent some time in the store of Mr. Wm. Clexton, and with Messrs. Nicholls & Hall. Subsequently he was for five years manager of the grocery and liquor business of the late A. Morrow, and for five years conducted a dry goods and grocery business on his own account. He then entered into the insurance business, which he followed for about twenty years and up to the time of his death. About 35 years ago he married Miss Rebecca Henthorne, now the only living daughter of the late Mr. J. T. Henthorne, J.P. Mr. Hartley leaves behind him a widow and four children, E. J. Hartley, music dealer; Minnie, who married Mr. W. F. Russell, C.E., Quebec; Roland T., ("Rollie"), and Edith ("Tottie"). From the nature of his business relations he had a wide acquaintanceship, and he was known by all to be a public-spirited citizen of honorable principles and integrity of character. In politics he was a staunch and active Liberal, and his terribly sudden death will be heard with regret by the hundreds of friends and acquaintances in town and county. The funeral will take place from his late residence, Murray street, on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

Chemong.

(From a Correspondent.)

On Friday evening a most successful entertainment, under the auspices and for the benefit of the Chemong Brass Band, was held at the Indian Village. The entertainment consisted of a feast and intellectual entertainment. The feast was held in the school house and was a most excellent one in every respect; the quality was exceptionally good. After ample justice had been done to the viands, adjournment was made to the church which was packed in every part, there being many present from Ennismore, and the township of Smith being fairly represented. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., occupied the chair, and gave an interesting address. Mr. Wm. Camming, of Ennismore, also delivered an interesting address treating of the early history of the Reserve, and relating many interesting reminiscences of his youthful days. He bore strong testimony to the advancement made in every respect by the Indians of the Reserve. They had successfully cultivated the better qualities and adopted the better habits of the Whites with the result of a great improvement in their moral, social, educational and financial conditions. Mr. F. J. Bell, township clerk of Smith, also gave a neat address following in a similar strain. Mr. Jacob Jacobs also delivered an eloquent address both in Indian and English, and Mr. A. E. Kennedy, agent, made a few appropriate and sensible remarks. During the evening some very good music was provided by the choir and the Chemong Brass Band. An exciting contest took place over the struggle for possession of a three-story cake between Miss Spencer and Miss Kearney. Mr. Garner Nicholls collected the contributions of the admirers of Miss Kearney and Mr. Samuel Young collected the amounts expressive of regard for Miss Spencer. When the money came to be counted, Miss Spencer was found to be the winner, and the two lower stories were generously donated to the audience, cut up by the chairman and distributed. The entire entertainment was most satisfactory, the sum of $45 for the benefit of the band funds having been netted. An over-flow social will be held on Tuesday evening, there having been enough of refreshments left to furnish another entertainment.

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realize how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $5.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00—a good, serviceable Suit; while for $7.00, $8.00 or $12.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

The Dominion Bell ORGANS.

WE wish to call your attention to the benefit derived from the

New Automatic Pedal Cover ATTACHMENT,

that has lately been added to the above Organs. This improvement has been a long felt necessity, and one which has never been successfully solved before by any Organ Companies until the patent was secured for the above Companies directly from the Inventor.

Other Organ Companies advertise their organs moved and dust proof, because they employ the usual method of blocking around the bellows, as we have done heretofore, but it is eminently unsatisfactory, and the only sure and efficient plan is that which we adopt, of covering the PEDALS and BOTTOM of our Organs. This attachment has from throughout (with the exception of the Covers) having no cord, springs, or delicate mechanism to get out of order or repair and works AUTOMATICALLY with the Pedal Board of the Organ. The one simple act of opening or closing the Organ, simultaneously operates the Pedal Covers.

This improvement has been placed on all the different styles of Organs, and the aim is now, as in the past, to produce an instrument that HAS NO EQUAL.

All information and inquiries cheerfully answered. Catalogues sent free upon application.

Examine the Moore and Dust Proof Organ before purchasing, and be satisfied that you have the best in the World.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

ARRIVAL OF THE PROTOCOLS AT THE CAPITAL.

Disappointment Felt at Their Contents—A Protest Against Mr. Baird's Return—Whisky and Methylated Spirits—Kit Allowances.

OTTAWA, March 5.—When Sir Charles Tupper arrived this afternoon and told the House that he had received from Washington the protocols in connection with the fisheries treaty, but that he was disappointed with their contents, the statement fell like a pall on the chamber, members, reporters and the public included. The disappointing part of the Finance Minister's statement was that the protocols, the treaty itself and the modus vivendi had been placed in the hands of the public printer, but that the protocols themselves contained nothing but a mere record of the sittings of the plenipotentiaries and the result arrived at.

"This," said Sir Charles, "I very deeply regret, for under the circumstances I will be unable to acquaint the House with the nature of the proposals and counter-proposals of the plenipotentiaries with reference to further trade relations between the United States and Canada. I was also desirous of placing the exact wording of these proposals and counter-proposals before the House, especially in face of the resolution which Sir Richard Cartwright has placed on the paper, dealing with the trade relations between the two countries."

Sir Charles went on to explain that when he left Washington for Ottawa it had not been settled as to what the protocols should contain, whether they would include the exact wording of the proposals and the counter-proposals, the elaborate arguments on the same and the reports and memoranda prepared by the plenipotentiaries on the same.

"As far as I was concerned myself I was willing that they should all appear. The work of preparing the protocols was left to Mr. Byrne, the official secretary of the British plenipotentiaries, and to Mr. Moore, who occupied a similar position for the United States. As I understood it I thought the proposals and answers of both sides would be put in. After my return to Ottawa, and during my recent illness, a message was received from Mr. Chamberlain requesting my assent to the withholding of the proposals and the counter-proposals, and stating that they would be made public at a future day. I thought that this was merely formal and the Premier and the Minister of Justice, acting in my illness, telegraphed our willingness to agree to such a proposition, thinking that it was merely for the time being. When the protocols reached me on Saturday and I found that they contained no reference whatever to the trade overtures on both sides I telegraphed at once to Mr. Chamberlain at New York for his assent that they should appear. But my telegram was returned unopened, Mr. Chamberlain having sailed that day for England."

As Sir Charles proceeded with his explanations of the omission of this highly important information from the protocols the disappointment on all sides increased.

Sir Richard Cartwright was not in the chamber to share in the disappointment, he not having arrived from a Sunday visit to his home, and in the meantime Mr. Charlton was doing what he could on behalf of the absent Knight. Sir Richard arrived on the scene about 5.30, just as the House was adjourning.

Mr. Mulock said he understood that a gentleman as Washington had been entrusted with the work of framing the wording of the protocols and he did not think it would be any breach of confidence if Sir Charles placed the entire record on the table of the House.

Peter Mitchell said he thought that if the consent of Sir Lionel West, Mr. Bayard and our own plenipotentiary were obtained to the entire publication, that was sufficient. There [illegible] Chamberlain a majority of the committee.

Sir Charles: "I entirely concur in that."

Mr. Mitchell: "I do not think, however, that, while it is very desirable that the House should be placed in possession of the contents of the trade proposals and counter-proposals, we should begin the debate in this House on the same until the United States Senate itself takes it up. The speeches made by Sir Charles Tupper might be used by the American papers against ourselves. I speak entirely in the interests of Canada."

Sir Charles Tupper: "I have no objection to placing all the documents, proposals, arguments, etc., in the hands of the leader of the Opposition, or Sir Richard Cartwright, in confidence."

Mr. Mitchell: "I object to this. If any member of the House sees them we should all get them."

Mr. Mills said he thought the only way that the full record of the treaty proceedings could be made public now was through the British Minister of Foreign Affairs.

A painful scene followed this announcement by the member for Bothwell. Poor old Alex. Mackenzie had fire in his feeble eye. He made a palsied and unsteady effort to rise in his seat. Mr. Charlton had to assist him to his feet. The old ex-leader's voice was not audible three feet away as he entered his solemn protest against the course proposed by Mr. Mills to have any reference to the British Minister of Foreign Affairs for consent to make any documents public that had been read or agreed by the plenipotentiaries.

Mr. Mackenzie's feeble and trembling figure touched the House visibly, and when Sir Charles said he entirely agreed with him, the ex-Premier was loudly applauded from the Conservative benches.

There are no set of men in the House that have more respect and kindly feeling towards Mr. Mackenzie than the Ontario Conservatives.

The matter of the protocols now stands thus: They are entirely barren of other information than is already know to the public. The dates of meeting of the commissioners is given. The proceedings were in secret. The treaty itself and the modus vivendi have already been published.

Sir Charles, after adjournment, communicated with Sir Lionel West, the British Minister at Washington, and Mr. Bayard, Secretary of State, for their permission to make everything public. A cable message will also be in waiting for Mr. Chamberlain when he arrives in Washington.

The debate on Sir Richard's motion, if the protocols are not complete, on international trade relations will be rather flat. However, there is an impression around the lobbies this evening that from the earnest way in which Sir Charles made his regrets known to the House the complete deliberations of the plenipotentiaries at Washington will be laid before the House before the week is out. It is also certain that Mr. Laurier and Sir Richard Cartwright will get a peep at them.

Death has invaded for a second time since Parliament opened, the precincts of the House of Commons. Mr. George Clayes, the Liberal member for Missisquoi, Que., died at an early hour this morning in his city home. Mr. Richards moved the usual resolution of condolence with the bereaved family, to which Sir Hector Langevin feelingly replied.

Mr. Clayes has been suffering from a dropsical affection for several months. He was in the House on opening day but afterwards took to his bed and never again got up. His demise was hastened by accompanying heart troubles. Deceased was a son of Rev. Dana Clayes, born in New Hampshire in 1801 and came to Bedford, Canada, with his uncle, G. W. Clayes, in 1846. He left Canada in 1850 for Cleveland, O., where he was in business for some years. He subsequently removed to Omaha, Neb., and while there was twice elected to the State Legislature. He returned to Bedford in 1866. He married his cousin, Sophia Clayes. He was an unsuccessful candidate for his present seat at the general elections of 1878 and 1882 and was first returned at the last general election. He was a staunch Liberal. Mr. Clayes was a genial, well-informed gentleman and popular with all who knew him. During his illness he was constantly attended by Dr. Landerkin, M.P., and Dr. Wilson, M.P. The remains were sent to Bedford this afternoon for interment.

The balance of the day in the House was devoted principally to uninteresting routine.

Mr. Landry's bill respecting interest was set up for a first reading. The bill provides that the minimum rate of usury that can be legally charged in Canada is 6 per cent. per annum.

Mr. McNeill's bill respecting the civil service was also set up for a second reading.

Mr. Curran asked for permission to introduce a bill empowering the Marine Insurance Company of Montreal to surrender its charter and wind up its business.

Mr. Ward sent up a petition asking for the incorporation of the Ontario Central Railway, with its headquarters at Toronto, and Mr. McDowall asked for the incorporation of the Nesbitt (Presbyterian) Academy of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan.

Mr. Small handed in several petitions for Knights of Labor assemblies in Toronto, similar to those presented by their brethren in Hamilton.

The Dominion Plate Glass Insurance Company, a Montreal concern, with a capital stock of $50,000, petitioned for incorporation, and the Tennwater and Kincardine Railway Company asked that its capital stock be reduced from $600,000 to $400,000.

The Premier and Temperance Sentiment.

OTTAWA, March 5.—The statement made by Mr. Doutney in Toronto yesterday that Sir John and Lady Macdonald had banished wine from their table is as foolish as it is unstalled for. Sir John, as telegraphed on Saturday, gave a dinner at Earnscliffe that evening. Twenty members of Parliament were present. There were several kinds of wine on the table. Neither Sir John, Lady Macdonald nor the Premier's son, Hugh John, partook of the beverage, but such of the guests as desired wine were served. This is the custom at all of the Premier's dinners during the session at which members or a mixed assemblage attends.

It is doubtful if Messrs. Crossley and Hunter authorized Mr. Doutney or any one else to make such a statement on their behalf.

CAPITAL GOSSIP.

The Dominion Alliance—The Rifle Association—Mr. Baird's Return Protested.

OTTAWA, March 5.—The Dominion Alliance begins its sessions in this city to-morrow. Mr. James Mackenzie, Q.C., of Toronto, the avant courier of the gathering, arrived this evening.

The annual meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association will be held here on March 14. The proposed new re-arrangement regarding the composition of the council will be as follows: Fourteen from Ontario, ten from Quebec, six from New Brunswick, six from Nova Scotia, four from Manitoba, four from British Columbia, four from Prince Edward Island and two from each of the Northwest Territories.

A. F. Jury, D. J. O'Donoghue, and C. H. Moore of Toronto arrived in the city this morning and are going to have an interview with Sir John to-morrow, advocating the passage of a Dominion factory act. Petitions are pouring in from all the industrial centres in favor of such an act.

It is now considered almost a certainty that Col. O'Brien, M.P., of the 34th Battalion, Manitoba, will be commandant of this year's Wimbledon team.

Senator Gowan is giving considerable attention to the procedure that should be followed by parties seeking divorce. He is wholly opposed to the proposition made by some journals for the organization of a divorce court. He thinks the Senate is quite competent to deal with the subject, and holds that a small committee can effectively control the entire business. While the ministers of the gospel are expending much time and energy in crusading against the vice of intemperance they could employ some of their time, the Senator thinks, in profitably discussing the immorality which culminates in divorce.

Upon the completion of arguments in the Quebec appeals the Supreme Court will adjourn until Thursday, March 15, when judgments will probably be given, and on the following day the Ontario list of appeals will be taken up.

A protest has been entered against the return of Mr. Baird for Queen's County, N.B.

Fred von Brunsel, Belgian Consul-General at Quebec, had a conference with Sir Charles Tupper to-day with reference to the establishment of direct steamship communication between Belgium and Canada. The interview was of an informal character and no proposition was made, but it is understood that the Consul-General suggested that the Canadian Government should offer a reasonable subsidy for a fortnightly service in the summer and a monthly service in the winter between the two countries. He held out the hope that his Government would second the efforts of the Canadian Government by offering a subvention in keeping with the importance of the movement.

Suicide of a Chicago Girl.

CHICAGO, March 5.—Emma Lang committed suicide Saturday by taking "Rough on Rats." The girl would have been 16 years old next week, and was large for her age. The night before her mother whipped her, and this so worked on her feelings that she concluded she would rather die than endure what she considered so great a disgrace.

C.E. in Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—In the House of Representatives to-day Congressman Hitt (Ill.) introduced a joint resolution for the promotion of Commercial Union with Canada. It was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. It provides that when it shall be duly certified to the President that the Government of the Dominion of Canada has declared a United States, having a uniform revenue system, like internal taxes to be collected and like import duties to be imposed on articles brought into either country from other nations and duties upon trade between the United States and Canada, he shall appoint three commissioners to meet those who may be likewise designated to represent the Government of Canada, to prepare a plan for the assimilation of the import duties and internal revenue taxes of the two countries and an equitable division of receipts in a Commercial Union, and said commissioners shall report to the President, who shall lay the report before Congress.

Robbed a Pullman Conductor.

MANDAN, Dak., March 5.—About midnight at New Buffalo Pullman Conductor Towne, on the Northern Pacific express, was attacked in the drawing-room of his car by two masked men, who sandbagged him and robbed him of $26 and the contents of his pocketbook. The robbers escaped.

A Successful Appeal.

INGERSOLL, March 5.—Rev. R. R. Maitland asked his congregation of the King-street Methodist Church, for $2000 to pay off the indebtedness for improvements on the church just completed, and in a few minutes he got $7584 subscribed. The church is now one of the finest in the Conference.

Politics in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, March 5.—R. P. Roblin (Reform) and W. H. Glendenning (Conservative) were nominated in North Dufferin to-day. The former will doubtless be elected.

The Liberals are carrying on an aggressive campaign in Shoal Lake where the contest is said to be close.

Death by Dynamite.

SHERBROOKE, Que., March 5.—At the Thetford mines this morning a boy named Petit Buisere, 14 years, was killed by the explosion of dynamite, which was being thawed out in one of the Asbestos Company's sheds. Six others were present at the time, but none were seriously injured. The shed itself was completely wrecked.

FINAL REPORT OF DR. WALDEYER RESPECTING THE CROWN PRINCE.

The Heir to the Throne is Urged to Return to Berlin—Proposed Panama Canal Lottery—Mary Anderson Ill—Heavy Snow Falls—Strike Ended.

LONDON, March 5.—The New York Herald has the following despatch from San Remo: Dr. Waldeyer, the great Berlin cancer specialist, has concluded his report, and it has been forwarded to the Kaiser. Dr. Waldeyer is convinced that the disease of the Crown Prince is cancer of the larynx of the most malignant type and incurable. All the doctors, including Mackenzie now reluctantly agree with him. As to the time likely to elapse before death there is still some difference of opinion, but it is believed that unless some unexpected development of a malignant character intervenes it is a question of weeks. It will be a miracle if the patient lives a year. Even the Crown Prince has given up hope. All the members of the House of Hohenzollern have been informed of the result of Dr. Waldeyer's examination. Prince William himself expressed himself shocked at the change in his father's appearance since his last visit.

The German Crown Prince passed a good night. His cough and expectoration have lessened and there is a more cheerful feeling regarding his immediate prospects. Prince William left San Remo to-day.

A more explicit and probably final report of the Crown Prince's case has been forwarded to the Emperor by Dr. Waldeyer. It confirms the semi-official reports made on Saturday.

To-night's papers confirm the statement made last Saturday that the main reason for Prince William's visit to San Remo is to urge the Crown Prince to return to Berlin. It is announced that Prince William took an autograph letter from the Emperor, expressing the wish that the Crown Prince return to Berlin as soon as possible. It is expected that he will meet the Emperor's desire and return at the end of March. Great preparations have been commenced at the palace for the reception of the Crown Prince's family.

Two Councillors are to be attached to Prince William's suite, whose duties will be to report to him on State affairs. Prof. Gneist has been named as one of the Councillors. An eminent General will also be appointed to be in special attendance upon the Prince and advise him on military matters.

The Ministerial order empowering Prince William to sign royal decrees and ordinances, should the occasion arise, dates from Dec. 1. The Crown Prince has assented to this arrangement.

The railway traffic in Sweden and Denmark has been stopped by heavy snow falls. Traffic on the lines in North and East Germany is also interrupted. Dantzic is completely cut off. A violent sand storm has been raging in Egypt since Saturday, stopping traffic on the Suez Canal.

Suspected Poisoning at the Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 5.—A colored man named George Jackson died suddenly here on Friday evening. He had been drinking at one of the hotels in Drummondville and said he was poisoned. Coroner Lewis held an inquest this afternoon which was adjourned until to-morrow. In the meantime Drs. Reade and Sayers will hold a post mortem examination. It is reported Jackson had an insurance policy on his life and foul play is suspected.

The Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, MARCH 6, 1888.

An Explanation Wanted.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—As a respectable married lady of this town was walking down George street last Sunday evening a few minutes to eight, she was overtaken by a gentleman of this town (if you can call him such) at the corner of Simcoe and George streets, who asked her if she was Mrs. ——, a certain lady of the town he mentioned. The lady answered no, she was not; that he was mistaken. But he gave no apology for stopping her, so she passed up Simcoe to Water street, leaving him and never thinking of him again till she was a little way past the police station. There she was accosted by him again, he having gone round the block by the arcade. Here he stopped her the second time as Mrs. ——. She told him she thought he was mistaken in his lady, but that would not do him; He turned back and followed her till she got to where she was going. She went in and closed the door leaving him standing outside. The lady's husband would like very much if this man would give an explanation or apologise either by letter or personally, for his over attention to other men's wives, and he thinks it is high time for husbands to look after such cases if their wives cannot walk down street of an evening without being followed round the streets by other married men. This lady's husband would also like to ask him how much Mrs. —— resembles the lady he was talking to on Sunday; not very much in my judgment, as I am well acquainted with both next time he meets a lady on the street he will be sure of his friend before he speaks, as I think he got badly left that time. This lady intends to ask him the first time she meets him if he found out his mistake yet, but of course he wont know her if it is in day light.

My best advice to this dude is either to stay at home on Sunday evenings with his wife and family or go to church, where he will hear something profitable to his soul, and I think if he does he won't make himself so conspicuous on our streets.

Yours truly,
ONE INSULTED.

Annexation by Inches.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Charley Robertson, one of the "boys" of this place, having decided to remove to Boston, where he intends to engage in the business of boat building, a few of his friends assembled at the residence of his father on Tuesday evening last to bid him good-bye, and present him with the following address:

DEAR CHARLIE,—It is with feelings of deep regret, that we, your companions, who have been so pleasantly associated with you in the past, have learned of your intention to depart from our midst. We feel that we cannot permit you to leave us without offering you some slight token of the high esteem in which you are held by us. Your genial, unselfish spirit, your hearty good-nature, and your kind consideration for the feelings of others, have, in the past, won our admiration, and endeared you to us; and we trust that in the future, amid new companions, amid new scenes and labors, you will still cultivate those excellent qualities. We beg of you to accept this small token, which we offer with best wishes and earnest prayers for your future happiness and prosperity. We commend you to the care of Him who has said, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee," and trust that He will enable us all so to live that we may meet at last where partings are unknown.

Signed,

Harry Kennedy, Newton Stewart,
Percy Kennedy, Sidney Bennett,
James Rose, Thomas Welch,
R. A. Ward.

The address was accompanied by the present of a miniature boat, neatly carved, in which was artistically set an ink-bottle, pen and pencil.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, March 6.

The most important feature of the business done at the Legislature yesterday was the introduction of the Manhood Suffrage Bill by the Attorney-General. When it was introduced and read a first time there was lusty applause from the Government side of the House. Leaving this event out, yesterday's session was one of the dullest on record. Only forty-six members out of the total ninety-two were in their seats, and there was a corresponding thinness of attendance in the galleries. Several questions by members were down on the order paper but none were put. The House sat at 3.10 and adjourned at 4.20.

Mr. Balfour moved for an order of the House for a return containing the minutes of the Senate of Toronto University from July 1 last to the end of the academic year 1887-8. Motion agreed to.

Mr. Snider moved for an order of the House for a return showing separately the amount of fire insurance at risk on Dec. 31 for each of the years from 1881 to 1887, both inclusive; the number of policies in force on Dec. 31 in each year of which there is a correct record; the total amount of losses paid, each year, and the total amount of expenses during each year; the percentage of losses and expenses; the cost of expense on every $1000 at risk in purely mutual, mixed mutual, and cash and stock companies, doing business under Ontario charters. Motion agreed to on a slight amendment in the wording.

Mr. Bishop's bill to amend the act restricting insurance companies came up for second reading. Its principal provision was the establishing a live stock branch in mutual insurance companies. Mr. Bishop strenuously advocated the passage of the bill.

Hon. A. M. Ross gave instances of how this arrangement had signally failed. He had no objection to the passage of the bill if it would provide for the establishing of a live stock mutual insurance company. He had no objection to its going to the Municipal Committee on the understanding that this amendment be made.

Hon. Mr. Hardy—No, no; the Municipal Committee have enough to attend to.

The Attorney-General thought it should go to the Municipal Committee.

It went to the Municipal Committee.

Mr. Waters descanted on his bill to amend the Municipal Act for about three-quarters of an hour. The bill defines clearly the duties of county councils in regard to the maintenance of bridges.

The bill also went to the Municipal Committee.

The Attorney-General introduced his Manhood Suffrage Bill just previous to adjournment. He stood and said: "Mr. Speaker, I beg leave to introduce a bill to give manhood suffrage for the Ontario Legislative Assembly. I move the first reading." [Applause from the Government side.]

The full text of the bill having been given in these columns, further explanation of its provisions is unnecessary.

Around the Lobbies.

Mr. French has a bill before the House to deal with the seed grain frauds which have been carried on throughout Ontario with such impunity these last two years. His bill will make it illegal for any traveling agent to charge more than three times the market value of grain for any seed they may want to dispose of. Farmers can go to any regular warehouse and pay $2 or $3 a bushel if they like, but no traveling agent can make such a charge.

Hon. Mr. Hardy brought down a return showing the opinion of the Grand Trunk employes in Ontario as to the show that the employes think the scheme is a good one but they don't believe in being compelled to go into it. Comparatively few insure elsewhere. An interesting point in the return is that it shows the total number of men employed by the Grand Trunk in Ontario. There are 168 conductors, 181 engineers, 194 brakemen, 151 firemen, 776 sectionmen and trackmen, 586 mechanics, 80 station agents, 886 office, station and yard men, and 39 whose employment is not given. The total number is 2,979.

POSTPONED UNTIL NEXT TERM.

The Case of Criminal Libel Against Judge Armstrong Put Off.

MONTREAL, March 5.—In the Court of Queen's Bench to-day application was made and granted to have Judge Armstrong's case for libel, at the instance of the Hochelaga Cotton mills, put off until next term on the ground that Judge Armstrong, being chairman of the Royal Labor Commission, would be kept busy for some time. He was admitted to personal bail of $200.

Though counsel for the defence in the Fahey-Naegele-Bureau case last week asked for delay until to-morrow before proceeding with the case it is understood they will not be ready till Wednesday. Much curiosity is shown on all sides as to whether Wilson will appear in court or not. He has not arrived here as yet.

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 5.—The activity of Saturday was kept up in the Stock Exchange this morning, when several transactions took place, the largest being Commerce.

Money on call was quoted on Saturday at 5½ per cent. on debentures and 6 to 6½ per cent. on stocks; and for discount the price is 6½ to 7½ per cent.

Money in New York is a little easy and is quoted at 5½ per cent. at call on debentures and 6 to 6½ per cent. on stocks, while the price for discount ranges from 6½ to 7½ per cent.

Trade was quiet both inside and outside St. Lawrence Market to-day. There was a little better supply of poultry in market to-day than there has been for some time. Retail prices have not changed. On the grain market 1000 bushels of barley were sold to-day at 72c to 79c per bushel, about 300 bushels of wheat sold at 82c to 83c for fall, 78c to 80c for spring, 73c to 73½c for goose. There was neither oats nor peas offered.

Well Worth Trying.

A medicine which has stood the test of time for many years and always given the best of satisfaction as has Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is certainly well worth trying for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness and all Throat troubles for which it is so highly recommended. 2w10d

One Good Point

Out of the many possessed by Burdock Blood Bitters is that it may be taken at all seasons of the year, and by either young or old. In this way the three busy B's are always at work and doing good. 2w10d

Patriotism at last is found in that portent, "Lines of the Star." adtw

THE USUAL TREATMENT of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says:—Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure cannot be expected from powders, snuffs, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific medicinal power and perfect safety and gratification to the patient. eodw10

Depend Upon It.

Accidents will happen despite all care and painful injuries such as Sprains, Bruises, Cuts and Burns result. Every family should therefore keep Hagyard's Yellow Oil on hand, it is the greatest family remedy for all Pains, Coughs, Colds and sore Throat, Croup and Whooping Cough yield quickly to this excellent remedy. 2w10d

TORONTO TOPICS.

Dr. Richardson, jail physician, has written to the Mayor calling attention to the unsatisfactory sanitary condition of the jail. The building is greatly overcrowded and there is no proper ventilating system.

The liquidators of the Central Bank are pressing their claims against C. L. Van Werner. A day has been appointed for his special examination.

Yesterday afternoon the Executive Committee of the Toronto Mineral Association met at the Board of Trade rooms to arrange for the coming season's business.

The contractors' section of the Board of Trade held a private session in the evening.

Mr. Laidlaw, of Bain & Laidlaw, returned yesterday from Belleville, where he was looking after the interests of Toronto creditors in the Schultz insolvency case. He said that the creditors had possession of the stock, and would hold it until they could come into regular possession under execution. He is now preparing papers with a view to securing immediate judgment. Mr. Laidlaw complained that the premature publication of certain facts in connection with the matter had seriously affected the interests of the creditors.

Harry Venables, a youth of 17, living at 20 Clarence-square, was arrested upon King-street yesterday afternoon by Detectives Burrows and Davis at the instance of the Chief of Police of Buffalo, who wired the Toronto authorities yesterday morning that Venables had stolen $300 in that city. Beyond this no information as to the nature of the charge against the young man is known. Venables returned yesterday from Buffalo, where it is said he has been for some time.

There is no change in the position of matters in the Northern and Northwestern Division of the Grand Trunk Railway. The Grand Trunk Railway tickets agents are expecting every day to receive the orders to sell tickets over this latest addition to the system. Meanwhile the old staff of the Northern has been remained, and it is not thought there will be any change of note in its personnel.

James Ingford, James Henshaw of York-street, Richard Reeves of 9 Agnes-street, Herbert Stone of 23 Adelaide-street west, and Peter Harrison of York-street forcibly entered Hanlan's Hotel on the Island yesterday afternoon. Whilst they were selecting their booty their presence was discovered by Mr. John Hanlan, who, with the assistance of a party of friends, made a descent upon and captured the thieves, who were brought over to the city and placed in the custody of the police.

Detective McGrath left for New York last night, via Ottawa, to bring back to Toronto Liddington the forger, who is held in New York pending the issuance of the necessary papers for his extradition, and as Ottawa the detective will secure the signatures of the Dominion Government officials to the application for Liddington's extradition, and will then proceed to New York to claim his man.

Edward Sheeran, a young man, convicted of stealing tools, and sentenced on Dec. 28 to three months' imprisonment, escaped from the Central Prison yesterday morning. He was in the prison yard between 8 and 9 o'clock and was thereafter missed. How he made his escape is not known.

The Young Liberals passed a resolution at their meeting last night, which is intended as a reply to the Young Conservatives' allegation that the former are responsible for the failure to arrange the joint debate between these clubs. The resolution was thus worded:

"That having heard the report of the committee appointed to arrange a joint debate with the Young Men's Liberal Conservative Club, and having heard read the correspondence which passed between the two committees and the communication from the secretary of the Liberal Conservative Club, the members of this club are of opinion that the responsibility for failure to arrange the debate rests with their opponents, whose committee has throughout shown a manifest indisposition to facilitate the settlement of the terms of the debate and they regret that the meeting of representatives of the two clubs in joint discussion has again been prevented. They also regret that their opponents have in their published resolutions set forth an entirely incorrect statement of the facts of the case."

TRANSMITTED TO CONGRESS.

President Cleveland Hands Down the Remaining Documents and Protocols.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The President has transmitted to Congress the remaining documents and protocols relating to the Fisheries Treaty, together with a letter from Secretary Bayard. In theory these were sent to both houses, but as is usual in such cases the enclosures (except the Secretary's letter) were sent only to the Senate. The President's message and the Secretary's letter have been laid before the House, but in the Senate the whole matter has encountered the executive session rules and is regarded as a secret. This deprives the House of the document which the President is supposed to have sent to it unless the Senate shall remove the injunction of secrecy.

In his letter Secretary Bayard says that the correspondence since November, 1885, is accompanied by the protocols of the conferences which preceded the conclusion of the treaty. The documents complete the history of the transactions which led as a result the conclusion of the treaty and it is highly important that it should be brought to the knowledge of the people of the United States as soon as possible.

To Cure a Cure.

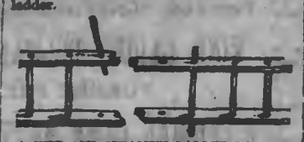
There is no lack of so called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's" and no other. d&w10

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

A Convenient Ladder.

The present is an opportune time for preparing conveniences that may be made in the work shop for future use. A farmer can hardly comprise in his stock of farm appliances too many ladders; short ladders, long ladders and step ladders being all required at one time or other.

The accompanying cut shows a wonderfully convenient ladder, which, while by no means new, is very desirable. It plays, according to adjustment, the dual part of step ladder and an ordinary straight ladder.



A STEP AND STRAIGHT LADDER IN ONE.

The idea is conveyed in the cut, in which the two parts are shown ready to be put together. The upper round of the wide ladder should be run through slots in the narrow one. The slots are a little more than twice as long, and just as wide, as the diameter of the round. The notches in the end of the inside ladder should rest firmly upon the second round of the outside one, and the notches in the end of that one on the projecting ends of the round of the other. The uprights are made of 2 by 3 inch spruce, and when spliced for a long ladder, and a block pressed into the slots beside the rounds, it is nearly as firm as though made of one piece. It takes but a moment to pull it apart enough to shut it up to the desired angle for a special ladder.

Well Spoken Of.

"I can recommend Hagyard's Yellow Oil very highly, it cured me of rheumatism in my fingers when I could not bend them." Ida Plasky, Strathroy, Ont. A medicine for external and internal use in all painful complaints. 2w10d

Another Item.

Mrs. J. Thompson, of Elma, Ont., writes that she suffered from general weakness and was so reduced that at times she became almost unconscious. Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters completely cured her, and she now recommends B. B. B. to her friends and neighbors. 2w10d

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called
There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.
But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.
Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists. dw

LOCAL NEWS.

The Weather.

Moderate winds; fair weather; stationary or slightly higher temperatures.

Tidy Housekeeping.

The delight of every true housewife is her home. It must be clean, neat, well furnished, and one of the chief points is the best of linen. In order to get the best, the prudent housekeeper will go directly to the Golden Lion, where will be found a most superior stock of table linens, table napkins and linen towelling. These goods will all be found to be of the highest quality and beautiful finish. Being directly imported, the like of them cannot be found elsewhere in town, and the prices will be exceedingly moderate for such superior goods. d

A Corn Doctor's Trials.

Signor Emilio, the "eminent chiropodist" who visited Peterborough last summer, is wanted by the Ottawa police. He is charged with having left a wife and family without any means of support. Signor Emilio was a dashing Italian with a high-sounding name, with a sufficient number of affixes to warrant the presumption that he was a millionaire, but it would appear that his titles were empty vanities and his dignified cognomen a hollow mockery. What's in a name, anyway?

The Ides of March.

The 4th day of March, the financial pons asinorum of business men, has been safely weathered all over the Dominion, a fact that is the cause of much rejoicing and congratulation in financial circles. The Toronto papers publish reports from different commercial centres of the way paper was met at all the banking institutions, and they are, almost without exception, favorable. In Peterborough the same tale of satisfaction at the results of "settling-up day." The bank managers report that the day was fully as good as the 4th of February. The crisis is past, and many regard the financial and trade prospects of the Dominion as bright and cheerful.

The General Delivery Wicket.

It is felt by a great many that it would be great convenience to have the general delivery wicket at the post office kept open continually. Mechanics and labourers or their school children representing them can call during noon hour for mail matter but it is useless to call if the wicket is closed on the arrival of the noon mails. It would certainly not entail much extra work on the staff if a mere lad could attend the general delivery while the staff was engaged sorting the mails. From the desire shown by postmaster Rogers to consult the public convenience it is probable that he will only require to have his attention directed to the matter to insure the wicket being kept open at the noon hour.

The Trent Valley Canal.

Mr. Barron, M.P., in discussing a resolution for papers regarding the Trent Valley Commission, in the House of Commons on Monday, says the Globe correspondent, touched the placid and smiling Minister of Public Works on a sore spot in his later record. He dwelt upon the importance of this canal and the strong feeling in its favor among the people along the proposed route. The Minister of Public Works, he stated, had promised just before last election that the canal should be built and that work should be begun at once between Peterborough and Lakefield, and now the Government wanted information on a subject upon which they professed to have reached a decision about a year ago, the people to be at a good deal of expense in laying that information before them. He urged that at least those witnesses whose evidence the commission declared to be important and necessary should be paid. Sir Hector Langevin said he had no recollection of making any promise on the subject and thought the hon. gentleman must mean the Minister of Railways. Mr. Barron read the statement made by Mr. Stevenson, of West Peterborough, to the electors that the Minister of Public Works had given him full assurance that the Trent Valley Canal work between Peterborough and Lakefield would be let during the coming summer—that is, last summer—but Sir Hector persisted that it must be his colleague who was referred to. Mr. Mulock said that the expenditure of nine million dollars would hardly be decided upon by one man for the Government; and if the promise were made it must merely have been made because the works had been decided upon by the Government. He twitted the Government with their ante-election promises, made to influence votes, and said it seemed as if this commission was appointed to cover the retreat upon the question on which the Government had already decided. The motion for papers was carried.

The Contract Let.

The Orillia Times says the contract for the new iron swing for the proposed new bridge over the narrows near Orillia, has been let to Mr. W. H Law, of Peterborough, for the sum of $1,850. He is to have the work completed by the 15th May next.

Grand Lodge Delegates.

The following gentlemen went down to Port Hope to attend the Grand Lodge of Ontario East, which opened there to-day:—Messrs. J.B. McWilliams, Robt. Weir, John Smith, J. G. Weir, Richard Waram, Jas. Wainwright, Geo. W. Hall, W. R. King, Alex. Hamilton and others.

The Y. P. A.

The weekly entertainment of the Young People's Association at the George street Methodist church last night was not held. The meeting was an entirely devotional one. Next Monday night an open meeting will be held, when a fine programme will be presented.

A Rumour Exploded.

This morning an Examiner representative met Mr. Robert J. Stenson, of the firm of Stenson Bros., boot and shoe dealers, and put the question to him:

"Mr. Stenson, there are ugly reports going about that reflect upon your character as a man of business—nothing more nor less than that there has been something "crooked" in your business operations. How is it?

"It's false—a base slander, I'll tell you the history of our business and you can see how it is. When my father retired in our favor, we were to receive the stock in hand, $1500. I was in Montreal, and he expected before I came back to take possession to have his stock reduced to about $2000. In this he did not succeed, for on taking stock previous to our opening out we found there were between $4000 and $5000 worth of goods on hand. Besides this some $800 worth consigned to Stenson & Son arrived from the wholesale houses which were opened out and handed over to us. We began business, our father endorsing our checks and lending us money when ever we required it. We found it didn't pay, however, and so we have given up. That is the whole truth regarding our affairs, and I don't mind if you make it public, just to set matters right and silence rumours of unfair nature to us. O—I forgot! I should say that our father wanted us to go on and he would help us on up to the first of January, but we couldn't see our way clear and we declined; father had cost enough by us as it was.

A Few Rules.

Our readers will have observed that Mr. C. B. Routley has been appointed an agent for the sale of Frank Lazarus celebrated perfected spectacles. The appointment is a good one. Persons needing spectacles will do well to get suited with a glass that will not tire the eye and will last many years without change, which is the special value of Lazarus spectacles. To enable persons to judge for themselves when their sight may be preserved by the use of spectacles, an attentive consideration of the following rules will be sufficien

When the eyes water or become so much fatigued when used for near work (such as reading, writing, &c.) as to be obliged to be frequently closed, or to be relieved by viewing different objects.

When the letters of a book appear to blend with one another, or become double or treble.

When more light is requisite than was formerly; for example,—

When the light must be placed between the eye and the object

When objects cannot be seen without removing them to an increased distance.

When much difficulty is found in threading a needle.

When the eyes appear confused, as if they had a mist before them.

When black specks seem floating in sight.

When objects cannot be seen unless close to the eyes.

When objects cannot be seen at a distance.

When inconvenience is caused by the effect of strong light.

Police Court.

Tuesday, March 6.

William Kenny, a young painter late in the employment of Mr. W. H. Watson, was charged by Mr. James K. Bryson with having obtained goods under false pretences. Mr. Bryson in his evidence stated that Kenny came into Mr. Bryson's boot and shoe store, where he (Bryson) is clerk, and bought a pair of shoes, which he put on in the store, keeping his old ones in his hand. He then told Mr. Bryson that he would just step outside a minute and see his "boss," who was working in Mr. Hackett's old store, and get the money from him. Mr. Bryson believed he was honest and let him go, but Kenny never returned. Last night, at the instance of Mr. Bryson, the police arrested Kenny, and this morning he appeared in the police court wearing the identical pair of shoes alleged to have been obtained under false pretences. Kenny's left eye was poulticed and draped in linen, the usual treatment of an optic which has suffered from some violent concussion. It is said he received the blow while attempting to "beat" an hotel-keeper out of a meal yesterday. From what can be learned Kenny has been in the habit of trying to beat merchants and others out of goods, in which he sometimes succeeds and then leaves the town. The magistrate reserved judgment till to-morrow.

ON THE CALENDAR.

A case of obtaining "money under false pretences" was called in court this morning, but the defendant did not appear. A warrant has been issued to compel his attendance to-morrow morning.

Personal.

Mrs. Dame, who has been in charge of Mr. Jas. Alexander's mantle and dressmaking department for the past three seasons, has received the appointment of mantle cutter for S. Thorne & Co., Hamilton, and will leave on Friday for the Ambitious City.

Miss White, head milliner, and Miss Neil, dress and mantle maker, both representing the Golden Lion, Peterborough, have returned from the cities where they have been spending some time personally selecting the spring novelties in their respective departments.

Mr. Ed. Wood, who for the past three years held a position in Mr. Geo. A. Cox's offices here, has been removed to the Toronto offices. Ed. left for his new place of business in the Queen city on Monday. He was held in high esteem by all his associates and acquaintances as a young man of exemplary character. May he succeed in life.

The Examiner acknowledges with pleasure the receipt of the professional card of Messrs. "Quinn & Henry, barristers, solicitors, etc.," office, Millichamp's buildings, 31 Adelaide street east, Toronto. Both gentlemen made their start in legal life in Peterborough, where they are well and favorably known. Their ability and energy should secure them a fair share of the legal business of the city.

Mr. Jos. Armstrong, who has for a number of years been connected with H.S. Griffin & Co.'s dry goods establishment, leaves this week to take a position "on the road" with the firm of Glover & Brais, Montreal, wholesale gents' furnishers. Mr. Armstrong is a general favorite among the young people of the town, and enjoyed the fullest confidence of his late employer, which he gained by his strict application to business and his enterprising spirit of advancement. He will be sure to win credit for himself and custom for his house in his new line of business.

An Evening With Mendelssohn.

An enjoyable and highly successful entertainment was given in St. Luke's school room last evening entitled, "An Evening with Mendelssohn." Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, rector, read a very interesting essay on the life of the great master. The musical portion was under the direction of Mr. Jaques, organist and choirmaster. The following programme, all of which are selections from the works of Mendelssohn, and sacred in character, was excellently rendered:—

1. Instrumental Solo—"The Wedding March."... Mr. J. E. Jaques
2. Duet—"O! Wert thou in the Cauld Blast."... Miss Strickland and Mr. Jaques
3. Duet—"I Would that my Love"... Miss Strickland and Miss Morgan.
4. Piano Duet—Over ture to Midsummer Night's Dream"... Mesdames. Jaques and Parker.
5. Piano Solo—"Duetto and Spring Song"... Mr. J. S. Parker.
6. Solo—"Jerusalem, Thou that Killest the Prophets"... From St. Paul Miss Cameron.
7. Solo—"But the Lord is Mindful of His Own." From St. Paul, arranged by Lohr The Choir of St. Luke's.
8. Solo—"The Sorrows of Death."... From Lobgesang. Mr. Tierney.
9. Solo—"O! Rest in the Lord."... From Elijah Miss Strickland.
10. "If With all your Hearts."... From Elijah Mr. Tierney.

The audience expressed their appreciation by a vote of thanks to those who had taken part in the programme.

Condolence.

Mr. George Webber and family will have the deep sympathy and condolence of the public in the terrible affliction which has fallen on them by the death from diphtheria of little Willie, a bright, handsome and unusually interesting child, aged nearly three years. The death took place on Monday night at 11 o'clock, and the burial on Tuesday morning about 9 o'clock.

News Nuggets

—Ashburnham village council did not meet last night.

Try E. Welsh for first class pastry. George street.

—The Orangemen of Ontario East meet in Port Hope to-day.

—Farmers say that the heaviest snow fall of the winter ushered in the month of March.

—The stone steps leading to the posting plots for letters and papers in the Post Office have been covered with wood.

—Another amateur dramatic entertainment is on the tapis, and will be presented shortly after the conclusion of Lent.

—The cold snap has produced more trouble with anchor ice to mills and factories depending on water for power.

—Brown, the Port Perry bartender who was perforated by Toronto whisky detectives last December, has completely recovered.

—The Liberals of West Hastings hold a convention to nominate a candidate for the vacancy to-morrow, and the Conservatives on the 13th.

—Old Cigars that are dry and brittle are avoided in those countries and among those people where smoking is a second nature. The "Crew" cigar is "fresh as April, sweet as May."

—"Annexation by Inches," is what one of the Examiner's rural correspondents aptly calls the exodus to the United States. And unfortunately this season the exodus from this vicinity threatens to be brisk.

Following the "elopement" of a member of the police force, it is understood there is to be an investigation to discover which of the force smuggled a "John Collins" into the cells. To show the nature of the offence the uninitiated are informed that a "John Collins" is a mixed drink of unusual intoxicating power.

Ourliana.

The game for a sack of flour for the Protestant Home yesterday afternoon resulted in another demand upon the pockets of the Lakefield men, who were elected to pay the forfeit on the following score:—

Peterborough.	Lakefield.
Adam Hall	J. P. Strickland
C. McGill	W. D. Strickland
H. S. Davidson	Geo. Cochrane
W. G. Ferguson, skip..22	R.C. Strickland, skip.11

By another coincidence Mr. Strickland's rink was defeated by double figures—22 to 11.

The Ottawa champion rinks went to Lindsay to try their mettle. They hope to score another victory.

A rink of juniors goes to Millbrook on Saturday to play the curlers of that village.

Rinks skipped by Rutherford and Bradburn had it out last night, the former winning by a handsome majority.

Two local rinks go to Bobcaygeon to-morrow.

We all know, after the result of the recent curling matches for flour, why Mr. R. C. Strickland proposes to enlarge his flouring mills.

Centreville.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The debate which we mentioned in our last communication came off in due course. The subject, "resolved that cotton is more useful than wool," was ably handled, the principals being Mr. E. Ball for cotton and Mr. R. Lang for wool. The speeches of both gentlemen showed careful thought and attention, and with the real assistance of their co-partners, rendered the discussion highly edifying to the audience. Mr. W. Needler occupied the chair and decided the debate in favor of cotton. As usual there was a first-class programme, the amateurs competing most favorably with the professional talent of our fair Canada. Amongst those who took part we noticed the following ladies and gentlemen.

Miss Kells from Millbrook who gave an instrumental selection in fine style; a duet by Miss McDowell and Mr. Fenning which was well received; a recitation by Miss Soden in her usual popular manner; songs by Messrs. Deyell and Fenning well rendered; a humorous reading by Mr. Ball; a negro dialogue by Messrs. Tomlin and Vout kept the audience convulsed, while the dialogue "united at last" by Miss McDowell and Messrs. Fair, Hall and Fenning had only to be heard, to be appreciated. A number of people from Ballieboro and Millbrook were present and professed to have been most agreeably entertained. After singing the "National Anthem" the audience dispersed to their homes already counting the days that must elapse before the next night.

"Surprise parties" seem to be in order this winter. Mr. R. Moore's spacious residence was taken charge of for several hours by a gay company of young people on Friday evening last. Mr. and Mrs. Moore entered heartily into the spirit of the affair and dispensed hospitality to their guests with marked success.

Measles are still raging in this vicinity, and quite a number nearly succumbed to the "fell destroyer." The dangerous cases are rapidly improving, however, and the wave may soon pass over leaving a purer atmosphere.

Mr. George O'Brien, of Buffalo, is in Millbrook visiting friends. His many acquaintances in this neighborhood were pleased to see him looking so well.

We notice that "Peck," the second edition, is roaming in our midst, and we wonder till our brain is in a muddle of perplexities, what will be the end of that most precocious youth.

We hear that our esteemed councillor, Mr. D. Baxter, has or is about to dispose of his farm. Should the rumor prove correct, there will be universal regret felt in this community for his loss.

Bills Introduced.

In the Ontario Legislature yesterday among the bills reported upon in committee were the following:—

To incorporate the Peterborough and Chemong Lake Railway—Mr. Leys.

To authorise the corporation of the town of Peterborough to issue debentures—Mr. Stratton.

Respecting the Nicholls Hospital Trust—Mr. Stratton.

Contractor's Office.

Mr. Chas. Wynne, contractor, has opened an office for his general contracting business. Persons having business with him will find the office in the Snowden block, Simcoe street (over Quirk's cigar store). Mr. Joseph Timbers, book-keeper and paymaster, will be in charge.

An Oshawa Industry.

An Oshawa despatch states that the Oshawa cabinet factory started Monday morning in full blast with a large number of hands, and the prospects ahead of it for the coming season are good.

Coal Oil.

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realize how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $5.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00—a good, serviceable Suit; while for $7.00, $8.00 or $10.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

In our BOYS' and CHILDRENS' DEPARTMENT we are offering parents extraordinary inducements. We invite special attention to our OVERCOATS and SUITS. Both will give good satisfaction, and for bargains cannot be equalled by another dealer.

So make your purchases at once if you wish to save money.

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.
SOLICITORS—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten years five per cent. debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,210,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. The Dominion Bell ORGANS.

WE wish to call your attention to the benefit derived from the

that has lately been added to the above Organs. This improvement has been a long felt necessity, and one which has never been successfully solved before by any Organ Companies until the patent was secured for the above Companies directly from the Inventor.

Other Organ Companies advertise their organs mouse and dust proof, because they employ the usual method of blocking around the bellows, as we have done heretofore, but it is eminently unsatisfactory, and the only sure and efficient plan is that which we adopt, of covering the PEDALS and BOTTOM of our Organs. This attachment has runs throughout (with the exception of the Covers) having no cords, springs, or delicate mechanism to get out of order or repair, and works AUTOMATICALLY with the Fall Board of the Organ. The one simple act of opening or closing the Organ, simultaneously operates the Pedal Covers.

This improvement has been placed on all the different styles of Organs, and the aim is now, as in the past, to produce an instrument that HAS NO EQUAL.

All information and inquiries cheerfully answered. Catalogues sent free upon application.

Examine the Mouse and Dust Proof Organ before purchasing, and be satisfied that you have the best in the World.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1888.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, March 7.

For six full hours at the Legislature yesterday the light and heavyweight orators dived into the Quebec Resolutions and held up to the admiring gaze of their friends the fruits of their labor.

Mr. Whitney, who deferred his remarks on the resolutions on Thursday night, opened the continuation of the debate amid Opposition applause. He was apologetic at the outset, considering his youthfulness as a member of the House, and the fact that he was compelled by his convictions to enter the lists with so distinguished a man as the Attorney-General. He was, he believed, backed up by the majority of his constituents in his opposition to these resolutions. He viewed the veto power and the Senate both as a steadying power in matters of legislation and was in favor of the retention of both. As to the Dominion Franchise Bill he thought it was clear that the Dominion Government should control the manner in which Dominion elections should be carried on. He quoted from George Brown in support of his views. He imagined the breese that would blow if the Dominion Government formulated amendments to the British North America Act so as to give the Dominion Government the control of the Provincial franchise.

"There would be a universal howl," said he. "The wrongs of Ontario would be sung in every school house and on every platform." (Opposition hear, hears.)

As to the financial resolution, Mr. Whitney would confess his inability to discuss it. But one thing he wanted to know. The honorable gentlemen's friends were gravitating towards the idea of direct taxation. Where, then, were these increased subsidies to come from should the Reform party go into power, with the abolition of the tariff? He objected to the resolutions because they had not been and were not before the people, and that instead of the leading men of the provinces being invited to participate in the conference, only party leaders were called together, and even then the representatives of two of the provinces were not present at all. He agreed with the Minister of Education that it was a great mistake to adopt the British North America Act without the assent of the people.

Hon. A. M. Ross opened with a criticism on the speech of the leader of the Opposition. He complimented Mr. Craig on the logic, temperance and argument which characterized his speech. It was, he thought, superior, though less frothy, than that of the leader. He described the "loyalty farce," putting down Mr. Meredith as the chief performer. Replying to Mr. Whitney he stated that Conservatives were invited to the conference as well as Reformers. Sir John Macdonald and all of the Conservative Premiers were asked. He refused to countenance the accusation that the representatives of Ontario "struck hands with traitors" in discussing differences and trying to reconcile Nova Scotia and keep it within Confederation. Why, the Conservatives would not discuss them at all! and if the measures they advocated were proved to be inadequate they held that Nova Scotia should be at liberty to withdraw from the Confederation. The kid-gloved loyalty" men should remember the time when present leaders in their party signed a manifesto in favor of annexation.

If the tax levied by the Dominion Government increased as it had during the past ten years it would then be $105,000,000 a year, the expenditure would be $122,000,000 yearly, and the public debt would be $670,000,000. The hon. gentleman's arguments were so ludicrous that he (Mr. Clarke) would laugh at them himself.

He glanced over the history of the provincial subsidy question, and the unequal way in which the different provinces were treated. From this he argued that some definite way should be adopted by which all of the provinces should receive equitable, fair treatment.

"Mr. Speaker," he said, "this capricious way of granting assistance to provinces merely because they are in financial difficulty, and according to pressure they can bring to bear on the central Government, is pernicious in principle improvident in effect, and decidedly unjust to Ontario. [Loud Ministerial applause]. He answered Mr. Clarke's statement that Ontario was paying two-thirds the revenue of the Dominion by saying that this condition of affairs was before Confederation, and was entirely changed now.

Mr. Clancy said that while they should keep strict watch on the interests of the Province, they should be loyal to Canada as a whole. He criticised the financial aspect of the scheme under discussion, claiming that Ontario was not being dealt fairly with. Though Ontario contributed half of the revenue, as the hon. gentleman opposite admitted, Ontario would get, not half of the subsidies, but only $185,000 instead of $463,000. The Opposition were charged with opposing an increase of the Ontario subsidy, thus placing Ontario in a better position. Not so; the Opposition contended that with every increase the other provinces would be sure to share in it, and Ontario producing half of the revenue, would have to pay the increase. [Opposition applause.] He dissected the per capita scheme of distributing the subsidies, giving figures greatly to the disadvantage of Ontario. All of the other provinces would gain benefits at the expense of Ontario. When Ontario reached the limit of population when the subsidy would drop to 80 cents per head, Quebec and the others would have an advantage of 20 cents a head.

The hon. treasurer in a budget speech a few years ago conceded the contention of the Opposition that every increase in subsidies would pinch on Ontario, and this being the case the hon. treasurer said at that time they did not press for an increase of subsidy. And yet they, at the Quebec conference, agreed to the very thing objected to at the time the speech was made. He concluded that the Government were hard pressed for funds when they made such a sacrifice and were unjustly taking municipal moneys. By prodigal administration the hon. gentlemen opposite were obliged to lay the foundations for a provincial debt. The Opposition did not defend the present financial arrangements with the Dominion Government, but the present arrangements were infinitely preferable, with all their evils, to those proposed by the hon. gentlemen opposite. Even though Ontario were to be tied down to lose enormously every year, under the provisions of these resolutions what was to prevent the Dominion Government from making further special grants for railways and other schemes to the different provinces? The scheme proposed did note effect any cure whatever. [Opposition applause.]

If these resolutions were passed it would be by party loyalty, not loyalty to the Province or Dominion, and their passage would be to the shame and degradation of Ontario. [Applause.]

Hon. Mr. Ross gave a statement of what Ontario paid for the Intercolonial Railway, fisheries protection, Canadian Pacific railway and other things in which she had no immediate interest. He charged Mr. Meredith with criminality in being silent if he thought such a state of affairs existed, and insincere in raising his voice against their proposition to better the condition of Ontario.

He then quoted extensively from researches he had made in reference to the state of the municipal system in the Lower Provinces. He showed that the extension of the municipal system was much more wide in Ontario than in Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The total municipal expenditure in these provinces was 86 cents per head, while in Ontario it was $7.50. He argued from this that if the Ontario Government had spent in the maintenance of bridges, roads, schools, etc., what the municipalities had spent, their surplus would not only be wiped out but the province would be in as great financial straits as these other provinces.

After recess Mr. Ross said it was explained at the Quebec Conference that it was not, as the representatives of other provinces maintained, on account of Ontario's "better terms as Confederation" that Ontario was in such good financial condition to-day, but on account of distribution of the burdens on the municipalities. The other Provincial Governments were advised to extend their municipal systems but their representatives answered that the people would go into rebellion. Before Confederation the 10 per cent. duty provided all provincial expenditure. These provinces would continue to get into financial straits. They would continue to make demands on the central Government for relief. It was wise that they should arrive at some new way of distributing the subsidies, so that the people of each province would know just where they stood and govern themselves accordingly. The proposition of grading it according to population, with separate grants for Governmental purposes so as to be fair with the smaller provinces, on account of the Governmental expenditure being larger per head, was the fairest possible scheme they could devise. He proceeded then to argue that increased subsidies were due to the provinces on account of the large increase in Dominion revenue during the last ten years.

Mr. Meacham proved to the satisfaction of the Opposition that Mr. Mowat's "Redistribution Bill" was a gerrymander. The majority of those who sat in the Quebec Conference were Rielists and Secessionists. The subjects of discussion at the conference were similar to those agitated in state legislatures of the United States previous to the great war. Nothing was heard about that now. They should beware that the present discussion did not also drift into such a terrible result. He was in favor of giving the provinces the fullest and freest measure of legislative authority, but they should not forget that they were Canadians. The fact that they were one in seeking the best interests of Canada as large could not be too often emphasised. The veto power, as it was now vested, he held was proper in his opinion. In regard to the Senate he questioned whether the scheme set forth by the resolutions would improve its constitution in any way.

He would prove conclusively that the hon. gentlemen opposite should not object to the Dominion Franchise Act in point of expense. In Lennox the Reform party gained 80 votes by the revision of the lists. This revision cost $1200, or $15 a vote. Now if it cost only $15 a vote (and the Government paid for it) why should they object to the act when it cost Mr. Pat Purcell $18 a vote? [Opposition applause and laughter.] He suggested a mutual agreement between the Legislatures and Dominion Government as to what the franchise should be. He discussed the financial aspect of the resolutions much on the same line as the member for West Kent.

At the close the House broke out into frolicsome merriment. When Mr. Smith got up to move an adjournment the Oppositionists shouted a negative. The noise did not subside till Mr. Smith put on his little round hat and sat down. The Speaker was then allowed to put the motion, and the members wend their way to their domiciles through the bleak March night.

The Private Bills Committee presented its final report yesterday. Several bills were recommended.

The Municipal Committee reported Mr. Deak's and Mr. Balfour's bills to amend the Municipal Act, and Mr. Waters' Ditches and Water Courses Bill. The latter bill was opposed in committee by Messrs. Barker, of the Northern Railway, and Kingsmill, representing the Michigan Central. They thought if culverts were to be built under the railway tracks the municipalities should pay for them, not the railway companies.

The Fire Escapes Committee considered the re-drafted bill relative to the subject referred to the committee, and reported it.

THE SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

THE ADVOCATES OF THE BALLOT ROUTED.

Exciting Meeting of the Board—The Question of Voting by Ballot Ruled Out of Order by the Chairman—Further Developments Expected.

TORONTO, March 7.

The Separate School Board had a regular field night last evening. It was short, sharp and decisive, resulting in a victory for the supporters of the Archbishop. The advocates of the ballot were defeated, and the ruling of Chairman Vicar-General Rooney carried everything before it.

Long before the hour of meeting every available spot in the board room was crammed with spectators, many of them priests, all anxious to see what turn the debate would take. The clergy were in sympathy with the Palace, but of the lay spectators it was easy to perceive that the majority were decidedly in favor of the ballot. Whenever the champions of this method of election scored a point in the meeting there was hearty applause.

Though some very hard things were said by both sides, they were said in a gentlemanly manner. Vicar-General Rooney was the last to arrive, and when he called the meeting to order there were present: Vicar-General Laurent, Rev. Fathers McCann, O'Reilly and Maurice, Drs. Cassidy and McMahon, and Messrs. W. Burns, B. O'Byrne, L. Korman, W. Petley, R. Fraser, J. Monahan, P. Curran, D. P. Cahill, J. A. Mulligan, D. Kelly, James Ryan, M. O'Connor, C. Costello and John Mallon.

The first business was the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, a delay at which Trustee Cahill, who was thirsting for battle, demurred. The chairman suavely informed him that it was a work of order and necessity.

After formal business, Trustee Cahill moved, seconded by Trustee Thornton, that the rule requiring a month's notice of motion be suspended for the purpose of introducing the following motion:

That in the opinion of this Board an amendment to section 34 of the Separate School Act which would include 1, 2 and 3 of section 126 of the Public School Act granting to School Boards the option of vote by ballot, together with elections on the same day and place as other municipal elections, would be conducive to the best interests of the Separate Schools of this city.

"I make this motion," said Trustee Cahill, "believing it to be in the best interests of our schools. The matter has already been discussed in press and pulpit, and I believe that every trustee has made up his mind about it."

The chairman: "I thought there was already a motion to this effect before the board, but the matter may as well come up in this shape as not. I will now read you the following letter received by me to-day:

Very Rev. V. G. Rooney, Chairman of the Board of Separate School Trustees. VERY REV. SIR: We hereby protest in the name of the Bishops, Priests and good Catholics of Ontario against any measures respecting elections or any other business except that for which the Separate School trustees of Toronto were elected, namely, the management of the Separate Schools of the City of Toronto. Yours faithfully,

†JOHN JOSEPH LYNCH,
Archbishop of Toronto.

"Now," continued the chairman, "it is a well known fact that the board is composed of both clergymen and laymen, and this motion is only the views of a very small minority of the latter and no clergyman has had act or part in it, either as mover or seconder, and I therefore rule it out of order."

Trustee Cahill: "You cannot rule this motion out of order. If the board will not pass upon it now it will have to do so next meeting."

The Chairman: "I have ruled on this matter and will not discuss it."

This ended the battle for the time being. A little later the party in favor of the ballot determined to have an expression of opinion one way or the other. Trustee Mulligan presented the following notice of motion, seconded by Trustee Cahill:

"Whereas, His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto has expressed his disapproval of the ballot system of voting in the election of trustees to this board, and has in sermons and pastoral denounced the advocates of that system as bad Catholics, false brethren, allied with the enemies of the Church, and as being unworthy of receiving its sacraments; and, whereas, such a system of voting does not appear to militate against faith or morals, but is calculated to secure peace and good order at the polls, to promote charity amongst Catholics, to relieve many from the embarrassment and injury resulting from open voting, to remove the insinuations injurious to religion that the clergy coerce the Catholics to vote against the dictates of their consciences, and to generally advance the best interests of Catholic education. Therefore be it resolved that this Board appeal to Rome to decide whether the Catholics should exercise the right to elect school trustees by ballot."

The Chairman was ready for Trustee Mulligan. "I will answer Mr. Mulligan in a word. The Archbishop is as good a judge of Catholic faith and morals as Mr. Mulligan."

Meantime Secretary Hall had received the notice of motion, and presented it to the chairman. "I will not have anything to do with it," said the chairman. "I rule it out of order, and will not receive it."

At this point Trustee Kelly got up and made a long speech. He said he was still in favor of the ballot, but repudiated the conduct of his fellows in the struggle in making it a newspaper war. He wound up with an attack on what he called the Protestant press of Toronto for making any reference to the trouble in their columns.

Trustee Mulligan remarked that however much he might regret to be compelled to do it, he saw no other course open to him but to appeal against the ruling of the chair, and asked the board to accept the notice of motion. He made a motion to this effect, seconded by Trustee Cahill.

The Chairman reluctantly put the motion, adding that it was simply a question of whether the board by sustaining him would endorse the Archbishop or censure him by supporting the motion.

When the "Yeas" were called upon to stand up only four trustees did so. They were: Messrs. Mulligan, Cahill, McMahon and Riley. When the "Nays" were called upon to stand four other trustees refrained from voting. They were Dr. Cassidy, Rev. Father Maurice, John Walker and P. Curran.

Thus four trustees showed themselves stoutly in favor of the ballot, and four more refused to commit themselves one way or the other.

The Archbishop was sustained and the clericals breathed easier. Somebody asked that the meeting adjourn, the motion was put and the board broke up after one of the most exciting meetings on record.

BURNT TO DEATH.

A Mother and Two Children Perish in the Flames of Their Home.

CAYUGA, March 6.—About 1 o'clock this morning a dwelling house four miles from here, occupied by John Daley, was destroyed by fire, and his wife and two children burned to death. An Italian who slept upstairs barely escaped with his life by jumping through a window. Mr. Daley was away from home.

Fire at Berlin.

BERLIN, Ont., March 6.—Fire broke out about 10.15 a.m. in Bricker's livery stables on Queen-street, completely destroying the building. One hack, cutters and robes were destroyed. Insured for $3000. A frame dwelling adjoining was also burned to the ground. The contents were saved. Breithaupt's wholesale leather warehouse was slightly damaged.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1888.

MR. MOWAT'S MANHOOD SUFFRAGE BILL.

Hon. Mr. Mowat has introduced into the Ontario Legislature his bill providing for manhood suffrage for election of members of the Legislative Assembly. Since he has been in power Hon. Mr. Mowat has been gradually widening the franchise preparatory to the final extension of manhood suffrage. He is a liberal statesman not a radical. He does not make change for the sake of change, and considers his legislation very maturely before he procures its enactment. The Tory journals find nothing to object to in the measure introduced; they cannot insist upon the traditional policy of their party; it would be unpopular to do so, and in these days, thanks to the efforts of Liberal statesmen and the spread of Liberal principles, the Tory party rather courts the popular favour and inclines to out-Herod Herod in the way of radical departures. But they denounce Mr. Mowat for having procured the defeat of buncombe motions for manhood suffrage, moved by Mr. Meredith. Mr. Meredith it is perhaps not uncharitable to say, never moved a resolution in favour of manhood suffrage, in bona fide. He could not expect that a motion aimed as one of want of confidence, introduced at an inopportune time, should receive the assent of the supporters of the government. When Mr. Merdith introduced his motions, "nor time nor place did then adhere." The Legislature never meant to declare against the principle of Manhood Suffrage, and it will take something more than the asseverations of the lineal political descendants and con amore defenders of the Family Compact, to induce the public to believe any such nonsense. Because the House voted down Mr. Meredith's motions, brought forward in a form, evidently intended to embarrass the Government, with the object, not of declaring a great principle, but to make political capital, the majority of the Legislature put the proper interpretation upon his aims and intensions. Mr. Meredith's friends only make that gentleman ridiculous when they put him forth as a politician of the advanced school.

The following are the chief provisions of the Manhood Suffrage Bill:—

The first section provides that the Act is to go into force on January 1, 1889. The second abolishes property and income qualification. The third gives a vote to every male person of the full age of twenty-one years, a subject of her Majesty by birth or naturalization, not disqualified by the fourth and fifth sections of the Ontario Election Act, who at the time fixed for the return of the assessment roll to the clerk has resided for twelve months in the Province of Ontario, whowas at the time a resident of the municipality for which he is entered, and who, from that time until he has tendered his vote, has resided within the electoral district. The fourth section provides that a temporary absence in the prosecution of his calling is not to disqualify a lumberman, mariner or fisherman. The same privilege is given to a student in any institute of learning in Canada; but by the fifth section a student is not to be entered as a voter in the municipality where that institute of learning is, unless he is not so entered in any other municipality. The sixth section disqualifies criminals under sentence, patients in lunatic asylums, and persons confined in poor-houses, houses of industry and charitable institutions receiving aid from the Province.

The seventh section deals with Indians. Enfranchised Indians—that is to say, those who have the full rights and responsibilities of citizens—are to be placed exactly on the same footing as white men. Unenfranchised Indians, not residing on a reserve, must have the same property qualification as heretofore to enable them to vote; and unenfranchised Indians not having the property qualification are not entitled to vote.

The eighth section provides that the same qualifications as heretofore shall suffice in such townships of Algoma, East and West, Victoria East, Peterborough East, Hastings North, Renfrew North and South, Muskoka and Parry Sound as have no assessmet roll or voter's lists.

The next two or three sections show how the voter is to get upon the list. The assessor is to place upon the list every person who makes an affidavit of qualification in the form appended to the Act; and he is also to make reasonable inquiries as to what persons in his district are entitled to vote, and is to place them upon the list without affidavit. He must himself make an affidavit that he has not placed on the roll of voters any person not qualified; and that he has not intentionally omitted the name of any qualified person.

There will be an appeal to the Court of Revision and to the County Court Judge.

Personation, or attempted personation, is to be severely punished. Every person who at an election applies for a ballot in the name of some other person, living or dead, or who, having already voted, applies for another ballot, is to be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years, in addition to any punishment to which he is else liable, and every person who aids or abets him in such offence is to be treated as a principal offender.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

THE MINISTRY AFRAID TO MAKE THE PROTOCOLS PUBLIC.

"Combines" to be Made the Subject of an Investigation—The Divorce Cases—A Reward for Partisan Conduct—A Denial From the Secretary of State.

Ottawa, March 6.—The double shuffling of the Government on the Fisheries Treaty is the general subject of comment. It is believed Sir John Macdonald has prevented Tupper from disclosing the contents of the official protocols or Commission proceedings because the effect of the trade proposals submitted would be to give away the National Policy and confess its failure. Sir Charles had repeatedly promised the House to lay the protocols on the table of the House and pledged his knightly word that they would contain all proposals brought before the Commission. He then waits until Chamberlain sails, and announced yesterday to the House that he had received the protocols, but they did not contain the proposals he had believed they would. They were not ready to lay on the table, but it was too late to communicate with Chamberlain for permission to incorporate this important information. It is considered here to be a piece of barefaced shuffling on the part of the Ministry and Tupper's proposal to communicate to Laurier and Cartwright his ex-parte interpretation of the trade proposals submitted to the Commission is thought to be too absurd. It is an unprecedented thing to ask an official body of the House of Commons to take a private note from a Minister of official information which the country as well as the Opposition is entitled to have from an official source. Sir Richard Cartwright will try and get to the bottom of this matter.

Minister Chapleau denies that he has had a disagreement with his colleagues in the Cabinet over an objection to the abolition of the monopoly of the C.P.R. The Secretary of State also says it is not true that he will only sanction the employment of such foremen in the new printing bureau as spoke both French and English.

Mr. Richard Pope is to be suitably rewarded for his partisan conduct in gazetting returned members when Clerk of the Crown in Chancery. He is to be created Deputy Commissioner of Patents and Inventions, with the rank of a Deputy Minister, which brings with it a salary of $3200. Mr. Pope is at present chief clerk in the Patent Office.

Some time ago Messrs. A. F. Jury (Toronto), Geo. Collis (Hamilton) and J. F. Redmond (Montreal) were delegated by the International Knights of Labor Assembly to come to Ottawa and watch legislation in the interest of labor. Mr. Jury has arrived and the others are expected in a day or two. Messrs. Jury and D. J. O'Donoghue this morning waited on the Premier and urged him to introduce a factory act similar to the one in force in Ontario. The Government are not likely to pay much attention to this request, as they employ in the Government cartridge factory at Quebec thirty children, some as young as 13 years, who are compelled to work from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., averaging ten hours a day. They are paid as low as 20 cents a day, and are fined on occasion the same as adults, such fines going to the Government. This was the official evidence given before the Labor Commission yesterday and discloses shameful treatment of children of tender years by the Dominion Government.

Major-General Laurie's admission in the House yesterday that he had promised during the campaign in Shelburne that any recommendations he made to the Government would be carefully attended to, shows what kind of Tory ammunition was used to bring down the doubtful voters in a Liberal constituency.

The Privileges and Elections Committee met to-day and considered the Kent County controverted election case. The Minister of Justice stated that he differed with the Speaker in the issuing of a writ for the election, his own opinion being that in cases where corrupt practices were reported the House should deal with it. He moved that the evidence taken in the case be printed for the use of the committee, to meet at the summoning of the chairman. Mr. Mills hinted that the Government was delaying the matter because they wanted to freeze out the late Tory candidate, Smyth, and get the member for the Local Legislature to run as their candidate.

The Committee on Combines met this morning and elected Clarke Wallace chairman. It was resolved, on motion, to summon the following witnesses to give evidence: Charles Stark and J. A. Mathewson, Montreal, in reference to the sugar combination; Secretary of the Coal Cartage Company, Ottawa, in reference to the coal combine; G. H. Wood, Toronto, in reference to coal; George Harris, Ottawa, coal dealer, and George Lightbound, in reference to the sugar combination. It was stated in committee that combinations existed in Dingman's soap, Morton's pickles and McLaren's baking powder. A motion was passed authorizing the chairman to publish, in such papers as he deemed fit, a notice calling upon all persons who could give information on combines to appear before the committee and give evidence. The scope of the committee will be enlarged by taking in insurance combinations.

In the Standing Orders Committe the divorce petition of Mrs. White of Port Dover was allowed to stand in consequence of informalities. It is said that the petition in the Middleton divorce case will be withdrawn.

Depend Upon It.

Accidents will happen despite all care and painful injuries such as Sprains, Bruises, Cuts and Burns result. Every family should therefore keep Hagyard's Yellow Oil on hand, it is the greatest family remedy for all Pains, Coughs, Colds and sore Throat, Croup and Whooping Cough yield quickly to this excellent remedy. 2w10d

Well Worth Trying.

A medicine which has stood the test of time for many years and always given the best of satisfaction as has Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is certainly well worth trying for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness and all Throat troubles for which it is so highly recommended. 2w10d

Nasal Balm for

COLD IN HEAD

—AND—

CATARRH.

There is no disease to which Canadians are more subject than Catarrh—all ages and sex alike are numbered among the sufferers. It is impossible in the limit of a short newspaper article to describe the symptoms fully, but they may be briefly summarized: Cold in the head, difficulty in breathing, hawking and spitting, headache, pains in the region over the eye, stoppage of nasal passages, foul breath, dropping into the throat causing nausea and sometimes vomiting, poisonous secretions accumulating in the lungs leading to consumption. These are but a few of the many symptoms of Catarrh, a disease which affects 7-10 of our Canadian population. NASAL BALM is the only CERTAIN and POSITIVE CURE for this loathsome disease in all its forms and stages. NASAL BALM is the result of years of careful study, and is prepared with a view to radically cure those cases of catarrh, to which Canadians are most subject. It is not a liquid snuff or cauterizing powder, but a pleasant, never failing remedy, requiring no instrument or douche for its use. Easy to use, instantaneous in its effects, permanent in its cures. Ask for Nasal Balm and take no substitute of whatever name. For Cold in the Head there is no better remedy on earth to equal Nasal Balm. Do not neglect a cold in the head for in nine cases out of ten it will lead to Catarrh. Use Nasal Balm upon the first symptoms. This wonderful remedy affords instant relief and cures within a few hours. It can be used for the youngest child as well as for adults, and as a precautionary measure should be kept in every household. For sale by all druggists or sent in receipt of price (50c. and $1.00 per bottle) by addressing FULFORD & CO., Brockville.

PROOF OF ITS MARVELLOUS EFFICACY.

An Unequalled Remedy.

J. McKee, druggist, Peterborough, says:—Nasal balm gives the most general satisfaction to consumers of any preparation I ever handled. My sales are large and the reports from those who use it, fully substantiate your claims for the medicine as an unequalled remedy for catarrh in the head.

Worth Ten Times its Cost.

T. W. Hunt Port Hope says: I was a sufferer from a long standing case of catarrh and being well up in years (73) hardly expected to ever obtain anything that would give me material or permanent relief. At the time of receiving Nasal Balm I was very bad with catarrh, but take great pleasure in stating that on the second application I obtained wonderful relief and its effect was pleasant, soothing and bracing. It acted like magic and is worth ten times its cost for the immediate relief it gives. I feel confident the second bottle will effect a permanent cure. I have recommended Nasal Balm for cold in the head and in every case it acts like a charm.

Acts Like a Charm.

John Foster Raymond says:—Nasal Balm acts like a charm for my catarrh. I have only used it a short time and I now feel better than at any period during the last seven years. In fact I am sure of a cure and at a very small expense. wsaw

Feels Like a New Man.

A. E. Fish, merchant, Belleville, states: I take great pleasure in recommending your Nasal Balm to any one troubled with that dreadful disease, catarrh. I have been troubled with it for the past fifteen years, and can say candidly that I never had anything that gave me half so much relief as your Nasal Balm. I have only used two bottles and I feel like a new man.

Beats the World.

D. Derbyshire, president Ontario Creamery Association, Brockville, says: Nasal Balm beats the world for catarrh and cold in the head. In my own case it effected relief from the first application.

$1.00 for 50 cents.

Capt. D. H. Lyon, manager and proprietor of the C. P. R. and R. W. & O. R. car ferry Prescott and Ogdensburg N. Y. says: I used Nasal Balm for a prolonged case of cold in the head. Two applications effected a complete and thorough cure in less than 24 hours. I would not take $100 for my bottle of Nasal Balm if I could not replace it.

It Never Fails.

Ex Mayor Bowie, Brockville, Ont., says: I used Nasal Balm for a bad case of catarrh and it cured me after having ineffectually tried many other remedies. It never fails to give immediate relief for cold in the head.

COLONISTS FOR THE NORTHWEST.

The Second Train of the Season Leaves Toronto Last Night.

TORONTO, March 7.

Last night about 20 passengers left by two Canadian Pacific Railway colonist trains for Manitoba and the Northwest. They came from different parts of the province, and included families and young men who have taken up land at various points along the Canadian Pacific Railway. There is every indication that this year will be a great one for immigration to the Northwest. The number of people who inspected the Canadian Pacific Railway's exhibition car in 1886 was, on an average, about 200 at each place where it was shown. Last year the average would run up to 700 or 800. This shows the attention that is being given to the Northwest by Ontario farmers. Last Tuesday the first colonist party of the season went up. One hundred and thirty horses were taken on that trip. These were bought by people who had come down from the Northwest for that purpose. They paid cash for every animal. It is said the agricultural implement makers in Ontario have a very large number of orders on hand for Manitoba and the Territories—so many, in fact, that they will have all they can do to make the number of machines required. Next Tuesday there will probably four trains leave here. These trains consist of colonist sleepers and freight cars, containing the effects of the travelers. They go right through without change of any kind, and arrive in Winnipeg only about twenty hours later than the daily express. While there will be large numbers of farmers leaving Ontario and the older provinces for the great prairies, it is expected that the immigration from these sources will be insignificant compared with what will come from across the ocean. Manitoba's great crops of last year will have a wonderful effect in attracting people thither from all the old countries.

LIKELY TO BE PROLONGED.

The G. Strike Bids Fair to Continue Indefinitely—Chief Arthur Speaks.

CHICAGO, March 6.—"What are your plans?" was asked Chief Arthur this morning.

"To sit here and wait until the Burlington is ready to open negotiations."

"Will you seek a conference with Burlington officials?"

"No, sir; I have done all of that kind of business I can. Mr. Sargent and myself did not order the strike. The men asked us if they could not leave their engines, and we, after looking over the situation and failing to get any sort of satisfaction from officials, consented to them doing so. This carried with it the support of the whole Brotherhood. We cannot order them back. If they come to the conclusion to go back of their own accord they will notify us, and then our mission is ended."

"How long will this trouble last?"

"We are likely to remain in the city for some time to come. You can draw your own conclusions."

Offenders Under the Crimes Act.

DUBLIN, March 6.—Mr. Gilhooly, M.P., was to-day convicted at Schull for offences under the Crimes Act and sentenced to two months' imprisonment without hard labor. He will appeal.

Wilfrid Blunt was released from Tullamore jail to-day. T. D. Sullivan, ex-Lord Mayor of Dublin, Lady Blunt and a crowd of 300 persons welcomed him and presented him with an address. Mr. Blunt made no speech.

Mr. Snelling Vau, English Home Rule delegate, has been arrested at Limerick for offences under the Crimes Act.

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 6.—Rates on money exchanged at 5½ to 6 per cent. for call loans on first class security.

Probably on account of the satisfactory manner in which March 4 was passed, the stock market is firm, showing an upward tendency.

Call loans on stocks are quoted at 6 to 6½ per cent.; for discount the price is 6½ to 7½ per cent.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The kitchen garden part of the market was lively. There were a good many farmers in town and lots of purchasers. The poultry market is improved. Outside on the grain market business was brisk. Thirteen hundred bushels of barley sold at 72c to 79c, 500 bushels of wheat were sold at 81c to 83c for fall, 77c to 81c for spring, 72c to 74c for goose. Five hundred bushels of oats sold at 48c to 50c. One load of peas sold at 70c per bushel.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET.

Liverpool—Spring wheat 6s 7d to 6s 8d, red winter 6s 7d to 6s 9d, No. 1 Cal. 6s 7d to 6s 7d, corn 4s 7¾d, peas 5s 4½d, pork 68s 9d, lard 38s 0d, bacon 36s 0d, cheese 58s.

BEERBOHM'S REPORT.

Beerbohm reports to-day: Floating cargoes—Wheat quiet, corn nil. Arrivals—Wheat sold 1, waiting orders: Wheat 1. Cargoes on passage—Wheat and corn quiet and steady. Good cargoes No. 1 Cal. wheat off coast 33s 9d, was 34s.

French country markets very firm. Paris wheat and flour steady. Liverpool wheat and corn steady; fair demand. India shipments to United Kingdom—Wheat nil; do. continent 10,000 qrs.

To Cure a Corn.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's" and no other. 6dw10

One Good Point

Out of the many possessed by Burdock Blood Bitters is that it may be taken at all seasons of the year, and by either young or old. In this way the three busy B's are always at work and doing good. 2w10d

Bandages and Poultices

Farmers who live at remote distances from veterinary surgeons often lose valuable animals because they lack knowledge, not only of the disease and its treatment, but, in cases calling for outside applications, best methods of applying bandages. When hot poultices are in order it is very necessary that these should be adjusted so as to retain the heat and prevent an aggravation of the complaint which is likely to follow when the poultice is not closely held in place. It is with any application only wise and kind to so arrange a bandage that the beast will suffer no inconvenience from it.

FIG. 1—THROAT BANDAGE.

The first figure here presented, illustrates a throat bandage for a horse, that was described recently in Ohio Farmer. This bandage serves well for any outside application to the throat. If a poultice is used, as in the case of swollen glands, etc., it is advised to first adjust the bandage, then place the poultice in a cloth folded so as to retain it and draw between the bandage and the throat. After it has been adjusted, the halter is put in place. A liniment can be applied in the same way.

FIG. 2—CHEST BANDAGE.

In the second cut is shown a properly adjusted bandage to the chest. This will be found especially useful for applying liniments and like curatives in cases of lung fever, etc., or for holding in place a poultice on collar boils.

Well Spoken Of.

"I can recommend Hagyard's Yellow Oil very highly, it cured me of rheumatism in my fingers when I could not bend them." Ida Plank, Strathroy, Ont. A medicine for external and internal use in all painful complaints. 2w10d

Another Item.

Mrs. J. Thompson, of Elma, Ont., writes that she suffered from general weakness and was so reduced that at times she became almost unconscious. Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters completely cured her, and she now recommends B. B. B. to her friends and neighbors. 2w10d

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Books vs. Experience.

Books are useful to add to our knowledge, but practical experience teaches us that the best remedy for all diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Blood is easily to be had and is called B. B. B. 2w10d

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called
There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.
But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.
Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D. Tully and all druggists. dw

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.
SOLICITORS—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in each same as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten years five per cent. debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.69, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

The Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1888.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Weather.

Moderate winds; mostly fair, with with light snow in some places; a little higher temperature.

Is It March Winds or Maiden Modesty?

It is a nice question to decide whether it is March winds or maiden modesty, which leads the ladies to swath their lovely faces in heavy veilings so that their best friends don't know them. Why, a man met his wife five times yesterday afternoon without recognizing her. Her veil hid her features completely and he couldn't recognize her by her clothing, for she had purchased a complete outfit at the golden fleu, where any lady will find a superb line of new dress goods, dress trimmings, jet trimmings and ornaments, and all the elegant finery that goes to the make up of a stylish lady's outfit. Fresh foreign importations, therefore splendid goods and reasonable prices.

The Friday Matinee.

The children's portion of the carnival next Friday afternoon will perhaps be the most interesting feature of this great dual event. The rink is to be darkened and a couple of extra electric lights supplied so that the interior will wear the appearance of night. From the evident interest manifested by the youngsters in this carnival, which they will have all to themselves, it will no doubt be a brilliant success. Patrons of the "matinee," so to speak, will be equally if not more pleased with it than the evening carnival. The band will be in attendance. Handsome prizes are offered for costumes and races, and altogether there is bound to be a high old time at the rink next Friday afternoon. An effort is being made to have a half-holiday declared in the public schools for this purpose.

Their First Debate.

After routine matters had been disposed of at the Otonabee Canoe Club meeting last night, a debate was begun upon the query, "which is preferable, professional or farm life?" The farmers' lot was sustained by Mr. A. E. Scott, ably seconded by Messrs. G. J. Smith and A. Clegg. For the professional man there was an array of talent comprising Messrs. W. H. Hill, leader, Wm. Little, and A. E. Dixon. Besides these celebrities there were a number of others all of whom had more or less to say on the subject. Mr. John Millar, Commodore, was critic or judge, and gave his decision in favor of professional life—and from the arguments adduced pro and con the decision was a just one. This debate was highly successful, so much so that another one is to be held next Tuesday evening upon; "Resolved, that labor organizations are a benefit to mankind socially, commercially and morally." Mr. A. Clegg shoulders the affirmative and Mr. J. Millar the negative. Mr. W. H. Hill will occupy the chair. The annual meeting of the club takes place the first Tuesday in April.

Assignment of Stenson Bros.

It would appear that the assignment of Messrs. Stenson Bros., boot and shoe merchants, was not a matter of necessity but of choice, in this sense, that the prospect of a paying business not being favorable, though the firm were not pressed by the maturity of financial obligations, it was thought better that an assignment should be made before any deeper water was reached. A meeting of the creditors was held Tuesday afternoon when a statement was presented, showing that the assets were $8,546.90, and the liabilities $9,896.02, leaving the deficit only $1,299.12 or a little over ten cents on the dollar of stock. Mr. J. T. Stenson, who is the chief creditor, urged his sons to continue the business and he would assist them as he had done in the past, but the members of the firm were young and yielded readily to discouragement and declined to go on. They felt, from the dull state of business, that a stoppage was inevitable, and they took steps to make the loss as light as possible. They cancelled all their spring orders, and, on Feb. 1st sent back large quantities of goods which had been shipped. No business firm could meet their troubles more squarely or more honourably try to make the best of a failing business for their creditors. The firm made no proposition to the creditors but turned over all accounts and stock. No one can say that a business, honorably conducted by Mr. J. T. Stenson for about forty-five years, had any other then an honorable, though unfortunate, ending.

New and Attractive.

Styles and prices are correct at H. S. Griffin & Co's. This house is growing in favor, and has a steady increase of trade since opening in this live and go-ahead town. The public will find their stock very choice this season. 1d1w

Third Reading.

The bills before the Ontario Legislature of local importance mentioned yesterday as having been read a second time, have received their third reading.

Tickets Going.

The plan of the Opera House for the concert to-morrow evening is being rapidly filled out. There are very few seats left vacant now. There will be a big house present.

Now!!

The plan for the Harmony Quartette and Miss Howden's Concert is being rapidly filled. Those desirous of securing good seats must do so early. Plan at McClelland's jewellery store.

Groceries.

Great bargains in teas at the Palace Grocery. For the best coffee, pure, fresh ground, try Elliott & Tierney. A large stock of fine groceries always kept in stock.

"Sleepy Dan" Wins.

At the Cobourg races Tuesday, in the three minute trot, "Sleepy Dan" took first money, "F.O.P." second and "Blue Jean" third. W. Clancy's "Royal Jim" came in fifth.

Change of Date.

The date of the cricket club dinner has been changed to Thursday, 22nd inst., to avoid clashing with another public entertainment in the Opera House. Mine host McIntyre, of the Oriental Hotel will supply the menu.

The Meteorological Service.

Notices have been received by the Secretary of the School Board from the Education Department, notifying the Board of the last payment of $90 for the Meteorological service. This grant has been cut off from the Collegiate Institute in future.

School Attendance.

Reports of the attendance at the schools during February are as follows:

Drill Class.

The instruction class of the non-commissioned officers and men of the 57th Battalion who intend drilling for the examinations in accordance with the last Battalion order, recently published in the Examiner, will meet at the drill shed on Friday evening, where Sergt.-Major Rundell will be ready to give them a course of military training to meet the requirements of the paper.

Money Wanted.

In taking leave of absence on a trip to London and Leipsig markets to purchase furs for the next winter season, I return thanks to the public who have so liberally patronized the firm for the past 27 years, at the same time reminding those who are indebted to the firm, that money is wanted, as purchases at so early a season, favorable in itself, for cash, cannot be bought to advantage on credit. New stock of hats is the order of the day. W. Lech.

A New Lodge.

Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, has grown to such large proportions that it has been found necessary to establish a new lodge of the order. Tuesday evening a few of the originators of the movement met and resolved to apply to the Grand Lodge for a charter. Mr. W. Brundrette was elected chairman and Mr. C. W. Forbes secretary. The new lodge will start with a charter membership of about 13. They have chosen "Stanley" for their new lodge, in honor of the new Governor General.

A Grand Band Tournament.

A joint meeting of the band and the fire-brigade was held in the band hall last night, and it was decided to join forces to make arrangements for a grand band tournament, to be held some time during the coming summer in Peterborough. The tournament will last two days and will include band competitions, athletic sports, etc. It is proposed to present a prize-list of about $1,200 or $1,400. This is an enterprise worthy of encouragement, and if the boys receive the encouragement they deserve, they will make the tournament a magnificent success.

Legal Intelligence.

Following is an item of legal news of interest in Peterborough, taken from the Toronto law reports:

Peterboro Real Estate Investment Company V. Patterson.—Judgment. On a special case stated, the late Chief Justice of the Q. B. D. held that the defendants, Mary Patterson and Alexander Patterson, under the will of the mother, took an estate by entireties for their joint lives and the life of the survivor of them, and that the mortgage executed by them to the plaintiffs does not affect the estate in tail of their children in the lands in question, and does not confer upon the plaintiffs an estate to fee simple, or any other estate than for the lives of the mortgagors, the said M. P. and A. P. The appeal by the plaintiffs from this judgment is dismissed with costs. McCarthy, Q. C., for appellants. Edmison, (Peterborough) and Clute (Belleville) for adult respondents. Kerr, Q.C., for infant respondents.

School Matters Discussed.

Informal Meeting of the School Board—No Quorum—A General Talk on School Matters.

The Board of Education failed to materialize last night. Those present were, Chairman Stevenson and Messrs. Barnham, Hill, Rutherford, English, Denne and Dumble, and Secretary Morrow. Three of the school principals were also present, and those present talked over several matters of interest.

The following letter to the Secretary caused a stir, as it called for a pretty heavy expenditure:—

Toronto, March 1.

The Minister desires me to state, for the information of your Board, that some of the recommendations in the Inspector's last report are obligatory, and that if the Institute is not in the condition required by the High Schools Act, section 13 and regulation 62 by the 1st of September next, the status of Collegiate Institute cannot be continued after that date. The special Legislative grant allowed to Institutes, for the current half year, would in that case, not be payable.

Your obed't servant,
A. Marling, Secretary.

It will be remembered that the last Inspector's report called for a number of improvements to the Collegiate Institute building, among them a gymnasium, and several smaller things. It is estimated that about $4,500 will have to be spent to bring the building up to its requirements. Mr. Dumble revived his project for the erection of a new Institute building. The idea seems to be gaining favor among the members of the Board. It was thought best to wait till the Inspector revisited the school in June next, in order to get definite ideas as to the necessary qualifications, and his suggestions for carrying out the improvements.

Mr. D. Breeze made a most pertinent complaint to the informal meeting, regarding the unsatisfactory system of heating the Central School. At times the rooms got too warm, and some of the teachers, instead of turning off the steam, open up the windows and admit the cold air upon the pupils. His own little girl and a neighbor's child were now lying dangerously ill from this cause. They had heavy colds at other times during the winter, too, and if this thing was continued their constitutions would soon be undermined. Other children suffered the same way. The teachers had been spoken to, but instead of rectifying the error, the children were scolded for telling their parents.

This led to a long discussion upon the heating of the schools, and some queer facts were brought to light. For instance, Janitor Tighe stated that never, except occasionally in the Institute, was the steam ever turned off the pipes. It was the custom, he said, in case the rooms got too warm to open the windows. Mr. Stirling, Principal of the South Ward School, said that the heating of his building was so defective that there were two or three rooms that could never be properly heated in winter.

The ventilation system of the building was also "ventilated." It was admitted that the ventilation was very imperfect, and not at all in accordance with modern ideas. Mr. Dumble held up to praise the system of heating and ventalation adopted in certain Toronto schools he had visited. Mr. Stevenson thought the ventilation of the Institute building was not perhaps so very bad, but he knew for a fact that the registers were filled up with bricks and other refuse thrown by mischievous boys and never cleaned. Mr. Dumble stated that there had not been $5 spent on ventilation within the past fifteen years

Mr. Dumble brought up the question of extending drill and calisthenic instruction to girls in the Collegiate Institute. It was he said a requirement of the law that girls should be given instruction in this line, and why should not advantage be taken of Sergt. Major Rundell's services, which could be had for so reasonable a sum. He was doing the boys a great good, and the girls needed exercise as badly as the boys. Mr. Dumble read an extract from the American Magazine giving an account of the performances of girls in an American school in drill and calisthenics, and the great benefits they derived from it. The girls, he said, were in favor of it, and why should they not have it. Finally Mr. Long, Principal, was given carte blanche to arrange for the same without interference to his classes, the instruction to begin at once. Mr. Dumble offered, should the next Board meeting refuse, to pay for it himself.

The question of the increase of fees of county pupils was touched upon. The question was asked if a large ratepayer in the town, who resided outside the corporation limits, would be expected to pay the same rate for his children attending the Institute. The members were unanimous in the opinion that he should pay the tax the same as a county ratepayer.

Mr. Rutherford had a report ready stating that the contract for school supplies had been let to Mr. T. Menzies. The committee had also visited the schools and found everything satisfactory with a few minor exceptions that were mentioned.

Regarding a number of poor people who were unable to pay their school taxes, the chairman was authorized (as far as the informal meeting could do so) to remit the same and notify the Collector.

Mr. Denne was asked how his north ward school project was progressing. He replied that there was no use of his bringing the matter up as it would be voted right down. He was told that as soon as he came before the Board with a definite proposal as to site, etc, he could push it through without a demur from anyone.

The question of locking the doors of the Collegiate Institute was broached, some of the members thinking it not safe where so many children were congregated. In case of fire there would be a dreadful disaster. Mr. Long explained that all the doors opened outward, and if they were locked the bolt at the bottom had to be but slipped up and they could be pushed open without trouble.

Experience of Mrs. Peters.

Mrs. Peters had fills,
Mrs. Peters and chills,
Mrs. Peters was sure she was going to die:
They dosed her with pills,
With Powders and squills,
With remedies we', and with remedies dry.
Many medicines lored her,
But none of them cured her,
Their names and their number nobody could tell:
And she soon might have died,
But some "Pellets" were tried,
That acted like magic, and then she got well.

The magic "Pellets" were Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets (the original Little Liver Pills). They cured Mrs. Peters, and now she wouldn't be without them. a Sent Up For Trial.

William Kenny Committed for Forgery—The Other Charge Dismissed.

William Kenny, the young painter charged with obtaining goods under false pretences, was the centre of attraction at the police court this morning. Police Magistrate Dumble in giving judgment (reserved from yesterday) reviewed the evidence and said that as it appeared to him there had been no representation of facts proven on Kenny's part which he knew to be false—there was merely a promise to pay which he never fulfilled. He might have thought that Mr. Watson, his employer, was working at Hackett's old store and that he would advance the money to him on account of wages. The charge as laid he did not consider proven, and he therefore dismissed it.

[Note—In this regard Mr. James K. Bryson called at the Examiner Office this morning to ask us to correct the statement that he had last the charge against Kenny. Mr. Bryson may be under the impression that he is not the prosecuting party, as he states, but his name is certainly attached to the information paper and the prosecution was conducted in his name.

COMMITTED FOR FORGERY.

Another charge, of forgery, was lodged against Kenny by Mr. H. W. Watson, painter. The evidence adduced the following circumstances of the case. On Monday, about the same time as the shoe transaction in Bayeur's store, Kenny entered Gough Bros.' and proceeded to buy a suit of clothes, a hat and some shirts, producing the following order as a guarantee:—

Please give the bearer whatever goods he may require, and charge the same to
W. H. Watson.

Kenny, when asked who W. H. Watson was, replied "Watson the painter." While the purchases were being made, Mr. Gough, being a little suspicious, sent out to ascertain the validity of the order. Mr. Watson could not be found, but his wife and son gave it as their opinion that the signature was not his. Finally Kenny said he would go out and find Mr. Watson himself, and he departed after having been refused the privilege of taking his purchases along too. He didn't come back. That evening Mr. Watson came into the store and at once pronounced the order a forgery. The writing was not his, and the initials were reversed, those on the order being W.H. while his are H. W. These facts were elicited from the witnesses at the trial this morning.

Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the prisoner, and in his argument for the defence laid stress upon the point that there had been no proof offered that Mr. Hugh W. Watson was the man whose name was used or intended to be used on the order. There might be other Watsons in town, and he asked that the prisoner get the benefit of the doubt. Then the fact that there was a dissimilarity between the initials on the note and the complainant's initials led to the belief that it was some other Watson whose name was purported to be signed to the note.

Mr. R. E. Wood, C.C.A., appeared on behalf of the Crown. The magistrate committed the prisoner for trial.

ENLARGED AGAIN.

The case of obtaining money under false pretences was further enlarged till next Monday, owing to the severe illness of the defendant.

The Gran' Game.

A Victory for the Peterborough—Lindsay Vanquished at Last—The Champions Do the Act.

Two rinks of Peterborough curlers visited Lindsay Tuesday and beat their old-time conquerers by a narrow majority. Our curlers are jubilant over their success. Two matches were played, forenoon and afternoon, resulting as follows:—

FORENOON.

Majority for Lindsay—5.

This leaves a majority for Peterborough on the day's play of 4 shots.

THEIR REWARD.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson, as skip of the doubly victorious rink, was this morning presented by Mr. J. H. Burnham with a large steel engraving of a Royal Caledonian Club curling match on the River Forth, in Scotland, which has been waiting a claimant for some time in the person of the first skip whose rink would defeat Lindsay. The gift is to be hung up in the club rooms in Mr. Ferguson's name, where it will remain as a lasting tribute to Mr. Burnham's generosity and the prowess of the champion rink.

The Dominion Bell ORGANS.

WE wish to call your attention to the benefit derived from the

New Automatic Pedal Cover ATTACHMENT,

that has lately been added to the above Organs. This improvement has been a long felt necessity, and one which has never been successfully solved before by any Organ Companies until the patent was secured for the above Companies Directly from the Inventor.

Other Organ Companies advertise their organs incase and dust proof, because they employ the usual method of blocking around the bellows, as we have done heretofore, but it is eminently unsatisfactory, and the only sure and efficient plan is that which we adopt, of covering the PEDALS and BOTTOM of our Organs. This attachment has iron throughout (with the exception of the Covers) having no cords, springs, or delicate mechanism to get out of order or repair, and works AUTOMATICALLY with the Fall Board of the Organ. The one simple act of opening or closing the Organ, simultaneously operates the Pedal Covers.

This improvement has been placed on all the different styles of Organs, and the aim is now, as in the past, to produce an instrument that HAS NO EQUAL.

All information and inquiries cheerfully answered. Catalogues sent free upon application.

Examine the Moose and Dust Proof Organ before purchasing, and be satisfied that you have the best in the World.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY MONOPOLY IN MANITOBA.

An Interview Arranged Between Messrs. Greenway and Martin, of Manitoba, and Sir John Macdonald—The Parcel Post Treaty—The New Cavalry School.

OTTAWA, March 7.—Will the C.P.R. monopoly in Manitoba go? That is the absorbing question here just now. Deputy Minister of the Interior Burgess arranged an interview between Greenway and Martin of Manitoba, and Sir John Macdonald. The Manitoba delegates will represent the strong feeling of the people on the subject of the railway monopoly, and if they returned without the assurances of the discontinuance of the Dominion policy they could not be responsible for the consequences in the present temper of the people. Sir John Macdonald has said he fully appreciates the situation, but the C.P.R. was the block in the way. The outcome of the matter will probably be that the Government will propose to the House a bill amending the C.P.R. charter, depriving that road of its alleged monopoly in Manitoba, but continuing it in the Northwest Territories, with compensation to the company. One thing Greenway positively asserts is that he will agree to no compromise.

Many members are spending half their time in the library preparing ammunition for the great trade debate on Cartwright's resolution, which is to be moved a week from to-day. The debate will last several days, and Sir Richard's speech is sure to be a notable utterance.

Major Bell's effort to introduce his road from Point Arthur to Lake of the Woods into the settlement of the Manitoba Railway difficulty will of course be quite abortive.

Several Tory M.P. stumpers are in Prince Edward trying to wrest that riding from Reform allegiance. All the influence at the disposal of the Government is being concentrated against Dr. Platt.

The parcel post treaty with the United States has so far worked well.

To-morrow His Excellency will entertain members of both Houses of Parliament at dinner.

It is said the decision has been to locate the new cavalry school at Toronto.

The vote on the Scott Act resolution last night is well regarded by Liberals, as they say it shows the insincerity of the so-called Conservative members. Alonzo Wright was the only Ministerialist who voted against the Government.

Hay, of Woodstock, manufacturer of rattan goods, waited on the Finance Minister to urge that the Massachusetts firm, which had waited upon the Government several days ago for permission to bring in certain classes of similar goods free, be not allowed to do so, as it would injure his business.

A western deputation waited on the Finance Minister to-day to urge the removal of the duty from salt, as the American tariff committee had recommended that commodity for the free list. The deputation also wants an increase on English salt.

A deputation from Bruce, consisting of Reeve Scott and A. A. Lindsay, waited on the Minister of Public Works, asking improvements for Southampton harbor. Sir Hector promised to consider the matter.

It is expected that the Minister of Justice will introduce a bill making certain amendments to the Northwest Real Properties Act. These amendments, it is understood, will reduce certain crudities in the act which have been discovered during its operation since last year. One of the most serious flaws in the act is that contained in the clause making provision for an insurance fund to make good losses which might arise through errors in registration.

The Manitoba Government delegates say they have nothing to propose to Sir John, the object of their visit being to ask what he has to offer them.

A LABOR DEPUTATION.

The K. of L. Legislative Committee Interview the Premier.

OTTAWA, March 7.—A. F. Jury, Toronto; John F. Redmond, Montreal, and George Cohen, Hamilton, composing the Legislative Committee of the Knights of Labor for Canada, had an interview with Sir John Macdonald to-day. They were introduced by Mr. Cockburn of Toronto, Mr. Curran of Montreal and Messrs. Brown and McKay of Hamilton. Mr. Denison of Toronto was unavoidably absent.

The deputation asked that a Dominion Factory Act be passed. Sir John admitted the necessity of such an act. He said the Ontario Legislature had passed and proclaimed such an act, but it was not being strictly enforced because the Dominion seemed to dispute the province's jurisdiction. The deputation urged the necessity of an act applicable to the whole Dominion. Sir John advised them to test the validity of the provincial act and then he would move in the matter of a Federal measure.

On the question of a Federal Employers' Liability Act and Workshops Regulation Act the Premier gave them a similar answer. It was a matter the jurisdiction of which was not clear.

The deputation had complained of the baneful system of "assisted" immigration and called the Premier's attention to the item of $116,000 in the estimates for immigration purposes. Sir John said the Government had to expend a certain sum annually on advertising, etc., but he promised the deputation positively that no further sums would be paid in "assisting" immigrants to reach Canada.

Other matters will be talked over at a future day.

Mr. Jury will remain at the Capital during the session and watch legislation on behalf of the Knights of Labor. His confreres will assist at times.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, March 8.

The spirited debate in the Ontario Legislature on the Quebec Resolutions which has been carried on for four days, came to an end this morning at one o'clock, when the House endorsed the results of the Conference by a vote of 54 to 30.

An hour and a half's debate was indulged in before the chief business of the day was taken up. It concerned the justice of uniting two townships, Front-of-Yonge and Front-of-Escott, in Mr. Fraser's constituency. The Private Bills Committee recommended the bill on hearing the reeve of these townships and Mr. Fraser moved its third reading. But it seemed that a rival partly opposed the union of the townships, and members of the Opposition upheld their cause. The debate grew quite hot, and hon. gentlemen even went so far as to beg each other's pardons. A discussion took place and the third reading was carried by 51 to 29. Thus E. Scott got a Yonge bride, and the members braced themselves for Resolution debate.

Mr. East York Smith placed his little round hat on the desk before him and announced to the House that he did not believe in giving a silent vote, even though the resolutions had been already pretty well threshed out. But before he gave reasons for supporting the proposition he took the opportunity to discuss the murky views the leader of the Opposition took on this important question. Mr. R. E. Clarke's fancy figures, Mr. Meredith's wit and Mr. Craig's argument.

The leader of the Opposition had said the Attorney-General got the glory and Quebec got the money, under the provisions of these resolutions; a more unwarranted, untruthful statement was never made. [Applause and laughter.] Ontario was much benefited by the financial scheme. He wanted to know how gentlemen opposite were going to account to their constituents for voting against these resolutions. [Opposition applause and laughter.] Indeed every resolution was of benefit to Ontario, and except three or four of the resolutions none of the Opposition had the courage to oppose them. But a great noise was made about the proposal to take the veto power out of the hands of the great Chieftain.

Mr. Ostrom (West Hastings), regretted the party spirit which characterized the debate, and regretted this agitation for undue provincial rights. This question had been fought out across the lines, and was settled there forever. They should take warning from the drift just such an argument as this took in the United States. As to the veto power, he contended that it had been used judiciously, not beyond what the spirit of the constitution admitted of.

The framers of the constitution, he firmly believed, placed the veto power in the hands of the Central Government advisedly, as being the keystone of the Confederation arch. He made quotations to show that the veto power was placed there to be used when occasion required, be it seldom or often. If any evil came from the wrong use of the veto power it would right itself as it was at present placed. He reverted to the States rights idea concealed in these resolutions. He was sorry to find that the Government were supporting a scheme which would tend to teach the youth of the land provincialism and narrowness of thought instead of cultivating a broad national spirit.

He objected to the resolutions for two reasons. The meeting was ill-timed and the surroundings were unfit for a calm, dispassionate deliberation of so important a question. How could they consider the best interests of the country with Quebec still seething with the Rielite cry and Nova Scotia with the secessionist agitation? What was the result of this conference? The Provincial Treasurer had said the results were received with great satisfaction all over the country. When the great statesmen met in Quebec twenty years ago the whole country was agitated and burst into acclaim. Was there any such acclaim over this result? He thought not, but rather there was a suspicion as to what the results really were. The Treasurer had said that the Liberal press, the Independent press and Moderate Conservative press commended the resolutions.

Mr. Garson reviewed the speech of the Leader of the Opposition. It made him feel sad when the hon. member raised a whirlwind of eloquence to show how the prosperity and peace of the Dominion were to be scattered to the four winds by the passing of these resolutions, knowing as he did that they would be passed. The last speaker chided the supporters of the Government for the stand they took on the resolutions, and commended them to their constituents for taking that stand. But why did not the member for North Hastings give his opinion on the constitution? He touched on the veto power, Senate and Franchise Bill, agreeing with the resolutions. He went into an exhaustive elaboration of the financial aspect, making several comparisons between the subsidies Quebec and Ontario received. His contention was that the new arrangement would be distinctly advantageous. He presented figures to show that, according to the present increase of population, in ten years the two provinces would be getting about the same per capita, while under the present system Ontario would get 62 cents per head to Quebec's 85 cents per head. He charged both parties with taking to themselves more credit than was due them in cultivating a national sentiment.

Mr. Hudson (East Hastings) made a temperate reply to the last speaker. He said there was no need for these resolutions. There was peace and quiet in the province, and what was the use of formulating such attempts to break down the central authority? It was said that these resolutions were well received throughout the province, but he for one was willing to go to the people on this very issue.

Mr. Harcourt's diction was elegant and his speech as fluent as it always is. He confined himself chiefly to the discussion of the veto power, and the way he wanted it brought down frequent applause. He charged the Dominion Government with a persistent attempt to take away the rights enjoyed by the provinces, and it was their first duty to zealously guard them.

The Attorney-General moved that the House concur in the resolutions.

Mr. Creighton wished to administer a pill without coating. The pill was as follows, seconded by Mr. French:

That all words in the motion after the word "that" be struck out, and that the following be substituted: "The proposed mode of dealing with the disallowance of provincial legislation involves the transfer to a body not responsible to the people of Canada of powers now exercisable by a body which is responsible to them, and is otherwise objectionable and ought not to be adopted."

The amendment was lost on a vote of 54 to 30.

Mr. Meredith denounced the Government for such cowardly treatment of the Opposition. Such gagging was unheard of. He hotly went over what the resolution in regard to the Senate proposed doing and said it was grossly unfairness that the Opposition should not be allowed to express their opinion on it.

Hon. Mr. Hardy defended the Government, replying to several points made out by the Leader of the Opposition in regard to the Senate.

Mr. Ingram declared it was a vexatious thing that the Government should treat them in such a manner.

Mr. Creighton also put in his protest against the gagging process.

The question was put and the amendment to the amendment was carried on the division reversed.

Mr. Meredith asked for the ruling of the Speaker in regard to putting further amendments.

The Speaker said the carrying of the amendment to the amendment would preclude further amendments.

Mr. Meredith asked to have the ruling recorded.

TERRIBLE HOLOCAUST.

Fatal Fire in a Springfield Newspaper Office—The Dead and Wounded.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 7.—The new office of The Evening Union was burned out at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Six of the employes met a terrible death. Most of them jumped from the fifth story and were crushed into a shapeless mass below. Six others were badly injured. The unfortunate men and women who crowded into the editorial rooms met a horrible fate. Some were cut off in the composing room, and several fell back into the flames. The employes who rushed into the editorial room were cut off from the escape in the rear and had to face the horrible alternative of burning to death or jumping to the sidewalk below.

The dead are as follows: Henry J. Goulding, foreman of the composing room, burned to death; Miss G. Thompson, proofreader and Mrs. Fredh E. Farley, who was employed in the editorial department, fell from the window. Mr. Sannon of Quebec jumped from the window; W. E. Hovey of Boston fell to the sidewalk; Mr. Brown, a compositor.

The list of injured is: Thos. Donohue, compositor, left leg broken at the knee and had cut on the head; Timothy Dunn, compositor, arm and leg broken; Joseph W. Witty, compositor, badly burned. He clung to the window until the fire forced him to drop, but he fell on a ladder and was saved. G. F. Ensworth, compositor, compound fracture of the leg; Thos. Donohue, compositor, broken thigh, fatally injured.

Mr. Perrin Was Poisoned.

AYR, March 7.—The Government analysis received here to-day of the intestines of Wm. Perrin, who died suddenly on Feb. 14, reports strychnine found in the solid viscera in sufficient quantity to be easily identified by the usual reaction.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

A SCANDAL TO BE BROUGHT UP IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Venezuela Boundary—A Startling Rumor—The German Crown Prince—Emperor William's Condition—Russian War Preparations.

LONDON, March 7.—There is much gossip over Lord Randolph Churchill's probable line on Thursday night. It is going to attack the Government over their war estimates, or fire a broadside into the system which they are to produce? In either case he cannot fail to make some very damaging disclosures concerning the extravagance and folly of the English army administration.

It is known that a great scandal in connection with contracts will be brought before the House by two or three independent members.

Sir Richard Temple presided at a large meeting in Exeter Hall, London, last evening, at which resolutions were passed expressing approval of the policy of the Government respecting the boundary dispute in British Guiana, and urging immediate action to assert British rights to the extreme northwest limits. The speakers concurred in maintaining that the claims of Venezuela are untenable.

A startling rumor is afloat in London to the effect that the late Duke of Rutland left a son by a secret marriage, and that the peerage and vast estates which it was supposed would go to Lord John Manners, the late duke's brother, would be claimed by the heir.

The Crown Prince passed a good night. He is in a cheerful mood, with a good appetite. His cough and expectoration have nearly ceased. To-day he took a long walk in the garden.

Emperor William's condition is alarming. Prince William, the Chancellor, Gen. Von Moltke and the Court physicians are at the palace. The closing of the Reichstag will be postponed on account of the condition of the Emperor.

The Emperor awoke at 2.30 this afternoon, after a heavy sleep lasting since 2 o'clock this morning, and took some nourishment. His condition is critical.

10 p.m.—It is hoped that the Emperor, notwithstanding his present feebleness, may rally. During the afternoon no alarming change occurred. The slight nourishment he was able to take seemed to revive him. Prince William remained at his grandfather's bedside a quarter of an hour. Before leaving the palace Princess William visited the Empress.

This evening the first story of the palace where the Emperor's bedroom is situated was all lighted up. A constant stream of military men and government officials passed in and out. The street in front of the palace is kept perfectly quiet.

During the session of the Budget Committee this afternoon, Count von Shellendorf, the Minister of War, referring to the Emperor's illness, said there was no immediate danger.

A Berlin despatch says that at midnight the Emperor was not better and was in an almost comatose state.

The Russian Admiralty propose to increase the Baltic and Black Sea marine forces from 16,000 to 24,000 men.

The Government has ordered the Vilna and Rowno Railway to prepare for the transportation of a large number of troops. The peasantry of Podolia have received orders to supply large quantities of military biscuits, and farmers have been summoned to declare the amount of corn in their granaries.

Mr. W. H. Smith, the Government leader, announced in the House of Commons to-day that Mr. Goschen, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, would state the Government's proposal in relation to the national debt on Friday afternoon.

Ontario East Grand Orange Lodge Officers.

PORT HOPE, March 7.—The Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East to-day elected these officers for 1888: R.W. Grand Master, T. B. Collins, Millbrook; R.W. Dep. Grand Master, James Clarke, Ottawa; J. H. TRENT VALLEY MATTERS.

There is no denying the fact that there is extreme stagnation in business circles. The wave of hard times is passing over the country and Peterborough is getting its share of the dullness of trade. Money is indeed a cash article these days. The farmers have no money and therefore our business men feel the pinch very severely. There are no local works in progress to neutralize poor crops, as we had reason to expect would be in operation last summer. On the evening of February 22nd, 1887, Mr. James Stevenson M.P., made an address on the occasion of his election in the course of which he said (we quote from the Review):—

"He (Mr. Stevenson) stated that the Minister of Public Works (doubtless a slip of the tongue from Minister of Railways and Canals) had given him (Mr. Stevenson) every assurance that the Trent Valley Canal contract between Peterborough and Lakefield would be let during the coming summer. This was no electioneering dodge because the elections were now all over (cheers). He hoped next summer to see thousands of men employed in and about Peterborough (Applause.)

It may be assumed that Mr. Stevenson made this statement in good faith, upon the "every assurance" of the Minister. He and the public had reason to believe that the Government would go on with the work, because the Government by solemn official assurance was pledged and committed to the completion of the canal. If the Government had redeemed the pledge it led Mr. Stevenson to make in its name, what would have been the result? With one thousand of the "thousands of men" Mr. Stevenson said "he hoped to see employed in and about Peterborough," employed, which there would have been had the promise of the government been carried out; with thousands of dollars per day paid out in wages and spent in Peterborough, would our merchants and business men have reason to complain of hard times and "no money"? With an extra thousand bodies to clothe, with an extra thousand of stomachs to feed, with an extra thousand of feet to be shod—would the assignments which hard times have brought about have been made? By no means. Money would have been plentiful, business would have been brisk, and prosperity would have taken the place of depression. The Government owes it to Peterborough, (to take a local view of the case) to have had the Peterborough section under construction. The government owes the seat of its representative, in this riding, as well as several other seats in the Midland district, to the promises it made in connection with canal construction. No doubt Mr. Stevenson owes his seat to this very fact. Without having made use of the "every assurance of the minister his slender majority of sixteen would have doubtless been wanting. Why isn't obtaining supporters under false pretences as grave a crime as obtaining money or goods by the same means? The government has got the supporter but has not delivered "the goods." Instead, they have added insult to injury. After promising to build the canal they try to slink out of their pledge under cover of a commission. The people who feel the burden of financial depression; the business men who stand idle behind their counters looking for customers who visits are like those of angels, whose dread bank hours like the plague, can appreciate what the town and county have lost through the bad faith and duplicity of the Dominion Government in reference to Trent Valley Canal matters.

Burleigh.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

PRESENTATION.—On the evening of the 16th ult., a pleasant and interesting event took place at the "Stone Appointment." Rev. Eph. Florence, pastor was presented a purse by his people. Mr. Florence has been laboring for Christ in a series of revival services, and has won the respect and deep love of his people by his zealous and untiring interest in their spiritual welfare. Under the ministry of Mr. Florence, the cause of Christ has prospered, many professing a new birth and numbers being added to the church. We learn with regret of his coming departure from his present field of labor, yet we feel his talents entitle him to a larger work, and we all join heartily in wishing him success in all his undertakings, and may he meet with as firm friends as he leaves at Burleigh.

ASKING GOVERNMENT AID.

Deputations Seeking Assistance for Public Works—Tariff Concessions Requested.

OTTAWA, March 7.—Deputations for Government aid to public improvements continues to pour in. Kingstonians sent down a strong deputation to-day headed by Mayor R. Leslie. The others were J. H. Scott, M. McKendrick, L. Rightmyer and Robert Baird. They were accompanied by Mr. Bowra, M.P. for Hamilton, and saw the Minister of Public Works, the Postmaster General and the Minister of Railways. They asked for $5000 to complete the harbor improvements, and the deputation made such a good cause for the town that Sir Hector promised to include it in the supplementary estimates. They also asked for a new public building for customs house and postoffice purposes. This will be considered. The deputation's business with the Minister of Railways was for aid to extend the Kincardine and Teeswater Railway to Owen Sound.

Speaking of Kincardine, a bill was introduced into the House to-day to authorize the town to levy harbor tolls.

Mr. Small, M.P., and Mr. Stevenson, M.P., introduced to the Minister of Public Works Mr. J. B. Clarke, barrister, of Toronto; Jas. Quinn of Orillia, H. F. Switzer, W. H. Bennett, A. Burton and C. A. Phillips of Midland City and asked for Government aid for the expenditure of $26,000 to complete the harbor works at Midland City. Ten thousand dollars of Government appropriation, $10,000 from the Grand Trunk and $5000 from the town had already been expended on these works. The deputation were given to understand that if the town would contribute a further sum of $10,000 the minister would feel disposed to recommend an additional grant to complete the works. The deputation also requested that a new public building be erected at Orillia.

W. S. Scott and A. Lindsay of Southampton put in a stave in the interests of that town when the other deputations were being received.

Although the Minister of Finance has intimated that there would be no perceptible modification or extension of the tariff this session deputations continue to come to the Capital and ask various concessions. A deputation from Toronto to-day want the duty of 37½ per cent on English thread used in the manufacture of straw hats reduced.

HAMILTON WANTS IT.

Moving for the Location of the Cavalry School in the Ambitious City.

HAMILTON, March 7.—At the meeting of the Board of Trade yesterday, in addition to the motion respecting the alleged grain blockade in Manitoba, a resolution was passed recommending to the City Council the importance of urging on the Government the propriety of establishing the proposed cavalry school at Hamilton, and of offering proper accommodation for such a purpose at the Crystal Palace Grounds. The board will memorialize the Dominion Government to that end.

It was 5 o'clock this morning when the Clerical Committee which investigated the charges brought by Rev. Solomon Cleaver of Burlington against Rev. C. O. Johnson of Gore-street Methodist Church finished its labors and dispersed. The members of the committee were uncommunicative, but it is pretty certain that the charges of falsehood were not sustained. The committee, however, decided that Rev. Mr. Johnson was guilty of having used careless, uncandid and misleading language, and that Rev. Mr. Cleaver was justified in bringing the charges. The committee will recommend that Rev. Mr. Johnson be reproved by the president of the Niagara Conference. Mr. Johnson said this afternoon that he had not yet decided what action he would take in the matter.

A meeting of the provisional directors of the South Ontario Pacific Railway took place yesterday afternoon in this city. The necessary amount of stock was subscribed, and 10 per cent of it deposited in the bank. The Canadian Pacific Company will take over the charter, on payment of the actual expenses of the provisional directors for obtaining it, after which the Canadian Pacific Railway will build and operate the road on a route now being selected by the survey.

The sixth annual meeting of the Hamilton Coffee Tavern Company was held yesterday. The financial statement showed that the total receipts for the year were $10,021.34, and the net profit $1,077.55. A dividend of 10 per cent. had been paid on the stock.

Samuel Whaley was fined $4 by the Police Magistrate yesterday for cruelty to his horses. He drove into the city from Ancaster and left his horses standing in the cold four hours, until a policeman took them away to a livery stable. James Cooper, a lad of 16, was also fined $1 at the Police Court this morning for cruelty to a horse by unmercifully beating him with a whip.

A young man who refused to give his name, but who came from Toronto on the early train this morning, attempted to board the express for London, but fell, and the axle boxes caught him and bumped him along a short distance. He received painful bruises.

He adz: "My recovery, which is now on a sure foundation, hinges entirely on the compass of this wonderful Restorative, having tried other remedies without a bit of relief."

Another Item.

Mrs. J. Thompson, of Elma, Ont., writes that she suffered from general weakness and was so reduced that at times she became almost unconscious. Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters completely cured her, and she now recommends B. B. B. to her friends and neighbors. 2w10d

THE BURLINGTON STRIKE.

Other Roads Involved in the Trouble—The B. & S. Men Go Out.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Chief Arthur stated to-day that there was serious danger that the strike of the engineers and firemen would now spread widely. "It is impossible to appease our men," he said, "when they know that the railroad companies all over the country are giving aid to the Burlington."

So far as heard from this morning not a single road upon which the Burlington had made demand to handle freight responded favorably.

The men on the Burlington and Northern road struck without orders from Chief Arthur.

The Burlington strike is involving the other roads. At the stockyards this morning five Lake Shore engineers refused to take a train of Burlington cars from Englewood to Sixteenth-street, declaring that they would quit before they would haul anything bearing the Q label. The cars consequently remain at Englewood. The Wabash switchmen refused this morning to receive Burlington cars which were brought to the yards. At Root-street the switchmen employed by the Union Stockyards and Transit Company, which has charge of all the switching at the yards, also decided that they would handle no Burlington cars.

The twenty-five employes of the Q at the yards, whose business it is to care for the stock arriving over the Burlington, were discharged to-day, as there was nothing for them to do.

A Matter of Moment.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Grand Chief Wilkinson, of the Brakemen's Brotherhood, was summoned here yesterday on account of the following order issued by Burlington road:

"To Conductors: As we are now going to open up our business and will discontinue the running of pilots, we will expect you or one of your brakemen to show the new engineers the road when necessary."

As Mr. Wilkinson has formally stated that no brakeman or conductor belonging to his organization should do piloting, what action he will take is a matter of some moment.

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 7.—Canadian securities in England are active and higher.

The grain markets are less active and irregular.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The meat market still remains dull and weak; the supply considerably exceeds the demand and prices accordingly are low. The Lenten season of fish is now in full running, but prices still hold the figure they stood at when the season opened. Poultry was scarce to-day, as high as 85c per pair being paid for chickens. On the grain market 500 bushels barley sold at 73c to 79c, and 300 bushels of wheat at yesterday's prices. There were no peas or oats offered.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET.

Liverpool—Spring wheat 6s 7d to 6s 8d, red winter 6s 7d to 6s 8d, No. 1 Cal. 6s 7d to 6s 7d, corn 4s 7½d, peas 5s 4½d, pork 62s 9d, lard 39s 6d, bacon 36s 6d, cheese 56s.

OSWEGO BARLEY MARKET.

Oswego reports barley to-day quiet at the following prices: No. 2 ex. Can. 92, No. 1 Can. 96, No. 1 bright 98. Shipments 1000.

The Oil Market.

Oil was again very active in the New York market and strong, opening 1¼ higher at 100, and advanced to 100½, the tendency was then lower for the rest of the day, touching 97 and closing at 97½.

At Oil City to-day oil opened at 99, touched 99¾ and 97½, and closed at 98¾.

To Cure a Corn.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's" and no other. 6dw10

One Good Point

Instructive Figures in Egg Production.

A French authority gives the following as the average weight of eggs from different breeds: Light Brahmas and Partridge Cochins' eggs, 7 to the pound; they lay, according to treatment and keeping, from 80 to 100 per annum, oftentimes more, if kept well. Dark Brahmas, 6 to the pound, and about 70 per annum. Black, white and buff Cochins, 6 to the pound; 100 is a large yield per annum. Plymouth Rocks, 6 to the pound, lay 100 per annum. Houdans, 6 to the pound, lay 120 per annum; non-setters. La Fleche, 7 to the pound, lay 130 per annum; non-setters. Black Spanish, 7 to the pound, lay 150 per annum. Dominiques, 9 to the pound, lay 130 per annum. Game fowls, 9 to the pound, lay 120 per annum. Creve-cœurs. 7 to the pound, lay 150 per annum. Leghorns, 9 to the pound, lay from 150 to 200 per annum. Hamburgs, 9 to the pound, lay 170 per annum. Polish, 9 to the pound, lay 160 per annum. Bantam, 16 to the pound, lay 60 per annum. Turkeys' eggs, 5 to the pound, lay from 30 to 60 per annum. Ducks' eggs vary greatly with different species, but from 5 to 6 to the pound, and from 14 to 28 per annum, according to age and keeping. Geese, 4 to the pound, lay 30 per annum. Guinea fowls, 11 to the pound, lay 60 per annum. Large eggs have generally a thicker shell than smaller ones.

Depend Upon It.

Accidents will happen despite all care and painful injuries such as Sprains, Bruises, Cuts and Burns result. Every family should therefore keep Hagyard's Yellow Oil on hand, it is the greatest family remedy for all Pains, Coughs, Colds and sore Throat, Croup and Whooping Cough yield quickly to this excellent remedy. 2w10d

Books vs. Experience.

Books are useful to add to our knowledge, but practical experience teaches us that the best remedy for all diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Blood is easily to be had and is called B. B. B. 2w10d

Well Worth Trying.

A medicine which has stood the test of time for many years and always given the best of satisfaction as has Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is certainly well worth trying for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness and all Throat troubles for which it is so highly recommended. 2w10d

Well Spoken Of.

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald,
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our race;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Sustain it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was never yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. PRESIDENT,.....A. G. RAMSAY, F. I. A.

CAPITAL AND FUNDS OVER $3,000,000
ANNUAL INCOME OVER $1,000,000

The continued steady increase of the Company's business, NOW EXCEEDING THE AGGREGATE OF ALL THE OTHER CANADIAN COMPANIES, and being more than a fourth of the entire Life Assurance business of the Dominion; its favorable mortality; its moderate expenses, and the high character of its investments, afford good grounds for highly favorable and satisfactory profits to its assurers and EXPLAINS THE CAUSE OF THE UNPARALLELED SUCCESS OF THE COMPANY FOR THE LAST 41 YEARS.

Intending Assurers should, in their own interests, examine the rates and profits of this OLD RELIABLE and Successful Institution, before insuring elsewhere.

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.
SOLICITORS—Dumble & Leonard.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amount deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is four per cent., either paid or compounded half yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is five per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten years five per cent. debentures of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1,000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested with the utmost care and precaution, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the Shareholders having the second. The last audit shows that the amount so invested was over $1,310,223.89, and on securities of at least double that value.

By the Laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all farther liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate Security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest. The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments or otherwise, as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed. Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the agents.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Weather.

Moderate winds; fair weather, with a little higher temperature.

Industrial School for Peterborough Women.

A gentleman of means is quietly talking up the idea of establishing an industrial school in Peterborough for girls and women, and his scheme has taken so much shape that he has the building already in view. It is proposed to teach girls particularly, sewing of all kinds, so that in after life they may be their own dress and mantle makers. The project may be feasible but there is doubt of its success while miss nell, the accomplished modiste, has charge of the dress-making and mantle-order department of the golden lion. The choicest stock of imported goods and a perfect fit.

The Fire.

The store-house of Messrs. Douglass & Logan, carriage manufacturers, Brock street, was burned to the ground with all its contents last night about half-past ten o'clock. The fire had gained good headway before it was observed, and by theatime the alarm had been rung and the brigade called out the building was doomed. Fortunately it was an isolated wooden structure, and the flames were prevented from spreading further. In it was stored nearly a whole winter's work, fully $2,000 worth, on which there is an insurance of $1,500 in the Royal. Mr. W. Paterson owned the building and carried a small insurance — about sufficient to cover the loss.

The Deadly Mansard.

Frequent are the escapes from serious injury, and even death, occurring every day to pedestrians passing along the streets from the masses of snow and huge icicles depending from the mansard roofs, which, becoming loosened by the sun's warmth, fall to the sidewalk forty or fifty feet below with force enough to kill a man, and with a deafening crash that draws from him a silent prayer of thankfulness that he didn't happen to be the object it descended upon. These, literally, impending dangers should be removed.

Drawing Nigh.

To-morrow the greatest event of the season takes place at the rink. It occupies both afternoon and evening, and for brilliancy, magnitude and attractiveness it is fully expected will eclipse all previous carnivals. The children's carnival will be held in the afternoon, and the one for adults in the evening. The admission to each of these resplendent panoramas is only a quarter, children 15c. The usual rules and regulations will be adhered to. The band will be in attendence. Parents should turn out en masse in the afternoon.

That Scrap-iron Swindle.

Every day confirms the fact that it was a swindle out and out. The bank holds the car of iron and the men from whom it was bought are philosophically resigning themselves to the inevitable, and entering the amounts for which they were "done" in their profit and loss accounts. Last week Acting Chief Adams wrote to about a dozen towns and cities enquiring of the identity of the two men who had conducted the swindle, and yesterday he received a reply from Chief McKinnon, of Hamilton, to the effect that the men named (who when here registered at the hotels as H. Webber and M. Cohen) were residents of that city and were probably there now. The law provides for no redress in a case of this kind, and so the Peterborough men are obliged to lose their property with no opportunity to wreck vengeance on the heads of the swindlers.

An Easy Runaway.

The Italian who is sole proprietor and manager of the mammoth peanut and candy establishment that does business on wheels at the corner of George and Hunter Streets was the object of the threatened vengeance of the owner of a runaway horse this morning. Ye Italia man was wheeling his caravan along the street when Mr. W. Fitzgerald's horse, tied in front of Kingan & Co's hardware store, became frightened at the moving spectacle and ran away up Hunter street over the hill, across to Charlotte street, and down Charlotte to Aylmer, where he was stopped without having done any more damage than breaking a couple of braces. Mr. Fitzgerald thinks the Italian ought to be more careful. When he saw the horse becoming restive, instead of stopping still, he moved on with his ambulance regardless of whether the animal ran away or not. He should certainly be made to exercise a little more care in this regard.

Funeral.

The funeral of the late J.A. Hartley, yesterday afternoon was very largely attended, an evidence of the high esteem in which the deceased gentleman was held.

Groceries.

Great bargains in teas at the Palace Grocery. For the best coffee, pure, fresh ground, try Elliott & Tierney. A large stock of fine groceries always kept in stock.

Coal Oil.

China Hall will deliver to any part of the Town, Ashburnham and Auburn, best Canadian Oil for 20c., and American water-white at 30c. per imperial gallon.

Before the Public.

Mr. Thos. L. Beyear, boot and shoe merchant, is placing a number of new signs in front of his store. He is bound to keep to the front in the race for success.

Stone Drawing.

Every day large masses of rock, taken from Dummer quarries, are being drawn through town to the locks bridge. They are to be used in the erection of the new piers for the bridge.

Awnings.

Mr. J.J. Turner has just completed for Hall, Innes & Co, a set of handsome awnings for the front of their store. Mr. Turner understands his business and supplies not only the town but a large part of the Midland district.

A Live Express Parcel.

Says the Hastings Star:—"A live express parcel, in the shape of a little girl about 8 years old, duly tagged, passed through here on Monday morning, consigned to the Barnardo Home, Peterborough."

C. P. R. Official Relieved.

"A" has on a pair of kidd's hand sewed boots. "C" is only on his way down from Lakefield for a pair of the same kind. "B" came back—got kidd's best cordovan boots, and reached Lakefield in 117 minutes—more or less.

Norwood Oddfellows.

The Norwood Oddfellows are making strenuous efforts to have their grand concert on Tuesday, the 13th inst., pass off with eclat. It is expected quite a number of the brethren and their friends in Peterborough will go down on the occasion.

Rinkists.

The rink has been beautifully decorated for the carnival to-morrow.

There will be no skating to-night nor to-morrow forenoon.

Caretaker John Cousins is going to "spread himself" in making ice for the carnival. John knows just how to doit, too.

It is Becoming a Household Word.

Go to W. J. Morrow's for fine teas. An immense stock and all fresh goods. Owing to our large jobbing business we buy in larger quantities and will give better value than other houses. All kinds of fish, salmon, haddock, fresh herring, etc., Opera House Block. Telephone.

The Snow Plough's Work

Says the Campbellford Herald:— "The snow plough went over the Grand Junction rail between Belleville and Peterborough to clear off the drifts which were forming by the storm on Saturday last. It arrived here from the east at half-past six in the morning. Not a single train has been delayed by snow-drift this winter."

Ship Social and Concert

Given in Bradburn's Hall, March 19th, under the management of the Ladies' Aid of the Charlotte street church. Refreshments served from 6 bells to 8 bells at 10 cents each passenger. At the 8 bells the captain, crew and passengers will assemble on deck, each voyager paying 25 cents to hear the liquid notes of a rare programme of music, etc. The ship good to carry 1000 passengers.

Grand Black Chapter.

The annual council of the Provincial Grand Black Chapter of Eastern Ontario opened in Port Hope on Monday, the 5th inst., and was held in the District Orange Hall. The officers elected are as follows:—Grand Master, Robert Robinson, Tweed; Deputy Grand Masters, James Evans, Port Hope, John Smith, Peterborough; Grand Chaplain, Rev. W.T. Smithelt, D.D., Omemee; Deputy Grand Chaplains, Rev. Andrew Gordon, D.City; L.S. White, Amherst Island; W. Howard, Morven; E.G.P. Sanderson, Kingston. Grand Registrar, L. McGowan, Napanee. Deputy Grand Registrar, J. L. Winters, Lindsay; Grand Treasurer, R. Weir, Peterborough; Deputy Grand Treasurer, G.H. Campbell, Peterborough; Grand Lecturers, John Shepard, Ottawa, Thomas Murtagh, Lindsay; Standard Bearers, W.H. Cragg, Tweed, James Elliott, Thousnsburg; Grand Censors, Wm. Cairns, Ottawa, George Hall, Peterborough; Grand Pursuivant, W. R. King, Peterborough; Grand Committee—John Pearce, Cobourg; Joshua Scott, Lindsay; James Marshall, Kingston; G.B. Fraser, Campbellford; Capt. Duncan, Carleton; Albert Bradley, Hastledean; Joseph Brown, Lindsay.

Brutal Treatment of an Orphan Boy.

The case of Wm. Edwards, aged 15, an orphan from Dr. Barnardo's Home, who has been in the service of Mr. Thos. Timlick for the last eighteen months, was tried at Hanesville, Dundas county, on Saturday last, 3rd inst., before Mr. David Thompson, J.P., and Mr. Gibbons, J.P., at the instance of Captain W. G. Annesley, Royal Navy, Superintendent of Dr. Barnardo's Home, Peterborough, Mrs. Timlick having been tried and fined with costs on Feb. 18th, at the instance of Mr. Hiram Froom, who came forward nobly backed by the worthy people of Matilda township, who were determined to stop it. It is a case of exceptional brutality; the husband and wife seemed to vie with each other in cruelty worthy of the days of slavery. It came out in evidence that when getting in the hay last season Mr. Timlick knocked the boy off the load, struck him on the face when on the ground, blackening his eyes and bruising his nose and lip. At another time he was seen to kick him, and threatened to thrash him till the blood ran down his heels. At another time when in the woods he struck him on the head with a large stick or pole in one of his passions. Mrs. Timlick beat him so unmercifully with a whip that the person whose house he went to for protection said she thought he would die. Although by the rules of the Home Mr. Timlick could have returned the boy at any time on a month's notice, he made no complaint until after the first trial, and the schoolmaster and another witness gave evidence of the boy's good character, the latter stating that Thos. Timlick had admitted to him that Edwards was a good boy, had helped him in with his last harvest and saved a man's wages.

Barlee—Strickland.

This morning, at 10.30 o'clock, St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, was filled with an eagerly expectant assemblage who were present to witness a wedding—one of those events that always cause a stir in society everywhere. A large number of those present were relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties, Mr. Fred. R. S. Barlee, son of the late F. Barlee, Esq., Lakefield, and Miss Emma M., daughter of Mr. H. T. Strickland, Ashburnham. Rev. W.C. Bradshaw performed the ceremony, in which the choir assisted by rendering an appropriate hymn and anthem. Mr. Jaques played the wedding march on the organ as the procession was leaving the church. The bridesmaids were Miss Minnie Strickland, sister of the bride, Miss Daisy Morgan and Miss Barlee, sister of the groom. The groom was supported by Messrs. Walter and Percy Strickland and Mr. Hillyard. The dresses were all plain, as it was the intention of the newly-wedded couple to leave an hour later on a trip eastward. The bridal gifts were numerous and exceedingly beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Barlee left on the 11.30 C.P.R. train for Montreal. They have the unanimous wish of a large circle of warm friends for their future happiness.

Personal.

Rev. P. Conway, of Norwood, was in town to-day.

Mr. Robert Fair, of the Golden Lion, took a business trip to Toronto to-day. He is after more spring goods.

Mr. Hugh Ray left last night for Winnipeg, where he will spend about three months before returning to Peterborough.

Mr. J. O'Meara barrister, has returned from London where he has been since last week on professional business.

The Harmony Male Quartette of Toronto, Messrs. J.J. Jerome, F.T. Chambers, Jno. Kidner and F.G. Adamson, are registered at the Grand Central Hotel.

Mr. Cluxton's paper on Commercial Union will be printed in the pamphlet about to be issued by the Commercial Union Club Toronto. This is a practical compliment, of which Mr. Cluxton has reason to be proud.

Curliana.

Where, Oh Where are the Peterborough Curlers?

Our sporting editor had laid himself out to-day for a big "splurge" under this heading in anticipation of a brilliant victory over the Bobcaygeonites by the two rinks of local curlers who went out to that benighted region yesterday. But all his plans have been "knocked into a cocked hat." No returns have been received yet, either as to the result of the match or the whereabouts of our curlers. They certainly left Peterborough yesterday morning, and their friends are at a loss to account for their inexplicable disappearance. A rumor is afloat that they arrived at Bobcaygeon all right, played the match and sailed for home again, but it lacks confirmation. If any traveller or stranger in town has seen aught of the missing men, he will confer a great favor by notifying the secretary of the Peterborough Curling club.

TO MILLBROOK.

Skip Bradburn takes a rink to Millbrook to-morrow to play a match. Port Hope wants Peterborough to send down two or three rinks to that town, but as they could not play there and get back the same evening, if it can be arranged, three rinks will go to Millbrook and play the Port Hopers there to morrow.

Benefort.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

There was a very good attendance at the usual meeting, which was held in the hall on Thursday, 1st inst. A choice literary programme, consisting of readings and recitations, vocal and instrumental music, was rendered by Misses McAllister, McLelland and Galloway, and Messrs. W. Waterman, J. Kerr, S. Smitheon and Price. The debate was the most interesting and the most ably managed of any that has yet been held under the auspices of this society. The subject was: Resolved—that the mental capacity of man is greater than that of woman. The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. Robt. Emberson, Chas. Stirton and S. Smitheon, while woman was defended by Messrs. Ed. Stirton, Geo. McLelland and Thos. Truscott. The decision was given by the chairman in favor of the negative.

Messrs T. and A. Pue, with their families, late of Otonabee, have moved into our village and are occupying the residence owned by Mr. D. Morrison, and formerly occupied by Mr. Cowlin, who has moved further down King street to the house owned by Mr. W. Emberson. We welcome the Messrs. Pue and wish them success in their undertaking in regard to building and operating the cheese factory.

The scholars of No. 3 Sunday School are very busy preparing for their coming entertainment, which will be held in No. 3 school house on Wednesday, the 14th.

Rev. Mr. Courtice, of Bethany, preached an eloquent educational sermon on behalf of the Educational Fund, in the Benefort Methodist church on Sunday last.

Mr. Lippett and son are busily engaged in moving from this locality, the former's intention being to return to his Hope farm and the latter to work his farm near Lakefield. At the sale held on the 1st inst., the stock sold readily and at good prices.

We believe Mr. O. Huggins is about to move his family utensils and feed to his farm near Lindsay. We hope his natural shyness will not deter him from taking with him all necessary to a successful farming career.

Our ex-reeve has just recovered from a rather severe attack of illness.

Wm. R. Pue left recently for Manitoba, where he intends to spend the summer and remain if N.W. air suits him.

The township will do a fair share of business with the town the present month, weather permitting, as it is expected the connection will shortly afterwards be cut for the summer, by the removal of the ice.

Brought Here for Burial.

His many friends will will extend their sympathy to Mr. Michael Sullivan, who this morning received a telegram announcing the death of a little granddaughter at Essex Centre. The body, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kennedy, the parents, will arrive in town at noon to-morrow, and the funeral will take place from the residence of Mr. Sullivan, corner of George and Edinburgh streets.

The Cayuga Tragedy.

CAYUGA, March 7.—Very little can be learned definitely about the burning to death of the wife and two children of John Daly when his house was destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning, but it is thought that there was foul play. Mr. Daley was absent at the time, and there was no man near excepting an Italian who worked for the family and slept upstairs. He says he had a narrow escape, having to jump from the upper window, but it is thought he knows more than he is willing to tell. He walked about a mile, passing two farm-houses, before he gave the alarm, and parties visiting the fire could see on the ground floor of the burning building the charred remains inside and think if all had been right they might have escaped. It is also said the Italian purchased a revolver a few days ago. The Italian has been arrested on suspicion. The inquest has been postponed until to-morrow.

The Coal Barons in Session.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The six great coal companies to-day decided to make a reduction of 50 cents per ton in coal, and the new schedules have been made up on that scale. The following are the new prices for the spring schedules: Broken $3.75, egg $4, stove $4.25 and chestnut $4.25. These prices are 10 cents higher than the spring schedules in 1887.

Shocking Accident at Glencoe.

GLENCOE, March 7.—About 7 o'clock this morning the head and part of the body of a man were discovered in the cattle yard at Main-street crossing and were shortly afterwards identified as the remains of Wm. Edwards, section boss on the air line division. From traces and parts of the body lying along the track it appears he was struck about 150 yards from the crossing by the west-bound train.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A very successful social event took place at the residence of Mr. Edward M. Sanderson on Friday evening March 2nd.

It afforded the company much pleasure to meet Mr. Wm. Sanderson, eldest son of Mr. Sanderson, who has been absent from the neighborhood for the past month, and has returned, bringing with him a partner for life. Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson received the hearty congratulations of the guests, and the unanimous wish that their future life might be one of prosperity and happiness. The usual amusements and games on such occasions were indulged in for a considerable length of time, when all partook of a very sumptuous repast. After spending a very social and pleasant evening the company left for their respective homes, all being exceedingly pleased with their evening's enjoyment.

Mr. Hugh B. Meharrey has sold his farm to Mr. J. W. Greer, of Mount Pleasant, the price paid being $80 per acre.

To Workingmen

A Word with you. Do you comprehend the importance of our ANNUAL CLEARING SALE? Do you realize how you and your family can be benefited by taking advantage of this great opportunity? Do you know that you can now buy yourself or your children an OVERCOAT or a SUIT for less money than ever before? We have Overcoats for $5.00, well made and trimmed, and a big assortment of OVERCOATS FOR ONLY $6.00. The last named are Coats that are sold during the regular season for $8.00, and that other dealers asked as high as $10.00 and $12.00 for. They are well made, of good materials, and just the thing for teamsters and others engaged in out-door work. Our higher price Overcoats have all been correspondingly reduced, as we are bound to close them out.

In SUITS we can offer you the choice of the largest assortment to be found, and at prices lower than ever before offered. We can sell you a good Suit for $5.00. Think of that—Coat, Vest and Pants all for $5.00—a good, serviceable Suit; while for $7.00, $9.00 or $12.00 we can give you greater value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere.

The Dominion Bell ORGANS.

WE wish to call your attention to the benefit derived from the

New Automatic Pedal Cover ATTACHMENT,

that has lately been added to the above Organs. This improvement has been a long felt necessity, and one which has never been successfully solved before by any Organ Companies until the patent was secured for the above Companies directly from the inventor.

Other Organ Companies advertise their organs most so and dust proof, because they employ the usual method of blocking around the bellows, as we have done heretofore, but it is extremely unsatisfactory, and the only sure and efficient plan is that which we adopt, of covering the PEDALS and BOTTOM of our Organs. This attachment has from throughout (with the exception of the Covers) having no cord, springs, or delicate mechanism to get out of order or repair, and works AUTOMATICALLY with the Full Board of the Organ. The one simple act of opening or closing the Organ, simultaneously operates the P. del Covers.

This improvement has been placed on all the different styles of Organs, and the aim is now, as in the past, to produce an instrument that HAS NO EQUAL.

All information and inquiries cheerfully answered. Catalogues sent free upon application.

Examine the Mouse and Dust Proof Organ before purchasing, and be satisfied that you have the best in the World.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION GRANT UNDER DISCUSSION.

The Usual Yearly Allowance of $10,000 Will be Given This Year—Postponement of the Mining Debate—Around the House.

TORONTO, March 9.

Mr. Meredith asked that routine business be dispensed with and the "mining and forests" resolutions be taken up.

Hon. Mr. Fraser intimated that he was not in good trim for the debate. He had neuralgia. He suggested that the motion be set down for Tuesday next. But if the hon. gentleman wished to go on he would do his best.

Mr. Meredith consented to a postponement in deference to the Commissioner of Public Works.

The House went into committee on these Government bills:

The Attorney-General's, respecting ancillary probates and letters of administration.

The Attorney-General's, respecting the Department of Agriculture and other industries.

After a short discussion of the latter bill the fisheries department was taken from the portfolio.

Mr. Meredith asked where the care of the mines was to be placed.

The Attorney-General replied that that duty would remain where it was.

These bills were read a second time:

Mr. Bishop's, to regulate the width of sleighs on public highways.

Mr. Fell's, to amend the Assessment Act.

Mr. Marter's, to amend the Assessment Act.

Mr. Guthrie's, to amend the Assessment Act.

Mr. Drury's, to amend the Assessment Act.

Mr. Guthrie's, to amend the Municipal Act.

These bills were introduced and read a first time:

By the Attorney-General, an act to amend the act relating to the solemnization of marriages.

By the Attorney-General, an act respecting benevolent and provident societies.

By the Attorney-General, an act relating to the administration of provincial laws.

Hon. A. M. Ross moved that the House ratify an order-in-council accepting $30,000 in cash in full settlement of the bonds of the Town of Cobourg issued under the Municipal Loan Fund Act, 1873, for £8800 sterling. He gave a brief outline of the history of the Cobourg indebtedness and the arrangement that had been arrived at.

Mr. Craig (East Durham) said he did not question the wisdom of the Government in settling up this account, but contended that similar generous treatment should be extended to Port Hope. That town found it onerous to pay the instalments, and by the action of the Government in chartering lines of railway competing with the Midland the harbor dues had fallen, and this was a large source of revenue to the town. He urged the Government's leniency.

Mr. Wood (Hastings) and Mr. Meredith took the position that Hastings and London had been dealt unfairly with in regard to the municipal loan fund indebtedness.

Hon. A. M. Ross pointed out the impossibility of opening up the question and the motion carried.

Hon. A. M. Ross moved that the House ratify an order-in-council accepting from St. Catharines municipal debentures of the city for $4850, payable in five years, with interest at the rate of 5 per cent., payable half-yearly, in full settlement of the indebtedness of the city upon municipal loan fund debentures and coupons now held by the province.

The motion passed.

The House went into Committee of Supply and took up the agricultural estimates. On the question as to whether the usual grant to the Agricultural and Arts Association be made for the purpose of holding the Provincial Exhibition,

Mr. Metcalfe (Kingston) said it was understood that the Exhibition was to be held in Kingston this year, and on that understanding an expense of $20,000 to $30,000 had been incurred. He would like to hear the other members on the question. It would be a serious thing for the Kingston people if the grant were withdrawn. If the Provincial Show was to die, let it die where it was born. He thought it was born where the Attorney-General and himself were born. [Laughter.]

Hon. A. M. Ross said a large number of practical farmers opposed the grant. They thought the usefulness of the Provincial Exhibition was gone. It would be left to the House to say whether the grant be made or not.

Mr. Drury did not agree with the Commissioner of Agriculture that the usefulness of this exhibition was gone. He revered this exhibition for the good it had done, and its good would go on if it was not that special attractions to catch the wonder of the multitude diverted the attention from the practical object of the exhibition. Horse racing and the like were introduced to the detriment of the educational aspects of the exhibitions. If it was the intention to discontinue the exhibition they should first ascertain the views of the electoral district societies.

A motion will be made when the motion for concurrence in the report of the Committee of Supply is brought before the House, to insert the customary $10,000 grant in the estimates.

The agricultural estimates were partly considered and stood over at Mr. Clancy's request.

The sum of $27,954 was voted for refunds, $113,277.34 for hospitals and charities, and $69,100 for miscellaneous. The committee rose.

Before the House adjourned Mr. Hess referred to the reported death of the Emperor William of Germany. He spoke of the very advanced age of the Emperor and the nearness of the Crown Prince's relation to the Queen of Great Britain. On behalf of the large German population in this country, who maintained an interest in the affairs of the Fatherland and who revered the Kaiser, he moved a motion of condolence. [Applause.]

The motion was carried unanimously.

The House adjourned at 10.50.

Around the House.

The Municipal Committee met at 10 o'clock yesterday, Hon. Mr. Hardy in the chair. Mr. Smith's bill to empower township councils to levy an acreage tax for local improvements was considered. Mr. C. W. R. Biggar addressed the committee in support of the bill and a discussion followed in which Messrs. Phelps, Waters, Fell, Clancy, Wood and Smith took part. Several amendments were made and the bill was reported. The committee considered Mr. Waters' bill relating to exempting farm stock from taxation. It was reported unamended.

The special committee to consider Mr. French's bill respecting short forms of mortgages met. No action was taken.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

THE MANITOBA DELEGATES CONFER WITH CABINET MINISTERS.

Sir Charles Tupper's Dual Position Raises a Discussion—Government Control of Telegraph—Fisheries Treaty—The "Combines" Committee.

OTTAWA, March 8.—The representatives of Manitoba had a preliminary interview this morning with Sir John Macdonald, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Hector Langevin, Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, and J. H. Pope.

Mr. Greenway was casually asked what Manitoba wanted, and he replied that disallowance was to be positively abolished.

The conversation of the conference was on railway matters generally, and Mr. Greenway intimated that the Red River Valley road must be built. The people of Manitoba demanded it.

The Hudson Bay road was mentioned by Sir Charles Tupper, as were also other railways that are on the tapis in the great Northwest.

At the request of Sir John, who said several other conferences would have to be held, Mr. Greenway said he would postpone the reassembling of the Manitoba Legislature which was called for March 15.

Nothing further was decided upon. But it was agreed to summon the leading officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Capital at once and they will take part in the "treaty."

I hear it on excellent authority to-night that no matter what concessions or privileges are allowed Manitoba, the right to build the Red River Valley Railroad will certainly not be allowed. Other compromises are talked about.

The Manitoba people, however, continue to cry "No surrender" and insist they will have the Red River road or blood.

Another meeting will be held to-morrow.

In Committee of Supply this afternoon these items were passed: $187,705 for departmental contingencies, $10,000 for stationery and $2000 in connection with the High Commissionership in London.

This last $2000 item gave rise to a lively talk about Sir Charles Tupper occupying the dual position of High Commissioner and Minister of Finance. Sir Richard Cartwright and Mr. Mills led in the attack on Sir Charles' double-headed office, but nothing whatever was said of a personal nature. Sir Richard said it was a constitutional infringement that any one person should act in this two-fold capacity.

Being badgered a good deal from the Opposition benches about the matter Sir Charles volunteered the information that so far as he was personally concerned he found that the double duties were too much for him, and, looking down at Sir John Macdonald who sat beside him, he added: "I hope my hon. friend here will see his way clear to relieve me, in the near future, of one of the posts." Continuing Sir Charles said that from his intimate knowledge of the prominent men of both parties in the English capital he had been able to administer the affairs of the High Commissionership from this side without the office suffering at all.

This statement led Sir Richard, Mr. Mills and Peter Mitchell to believe that the office could be abolished altogether, or if it could not, then its holder should be resident in London.

Mr. Denison called up his motion for a select committee to enquire into the desirability of the Government acquiring all the electro telegraph lines in Canada. The gentleman from Toronto gave some interesting information about the Government telegraph lines of England and

GERMANY'S MIGHTY RULER BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH.

The Last Sacrament Administered to the Imperial Sufferer—Special Services in Berlin Churches—No Official Report Sent to England.

BERLIN, March 9.—The official bulletin issued at 9 o'clock this evening announces that the Emperor lives and that on the whole his condition is more tranquil. The bulletin has reassured the people who had been intensely excited by the reports of his death which had been published in newspaper extras.

At midday the Emperor was feverish and his pulse was 102. It is stated that during an attack of delirium this morning the Emperor imagined he was reviewing a battalion of the Guards.

The physicians in attendance upon the Emperor have published an assurance that the somnolent condition of His Majesty is not the result of the injection of morphia. This has confirmed the belief that a crisis is imminent.

The session of the Reichstag will close to-morrow.

Sleeping Soundly at 9 this Morning.

At 2 o'clock all was quiet in the palace and the Emperor was sleeping soundly with some prospect of improvement.

The Last Sacrament.

At noon all the members of the Imperial family, except the Crown Prince and Crown Princess, were in a room adjoining that occupied by the Emperor. At 12.25 Chaplain Kengel gave the last sacrament to the Emperor. The Emperor was occasionally delirious before noon.

"Sorry to Cause Trouble."

The Emperor's pulse has fallen from 116 to 98. When awake he is fully conscious, showing an interest in what is passing around him. He asked the Grand Duchess of Baden, who sat by the bed, whether she had already dined and with whom, and then asked why she had not dined with the Empress. He expressed regret that he was "causing so much trouble."

Anxious Subjects.

Silent crowds stroll outside the palace throughout the day. The scene was a deeply impressive one. A pin could almost be heard drop. Whoever came to the door of the palace was mutely interrogated by thousands of anxious eyes.

The people refused to believe the denial of the Emperor's death, thinking that the fact was being concealed. Some stated that a telegram had been sent to the Crown Prince asking his consent to the publication of the death of the Emperor.

Special Services in Berlin Churches.

Previous to the report that the Emperor had died special services were held in the various churches. All the edifices were crowded and the congregations joined fervently in the prayers. Many persons sobbed.

The Emperor fell into a swoon at 5 o'clock, and remained unconscious until 6 o'clock. He afterwards fell into a quiet sleep which lasted till 7 o'clock. Wine and other liquid nourishment are administered to him occasionally.

Prince William's Credentials.

Following is the text of the Imperial decree promulgated to-day declaring Prince William to be the representative of the Emperor in state affairs:

Considering the uncertain state of my health, which compels me temporarily to abstain from the transaction of affairs, and in view of the illness and prolonged absence of my son Frederick William, I charge Your Royal Highness with all cases where I believe representation necessary in current Government business, especially signing orders without a special order being requisite on every separate occasion.

The Vienna Freie Presse asserts that in the event of the Emperor's death the Imperial decree granting regency powers to Prince William, ipso facto, is nullified, and that Frederick William becomes Emperor by right of succession.

Not Officially Reported at London.

LONDON, March 9.—At 12.20 a.m. no official report of the death of the Emperor had reached the German Embassy.

The Queen's Drawing Room has been postponed on account of the condition of Emperor William.

It is reported that Queen Victoria received a telegram from Berlin at 1 o'clock last night saying that the Emperor was still in a state of torpor.

There was intense excitement in the lobbies of the House of Parliament over the reports from Berlin. The House adjourned at the usual hour.

A report is current that the foreign office has a bulletin from Berlin saying the Emperor was conscious at a late hour last night.

A Paris Report.

PARIS, March 8.—The Soir says that Emperor William died at 5 p.m.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 8.—Thomas Donohue, compositor, injured in yesterday's fire, died this afternoon, making the seventh victim.

Half-breeds Holding Meetings at St. Laurent at the Call of Gabriel Dumont.

WINNIPEG, March 8.—Some excitement exists here owing to despatches received from St. Laurent that the Half-breeds are holding meetings at the call of Gabriel Dumont, now in New York.

Dumont writes that he is still working in their interests, but has changed his mind and will use only political means, in which he has the co-operation of leading politicians of the East.

The Mounted Police recently went to Batoche, presumably on account of this meeting. The best feeling exists between the police and the Metis.

Reports from Edmonton say that the Indians northwest of there are starving owing to failure of crops and fisheries.

A Montreal Criminal Libel Case.

MONTREAL, March 8.—In the Court of Special Sessions to-day A. Achim, a letter carrier employed in the Postoffice, was sent to the Penitentiary for five years for stealing letters.

Warrants have been served on Arthur W. Short, editor and manager of The Canadian Workman, and on Wm. D. Costigan, president of the company which owns that periodical, at the instance of Eugene O'Rourke, chairman of the Executive of District Assembly 147, Knights of Labor, for criminal libel.

Brutal Murder in Kentucky.

NICHOLSVILLE, Ky., March 8.—Miss Sallie O'Heir was found dead near this place yesterday with sixty-three bullet holes in her body. Amos Thomas and Frank and David Lewis are charged with the murder. No cause is known for it.

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

BUCKLEY LAKE ROAD.

At the last meeting of the village council, a deputation from the adjoining municipality of Douro, waited upon the council to request a grant to open a road across Buckley's Lake so as to afford shorter and better access to this village. The sum asked for was $100, the balance required to be contributed by the township. A special committee was appointed to look into the matter and report at the next meeting. A few years since a similar sum was granted to make the road to Young's Point, through Douro, passable, and since then a further sum was subscribed in the village to improve it. That money has been returned a hundred times over to Lakefield by the increased traffic into and through the place, and it is a question if the opening of a road across Buckley's Lake would not give like results. I find by referring to the Douro roll that in ward No. 1 and part of ward N. 2 there are between 30 and 40 families, whose natural market is Lakefield, but who now, for want of an easy access to our village, go to Warsaw or Peterborough, and who do not see Lakefield once in five years. Were the road across the lake, or rather swamp surrounding the lake, opened, a short and easy means of access would be established and our Douro neighbors would soon find this the most convenient market for their produce and to buy their home supplies. The trade once established would be lasting and we would reap in time a large return for the investment of a small sum now asked for. Our two large grist mills, the woolen factories, and large stocks of goods kept in our stores, all have a tendency to bring trade to our doors, and we should lose no opportunity to encourage it by aiding any and all reasonable enterprises that have that object in view. Reeve Moloney, while advocating the grant before the council, remarked: "That the Douro people would sooner come to Lakefield, for, as a general rule, they obtained a better price for their produce, while they were able to purchase their goods equally as low as in Peterborough." Our business men should inquire into the subject at once, and give the committee their opinion as to the advisability of granting the sum required.

RUNAWAY.

On Sunday afternoon a well known and popular young gentleman of the village, who has more to do with the "iron horse" than those of flesh and blood, started from Cooper's livery stables to take his girl out for an airing, but had only gone a short distance when he lost control of the horse and it passed down Queen and Bridge streets at a speed which would have gladdened the heart of a jockey, and must have suggested to the driver the idea of recommending to the G. T. Co. that they exchange with Cooper and put an end to all complaints of slow time and delays on the Lakefield branch. At the west end of the village the driver managed to turn his steed's head homeward, to which it returned at the same rate of speed, but was stopped near the stables by some party on the street. Not caring to risk the life of the future Mrs. ——, he exchanged for a quieter horse and continued his interrupted drive, which, if not quite so fast was, no doubt, a more enjoyable one.

MEETING OF FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

A meeting of the "Farmers Institute" for this county will be held in either the P.C.A. Hall, or the Council Chamber, Lakefield, on Thursday, March 15th, at which a number of interesting papers will be read, among others will be one on—"raising cattle" by T. N. Welsh, Esq. "Statute Labor" by F.J. Bell, Esq. Prof. Robertson of the Guelph Agricultural College is expected to be present and read an important paper. There will be three sessions, morning afternoon and evening, and it is to be trusted that the farmers in this vicinity will turn out in large numbers and show their approval of the efforts being made to bring to their attention the latest and most approved methods of culture and stock raising, as well as to post them on many points, which experience has proved, will be to their advantage and welfare.

Voting on Scott Act Repeal—The Writs for L'Assomption and West Hastings.

OTTAWA, March 8.—Voting on the repeal of the Scott Act takes place in Simcoe, Stormont, Glengarry and Dundas on April 19.

Mr. Hamilton MacCarthy, the sculptor, is at Rideau Hall taking casts of the Governor-General for a bust, and will remain for the city for a short time.

The writ for the election in L'Assomption was issued to-day. Voting takes place on April 3 and nomination one week earlier.

The nomination in West Hastings is on March 17, and voting on March 24.

Hon. Edward George Villiers Stanley, eldest son of Lord Stanley of Preston, the next Governor-General, sailed for Canada last Saturday. He will be the guest of Lord and Lady Lansdowne at Rideau Hall, and will remain there until his father arrives to assume his vice-regal duties. Mr. Villiers is 23 years of age and a Lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards.

Six dinner parties were given this evening. The Governor-General entertained fifty members of Parliament at Rideau Hall, Sir Charles Tupper gave a dinner in the House of Commons restaurant, and Sir Hector Langevin, Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Hon. J. H. Pope and Hon. Thos. White gave dinner parties at their private residences. In fact about two-thirds of Parliament "dined out" to-night.

A society event in the Capital next week will be the marriage of Mr. J. C. Forbes, the Toronto artist, and Miss Holbrook, the well-known cantatrice of St. Andrew's Church in this city.

Rev. Father Whelan is conducting a retreat for married women at St. Patrick's Church. The secret crimes of the Capital are being particularly dilated upon.

The Minister of Customs received several more deputations to-day re amendments to the tariff. Among those that saw the Minister were W. H. Storey of Acton, President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, B. Rosamond of Almonte and James Kendry of Peterboro.

The officers of the Governor-General's Foot Guards will tender a complimentary banquet to Lord Lansdowne on Wednesday evening next in the Drill Hall, the occasion being his approaching departure to the vice-royalty of India. His Excellency has promised to attend the dinner and the officers are greatly elated, as the regiment is the first corps in Canada which ever had the honor of tendering a dinner to the Governor-General of the country. The principal reason why the Governor-General accepts the invitation is probably that he is the honorary colonel or patron of the regiment, which was established for his special use and is claimed to correspond to the household troops of the Queen.

Clarke Wallace's "Combine" Committee did not meet to-day as was expected, none of the witnesses having arrived. The committee will meet to-morrow.

The New Parcel Post.

OTTAWA, March 8.—Mr. A. S. Irving, President of the Toronto News Company, had an interview with Postmaster-General McLelan to-day about the working of the new International Parcel Post Treaty. By this treaty packages in excess of 4½ lbs. cannot be transmitted through the mails. This would be a great inconvenience to companies like Mr. Irving's who get their supplies of American periodicals in bulk. If they have to come in 4½ lb. packets no end of trouble will be experienced. Mr. McLelan at once admitted the cumbersomeness of such a system as applied to wholesale news dealers and he promised to communicate with Washington to make special provision in this respect.

A PREACHER IN DISGRACE.

Rev. J. W. C. Gibson Arrested on a Charge of Forgery—Well-Known in Toronto.

TORONTO, March 9.

When Rev. James W. C. Gibson of Lockport, N.Y., stepped off the noon train on the G.T.R. yesterday Detective Davis arrested him on a charge of forgery and took him to Police Headquarters. It is said that while Mr. Gibson was in Dakota he got hold of some blank money orders of the American Express Company and brought them to Canada. Last month he filled in one of the orders for $49.50 and cashed it at the Dundas-street branch of the Dominion Bank. A few days ago he cashed ten more forgeries at the Queen and Esther street branch of the bank. When the company's head cashier at New York examined the order he said they were forgeries and a private detective hunted the rev. gentleman down.

Gibson's parents live near Dovercourt Village and are respectable people. Gibson says he is a regularly ordained clergyman of the Methodist Church. Two years ago he preached in the Congregational Church at Bowmanville for three months while Pastor Warner was away on a trip. On the Sunday before last he re-visited Bowmanville and preached in the same church.

A Quiet Wedding at Montreal.

MONTREAL, March 8.—The marriage of Miss Smith, daughter of Sir Donald Smith, to Dr. J. P. Howard was solemnized at the residence of the bride's father this morning in a private manner, owing to the continued ill-health of the bride. Canon Norman, an old friend of the bride's family, performed the ceremony. The bridal party left at once for the United States, where they will stay a month and then proceed to Europe for a six months' tour. It is stated that $150,000 has been settled by Sir Donald on his daughter.

Mrs. Ferris Committed for Trial.

AYR, March 8.—Mrs. William Ferris and William T. Scott last night were committed for trial at the spring assizes, which open at Berlin on March 19, on the charge of causing the death of Mrs. Ferris's husband by administering strychnine, the analysis made at Toronto having revealed the presence of a large quantity of that poison in the intestines of the deceased.

LORD RANDOLPH'S ATTACK.

He Says England's Military Position is in a Deplorable State of Inefficiency.

LONDON, March 8.—The debate on the motion of Sir Walter B. Barttelot (Conservative) for the appointment of a Royal Commission to ascertain and report upon military measures necessary for the protection of the Empire was resumed in the House of Commons to-night by Lord Randolph Churchill. He commenced his speech by reminding the House that no less than 178 members were connected with the army and navy services, and that the debate had disclosed their absolute unanimity on one point, namely, that notwithstanding the immense increase in expenditure the military position of England was deplorably bad. The remedy of those members was the expenditure of more money, but his remedy was reform in the expenditure. Enough had already been paid to maintain both services in a state of splendid efficiency. But the English system was without a parallel in any other country—military men who had been trained in the business of arms being subordinate to civilians who were utterly untrained. It would be just as reasonable for the Premier to nominate Mr. Labouchere Archbishop of Canterbury, or to make Mr. Chaplin Lord Chancellor. [Laughter.] Military training seemed to disqualify a man from managing the war offices. That must be altered.

The financial control, after the estimates are granted, ought to be placed in the hands of responsible officers. English officers were made spending animals instead of like the German officers rivalling one another in economy. Stores for a German regiment could go to the front on twelve hours' notice without prolonged letters from the War Office. That could not be done in England without piles of files passing and repassing for several days. The German corps d'armee was maintained for £1,000,000, as against £7,000,000 for English corps.

This monstrous waste extended to every branch of the service. A rigid and vigorous inquiry and radical reforms were imperatively necessary. He could not vote confidence in the existing system; it was hopelessly bad. [Cheers.]

Mr. Stanhope, Secretary for War, intimated that the Government would sanction an inquiry into any definite matter connected with the estimates, but would resist the appointment of a Royal Commission of vague general character.

The motion for the appointment of a Royal Commission was negatived.

LATEST MARKET REVIEW.

TORONTO, March 8.

The local stock market this morning was quiet and securities generally firmer. Montreal 1 lower, the best bid being 214½, and Toronto ½ higher at 193½ bid. Merchants' 1 lower at 120 bid, and Commerce sold 113½. Imperial firmer, with a sale at 134. Dominion unchanged at 217½ bid, and Standard sold at 125. Loan and miscellaneous shares quiet, British America Assurance sold at 91½ and closed at 92½ bid. Western Assurance ½ lower at 123½ bid, and Consumers' Gas 178 bid, without sellers. Northwest Land 54½ bid. Canada Permanent Loan wanted at 197, and Imperial Savings at 140, without transactions. People's sold at 102½, and Land Security 3 higher at 216 bid. British Canadian offered at 97 without bids, and other stocks are unchanged.

In the afternoon stocks showed more activity, and though some securities were offered lower others advanced.

LOCAL STREET MARKET.

The local market to-day was moderately active and steady. About 200 bushels of wheat offered and sold at 80c to 83c for fall, 76c to 81c for spring, and 71½c to 74c for goose. Barley steady with sales of 600 bushels at 75c to 79c. Oats sold at 48c to 49c for 300 bushels, and a jag of peas at 70½c. Hay in fair supply and easier; 40 loads sold at $12 to $14 for clover and at $15 to $16 for timothy. Straw sold at $11 to $13. Dressed hogs sold at $7.25. Hoof $3 to $5 for forequarters, and $5 to $7.50 for hindquarters. Mutton $6.50 to $8; lamb at $9 to $10; veal $5.50 to $6.50.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

Bradstreet's reports to-day: Floating cargoes—Wheat and corn steady, arrivals wheat 1, corn 2, sold wheat 1, waiting orders wheat 2, corn 2. Cargoes on passage, wheat not much demand, French country markets, wheat firm. Paris quiet. Liverpool wheat rather more enquiry, corn heavy, corn 4s 7½d, 1d cheaper, peas 5s 5d, 1d dearer.

Manufacturing Bone Dust.

The method of manufacturing bone dust at home and here given is vouched for by a New England farmer who has tried it: From 150 pounds of steamed green bones separate fifty pounds of the finest. Put the coarser 100 pounds into a steamer or kettle with an equal weight of water, cover and boil about an hour. Then dip out the contents into a half hogshead tub while hot, and gradually pour into it about fifty pounds of the oil of vitriol, stirring the mixture. When effervescence has ceased, add the remaining fifty pounds of dry, fine bones and mix thoroughly. Bones which have had the grease and glue removed from them are much easier dissolved than raw ones.

The Percheron a Distinct Breed.

For a long time war has been waged among the breeders of French draught horses as to the claims made by Percheron breeders that their animals are a distinct breed and constitute a separate class. The contrary opinion sustained was that all the draught horses of France are substantially of the same breed. To settle this matter a committee was appointed by the Illinois state board of agriculture last spring to investigate the subject and report thereon. This committee sent communications to best authorities in France. These authorities unanimously decided that the Percheron is a distinct breed and is the leading draught horse breed in France. On the report of this committee the Illinois state board voted to put the Percherons in a distinct class.

Depend Upon It.

Accidents will happen despite all care and painful injuries such as Sprains, Bruises, Cuts and Burns result. Every family should therefore keep Hagyard's Yellow Oil on hand, it is the greatest family remedy for all Pains, Coughs, Colds and sore Throat, Croup and Whooping Cough yield quickly to this excellent remedy. 2w10d

THE USUAL TREATMENT of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says:—Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure cannot be expected from powders, snuffs, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient. eodw10

Books vs. Experience.

Books are useful to add to our knowledge, but practical experience teaches us that the best remedy for all diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Blood is easily to be had and is called B. B. B. 2w10d

Well Worth Trying.

A medicine which has stood the test of time for many years and always given the best of satisfaction as has Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is certainly well worth trying for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness and all Throat troubles for which it is so highly recommended. 2w10d

Well Spoken Of.

ANOTHER WONDER!

It never was intended so far as I can learn,
That either man or woman were intended to be bald.
I think you will believe me, indeed I'm sure you will,
If at the "Paris Hair Works" you have called

There is one thing Nature thinks of—let us thank her all we can—
She takes particular trouble with our hair;
She knows a scanty growth of hair, the grey and whitening locks,
Will detract from the beauty of the face.

But Nature has her laws so strict that you must never err,
For you'll surely pay the penalty at last,
Such is it, that bounteous head of hair,
Doctor Dorenwend's Hair Magic's unsurpassed.

Just try it, you afflicted, you never will regret,
The Magic was ever yet known to fail
And the good that it will do you will make you soon forget
The expenditure a bottle will entail.

This now famous preparation for invigorating and stimulating the growth of the hair is universally accepted as the most valuable specific on the market. All diseases of the scalp are either relieved or permanently cured. A rich and rapid growth of hair will follow after judicious and regular treatment. It remains with the user alone to secure the desired results. Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic" is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. If not obtainable in your own locality send direct to the sole manufacturer, enclosing price. A. DORENWEND, Paris Hair Works, 103 and 105 Yonge street, Toronto. For sale by J. D.
